Dan Shay, former Milwaukee baseball manager, was found not guilty of murder in the second degree for shooting to death Clarence Buell, a colored cafe waiter, by a jury in criminal court at Indianapolis. Shay's plea was self-defense.

HOUSEKEEPERS WARNED

Washington, Nov. 24.—This statement was made by Herbert Hoover, United States food administrator:

"We have reports from various parts of the country of crooks, thieves and confidence operators who are going from house to house purporting to be authorized by the food administration and other departments of the government to collect or commandeer foodstuffs for the government or the army.

"I wish to say emphatically that no department of the government has or will ever make such demands on householders, and that all such people are petty frauds and should be held for the police. The government agencies are investigating various cases and information is sought of all such persons by this department."

WAR ON KAISER'S ALLIES IS URGED

Senator Stone, Former Pacifist, Says Move Would Simplify Matters.

AUSTRIANS IN WEST

May Be Facing Americans—Nations Declared Virtually At War—Stone Now Backs Administration.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Declarations of war against Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria, Chairman Stone of the Senate foreign relations committee declares, seems "exceedingly advisable to simplify a situation now anomalous."

Opposed War Step.

"We are in fact," said he, "now at war with Germany's allies." Senator Stone's only reservation was that such action by Congress should be in harmony with the policy of the executive branch of the government. Although he voted against the declaration of war on Germany.

Supports Administration.

Senator Stone has reiterated that the war once begun has his whole support. His statement was taken as indicative of the agitation for war on Germany's allies, which will face Congress when it convenes Dec. 3.

Austrians in West.

"I have understood that some if not a large number of Austrian troops have been on the Western front," said Mr. Stone. "They may now or soon be actually fighting against American forces, the two forces firing at each other. Anyway, Austrians are desperately engaged in Italy, which is one of our Allies just as much as France or England."

Sees Long Session.

To have war formally declared against Germany's allies also, said Senator Stone, would simplify matters of domestic concern such as measures to prevent espionage.

New or amended war tax legislation, according to Senator Stone, who also is a member of the Senate finance committee, should not be undertaken until after a thorough survey of the situation. He said there was no doubt that in many respects the new war tax law can be improved and probably will be to remove inequalities and injustices. The session, he predicted, would be a long one.

BIG BILLS BEFORE CONGRESS

War Legislation to Keep New Session a Busy One.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Continued stupendous appropriation bills and other war legislation will feature the session of congress which is to open Dec. 3, in the opinion of leaders here. In the wake of these right of way measures a host of others of domestic concern, such as prohibition and woman suffrage, will be pressed for consideration. Sentiment developed among representatives already here in favor of a declaration of war against Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria doubtless will be strengthened by the return of the party congressmen from a visit to the battlefronts. It is expected that the president may deal with the subject in his opening address to the joint session of congress.

JAPANESE SPURN HUN OFFER

Reject Kaiser's Offer to Desert Allies, Report.

Amsterdam, Nov. 27.—Germany has again attempted to detach Japan from the Allies and again has been refused, according to word reaching here. It was reported the Germans offered Chao to Japan and announced their willingness to discuss the future of occupied islands in the Pacific as the price of Japan's retirement from the war.

TO OPERATE ROADS IF POOLING PLAN FAILS

Washington, Nov. 27.—Government operation of railways if the pooling plan does not afford relief from the present situation was being considered here as the committee of vice presidents of the Eastern lines gathered to perfect general plans to put the pooling arrangements into effect.

Bread Up 55 Per Cent in 16 Months.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Bread prices advanced 55 per cent in the 16 months ended October 1, while the price of flour advanced 249 per cent above the July, 1916, price, according to charts presented by the baking industry to the food administration.

Bryan to Deny LaFollette Charge.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Senator Atlee Pomerene has postponed indefinitely the hearings on charges of disloyalty against Senator Robert N. La Follette. Illness of Senator T. J. Walsh, one of the committee, and absence of former Secretary of State W. J. Bryan from Washington made postponement of the session advisable, said Pomerene. Mr. Bryan is expected to refute the statement in La Follette's St. Paul speech that he as secretary of state, warned that the Lusitania carried munition

DISSENSION MAY DISRUPT REVOLT

CONFLICT MOST BITTER

Autocratic Methods of National Council in Ordering Truce Disputed by Deputies—Lenine as Peacemaker.

Petrograd, Nov. 27.—Abolition of all titles of nobility is announced by the Bolsheviki government. The same proclamation announced confiscation of all corporate property of nobles, merchants and burgesses.

Lenine's peace proposals appeared to have started a dangerous break in the structure of the Bolsheviki government.

Petrograd, Nov. 27.—The latest revolutionary movement in Russia is threatened with disruption by dissension in the ranks of the Bolsheviki over the autocratic methods of the council of national commissioners.

The conflict between the protesting members of the faction and the commissioners has become so bitter that the authority of the council to order soldiers to open peace negotiations is vigorously denied by opponents.

The issuance of decrees relating to an armistice without first consulting the central executive committee of the Workmen's and Soldiers' deputies, which is the highest governing body in Russia, precipitated the internecine trouble. Nicholai Lenine, the Bolsheviki premier, is seeking to palliate leaders of the wrangling factons.

Lenine Replies to Critics.

Lenine, replying to criticism directed against the order that soldiers open negotiations for a truce, which order one of the wounded soldiers termed a great blunder by the commissioners, explained that the order was issued for the purpose of combatting the counter revolutionary tactics of General Dukhonin and other high officers, thus making it impossible for them to prevent the opening of negotiations.

This, he said, was in keeping with the policy of the democratic government, that the masses themselves act, since the Bureaucrats, civil and military, were distrusted. He pointed out that the soldiers are not empowered to sign a treaty for an armistice, but only to negotiate it.

No Separate Peace Contemplated.

Lenine declared that Russia did not contemplate a separate peace with Germany, that the belief that an armistice on the Russian front would make it possible for Germrany to throw a large force on the French front was groundless, as the Russian government, before signing a treaty for an armistice would communicate with the Allies and make certain proposals to "the imperialistic governments of France and England, rejection of which would place them in open opposition to the wishes of their own peoples."

COMING TO UNITED STATES

Former Czar's Daughter Is On Way to This Country.

New York, Nov. 27.—Miss Tatiana Nicholaevna Romanoff, second daughter of Nicholas Romanoff, deposed emperor of Russia, has escaped from Siberia through a camouflage marriage to a son of a former chamberlain of the emperor, and is now on her way to the United States chaperoned by an English woman, according to informaton made public here by persons connected with the Russian civilian relief.

The former grand duchess, who is 20 years old, made her escape from Tobolsk, the present home of the exiled czar, to Harbin, Manchuria, and thence to Japan, where passage was taken on a steamship for the Pacific coast.

Miss Romanoff is coming to the United States to "work in any capacity for the Russian civilian relief," according to a statement issued here.

NO GUARD ON GOTHAM FRONT

Soldiers Not Placed to Watch Piers as Planned.

New York, Nov. 27.—New York's water front did not go under martial law as ordered from Washington by the Department of Justice. After an extended conference at Governor's island between army heads it was announced "no definite action" had been taken. All information as to when the regular army would take charge of the water front under instructions to "shoot to kill" was refused.

Private Found to Be General's Son.

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—The identity of Private Martin D. Sibert, Twelfth United States infantry, increased greatly in prestige following the disclosure here that he is a son of Major General William L. Sibert. Young Sibert, without knowledge of his family, enlisted at Manhattan, Kan., and was written down as on unassigned recruit service in the Philippines. When his paternity was discovered he was sent to the Twelfth infantry as a full fledged private. He is just old enough to qualify.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Mrs. John Harry of Fergus Falls has received a telegram that her brother, Arthur Bates, was killed in action on the battlefield in France.

The Aitkin-Crow Wing county sanatorium at Brainerd for treating tubercular patients will be completed in February at a cost of $40,000 and be occupied in the spring.

The mayor and chief of police of Lester Prairie and 10 other residents of that village have been indicted by the McLeod county grand jury on a charge of being members of a raiding party that assaulted owners of the Klatt hotel July 16.

A large delegation of Pipestone county automobile owners went to Omaha to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the King of Trails association. The route for the trail between Sioux City and Ortonville, Minn., will be decided.

As a result of alleged disloyalty utterances and publications 15 indictments have been returned against Faribault residents by a grand jury, and J. E. Palmer, assistant attorney general, has gone to aid James P. McMahon, county atorney, in the prosecutions before District Judge A. B. Childress.

F. S. Schwalen, a Triumph banker, arrested several weeks ago on a charge of interfering with the sale of Liberty bonds, appeared in court at Fairmont and was fined $100 by Judge E. C. Dean. When his case was called Schwalen appeared before the court wearing Liberty Loan and Red Cross buttons. He told the court he had subscribed to the Loan and Red Cross fund, and for that reason was given a light fine.

Effort to co-ordinate Minnesota organizations engaged in patriotic service will be made by representatives of the State Public Safety commission at a conference in St. Paul soon. Announcement of the proposed conference is made by C. W. Henke, publicity director of the commission, who said the undertaking is along lines laid down at a meeting in Chicago which was called by Arthur E. Bestor of Washington, whom President Wilson has placed in charge of national patriotic work.

The Rev. S. M. Kelly has been formally installed as pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Red Lake Falls. Mr. Kelly went there from Stephen, Minn., where he had been pastor for two years.

Four hundred delegates attended the annual convention of the Minnesota Union, American Society of Equity, which was held in St. Paul. The real business of the session were the discussion of market problems, and plans for extending the organization.

St. Paul's mild epidemic of smallpox assumed serious proportions when 10 new cases were discovered. Officials of the health department, who have supervised the vaccination of approximately 1,500 persons since the present epidemic started a month ago, assert that it will be necessary to vaccinate at least 2,000 more to halt its spread.

E. B. Ford, Mrs. Elizabeth Ford and Edward Bosky, indicted on a charge of disloyalty in connection with the publication of the Faribault Referendum, entered pleas of not guilty before Judge A. B. Childress. The charges of disloyalty are the outgrowth of certain items published in the newspaper of which the defendants are owners and editors.

All the patriotic organizations of Minnesota will be represented at the annual convention of the National Security league, to be held February 21, 22 and 23 in Chicago. The meeting this year will be in the nature of a national war time council, which will call in for consultation the Red Cross, state safety commissions, civilian relief societies and all the other organizations brought about by war exigencies.

Two recent announcements from Washington marked progress in preparing for future operation of the selective draft in Minnesota. One stated that December 1 had been set as the date on which all local boards should begin preparations for putting into effect the new classification system for drafted men. The other stated that Dr. William J. Mayo had been named chief of the medical advisory organization for the state.

A new industry has been born in Minnesota—the production of sheep on the long unproductive cutover lands of the northern counties. This was the word brought back by Prof. W. A. McMorrow of the State Agricultural school and D. E. Willard, development agent for the Northern Pacific railway. They attended a series of meetings arranged by the newly organized Minnesota Sheep Growers' association and reported the farmers enthusiastic over the project to put a "flock of sheep on every farm."

Thomas McLaughlin, Jr., who was assaulted and robbed of a sum of money in the vicinity of South Hastings, and who was taken to the Latts hospital for treatment owing to his critical condition, is reported as improving. His assailant as yet has not been arrested.

The importance of more pure bred cattle in Minnesoa to prepare for the enormous European demand, which is sure to follow at the close of the war, was emphasized at the annual banquet of the Minnesota Aberdeen Angus Breeders' association in St. Paul.

STATE TO SELL IRON ORE UNDER LAKE BED

OFFICIALS OPEN NEGOTIATIONS TO DISPOSE OF RICH DEPOSITS NEAR AURORA.

WANT ONLY ENGLISH TAUGHT

State Safety Board Urges Exclusive Use in That Language in Public and Private Schools of State.

St. Paul.

Negotiations for the iron ore under Syracuse lake, near Aurora, estimated at 3,000,000 tons, which will bring the state $1,500,000 in royalties, have been opened by Fred B. Snyder of Minneapolis, representing a mining company, with Governor Burnquist, State Auditor Preus and Attorney General Smith, as representatives of the state.

The offer to purchase the ore under Lake Syracuse is the first made under the new law providing machinery for the sale of such ore, the title to which is held to be in the state. The law fixes a minimum royalty of 50 cents against the 25-cent minimum that obtains in most iron mine contracts now affecting state property.

The state officials agreed that F. A. Wildes of the state mining department will make an immediate investigation and report. Arrangements for a sale by competitive bidding will be perfected at another meeting.

Want Only English Taught.

The exclusive use of the English language in all public and private schools in Minnesota is urged as a patriotic duty of school officials in a resolution adopted by the Minnesota Public Safety commission and made public by Commissioner C. W. Ames, to whom it was referred for revision. Foreign languages are to be prohibited except as a medium for the study of those languages themselves or for religious instruction.

The Public Safety commission took up the subject first on a complaint that a private school in Dodge county was giving instruction in German exclusively. C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of education, was requested to investigate, and the resolution is the result of recommendations by Commissioner Ames based on findings in the survey. The commission previously inquired into the suitability of various German text books used in Minnesota schools, with the result that a large number were reported undesirable.

Board Clashes With Rhinow.

A clash between state draft officials and District Board No. 3, St. Paul, over exemptions for about 250 men in the new Second Minnesota Field artillery regiment and steps toward the removal of the Ramsey county local board, White Bear, have been made public at the office of Adjutant General Rhinow at the Capitol.

Inclined to believe that enlistment in the Second artillery should entitle a man to draft exemption, especially after the new regiment was granted Federal recognition, state draft officials appealed to authorities at Washington for a reversal of ruling to the contrary.

A telegram from Provost Marshal General Crowder was interpreted to authorize such exemption for the present, but the St. Paul district board rejected the construction placed on the message.

Major W. A. Curtis, chief draft aide to General Rhinow, then announced that local boards would be requested to reopen each of the 250 cases hinging on the question, to remove jurisdiction from the district board.

State Hygiene Board Named.

The Minnesota Public Safety commission, meeting behind closed doors at the Capitol, approved the formation of the Minnesota Social Hygiene commission and Governor Burnquist later appointed 52 members of the organization. The commission is to assist in the control of venereal diseases and in the better enforcement of laws governing social conditions in the state; to promote the education of the people in social hygiene and to afford protection and employment to the socially unfortunate.

Koch Must Remain.

Hugo V. Koch, St. Paul, will not be permitted to resign from the Eleventh division draft board, even to take up other Federal work connected with the prosecution of the war.

The announcement was made by Major Curtis, chief draft aide to Adjutant General Rhinow. Major Curtis notified Mr. Koch that local board members are under Federal draft and his services cannot be dispensed with at this time.

To Push Brewers' Suit.

With the final warning having been given, the attorney general will proceed to institute suit against all breweries where action is justified in the face of evidence of violation of the state laws, it was asserted at the Capitol. The seriousness of the safety commission's attitude was emphasized by Ambrose Tighe, commission counsel, who asserted a concerted effort will be made to see if illegal sales may be stopped without resorting to prohibition. Evidence already is at hand, he said.

Further Gains Around Cambrai And Capture Of 100 Guns Reported

Monte Pertica Lost and Won Four Times—Blood Dyes Snow Red—Ground Covered With Dead—Foe Rulers Confer.

Rome, Nov. 26.—Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary, Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria and Enver Pasha of Turkey are reported in conference on the Italian front in Swiss dispatches received here. A new Central Powers agreement, particplarly as to Germany and Austria's division of the spoils of war, was understood to be behind the meeting.

Powerful thrusts which were carried out by the Austro-Germans after heavy artillery preparation on the Italian mountain front from the Asiago plateau to the Brenta river, all failed, the Italian war office announces.

Haig Reports Further Gains.

London, Nov. 26.—Further gains around Cambrai are reported by Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig. He announced "successful operations" in the drive toward the city around Bourlon wood, where, after severe fighting, important "dominating ground" was carried by his troops.

"Between Moeuvres and Queant an important spur forming an observation point over the Hindenburg line north and west was captured," Haig continued.

"In the neighborhood of Bullecourt further ground was captured during the night.

Kaiser Loses Big Guns.

"East of Bourlon wood," the statement continued," and in the neighborhood of Fontaine Notre Dame, some progress was made astride the capal Du Nord. In the neighborhood of Moeuvres further progress was achieved."

More than 100 German guns have been captured, Haig reported. This number, he said, included some heavy fieldpieces up to 8 inch.

Crown Prince Bupprecht put forth every ounce of his army's strength to stem the British advance and save Cambral.

Cambral Bristles With Guns.

The German depot city is full of German troops. Aviators reported its suburbs bristling with massed field guns. Hurried defenses are being thrown up in every direction. Germany does not propose to surrender it without the most desperate resistance.

Nevertheless the city's use as a rail center is finished. It has been evacuated of its stores. Its railroads are now being crammed with reinforcements taken from among exhausted German divisions who had been sent back of the lines in rest billets.

Snow Dyed Red With Blood.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Nov. 25.—(By the Associated Press).—The battle of the mountains is raging with unexampled violence. The Italians again hold the Monte Tomba and Monte Pertica positions, which they lost Thursday night. The losses have been very great, but the enemy's far exceed those of the Italians.

The recapture of the Italian positions on Monte Tomba was accomplished by a succession of brilliant charges which dyed the snows red and left the ground piled with enemy dead. Monte Pertica was lost and won four times, the enemy finally being thrown back.

Embassy Officials Make Offer—Decline to Recognize Bolsheviki.

Washington, Nov 26.—Ambassador Boris Bahkmetiev of Russia has formally notified the state department that the embassy does not recognize the authority of the extremists now in control of the foreign office at Petrograd.

Three of the chief officers of the Russian embassy here have resigned to avoid having further relations with the Bolsheviki leaders now controlling the Petrograd foreign office. They are C. Onou, counsellor; John Sookine, first secretary, and F. de Mohrenschildt, second secretary.

Mr. de Mohrenschildt married Miss Nona Hazelhurst McAdoo, daughter of the secretary of the treasury last May.

Soakine and de Mohrenschildt have offered their services to the American government for the war against Germany.

Chauncey Sailor Home for Visit.

Crookston, Minn., Nov. 26.—G. Foreman of Euclid, a sailor in the service of Uncle Sam, probably owes his life to the fact that a furlough was granted him so that he could visit his parents. He was attached to the U S torpedo boat destroyer Chauncey which was recently lost in collision with a transport in foreign waters The commander of the vessel and 20 of his men were drowned as they slept. Foreman has been in the navy several years and has recently been in Naples, Italy and Marseilles.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

When eggs grow cheap, we'll surely make a cake
Some happy afternoon, for early tea,
And what a joyful thrill 'twill give to know
That we may use two eggs, or even three!

How odd 'twill seem to bring to light once more
The dear old cake tin with its fluting deep,
And butter it—Ah! what a stirring time,
When eggs grow cheap!
—Harriet Whitney Symonds.

TASTY EATS.

Here is a tomato salad that is different. Scald a half dozen of small, even-sized tomatoes, peel them and cut in quarters to within an inch of the stem and chill them well. Beat a cupful of heavy sour cream until stiff, add a half cupful of powdered sugar, a fourth of a cupful of vinegar, a half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne and a half cupful of grated horseradish. The mixture should be quite stiff. Place the tomatoes on nests of lettuce, fill with the dressing and garnish with parsley sprigs.

Potato Dumplings.—Sift together 1½ cupfuls of flour with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder with a half teaspoonful of salt, add three teaspoonfuls of butter to the mixture, rubbing it into the flour, then three-fourths of a cupful of milk, half a cupful of riced potato, and one egg beaten light. Turn upon a floured board and knead slightly; roll into a sheet and cut in rounds. Set close together in a buttered steamer and cook 15 minutes without opening the steamer.

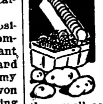
Crumb Bread.—Crumbs that are dried, ground through the meat chopper and not kept long will make a bread that is both wholesome and digestible. Take four cupfuls of hot water, and when lukewarm add a yeast-cake that has been softened in one cupful of the water, three cupfuls of bread crumbs, two cupfuls of graham flour, and enough white flour to make a very stiff dough, add two teaspoonfuls of salt, and two tablespoonfuls of shortening. Let rise, work down, then place at once in the tins; let rise again and bake. This makes four loaves. For a small family half the recipe will suffice. Buttered crumbs in a generous layer over chopped apple spiced and sweetened, then baked, makes a most wholesome pudding, named Brown Betty.

The rinds from bacon should be saved to try out for fat or used to grease the griddle. The liquor in which ham is boiled should never be wasted. Cabbage or a boiled dinner may be cooked in the broth, seasoning all the vegetables.

A woman should always keep her trouble to herself or at least until she meets somebody who is looking for it.

Fun gives you a forcible hug and shakes laughter out of you whether you will or not.

THE GOOD OLD POTATO



We are now enjoying the fine potatoes that are once more plentiful and cheap. Potatoes are at their best when simply prepared, such as baked or boiled. A generous supply of potatoes will lessen the bread consumption and thus help in the saving of wheat. When baking potatoes scrub them well and grease them lightly, the skin will be softened and there will be very little waste. Baked potatoes should be served just as soon as they are done, to be in prime condition. If it is necessary to wait for a late comer, break open the potato and let out the steam, then return to the oven If the late comer is very late, put a slice from the top of the potato and scrape out the inside, season with butter, onion juice, celery salt and pepper, with a little hot milk or cream, beat well and return to the shell; place in the oven to brown.

Hashed Brown Potatoes.—Cut two cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes into small pieces, season with salt and pepper, cook three minutes in one-third of a cupful of bacon drippings, stirring constantly. Let stand a few seconds to brown underneath, then fold like an omelet.

Potato Soup.—Boil three medium-sized potatoes and when soft rub through a sieve Scald a small sliced onion in a quart of skim milk with a stalk of celery cut up fine. Take out the vegetables and pour the milk slowly on the potatoes. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter or other fat, mix with two tablespoonfuls of flour, and when well blended add to the soup. Season with salt and pepper, let boil up, strain, add two more tablespoonfuls of fat and sprinkle with parsley to serve.

The number of vegetables eaten, the amount of cereal to cook and the amount of meat to serve are all things for every thinking woman to put time upon these days. An onion saved, a potato left over, a spoonful of squash may be put into a warmed-over dish, but many families rebel at leftovers.

The health and morals of a people depend mainly upon the food they eat, and the homes they live in.—Ellen Richards.

VARIETY THE SPICE OF LIFE.

Bread and butter with potatoes will stand the everyday test, but the most delicious dish in the world will lose its charm by being served too often. Lack of variety in the diet is often due to sheer laziness. A mental laziness may be just as serious a failing as a moral and physical laziness. Many a housewife who is the soul of industry, does not exercise her brains in planning for her table. A notebook and pencil used with thought once a week will plan the meals for the family in a half hour. If one is too busy, or too tired to add variety to the table of what advantage is it to think of what might be? The man of the house loses all interest in food, the children lose their appetites in the household where the rut traveled is growing deeper and deeper. Don't bore the family or members of the family with questions as to what they would like, for the thinking housewife will find out without seeming to inquire. To many it spoils a meal to know beforehand what they are going to have. Never, as you value your reputation as an intelligent housekeeper, never let your family say "this is rice-pudding day, or codfish gravy day at our house." To be successful the cook must keep her troubles to herself, as perplexities in the home are best not shared.

Variety in our diet is as important as it is in other things, and the dish that comes as a surprise is always more enjoyed.

We need to remember Turner's famous reply to a man who inquired how he mixed his colors: "With brains, sir," and nowhere can brains be put to so good a use as in the preparation of food for the family.

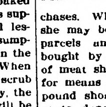
Chocolate Pudding.—Take one pint of hot milk, one cupful of bread crumbs, and three tablespoonfuls of chocolate, bake for 25 minutes. Sauce—Beat one egg and one cupful of sugar together, add three tablespoonfuls of boiling water and a tablespoonful of butter. Stir and serve immediately.

Excellent Frosting.—Four tablespoonfuls of milk, one cupful of sugar boiled together until it spins a thread. Beat until thick, flavor or add melted chocolate if desired.

No form of service is drudgery, if the one who serves is free. All forms of service, mental, or physical, are drudgery if the one who serves is in a "state of bondage."

If all the world were playing holiday, to sport would be as tedious as to work.—Shakespeare.

ECONOMY IN SMALL THINGS.



We have all heard that "little leaks sink a great ship," and we know that there are countless little leaks going on in our households for which we are directly responsible. The woman who does her own marketing in person saves many a dime in her purchases. When the goods are delivered she may be present to check up the parcels and weigh those that are bought by weight. Today an ounce of meat short of what you have paid for means a loss and a quarter of a pound short amounts to five or ten cents, depending on the price of the meat bought. This shortage may not mean anything but carelessness on the part of the butcher, but when he knows that his goods will come back if not just as ordered it will make a difference in the care taken in filling the order. The woman who says "never mind, it is too small to mention" will find that five cents a day will amount to a dollar in less than a month and over $12 in the course of a year. The maids in our homes must be taught to be less wasteful, to be more careful in preparing food in right amounts so there will be none or very little left over to make a problem of disposal.

The wood and coal bill, as well as the gas and electricity, may all be lessened by proper thought. The roaring fire when none is necessary; just shut the dampers of the stove when not in use. When making pudding, if there are pieces enough, which is easy to plan for, knowing the family appetite, there is no waste.

In using soap, if the cake is left in the water it is softened and wasted; more is used than needed Many workers will make half a cake of soap go as far and do as good work as others who use a whole cake. Soap pieces may be saved, melted and used in the boiler or bits may be saved for the soap shaker in dish washing. Illumination bills may be greatly lessened by turning off the light if absent from the room but five minutes. Habits of thrift are best begun in childhood, but thought will do much to overcome wasteful practices.

BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP

Why use ordinary cough remedies, when Boschee's German Syrup has been used so successfully for fifty-one years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis, colds settled in the throat, especially lung troubles. It gives the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning, gives nature a chance to soothe the inflamed parts, throw off the disease, helping the patient to regain his health. Sold in all civilized countries. 30 and 90 cent bottles.—Adv.

The Laziest Man.

Senator Vardaman and Senator Reed were trying to think of the laziest men in their respective voting precincts. Senator Reed indicated his version of the laziest man, but he agreed that Senator Vardaman's man was lazier.

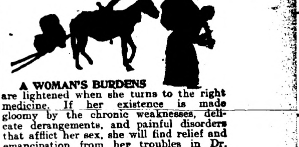
THE NEW METHOD

(By L. W. Bower, M. D.)

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, overworking the sick kidneys; hence the congestion of blood causes backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty of water between meals and take a single An-u-ric tablet before each meal for a while.

Simply ask your favorite druggist for Anuric, double strength. If you have lumbago, rheumatism, gout, dropsy, begin immediately with this newest discovery of Dr. Pierce, who is Chief Medical Director of Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y. Send 10 cents for trial pkg. Large package 60 cents.



A WOMAN'S BURDENS are lightened when she turns to the right medicine. If her existence is made gloomy by the chronic weaknesses, delicate derangements, and painful disorders that afflict her sex, she will find relief and emancipation from her troubles in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If she's overworked, nervous, or "run-down," she finds new life and strength. It's a powerful, invigorating tonic and nervine which was discovered and used by an eminent physician for many years, in cases of "female complaints" and weaknesses. For young girls just entering womanhood; for women at the critical "change of life;" in bearing-down sensations, periodical pains, ulceration, inflammation, and every kindred ailment, the "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine put up without alcohol. Liquid or tablets.

Blamed the Bee.

He was a slow young man and she was despairing of him ever attempting to kiss her. But as they stood at the garden gate, holding each other's hand, a naughty, nasty bee alighted on his neck, and its sting made him suddenly lurch forward, with the result that he found his lips pressed against those of his sweetheart. So he sealed the accident with a kiss.

"George!" she exclaimed in amazement, as she turned her head to smile.

"It was all the bee's fault," stammered George, blushing all over his countenance. "I hope you're not angry."

"Not at all," she remarked with a twinkle in her eye. "I'm sorry there wasn't a hive full!"

LONG CONGRESS SESSION OPENS

Treasury Department Calls For War Appropriation of $13,504,357,939.

ADDRESS IS AWAITED

President Expected to Urge Congress to Concentrate on War Measures—Leaders To Follow Wishes of Executive.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Both House and Senate of America's win-the-war Congress convened on the stroke of noon Monday with the first call upon it for appropriations totaling $13,504,357,939.

This sum—an average expenditure of $37,000,000 a day for the next year—is Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's estimate of war and necessary internal expenses during the next 12 months.

To Address Joint Session.

In addition to appropriations of billions of dollars, measures to put the full force of the United States beside its Allies will be the principal business of the session. The first day's business was largely perfunctory with official notification to the President that Congress is in session and waiting to hear his opening address. The President will speak today at 12:30 p. m. in the hall of the House before a joint session.

Leaders To Back Wilson.

President Wilson in his address, it is understood, will urge Congress to confine its work strictly to measures for the successful and speedy prosecution of the war. There is a general disposition among the leaders on both sides to depend upon him to take the lead in proposing the war measures and to give him all the nonpartisan support possible.

While the question of declaring war upon Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria Germany's Allies, is being agitated in Congress, there is a general disposition to follow the wishes of the executive branch of the government which is understood to oppose any change in policy at this time.

Prayers For Victory Offered.

Prayers for victory were offered in opening of both houses.

In his prayer opening the Senate session, Rev. Forest J. Prettyman, Senate chaplain, said:

"We face the mightiest task ever confronting any generation.

"We thank Thee that we have taken our place on Thy side, in behalf of the brotherhood of nations and peace throughout the world."

Speaker Clarke's gavel fell on the dot of noon with a large representation of the House present. His appearance on the rostrum was greeted with spontaneous applause, the members rising and cheering.

Senate Attendance Large.

In his opening prayer, the House chaplain asked that "in this, the darkest hour of human history, help us, a people, to appreciate the gravity of the situation and unite us in bonds of patriotism that we may throw all our moral, intellectual and physical force into the conflict with grim determination to win or perish."

For the first time in two sessions Senator Nathon Goff, West Virginia, answered roll call. Illness prevented his attendance at the special session.

Attendance in the Senate was unexpectedly large. Sixty-seven of the 96 senators answered roll call.

Husting To Be Honored.

Senator La Follette arose immediately after the formal organization of the Senate formally to announce to the Senate the death of his colleague, Senator Paul O. Husting of Wisconsin, who was accidentally shot while hunting.

"This is not the time to pay adequate honor to the memory of Senator Husting," said La Follette. "At a later time I shall ask that a day be set aside to pay honor to him."

The Senate at once adopted a resolution of "profound regret" over Senator Husting's death, and as a further mark of respect adjourned at 12:14 until Tuesday.

To Offer Bone Dry Bill.

Bone dry prohibition throughout the United States for the duration of the war as a food conservation measure is proposed in a bill Representative Randall, California, has ready for introduction.

Five thousand dollars' fine, or two years in prison would be the penalty for the selling, making, transporting, importing or use of any food, fruit or feed in the production of alcoholic beverages, except for medicinal, governmental, industrial or scientific purposes.

Prices Deprive Babies of Milk.

Washington, Dec. 4.—According to a statement made public by the federal children's bureau war prices are depriving babies of milk. Dr. Grace L. Meigs, director of the bureau's child hygiene division, said that milk is the one food that all young children must have if they are to be strong and healthy. Since the price of milk went up to 14 cents a quart in New York city, tea and coffee have been substituted for milk by more than half of the 2,200 families—including [illegible] study.

GERMANS FAIL TO STOP BRITISH

Complete Failure Is Result of the Crown Prince's Effort to Nullify Byng's Advance.

CASUALITIES ARE GREAT

Dead in Battle Are More in Numbers Than During Any Similar Period of Fighting Since the War Began.

Berlin, Dec. 4.—Since Friday the Germans have captured 6,000 British prisoners in the Cambrai region, the German general staff announces. The guns taken numbered 100.

London, Dec. 4.—Germany's biggest push over the open country since the days of the Marne is still continuing in fighting of unabated ferocity around Cambrai.

The British lines are holding. Field Marshal Haig's report detailed repulse of hostile attacks in the neighborhood of Moeuvres in "sharp fighting."

British troops reoccupied a section of a trench on high ground southwest of Bourlon village, on the Cambrai front. Masnieres, which was evacuated by the British, was shelled by British artillery.

Hun Encircling Move Fails.

London, Dec. 4.—Complete failure is the apparent result of Bavarian Crown Prince Rupprecht's attempt, by an encircling movement, to nullify the brilliant advance of Gen. Byng toward Cambrai. Although at certain points the Germans pierced the British lines and captured positions, men and guns, they have paid dearly for their enterprise in casualties—the dead near La Vacquerie during the course of the 12 hours having been greater in numbers than during any similar period of fighting since the war began.

With the British Army in France, Dec. 4.—British continued their counter offensive operations in the Gonnelieu sector, which was overrun by the Germans in an attempt to wrench off the salient which the British had driven in about Bourlon wood. The mopping up of Gonnelieu, which was recaptured by Haig's troops, was completed. About 300 prisoners were taken in this place. Fifty prisoners also were brought out of Les Rues Vertes, after a British counter attack and all told the Germans lost hundreds of prisoners in Saturday's operations.

Tank Captures Foe Guns.

After recapturing Gauche wood, the British pushed up still further on the higher ground to the southeast of the wood. One British tank captured 15 enemy machine guns in the assault in Gauche wood.

The Germans then began a heavy shelling of the British entanglements at the position known as the knoll, just south of Vendhuile, indicating the possibility of an impending attack in that sector.

It is now possible to state that the Germans employed a great force—at least six or seven divisions—for their attack from Moeuvres to Bourlon wood, and four or five divisions in the southern offensive in the region of Gonnelieu. The Germans fought in masses all that day in both sectors and their losses were exceedingly heavy.

WILL SAIL FOR HOME SOON

U. S. War Mission Winding Up Affairs in Europe.

Paris, Dec. 4.—Members of the American war mission have begun winding up their affairs preparatory to leaving for America.

They are busy compiling reports and clearing up minor details in conference with French and British associates.

It is officially announced that no plenary meeting of the conference will be held and that Americans will take no further part in meetings of the supreme war council until the mission has returned home and made its report.

JOLIET "BAD MEN" ESCAPE

Saw Steel Doors—Beat Guards Into Unconsciousness.

Joliet, Ill., Dec. 4.—Posses are pursuing 13 convicts who escaped from the Joliet penitentiary.

The men, in solitary confinement because of creating disturbances in the cell houses last week, broke out of the cells and sawed through three steel doors.

Albert Chanelli, guard, and John Carlson, captain of the night guard, who were encountered in the corridor, were beaten into unconsciousness.

To Wipe Out Foe in East Africa.

London, Dec. 4.—The British forces in German East Africa are preparing to make their final drive at the single remaining German force in that colony which is estimated to number about 2,000 rifles. For this purpose, says the official statement on the East Africa operations, which summarizes the November campaign, General Northey's troops are concentrating to the west of the Mehesi valley. They will co-operate in the measures being taken in dealing with this last remaining German column.

MRS. DE SAULLES CLEARED BY JURY

Wife of Dead Football Star Not Accountable for His Murder.

JURY TOOK LESS THAN TWO HOURS TO REACH VERDICT

Mineola, N. Y., Dec. 3.—It required but one hour and 43 minutes for a jury in supreme court here to reach a verdict of not guilty in the trial of Mrs. Blanca De Saulles for the murder of her divorced husband, John L. De Saulles, former Yale football star, and clubman, at his home near Westbury, Long Island, the night of Aug. 3.

Mrs. De Saulles, who had maintained an air of extreme self-possession throughout the two weeks of the trial, received the verdict smilingly. She shook hands with each of the jurors as they left the box, and to each gave a nod of appreciation.

As Mrs. De Saulles left the court room a photographer touched off a flash of light. The shock of the explosion, coupled with the young woman's heightened nervous tension, caused her to stagger, but she was prevented from falling by Dr. J. Sherman Wight, her physician. She was taken into a nearby room, where she soon recovered.

In the verdict, no reference whatever was made to insanity. It was a plea of temporary loss of accountability which formed the basis of the defense.

"I'm so happy," was Mrs. De Saulles' only comment, according to Mrs. De Saulles' attorney, Henry A. Uterhart.

Mrs. De Saulles' acquittal automatically establishes her as the only legal custodian of her son, John L. De Saulles, Jr., according to her attorneys.

SAVINGS STAMPS ON SALE

Latest War Revenue Plan May Raise Two Billions

Washington, Dec. 3.—America's newest plan for raising war funds and encouraging habits of thrift will go into operation early today with the opening of sales of war savings stamps and certificates at postoffices and banks. The campaign is to continue for a year in expectation of receiving the $2,000,000,000 maximum authorized.

The smallest unit in the plan is the thrift stamp which costs 25 cents; the largest is the war savings certificate, which costs $82.40 and is redeemable in five years at $100 at the rate of four per cent interest, compounded quarterly. Millions of persons, including children and families of small means, are expected to invest regularly in the stamps as a means of helping the nation win the war and laying aside money to be returned to them later.

Every postoffice in the country has a big supply of the stamps, and from the twelve federal reserve banks shipments of stamps and certificates have been rushed to banks so that the sale may begin without delay. Other agencies, such as retail stores, will also be used beginning at an early date.

EVACUATION OF MASNIERES

British Straighten Line, Which Still Holds Secure

Washington, Dec. 3.—Sunday night's war summary says that the attempt of the Bavarian Crown Prince Rupprecht by an encircling movement to nullify the brilliant advance of the British General Byng towards Cambrai, has resulted apparently in complete failure. Although at certain points the Germans pierced the British lines and captured positions, men and guns, they have paid dearly for their enterprise in casualties—the dead near La Vaquerie during the course of twelve hours having been greater in numbers than during any similar period of fighting since the war began.

The sharp salient formed by the occupation of Masnieres by the British was an extremely hard one to hold, and during Saturday night General Byng, to improve his line, ordered the evacuation of the village.

U.S. ENGINEERS IN HOT FIGHT

Praised by British for Valiant Behavior

With the British Army in France, Dec. 3.—Large numbers of American army engineers working on the British railways in the region of Gouzeaucourt, caught in the German turning movement, escaped by lying in shell holes and prone on the ground while the British fired over them. There they remained until the British were near enough to enable the Americans to join the ranks, when they fought valiantly and played an important part in replying to the enemy. The British commander refers to their valiant behavior with the greatest enthusiasm.

Americans elsewhere took a busy hand in the fighting and were under hot German shell fire. Numbers of them volunteered for patrol work in the danger zone and all acquitted themselves well.

ARMISTICE MEET HELD DEC. 2

Negotiations Held by Authority of German Commander in Chief.

Petrograd, Nov. 30.—The report of the representatives sent through the German lines by Ensign Krylenko, the Bolsheviki commander, to begin negotiations for an armistice, was given out today. It shows that the agreement to take up the negotiations was made in behalf of the Germans by their commander-in-chief. It was agreed that the conference should be held Sunday, Dec. 2, at German headquarters at Brest-Litovsk.

Had To Give Up

Was Almost Frantic With the Pain and Suffering of Kidney Complaint. Doan's Made Her Well.

Mrs. Lydia Shuster, 1838 Margaret St., Frankford, Pa., says: "A cold started my kidney trouble. My back began to ache and got sore and lame. My joints and ankles became swollen and painful and it felt as if needles were sticking into them. I finally had to give up and went from bad to worse.

"My kidneys didn't act right and the secretions were scanty and distressing. I had awful dizzy spells when everything before me turned black; one time I couldn't see for twenty minutes. Awful pains in my head set me almost frantic and I was so nervous, I couldn't stand the least noise. How I suffered! Often I didn't care whether I lived or died.

"I couldn't sleep on account of the terrible pains in my back and head. Nothing seemed to do me a bit of good until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. I could soon see they were helping me; the backache stopped, my kidneys were regulated and I no longer had any dizzy spells or rheumatic pains. I still take Doan's occasionally and they keep my kidneys in good health."

Cost of Feeding Nippon's Soldiers.

It costs about 43 sen a day (about 22 cents) to feed a private in Japan's Second imperial body-guard regiment, according to an officer quoted in Yomiuri, a venacular paper. Of this, 15 sen goes for a quart of rice and barley (30 per cent barley) and 18 sen for meat and vegetables. The sum is not as small as it seems, as everything is one-third under market price when bought for the army. For breakfast, in addition to the cereal, bean soup is served, and for lunch and supper the menu includes vegetables and fish or meat. Cooking and distribution is carefully done by a staff of 20 men, including three lieutenants, three sergeants and 14 privates—or one cook for every 90 men in a regiment of 1,800. Unused food is sold to cheap eating houses, the money thus gained being spent for extra dishes on festive occasions.

Always Have PERUNA

Mrs. L. A. Patterson, 1399 Kentucky St., Memphis, Tennessee, writes:

"I have been a friend of Peruna for many years. I have used it off and on for catarrhal complaints and found it a very excellent remedy. I have a small family of children. Times are hard with us, but I can scarcely afford to do without Peruna, especially during the season of the year when coughs and colds are prevalent. We always recommend Peruna to our neighbors, for the benefit it has been to us."

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Canadian Farmers Profit From Wheat

The war's devastation of European crops has caused an unusual demand for grain from the American Continent. The people of the world must be fed and wheat near $2 a bushel offers great profits to the farmer. Canada's invitation is therefore especially attractive. She wants settlers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops.

You can get a Homestead of 160 acres FREE and other lands at remarkably low prices. During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley and Flax.

Mixed farming as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses full of nutrition are the only food required for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools, churches, markets convenient, climate excellent.

There is an extra demand for farm labor to replace the many young men who have volunteered for the war. The Government is urging farmers to put extra acreage into grain. Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Supt. of Immigration, Ottawa, Canada, or Why of Course.

Though thoroughly patriotic, Johnny, aged nine, dining with his mother in one of the cafeterias on wheatless day, could not understand why he should eat corn bread instead of the usual white bread, relates the Indianapolis News.

In the argument that ensued his mother, losing her temper, ordered the young man "to get outside of his portion of bread right away."

After a thoughtful moment Johnny commented: "Mother, then I would be the peelin', wouldn't I?"

RIVALS EXPLOITS OF JESSE JAMES

IN LAW'S CLUTCHES

Killing of a Holdup Victim in Montana Brings to Close Remarkable Record of Daring Criminal Experiences.

Knoxville, Tenn.—Rivaling the exploits of Jesse James were the thrilling experiences and adventures of Walter Blevins, alias Walter Curtis, alias Walter Dean, who recently was taken from this city to Anaconda, Mont., to be placed on trial at Anaconda charged with murder and highway robbery.

Blevins belonged to the famous Harvey Logan clan.

Investigation by secret service men, post office inspectors and other federal officers at Knoxville has disclosed deeds and crimes attributed to Blevins which are unparalleled in the most popular "Diamond Dick" and "Nick Carter" stories.

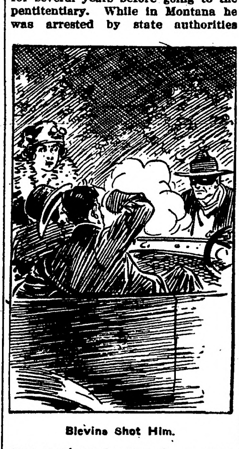
Many Desperate Deeds.

Gold nuggets were stolen in Alaska by Blevins, and on this charge and jail-breaking at Juneau, Alaska, he was sentenced to the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth by the territorial court in Alaska.

He was released from Leavenworth prison on October 15, 1916. He then went to Chattanooga and worked for two or three weeks as a structural steel worker.

For two months he remained in upper East Tennessee. During that time the post office at Johnson City was entered, the vault therein, as well as the large safe inside the vault, were blown open with nitroglycerin and nearly $10,000 worth of postage stamps and several hundred dollars in money stolen.

In the latter part of February, 1917, Blevins left East Tennessee and returned to Montana, where he had lived for several years before going to the pentitentiary. While in Montana he was arrested by state authorities upon a minor charge and was given six months in jail. While in jail at Malta, Mont., he made his escape, in connection with two men, who it is claimed were Western highwaymen.



Blevins Shot Him.

Shortly after his escape from jail in company with these men and another party, he went to Anaconda, and while at Anaconda this quartette held up ten or fifteen automobiles on a highway about three miles from Anaconda.

Because one of the parties, a prominent business man, failed to hold up his hands as quickly as Blevins ordered, it is claimed Blevins shot him, and also shot a woman who did not respond immediately to his command. The man lived a few weeks and died.

Blevins made his escape nad was afterwards recaptured at Minot, N. D., and returned to Malta, Mont., on the old charge for which he was serving a sentence when he escaped. It was claimed part of the stolen goods and jewelry was found upon him.

Confesses to Robbery.

Blevins confessed to the robbery of the Johnson City post office at Malta, Mont., and before the Montana state authorities suspected that he was connected with the Anaconda robbery he was brought to Tennessee for trial for the Johnson City robbery of the $10,000 in postage stamps and several hundred dollars in money.

He was tried on that charge at the session of the United States district court in September, at Greeneville, Tenn., when he repudiated his alleged confession, claiming it was forced from him by the sheriff in Montana, and, the federal government being unable to rebut his claim at that time, he was acquitted by the jury, there being no other evidence of his robbing the Johnson City post office except his reputed confession.

Sheriff J. R. Crabb and Deputy Sheriff Percy Ingalls of Montana took Blevins back to Montana with a 20-pound boot on his foot, which has a combination lock which takes about three minutes to open, and strong handcuffs.

SELF DEFENSE

Defeat Backache and Kidney Trouble With Anuric

Many people in this section have suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble and have found that Anuric was the most successful remedy to overcome these painful and dangerous ailments.

The lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they heeded nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "An-u-ric" (double strength). You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as diabetes or stone in the bladder. If you want quick relief buy it now, 60 cents, all druggists, or send Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial pkg. This will prove that "Anuric" eliminates uric acid almost as hot water melts sugar.

AS A SUPPORT for exhausted, nervous, overworked women, nothing can do as much as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates and assists all the natural functions, never conflicts with them, and it strengthens and builds up the female system in a way of its own.

Nursing mothers and women generally, will find it exactly fitted to their needs. It lessens the pains and burdens, and ensures healthy, vigorous offspring.

You will escape many ills and clear up the coated tongue, the sallow complexion, the dull headache, the lazy liver, if you will take a pleasant laxative made up of the May-apple, juice of the leaves of aloes, root of jalap, and called "Pleasant Pellets." You can obtain at almost any drug store in this country these vegetable pellets in vials—simply ask for Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Sold for fifty years.

ORDER

Upon reading the petition of F. E. Pearson, as Superintendent of Banks for the State of Minnesota, having in charge for the purpose of liquidation, the Farmers State Bank of Holt, a corporation, and which petition was duly verified and sworn to by the said F. E. Pearson, on the 16th day of November 1917, and which petition has been duly filed in the office of the Clerk of this Court, praying that this Court direct, order and levy an assessment upon each share of the capital stock of the said Farmers State Bank of Holt, and against each and every of the stockholders and persons liable on said stock, in an amount sufficient to pay the indebtedness of said corporation, and the costs and expense involved in the liquidation of the said Farmers State Bank of Holt, and the costs and expense involved in these proceedings, not exceeding the par value of said stock; the persons liable as stockholders in said corporation to be determined by the Court; and the amount of assessment to be fixed and determined by the Court against each and every of the stockholders and persons found by the Court to be liable on said stock, all of which shall be determined at the hearing on said petition, as required by law.

NOW THEREFORE, on motion of G. Halvorson, Attorney for said F. E. Pearson as Superintendent of Banks for the State ot Minnesota,

IT IS ORDERED, that said petition be heard before the undersigned, one of the Judges of said Court, at his chambers in the Court House in the City of Warren, Marshall County, Minnesota, on the 14th day of January 1918, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, at which time and place the Court will receive and consider such proof as may be offered in relation to the matter alleged in said petition by said Receiver and by any of the stockholders and creditors of said Farmers State Bank of Holt, and any other person interested therein.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that said Receiver give notice of such hearing by causing a copy of this order to be mailed to each of the stockholders of said Farmers State Bank of Holt, as alleged in said petition, or known to said Superintendent of Banks, at least 35 days prior to such hearing, and by publishing this order in THE HOLT WEEKLY NEWS, a weekly newspaper in said County, at least once, which publication shall take place at least 40 days prior to such hearing.

Dated at Warren, Minnesota, this 3rd day of December 1917.

BY THE COURT
Andrew Grindeland,
DISTRICT JUDGE.

Jimmie Collins Tells What He Saw—What Military Training Does for Boys.

"Well, here we are!" exclaimed Billie, presenting his chum, Jimmie Collins.

"Very glad to see you, Mr. Collins," said Uncle Dan with a smile.

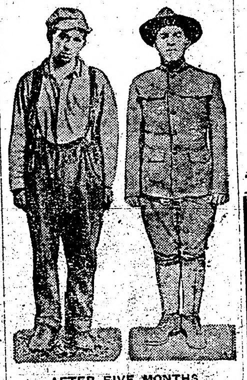
"Aw," said Billie, "Just call him Jimmie. That's the only name he knows. He's the pitcher of our baseball nine, and he's some pitcher, too. Just feel of his arm."

"Well," said Uncle Dan, feeling, "That's a mighty good arm!"

"Now, boys," said Uncle Dan, "what do you want to talk about?"

"Well," said Jimmie, "I was down to Galesburg a few months ago when the boys came home from the Mexican border. They looked fine. Everybody was surprised to see how straight they stood and how manly they were. The boys seemed proud to wear the uniform. I tell you their muscles were as hard as nails. I heard Banker Haskett say that the training and discipline the boys had had was exactly what every boy in the country ought to have, and that now these boys could get a better job at higher pay than they could have had before. Do you think that's so, Uncle Dan?"

Uncle Dan replied: "I have a friend who employs hundreds of young men. He always gives boys having had military training the preference; he says it pays to do so. He finds they are more alert, more prompt, more courteous; they know how to carry out orders; they are quicker to think and to act than those without training. He said from his experience he believed that six or eight months of intensive military training would add at least 20 per cent to a man's earning capacity, and that it was the best investment any young man could make.



AFTER FIVE MONTHS.

The two pictures are of the same young man. The first was taken the day he enlisted and the second after he had had five months' military training. His home is in North Carolina.

"Billie, if you will go up to my room and bring my small handbag, I will let you see two photographs of the same young man, showing what only five months of intensive training on the Mexican border did for him."

The bag was brought. Uncle Dan, showing the pictures, said: "Well, here they are. They tell their own story and it is a mighty interesting one. The young man, before training, has a discouraged look; he has seen but little of the world. There was very little in his surroundings to bring him out. When he joined the colors and Uncle Sam took him in charge, life for him took on a new meaning. He saw a chance to do something and be something. He woke up. His captain says he is twice the man he was when he joined the army. This may be one of the extreme cases," said Uncle Dan. "I can tell you, though, that war or no war, no one thing will do the young men of this nation so much good in so short a time as a few months of intensive military training. It fits a man to fight his own life battles in the business world as well as to defend his country and its flag.

"Nearly every civilized country gives its boys military training. It is compulsory. It is based upon the fact that it is the duty of everyone to help defend his country; and as war is now carried on, no one can do much unless he is trained. Also, the records show that the killed and wounded among untrained troops is nearly three times as great as it is with well-trained men who know how to fight and how to protect themselves. By this plan a nation has trained men to defend her and the individual is a stronger and better man for the training.

"If the Chamberlain Bill for Military Training is passed by congress, as it ought to be, the same thing would be done for millions of other young men throughout the land. Everybody ought to demand of his congressman and senators the passage of this bill."

"All right, sir, exclaimed Jimmie, we will see Judge Brownell, Mr. Haskett and [illegible] and get them [illegible]."

Red Cross Notes

The Red Cross will meet Friday evening at 7:30 to 9:30 as usual. There are several garments to be sewed and knitted articles to finish before winter is over. All members are urged to be present and do their bit.

The following is a list of articles that were put in the Christmas boxes for the Marshall County Soldier and Sailor Boys.

1 Army and Navy Dairy Book
2 1 Fruit Cake
3 1 Bath Towel
4 1 Toilet Soap
5 Tobacco
6 Cigarettes
7 Dates
8 Gum
9 1 lb homemade Candy
10 Popcorn
11 Christmas Card

The demand for knitting articles is in the order given:

First, Sweaters Second, Socks
Third, Helmets Fourth, Wristlets
Fifth, Mufflers

Several members have asked concerning the buying of Red Cross yarn and also in regard to sending the knitted articles directly to relatives or friends. The "Division Headquarters" at Minneapolis write the following:

"All garments made by the Red Cross should be turned in to the auxiliary for distribution, as any other method is wasteful. They may also be assured that in every case the boys will be given a complete outfit before leaving for France."

Notice

Several members of the Red Cross will give a musical recital and will serve a lunch at the Woodman Hall Saturday at 8:00. The proceeds will go towards the Great National Xmas Drive Fund.

Notice!

I will be in Holt Monday Dec. 17 th. to sell tamerack wood in loads or by the acre, from my quarter section NE 1-4 of SE 1-4 and SE 1-4 of NE 1-4 of Section 34 and S 1-2 of NW 1-4 of section 35, at a reasonable price. I will be out at O. K. Flakne's home the rest of the week.

JERUSALEM IS WON BY BRITISH

LONG UNDER TURK RULE

Christianity's Most Hallowed Spot In Possession of Mohammedans, With Two Brief Interludes, for 1,200 Years — England Hails Allenby's Victory.

London, Dec. 11.—Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchecquer, has just announced in the house of commons that Jerusalem, after being surrounded on all sides by British troops, has surrendered.

Held by Turks for Centuries.

The capture of Jerusalem by the British forces marks the end, with two brief interludes, of more than 1,200 years' possession of the seat of the Christian religion by the Mohammedans. For 673 years the Holy City has been in undisputed ownership of the Turks, the last Christian ruler of Jerusalem being the German emperor Frederick II., whose short lived domination lasted from 1229 to 1244.

Ottoman Efforts Collapse.

Apart from its connection with the campaign being waged against Turkey by the British in Mesopotamia the fall of Jerusalem was the definite collapse of the long protracted efforts of the Turks to capture the Suez canal and invade Egypt. Almost the first move made by Turkey after her entrance into the war was a campaign against Egypt across the great desert of the Sinai peninsula.

Retreat Began in 1915.

In December, 1915, the Turks had been driven back as far as El Anish, about 85 miles east of the Suez canal. In December, 1916, the British stormed El Anish and a few days later severely defeated the Turks at Maghdabeh, about 60 miles to the south on the same front. Two weeks later the invaders had been driven out of Egypt and the British forces crossed the border into Palestine.

Allenby Works Near Coast.

On March 7 last the British forces captured El Khulil, 15 miles south of Jerusalem. El Khulil is the modern name of ancient Hebron. The campaign lapsed into stagnancy through the heated period.

Early in November the British captured Beersheba, 40 miles south of Jerusalem. Similarly a coastal column became active. By the seventh of the month the city of Gaza was in their hands and the British were pursuing the Turks northward after having inflicted casualties estimated as in excess of 10,000. General Allenby, the British commander, kept his forces near the coast in rapid motion and pushed on to Jaqa, the port of Jerusalem, in mid-November.

By November 22 the British had pushed within five miles of Jerusalem on the northwest and on December 7 General Allenby announced that he had definite possession of Hebron. Jerusalem thus was virtually cut off on all sides but the east.

Objective of Crusaders.

In sentimental and romantic aspect the capture of Jerusalem far exceeds even the fall of fable-crowned Bagdad. The modern city of Jerusalem contains about 60,000 inhabitants and is the home of pestilence, filth and fevers, but in historic interest it naturally surpasses to the Christian world all other places in the world. Since the days when Joshua wrested it from the hands of the Jebusites, to make it the capital of the Jewish race, Jerusalem has been prized prey of half of the races of the world. It has passed successively into the hands of Assyrians, Babylonians, Greeks, Romans, Persians, Arabs, Turks, the motley crowds of The Crusaders, finally to fall before the descendents of that Richard, the Lionhearted, who strove in vain for its possession more than 700 years ago.

Good Omen for Triumph of Right.

The news spread like wildfire throughout London. Its fall was heralded as a good omen. The most cherished Christmas gift which could be given the world of democracy and the hosts fighting for Christian justice and peace and freedom is this gift of the Holy City to world Christians again after having been held by infidel hordes for centuries.

Three Die in Cleveland Cold.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 11.—With the thermometer at 5 degrees below zero, three lives were lost, several homes destroyed by persons thawing out pipes, a man and a woman overcome by gas fumes in their home, four men are in hospitals with frozen hands or feet, and one man was seriously injured by a street car as a result of the worst blizzard in years.

Miller Says Allies Will Win.

Duluth, Dec. 11.—"America, side by side with Britain and France, will create a series of battles that human conceptions now cannot grasp. They will smash through the German lines with a blast of fire. They will beat the Hun—but not until America has exerted every ounce of strength." These were the assertions of Representative C. B. Miller of Minnesota in an address he delivered before a large audience here in a Red Cross benefit lecture. Representative Miller returned recently from Europe.

COSSACKS BEGIN CIVIL WARFARE

Led By Korniloff and Kaledines They Take Field Against Leninites In Russia.

BOURGOISE GIVE HELP

Orders Given By Bolsheviki Government to Suppress Uprising at Once and To Refuse Any Attempts at Mediation.

Petrograd, Dec. 11.—The Bolsheviki government has issued an official communication in which it is declared that General Kaledines, supported by General Korniloff, former commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, have raised the standard of revolt in the Don Cossack region against the people and the revolution, so the long expected civil warfare in Russia has apparently come.

Revolt Ordered Crushed.

As a counter to the movement, the Bolsheviki government has ordered its troops and followers immediately to set to work to put down the uprising forbidding even any attempts at mediation.

No details of the uprising are as yet to hand, but the proclamation of the Bolsheviki government asserts that the Constitutional Democrats and the Bourgeoise are aiding the movement against the Leninite faction.

The Cossocks, of whom Kaledines is leader, are famous as dashing fighters, and in choosing Korniloff as his right hand man Kaledines obtains a military man of unquestioned ability.

Rubles Flow to Revolters.

London, Dec. 10.—A proclamation to the Russian nation has been issued by the Russian government announcing that "Kaledines and Korniloff, assisted by the Imperialists and Constitutional Democrats, have raised a revolt and declared war in the Don region against the people of the revolution."

The proclamation adds that "the Constitutional Democrats and Bourgeoise are supplying the revolting generals with scores of millions of rubles."

CLAIMS DRAFT LAW IS VALID

Government Asks Supreme Court to Dismiss Case.

Washington, Dec. 11.—In a brief just made public asking the supreme court to dismiss cases attacking the constitutionality of the selective draft law, the government asserts that power conferred upon Congress to declare war carries with it authority to compel military service either at home or abroad. Compulsory draft is declared to have been a normal method of raising armies ever since this government was established the legality of which has been repeatedly upheld by the courts. The situation in Russia is pointed to without mentioning the name, as a demonstration that there can with safety be no absolute freedom in civilized societies.

"If the argument against this law upon constitutional grounds be not frivolous," says the brief, "then the adjective has lost its legal significance."

The cases now before the court include nine appeals from Minnesota, Georgia and Ohio, in which persons were convicted of either failing to register on June 5, or of attempting to block operations of the act by urging others of draft age not to comply with it.

ITALIAN AIRMEN STRIKE TEUTS

Send 2,000 Bombs Into Ranks of Enemy.

Italian Army Headquarters in Northern Italy, Dec. 11.—On the Asiago plateau an exceptionally large air raid was carried out with a fleet of 150 airplanes, including Italian light and heavy squadrons. The objectives were enemy troops which always kept out of our rifle range. The huge fleet flew low, scattering more than 2,000 bombs, which caused extensive damage in the northern sector, where the enemy is assembling forces and supplies. Troop trains were scattered, railway depots destroyed and munition supplies blow up. Large fires marked the route of the raiders, indicating the extent of the destruction.

The information has been received in a letter from Chihuahua City. General Murguia is expected to remain there 30 days. The German consul returned with him from Mexico City recently

U. S. DESTROYER SUNK, SIXTY DIE

FIRST WARSHIP LOST

Brother of Spanish War Hero and Brother-in-Law of Daniels In Command—Ship One of Newest—Recently Saved 305 From Liner.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The American destroyer Jacob Jones, has been sunk in the war zone, with the loss of a large part of the crew, the navy department announces.

Thirty-seven survivors were taken off one life raft. The names of 10 survivors received are:

Was on Patrol Duty.

The sinking occurred Dec. 6 at 8 p. m., while the ship was on patrol duty. It was commanded by Lieutenant Commander David Worth Bagley, brother of Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the secretary of the navy.

Commander Bagley's brother was the first American officer killed in the Spanish-American war.

The Jacob Jones was the ship which saved 305 persons from the Orama, a Peninsular and Oriental liner, converted into an auxiliary cruiser, on Oct. 19. The Orama had been torpedoed by a submarine while acting as a part of a convoy of merchant vessels under escort of American destroyers. The Jacob Jones was one of the convoy.

Rescued 305 from Ocean.

The Jacob Jones and another destroyer were detailed to remain by the Orama after the submarine had been attacked and put out of action. When the Orama began to settle it had grown dark and the crew abandoned it. The Jacob Jones picked up in the darkness 305 of the 478 persons on board.

The Jacob Jones' peace time complement was 5 officers, 5 petty officers and 87 men.

One of Newest Destroyers.

It was one of the newest and largest American destroyers, with a displacement of 1,150 tons and a length of 310 feet over all. It was completed in 1916 at the plant of the New York Shipbuilding company, Camden, N. J. It burned oil, was driven by turbine engines and had a speed of 39.57 knots an hour.

First Warship Destroyed.

This disaster makes the first American destroyer sunk by German torpedoes since the United States entered the war. The indicated loss of life in today's disaster is the largest of any American loss at sea except in the submarining of the army transport Antilles, which carried 67 men down.

FORMER CZAR MAY BE FREE

Escapes From Guards in Siberia, U. S. Consul Hears.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The American consul at Tiflis reports a rumor that the former czar of Russia has escaped. The message contained no details and made it clear that there was no confirmation of the rumor. No other news was received here from Russia.

To Repudiate All Loans.

London, Nov. 10.—The bolsheviki government, according to a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd, is preparing a decree repudiating all Russian foreign loans and loans concluded by land banks and railways on government guarantees. Shares of internal loans held abroad also will be repudiated.

PREPARE FOR SUPREME BLOW

Huns Mass On Latin Front—French Troops In Action.

With the French Armies in Italy, Dec. 10.—French troops are in action against the ever increasing masses of Austro-Germans who are plainly preparing for Germany's supreme effort to break through the Italian line.

The battle all along the Italian front is becoming heavier. The enemy is massing men, guns and material.

Heavy artillery, which the Italians' destruction of bridges and roads delayed, is now being brought to the fighting line in daily increasing numbers.

Americans to Rebuild Halifax.

New York, Dec. 10.—Special trains have left over the New York Central for Halifax, carrying 600 men, $15,000 worth of tools, $150,000 worth of lumber, 1,000 portable houses and 25 motor trucks. A special salvage corps under 20 expert engineers will aid in the work of rescue of the city and in the construction of temporary shelter. Dr. Darlington, former health commissioner, is in charge of temporary housing and will aid local authorities in maintaining sanitary conditions in the stricken city.

Why That Lame Back?

Morning lameness, sharp twinges when bending, or an all-day backache; each is cause enough to suspect kidney trouble. Get after the cause. Help the kidneys. We Americans go it too hard. We overdo, overeat and neglect our sleep and exercise and so we are fast becoming a nation of kidney sufferers. 72% more deaths than in 1890 is the 1910 census story. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands recommend them.

Queen Mother's Gift Bible.

Upon one of his journeys during the Antarctic expedition Sir Ernest Shackleton was obliged to reduce his luggage to the smallest possible amount.

He states that up to this point the Bible given by Queen Alexandra to the ship's library (provided by the British and Foreign Sailors' society) had been carried with the party. In leaving other things behind it was decided with reluctance that this also must be abandoned.

As the Bible contained on its flyleaf a message written by Queen Alexandra, the flyleaf was cut out, also the pages containing the Twenty-third psalm and the chapter in the Book of Job which speaks of the sea being frozen. These three pages were carried to the end of the journey and brought back to this country.

Sir Ernest has promised to present the three pages to the society to be sold on behalf of its funds.

Let the persons who think wheatless and meatless days are a hardship listen to the venerable men and women whose memory takes them back to the Civil war, says the Anaconda (Mont.) Standard.

Roasted barley, parched corn, chicory roots, and even dandelion roots, dried and roasted, were used as coffee substitutes. White or granulated sugars were a rarity and only on the table for company. Brown sugar and old-fashioned black molasses, bread and honey, and even bread and ham fat were considered pretty good enough for all but the old people. In those days nearly every family in town kept a cow. Those who didn't, as a rule, went without milk. The papers of that day emphasized the fact that coffee and tea were more nutritious when used without milk.

BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP

Why use ordinary cough remedies, when Boschee's German Syrup has been used so successfully for fifty-one years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis, colds settled in the throat, especially lung troubles. Sold in all civilized countries. 30 and 90 cent bottles.—Adv.

Best Soldier a Middleweight.

It isn't the big 170-pounders that the examining boards who have been choosing recruits for the new National army greet with enthusiasm, says Milestones. It's the lithe chap who weighs about 140 and hasn't a pound to spare that is the real prize for military service.

Tests made at Princeton and in the training camps go to show that, weight for weight, a man of this build handles himself more effectively. He scores relatively low in strength tests, but remarkably high in endurance. He is adaptable when it comes to the modifications of diet that life in camp makes necessary and he can stand inspection with full equipment on a hot day and smile, while the big fellow wilts and falls out.

Responsibility.

"Prohibition has made a great change in Crimson Gulch," commented the occasional visitor.

"Yes," replied Three Finger Sam. "I never saw the settlement so quiet and polite."

"How do you account for it?"

"Well, liquor is no longer handy as an excuse for reckless talk and everybody's nerves have steadied down so that if a man should reach for a gun it 'ud have to mean something."

Retribution.

Biggins says he wants to go into business and be his own boss.

"It would serve him right. Biggins makes about the meanest boss ever known."

It isn't so much a matter of time as it is of disposition that so many things we could do are left undone.

What Convinced Him.

Defendant's Lawyer—You say my clients called you names! How did you know for sure that they were talking to you and not to somebody else?

Plaintiff—Well, maybe I was mistaken, but when they accompanied their conversation with biffs on my jaw and swats on my ribs I naturally couldn't be blamed for thinking they were addressing their remarks to me.—Judge.

Status of Arab Nation.

The Arab nation is without money for natural resources. Its territory contains neither mineral nor external agricultural wealth—but the redemption of Mesopotamia will afford the Arab of the future opportunity for aggrandizement. There, under semi-independence, after barrages on the Tigris and Euphrates have been built by British energy and cash, Bagdad may rise to a higher scale of learning, splendor and wealth than under the caliphat of Haroun al Raschid.

Of the entire outcome from the war, therefore, notes a correspondent, the Arab renaissance is assuredly not the least momentous. Historically, it will mark the advent of a new era; ethnologically it becomes a charming study of futurists of literature.

Collecting Military Stamps.

Collectors in the United States are now gathering postmarks of letters sent from the American camps in France, which are stamped "U. S. Army Postal Service." They figure that if anything definite results from the peace talk, the expeditionary force's postmark will be valuable becaus of its comparative rarity, as they believe that most of the letters coming to the United States from the soldiers abroad are sent to close friends and relatives who, for sentimental reasons, will have the missives, envelopes and all.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

(By J. H. Watson, M. D.)

Swollen hands, ankles, feet are due to a dropsical condition, often caused by disordered kidneys. Naturally when the kidneys are deranged the blood is filled with poisonous waste matter, which settles in the feet, ankles and wrist; or under the eyes in bag-like formations.

As a remedy for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation caused by uric acid—as scalding urine, backache and frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism lumbago, sciatica, gout, it is simply wonderful how quickly An-u-ric acts; the pains and stiffness rapidly disappear, for Anuric, (double strength), is many times more potent than lithia and often eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels have been favorably known for nearly 50 years.

TO ENROLL MEN FOR WAR WORK

Labor Is Needed in Shipyards and Factories.

HIGHEST SPEED IS NECESSARY

Incatiable Demands of the Large Army at the Front Prompts Government to Inaugurate a Public Service Reserve.

Washington.—A campaign to enroll the country in the United States public service reserve, with particular effort to get men for the shipyards, will be inaugurated by the United States department of labor, acting in co-operation with the shipping board, according to a statement made by William Edwin Hall, national director of the reserve. State directors are being appointed and local organizations perfected in every state.

"The primary object of this campaign," said Mr. Hall, "is to obtain a large list of skilled and semi-skilled men who are not now producing war material or doing work useful to the prosecution of the war, and to get them into the shipyards and the factories which must be maintained at the highest speed if industry is to meet the insatiable demands of a large army at the front.

"It appears from published reports, such as the arrival of the Rainbow Division in France, that the number of American troops at or near the firing line is constantly increasing, and we civilians whom these troops have gone over there to protect, would be shamefully derelict in our national duty and quite wanting in patriotism if we did not make every personal sacrifice to keep our soldiers 100 per cent supplied.

Labor Needed in War Work.

"A number of the non-essential industries are employing labor which is urgently needed for war work—in the shipyards, for example. One is surprised to see how many kinds of workers are needed to build a ship. The shipping board has prepared for the public service reserve a list of 88 different "peace" occupations from which men must—absolutely must—be drawn in order that our tremendous shipbuilding can be carried out in time. You often hear it said that 'ships will win the war,' but today it is being put in a little different way by those who know the situation: A failure on the part of American civilians to build the necessary number of ships will make it impossible for the United States to continue to fight. A lack of ships may lose the war.'

"The United States public service reserve," explained Mr. Hall, "is working at high speed today to obtain all these men needed for shipbuilding, for making equipment, for gun manufacturing, for mechanical draughting, for hundreds of other vital operations, from the 'non-essential industries'—that is, from industries which are important to a country at peace but, in the final analysis, virtually unnecessary to a country at war.

"Our effort is always to obtain the workers for war industry without crippling the peace industry. We will not draw away an over production of employees from any one locality, from any one industry, from any one employer. War means suffering. A considerable disturbance of industry is inevitable. The public service reserve proposes to bring about the necessary shifting of labor with just as little disturbance as possible. We want no industry and no employer to have to bear any more than a fair, legitimate share of the burden which the peremptory demands of war throw upon all of us."

Differs From Army Enlistment.

"Men who enroll in the United States public service reserve state their trade and suggest other classes of work they could do, if necessary, for the war. The enrolled men will remain at their present jobs and when they are notified that an opportunity to put them into war work has arisen, they are under no obligation to accept the new jobs unless satisfied with wages and conditions. Thus their enrollment in the reserve differs from enlistment in the army, where the soldier has no choice but to obey.

"Every day more and more American workers are beginning to feel in their hearts that in this critical period of the nation's history they should be devoting their energies to the actual war needs of their country. By enrolling in the United States public reserve they enjoy a happier conscience, for they know that they have thereby declared their patriotism and that the moment a war industry needs men of their type they will be given a chance to serve the country without leaving civilian life."

CRAWFISH CLOSES FACTORY

Becomes Lodged in Water Meter and Shuts Off Supply.

An insignificant crawfish, measuring three inches in length, that became lodged in the meter, shut off the supply of water for the big La Belle Iron works at Wheeling, W. Va., and caused the big plant to close down temporarily, making idle 3,000 workmen.

The crawfish had traveled from the river through the pump plant to the city reservoir and through the water mains, a distance of more than 5,000 feet before reaching the meter.

Peace Consistent With Honor.

Let us have peace, permanent, secure and, if I may use the term, independent. Peace which depends not on the pity of others, but on our own force. Let us have the only peace worth having, peace consistent with honor.—Governor Morris.

"What did you do yesterday?"

"Psmythe took me for a drive out in the country in his new car."

"Has Psmythe got a new car?"

"Well, he calls it a car, but I'd call it a thunderbolt."

"What kind of a car is it?"

"It's this kind of a car: The man who is driving says: 'Isn't that a fine view ahead of us?' And you say, 'Yes, wasn't it!'"

"Spike told me last night that he had never loved anybody else, and would love me, and me alone, as long as life lasts; just like that!" said a waitress in the rapid fire restaurant.

"Aw, yes! But that was almost a year ago."—Kansas City Star.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number Three

How War Methods Have Changed Everybody Must Help.

"Hello, Uncle Dan, Jimmie and I have been waiting for you."

"Sorry if I have kept you long," said Uncle Dan. "Your mother has been telling me how bashful I used to be. She said if a girl spoke to me I would blush to my hair roots. Well, I reminded her of the time your father first came to see her and the joke we played on them, so I guess that will hold her for a while."

Continuing, Uncle Dan said: "You want to talk more about the war, do you? Well, war methods have undergone many changes and they are still changing. No two wars are fought alike. In early times, the weapons were stones, clubs, spears, bows and arrows, swords, etc. In this kind of warfare, victory was with the strong right arm. Men of enormous size and strength were the great warriors. The invention of gunpowder, however, has changed all this. It has enabled men to kill one another at a considerable distance, and do it wholesale. The war, as we know it now, is a combination of chemicals, machinery, mathematical calculations and highly trained men. Just think of it! Airplanes, submarines, armored tanks, or caterpillars, poison gases, and curtains of fire are all used for the first time in this war; and they are destructive beyond anything heretofore known.

"The methods followed by the kaiser and his allies are simply devilish. He must answer in history to the killing of thousands of innocent women and children. He has broken every international law and every rule of warfare; he has bombarded hospitals and undefended cities, sunk Red Cross ships on errands of mercy; he has destroyed cathedrals and priceless treasures of art that can never be replaced; he has made slaves of his prisoners; he has tried to get us into war with Japan; his emmissaries have blown up our ships, burned our factories and fired our forests. He knows no mercy or honor. The most charitable view to take of this blood-thirsty tyrant is that he is crazy.

"One thing is certain," continued Uncle Dan, with great emphasis, "Our liberty, the safety of our homes and our country, and the security of the world demand the speedy and absolute overthrow of the kaiser and crushing out once and forever the reign of Prussian brutality."

"How about the German people," said Billie.

Uncle Dan replied: "The splendid German people were happy, thrifty, prosperous and contented. They have been tricked into war and made to suffer the tortures of the damned; they have been cruelly and systematically deceived. God grant that the real facts may get to them, and if they do, Lord help the kaiser!"

"Of course the allies will win," said Mrs. Graham.

"Probably so," said Uncle Dan. "But if we are to win, we must go the limit. We must check the awful destruction to shipping by the German submarines, or we may not be able to get food and supplies to our own men and to our allies; we must also put hundreds of thousands, and perhaps millions, of first-class soldiers in the battle-line.

"Food is the first consideration," Uncle Dan continued. "No army can hold out against hunger. It has been said that food will win the war, and this is largely true. Hence the importance of the farm in the war plans of our country."

Mrs. Graham interrupted by saying: "In view of the importance of farming, don't you think, Daniel, that the farmers ought to be exempted from war service?"

"No, a thousand times no," said Uncle Dan, striking the table so hard to emphasize his protest that he tipped over a vase of flowers. "We must have no class legislation. The duty to serve is the common duty of all, and no class must be relieved of this obligation. The question of exemption must be a personal one and decided by the facts surrounding each case. In no other way can we have a square deal, and to insure this, it is the duty of congress to pass immediately the Chamberlain bill, or some such measure, which is fair to all classes. It would settle all these questions and do it fairly. Safety now and safety hereafter demands such legislation, and let me suggest that you and your friends get busy with your congressman and senators and urge them to prompt action.

"It is time for us to realize that we are not living in a fools' paradise; that this great country of ours cost oceans of blood and treasure and it is only due to the loyalty, sacrifice and service of our forefathers that we have a country, and it is our highest duty to preserve it unimpaired and pass it on to posterity, no matter what the cost may be. Our citizenship and their ancestors came from all parts of the world to make this country a home and enjoy its blessings and opportunities; hence, in the crisis before us, it is the duty of everyone to stand squarely back of our country and be prepared to defend the flag. Everyone in this crisis is either pro-American or pro-German. Great as the country is, there is not room enough for two flags."

Friday evening Dec. 21st

Dr. Barker has demonstrated his ability before Lyceum and Chautauqua audiences. The intellectual maturity, oratorical power and finished humor necessary for the fullest success in this great work, are all among his fortunate possessions.

By long contact with audiences in the many states in which he has appeared, he has truly developed into "The Man for the Masses." He not only pleases and enthuses his hearers, but gives them access to his wonderful store of thought and knowledge, as well as inspiring them toward better and greater things.

Called to the Colors

Ed. Bjerk, Victor Johnson, Willie Sorum, Rudolph Reierson and Thos. Anderson were sent notices Friday to report at Warren at 10 o'clock Monday morning. They left Crookston Tuesday morning in company with 70 more Marshall Co. boys for California where they will be assigned to the coast artillery service.

The best wishes of their friends will follow them.

A Success.

The musical entertainment given by members of the Red Cross at the B. Docken home Saturday evening was a success in every way. The following ladies entertained for the "eats": Mesdames B. J. Bakke, Alfred Anderson, A. L. Carlson, F. E. Hall and B. Docken. The lunch and sale of cakes netted the Red Cross over $18.00, also four new members were added to their growing list.

Red Cross News

The Red Cross Society will not meet during the holidays, but will again begin work Jan. 4th.

Those wanting yarn or sewing material to work on during the holidays may get the same at the school house.

The working committee composed of Mrs. Gunheim as chairman and Mrs. Christianson and Mrs. R. Olson met at the school house Monday and packed a box of articles to send to Warren. There were several articles sent. This certainly shows enthusiasm and ardous workmanship on the part of those who helped to make up the articles. The following articles were sent:

3 kaki sweaters, 1 hospital shirt, 1 pair wristlets, 1 scarf, 6 pair socks and 10 water bags.

German greed has overreached itself again. Supremely arrogant over the manner in which the Russian bolsheviki fell in with its proposals for an armistice, the German high control, Washington learned, has demanded peace terms which bid fair to unite all Russia into a potent anti-German force.

Winston Spencer Churchill, minister of munitions, spoke at Bedford, England, on the allies' war aims. He said the situation was more serious than it had been reasonable three months ago to expect. His address was a warning against premature peace and an indorsement of President Wilson's statement of war aims embodied in his recent speech to congress.

Claus A. Spreckels, president of the Federal Sugar Refining company, testifying before the senate manufactures subcommittee at Washington in the sugar investigation, declared there is no sugar shortage "except in spots." One of the spots is the eastern United States, he said.

CONQUEST AND KULTUR

There are races which are incapable of attaining a high humanity, incapable of influencing the world. Such nations are destined to hew wood and draw water for dominant nations. If they cannot fill this inferior office, they must perish.

To a far greater extent than the French and English—races continually talking of freedom—we Germans have made such progress in social equalization that we may consider ourselves far beyond the Romans; and this in spite of the hostile Western powers.

We notice with anger and horror how the British nation in its entirety has shown itself false, cruel, and criminal, just as the French have proved themselves in the treatment of their prisoners barbarians.

I for my part am convinced that the French are doomed to perdition, and I feel myself free of every emotion of regret. Politically France may still exist for centuries, but the nation is so dependent for its life on admixture that after the life of a few generations it will be no more.—Professor Rudolph Huch, in Tagliche Rundschau, of Berlin.

President Wilson issued a proclamation at Washington in which he urged everybody not already a member to join the Red Cross during the membership campaign starting next Sunday and continuing until Christmas eve.

Food Administrator Hoover will issued at Washington a supplemental food card within a few days to the 12,000,00 food conservation signers, announcing that the food administration's sugar rationing plan for the United States provides for three pounds of sugar per month to each person during the coming year.

The Germans succeeded in entering a British first-line trench on a 300-yard front near Ypres, says the official report issued at London.

Peace now would be a betrayal of the entente powers' peoples. The allies are moving steadily toward victory. The entry of the United States insures the defeat of Prussianism despite the defection of the Russians. This was the message given to the world by Premier David Lloyd George, who was speaking to the lawyers at Grey's Inn, in London.

HUNS DESTROY 10 CONVOYED SHIPS

Sink Destroyer, Mine Sweepers, British and Neutral Merchantmen in North Sea.

TONNAGE LOSS 8,000

Raid Duplicates Successful Foe Enterprise of Last October When Several Norwegian Merchantment Were Sunk Without Warning.

London, Dec. 18.—One British and five neutral merchantmen, a British destroyer and four mine sweepers have been sunk in the North Sea by German naval forces.

Tonnage Loss 8,000.

The losses were the result of an attack on a convoy bound from Scotland to Norway, Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty, announces. The total tonnage of the lost merchantmen was 8,000.

Duplicates October Raids.

The German raid duplicates the successful enterprise of last October carried out by two German raiders which attacked a convoy in the North sea. They sank nine neutral merchantmen and two of the escorting British destroyers. Five Norwegian, three Swedish and one Danish vessel were sunk without warning. They were armed heavily and succeeded in evading the British watchers on the return as well as the outward trip.

Three Ships Lost Dec. 12.

London. Dec. 18.—Two neutral merchant vessels and a trawler were sunk off the Tyne December 12 by German destroyers, Thomas J. MacNamara, financial secretary to the admiralty, has just announced in the house of commons.

REVEALS WAR OFFICE SHIFTS

Baker Rearranges High Commands—Post for Goethals.

Washington, Dec. 18.—Rearrangement of some of the high commands in the War department is indicated by the detachment of officers designated by Secretary Baker to sit in the department's war council.

It has become definitely known that Major General Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, has been offered the place of quartermaster general to succeed Major General Sharpe.

Provost Marshal General Crowder is the only officer assigned to the war council who will not be detached from his present office.

LABOR BOARD BEGINS PROBE

Arrives In Twin Cities to Investigate Controversy.

Minneapolis, Dec. 18.—President Wilson's special commission to investigate labor conditions, headed by William B. Wilson, secretary of labor, has arrived in Minneapolis and at once began conferences on the "button issue" and the resultant labor controversy.

It called on Governor Burnquist and later conferred with a committee representing union labor, headed by E. G. Hall, president of the State Federation of Labor.

5,500,000 IN GERMAN ARMIES

Numerical Strength of Foe Estimated by French Critic.

Paris, Dec. 18.—German combatant forces on all fronts are estimated at 3,130,000 by the military critic of L'Echo de Paris. His estimate of the present total strength of the German army is 5,500,000. Noncombatant units, which he says total 2,370,000 men, are needed for guarding the frontier, occupying the invaded territory, and maintaining the long line of communication.

Wilson Dismisses Georgia Draft Board.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 18.—The entire membership of the Fulton county exemption board has been summarily dismissed on orders from President Wilson, on charges involving "unwarranted exemptions and discharges," and the case has been turned over to the Department of Justice.

S. D. CONRESSMAN ENLISTS AS PRIVATE

Washington, Dec. 18.—Representative Royal C. Johnson of Aberdeen, S. D., has enlisted as a private in the regular army and has been assigned to Camp Meade. He has not resigned his seat in the House.

U. S. Orders Million Enfield Rifles.

Washington, Dec. 18.—Army ordnance conditions at the beginning of the present fiscal year are treated only briefly by Major General Crozier, chief of ordnance, in the annual report of his bureau, just made public. Since the report was written General Crozier has furnished the Senate military committee a much more complete record of what has been done to arm forces in France or under training in the United States. Up to June 30 orders have been placed for 1,000,000 Enfield rifles.

RUSS ARMISTICE EFFECTIVE NOW

Slavs and Teutons Sign Agreement to Stop All Hostilities Until January 14.

ALLIES TO HELP RUSSIA

Will Do All Possible To Prevent Economic Collapse of Nation, Says London Dispatch—Kaiser Not To Transfer Troops.

Berlin, Dec. 18.—According to an official announcement just issued an armistice agreement between the Bolsheviki government and the Teutonic allies has been signed at Brest-Litovsk.

The armistice becomes effective at once and is to remain in force until January 14.

A provision in the armistice agreement is that peace negotiations are to begin immediately after the signing of the armstice.

The text of the communication follows:

"An armistice agreement was signed at Brest-Litovsk by plenipotentiary representatives of the Russian upper army administration on the one hand and those of the upper army administration of Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey on the other hand.

"The armistice begins at once, and remains in force until January 14, 1918. Unless seven days' notice is given, it continues in force automatically. It extends to all the land, air and naval forces of the common fronts.

"According to Clause 9 of the treaty peace negotiations are to begin immediately after signing of an armistice."

Allies to Help Russia.

London, Dec. 18.—While the Russians were continuing to make progress in the ratification of an armistice arrangement with Germany, the Entente governments apparently were approaching an agreement for more sympathetic dealings with the Bolsheviki government. The adoption of a more tolerant attitude toward Russia is said to have been urged by American delegates to the recent Paris conference, and this viewpoint now apparently has been adopted by all members of the Entente.

ANOTHER TEUT PLOT BARED

Berlin Would Cause Trouble Between U. S. and Japan.

Honolulu, Dec. 18.—While the ship's band was playing lively tunes to drown out all tell-tale sounds, the wireless apparatus of the German cruiser Geier, at the time she was interned in this harbor, relayed messages between German agents in the United States and Japan in furtherance of a plot to embroil the two countries in war, according to an article printed in the Star-Bulletin here.

The article, published with authority of the United States Naval Intelligence bureau, declares that the seal placed on the Geier's wireless by the American government was broken by the Germans.

This information was obtained from the diary of Captain Grasshoff of that vessel, the article states. Grasshoff's diary says, according to the article, that in November, 1914, and February, 1917, messages ordering widespread promulgation of reports that Japanese forces were to land in Mexico and German forces in Canada were handled by the Geier's wireless.

ITALIANS CALLED TO COLORS

Government Summons 2,000,000 More Fighters.

Rome, Dec. 18.—Italy has called all men of the classes of 1874 to 1899 to the colors. The action is officially described as designed to "be ready for whatever may occur." The Italian contingents now under arms are officially stated to be 4,200,000. Besides these 800,000 men previously rejected on physical grounds have been called upon to submit themselves for re-examination. Altogether the steps taken will add more than 2,000,000 men to the forces under control of the war ministry, many of whom will be developed into first line effectives.

SHIP CREWS MAKE TROUBLE

Quartermaster General Would Put Them in Military Service

Washington, Dec. 18.—Immediate legislation to bring crews of transports, mine layers, and other army vessels into military service is urgently recommended by Quartermaster General Sharpe in his annual report just made public.

Continual difficulties with civilian crews are described, with the conclusion that grave danger can be averted only by making officers and men subject to military discipline.

Gregory Scores U. S. Critics.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—America's entrance into the world war was due to the inevitable trend of events, Thomas Watt Gregory, attorney general of the United States, told members of the guests of the Iroquois club, leading Democratic organization of Chicago, at a banquet. "To ask whether the United States was justified in entering the war indicates profound ignorance or a diseased brain," he said. "This is a war of extermination not of peoples, but of systems—the system of autocracy as against democracy."

ALLIES FORM NAVAL COUNCIL

Navies of Nations Fighting Teutons To Now Work as Unit in Pressing War at Sea.

FORM BOARD IN PARIS

Flag Officers To Represent Secretary Daniels and Admiral Benson, United States Representative On Body.

Washington. Dec. 17.—A cablegram to the navy department from Admiral Benson in Paris announces the creation of an Allied naval council to co-ordinate the naval operations of all the nations at war with the Teutonic powers.

Members of the council established in accordance with the plans of the inter-Allied conference, will report to their respective government with recommendations for action.

Meetings to Be in Europe.

The council will be composed of the minister of marine and chief of naval staff of each country, in the case of the United States Secretary Daniels and Admiral Benson. As the meetings must be held in Europe, flag officers designated by their governments will represent the members from both the United States and Japan.

Admiral Benson's message says:

Close Co-operation Sought.

"It has been decided to create a naval allied council in order to insure the closest touch and complete co-operation between the Allied fleets. The duty of the council will be to watch over the general naval conduct of the war and the co-ordination of effort at sea as well as the development of all scientific operations connected with the conduct of the war.

"The council will make all the necessary recommendations to enable the government to make decisions. It will keep itself informed as to the execution of plans decided upon. The members of the councill will report to their respective governments as may be necessary.

Other Details of Plan.

"It has been decided that the council should consist of the ministers of marine of the nations represented and of the chiefs of the naval staffs. As the meeting of the council will of necessity be held in Europe the chiefs of the general naval staus of the United States and Japan will be represented by flag officers nominated by their respective governments. The Allied naval council will be provided with a permanent secretariate whose business it will be to collect and collate all necessary information, etc.

"The council will meet as often as may be thought necessary under the presidency of the minister of marine of the country in which the meeting is held."

WOMAN IS GIVEN FIVE YEARS

Kate O'Hare Defies Judge When Sentence is Passed.

Bismarck, N. D., Dec. 15.—A sentence of five years in the penitentiary at Jefferson City was imposed by Judge Martin J. Wade of Des Moines on Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, convicted of making utterances in a speech at Bowman, N. D., last summer, tending to discourage obedience to the military regulations.

The sentence followed a long speech by Mrs. O'Hare, in which she reiterated statements declaring her opposition to war and defied Federal Judge Wade to do his worst.

Witnesses at her trial testified that Mrs. O'Hare declared in her speech at Bowman that "mothers who raised their sons to be cannon fodder were no better than a farmer's brood sow," and that "young men who are foolish enough to enlist or volunteer are only good enough for German fertilizer."

Mrs. O'Hare was editor of a Socialist newspaper in St. Louis and later went on a lecture tour.

Heirs to Pay $3,000,000 Tax.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 15.—Heirs of Mrs. Robert Bingham, formerly Mrs. Henry Flagler of New York, wife of the late railroad magnate, have agreed to pay nearly $3,000,000 inheritance taxes on the Bingham $80,000,000 estate. This will be enough to wipe out Kentucky's debt.

Cuban Senate Adops War Measure.

Havana, Dec. 15.—The Senate has unanimously adopted a resolution declaring that a state of war between Cuba and Austria-Hungary exists. The resolution was the same as that passed by the House previously.

Camp Police Women Are Popular.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Policewomen are becoming increasingly popular as patrols about America's military camps, Mrs. Philip North Moore, head of the health and recreation department of the National Defense Council's woman's committee said. The addition of this feminine touch to the stern hand of law is in response to a general public demand. In many places the women have abolished undesirable female elements around the camps and have safeguarded the morals of the boys in camp.

POLICEMAN SAVES DOLL FROM FIRE

Heart of Unsentimental Police Sergeant Hears Call of a Child.

TAKES LIFE IN HANDS

Rushes Back Into Burning Building, After Saving Many Lives, to Rescue Plaything of Little Girl.

Chicago.—It is necessary to say that police sergeants are cold, stern, severe, exacting and utterly devoid of sentiment. It is only fair to say that Martin Mulvihill is a police sergeant of the Chicago avenue station. It is a fact there was a fire one evening recently in the apartment building of four stories at 543 North Michigan avenue (old Pine street).

When Sergeant Mulvihill espied that fire be loped to a call box, sent in an alarm, and turned. He saw Mrs. John Geisler lowering her infant brother from the third floor by a rope of twisted sheets. He saw the heads of frightened occupants projected from numerous windows—projected, that is, at such times as the clouds of smoke permitted. The whole building was ablaze, and the fine oak woodwork of a time when they builded better popped merrily in the flames.

In Nothing Flat.

Mulvihill tore for the back door, and made the four flights in nothing flat. Charles Snery, who lived there with his wife and child, had started down. Snery slipped, dropped the child a flight, and himself fell far enough to work a fractured leg.

Mulvihill grabbed the child and Snery and bore them out and sent them to a hospital. Then he went back for more. His face was burned and his clothing was a sight. (Oh, coppers buy their own clothing, no matter.) He found Mrs. Otto Miller and her two children of three and six years and took them out. His breath was getting short, but he went back for more.

On the second floor he found Mrs. M. Miller and George Brisley, an actor. He took them out to safety down the smoke-choked stairway. Now his cap was gone, his collar was askew, his coat was on the point of disappearing, and he needed a rest. But he went back for more.

"Do You Think She'll Burn Up?"

On the first floor there remained Mr. and Mrs. Johns, who seemed still unaware of the danger. Mulvihill cussed a wee bit and brought them out. Then he stood there and muttered: "Let 'er go."

Fears for Her Infant.

Perspiration streamed down his face and his hands were blackened and burned. As he stood there he felt a little tug at the skirt of his coat. He glanced down and saw a little girl looking up at him appealingly.

"Please, Mr. Policeman," she was saying, "my name is Annie Johns. We live on the first floor. And I left my doll back of the kitchen stove. Do you think she'll burn up?"

"Th' hell you say," muttered Martin under his breath. Then he nodded to the girl. "Don't cry. I'll be back in a minute."

And before the firemen could stop him, unsentimental Martin Mulvihill plunged back into the burning building. He was gone only a minute. When he came out his face was hotter and his clothes more torn. But he walked over to Annie Johns.

"Don't cry, girl," he said. "Here's your doll."

Nine-Year-Old Girl Shipped by Express.

Boston.—Miss Harriet A. Anderson, nine years old, of Boston, recently was shipped from that city to the home of her grandparents in Beaufort, S. C., by express, with an express package shipping card fastened to her coat.

Aged Pair Held as Pickpockets.

New York.—Mrs. Madeline Zinslee, aged seventy-seven years, and Joseph Jones, aged 84, are under arrest in New York charged with shoplifting. They are held under $1,000 bail.

GREATER EFFICIENCY. REDUCED COST

Grow Grain in Western Canada, Make Profits, and Show Greater Patriotism.

The nation-wide cry of "More Efficiency" has now reached even the most remote agricultural sections and there is a general interest amongst the farmers to increase their products and to reduce their expenses. The need of foodstuffs is greater than the world has ever before known, and every effort is being used to meet the world's food requirements, becoming more apparent every day. While it is true that this desire is attested by a general patriotism, there is an underlying factor in this extension work to secure some of the benefits that are being offered by a ready market at maximum prices. Wide-spread attention has been given to the opportunity in this respect in Western Canada, where fortunes are being made in a few crops out of grain at present prices.

It has been found that the open, level prairie can be cultivated for wheat and other small grains at a minimum price, and during the past few years the yields have been more than satisfactory. Wheat crops of forty bushel to the acre have been common in Western Canada in the last three or four years, and with a present available price of over $2.00 per bushel this means a return on investment and labor that cannot be duplicated elsewhere. This is made possible by the low priced lands that can be secured for grain growing. The range in price runs from $15 to $25 per acre, according to location and other local conditions. In this period of "more agricultural efficiency" it is apparent at a glance that the farmer on low priced but high grade lands, growing his grain at a minimum cost, is reaping a golden harvest with the highest percentage of profit.

The cultivator of high priced farm lands has a big handicap to overcome in computing his profits on a $200 an acre farm as compared with the agriculturist reaping as great, if not greater return from $25 an acre land.

It therefore becomes a question for the farmer himself to answer, whether he is doing himself and his country the best service, by devoting all his energies to working high priced land that yields no better return than land that can be secured at one-eighth the price. It is a case of getting either minimum or maximum quantity. Many have already decided on the alternative, and with their spare money invested in and now working Western Canada lands, they are allowed to speak for themselves. Apparently they are satisfied, for we learn of cases where on a $4,000 investment, in one year they have had their money back, with a profit of from 50% to 100%. Such is one of the steps in progressiveness now being demonstrated in the effort to create greater efficiency. The Canadian Government is using every effort to bring these conditions to the attention of the agricultural world, in order to secure the necessary increased grain production so greatly needed. The farmer in Western Canada is exempt from all personal taxes. His buildings, stock and implements are not assessed; and every encouragement is given to farmers to improve and increase their farm output. Reduced railway rates are being offered to new settlers to look over the country and to size up an unprecedented opportunity in farming.—Advertisement.

Christmas Tree For the Birds

Mr. and Mrs. Song Sparrow, the Misses Flicker, Cock Robin, Miss Jennie Wren, Sir Woodpecker and other members of the feathered Four Hundred who were lured by warm days at beginning of one winter into stopping with us, only to find themselves sadly hit later by the high cost of living, were thrown into a flutter of excitement by cards issued by Miss Louise Laidlaw of Sands Point, N. Y., to a birds' Christmas tree party.

It was held in the bird sanctuary on the Laidlaw place, near the commodious home built for bird tenants in a sheltering elm there. The tree was the finest ever.

For days little Miss Louise was busy in the pauses of her lessons, stringing cranberries, popcorn, nuts and other dainties beloved of birds. Strings of red skinned apples, cut into tiny pieces convenient for birds to peck at, were a prominent feature of the decorations, and so were bacon rinds and lumps of suet, which are good to keep warmth in the little bodies when the cold creeps under their feathered coats.

The Birds' Christmas Tree.

Miss Louise, who spent most of her time in the country, studied the ways of the birds and their likings, and she knew that they are as strongly attracted by bright colored things as are children. That is why the tree was made pretty with gay tinted berries.

There was a large attendance, and no birds were turned away, no matter how shabby their coats or disreputable their reputations. The blustering little English sparrows were welcomed with the rest, although they tried to bully the others. Even grouchy old Sir Crow was permitted to peck a bit.

The Spanish Santa Claus.

In Spain, however, it is not Santa Claus, but one of the three kings, no less a person, indeed, than Balthasar, who is the purveyor of gifts. He is always represented as a negro, even in the pictures of the old masters, and as such he survives in Spanish legend. On the eve of the Epiphany the children leave their shoes and boots out in some convenient spot near the chimney, to find them laden with gifts in the morning. Boots, in fact, preceded the stocking everywhere, the superior advantages of the latter as a receptacle having been a recent discovery. In Belgium to this day the children give their shoes an extra fine polish on Christmas eve, fill them with hay, oats or carrots for Santa Claus' white horse and put them on the table or set them in the fireplace. The room is then carefully closed and the door locked. In the morning a strange thing is found to have occurred. The furniture is all turned topsy turvy, the fodder has been removed from the shoes, and in its place the good little children find all sorts of nice things and the bad ones only rods made of birch. In other localities baskets, dishes and wooden ware are made the receptacles. But the elasticity of the stocking, its adaptability and the fact that, while it preserves the individuality of the owner like a shoe, it may yet be cleaned and made ready for the reception of edible presents—these characteristics have caused it to grow into general favor among the juvenile votaries of Santa Claus.

Derived From Days of Yore.

It is a beautiful arrangement and derived from the days of yore that this festival, which commemorates the announcement of the religion of peace and love, has been made the season for gathering together of family connections and drawing closer again those bands of kindred hearts which the cares and pleasures and sorrows of the world are continually operating to cast loose, of calling back the children of a family who have launched forth in life and wandered widely asunder, once more to assemble about the paternal hearth, that rallying place of the affections, there to grow young and loving again.—Washington Irving.

"A Visit From St. Nicholas"

WHAT is the best known poem in the world? Not Gray's "Elegy," nor "The Song of the Shirt," nor "The Raven," but "The Night Before Christmas." The author is not so well known as his poem.

One recent Christmas the name of Clement Clarke Moore was honored as never before. Above his grave in the chapel of Holy Trinity cemetery, New York, the choir boys sang carols on the night before Christmas, and a service of light was held. This beautiful ceremonial starts with a procession of torchbearers whose torches are kindled from the leader's flame, and as the line winds through the graveyard the fire is passed back from one to another until the lights grow in number and dispel the surrounding darkness.

The father of Clement Clarke Moore was once the bishop of New York.

"The Night Before Christmas" was published originally without the author's knowledge in the Troy Sentinel two days before Christmas, 1823. Moore had written it the preceding Christmas just for the delight of his own children, but its circulation slipped beyond the family circle, and an unknown friend sent it for publication. The Sentinel readers paid no attention to it, and it passed without comment until seven years later, when the same paper reprinted it. The second reception was very different from the first. "A Visit From St. Nicholas," as it was then entitled, was copied broadcast and its author awoke to find his work, if not himself, famous.

Although Clement Clarke Moore was educated for the ministry, he never took orders. For the greater part of his life he was identified with the New York General Theological seminary, being professor of Biblical learning and Greek and later of oriental languages.

Clement Moore's family life had many sorrows. His wife died at the early age of thirty-five, and the two little daughters, for whom he wrote "The Night Before Christmas," both died in their childhood. His son and namesake lived to the age of sixty-eight and is buried in the family plot.

When "The Night Before Christmas" was first published in the Troy Sentinel the editor wrote:

"We do not know to whom we are indebted for the following description of that unwearied patron of children, that homely but delightful personification of parental kindness, Santa Claus his custom and his equipage, as he goes about visiting the firesides of this happy land, laden with Christmas bounties, but from whomsoever it may have come we give thanks for it. There is to our apprehension a spirit of cordial goodness in it, a playfulness as of fancy and a benevolent alacrity to enter into the feelings and promote the simple pleasures of children which are altogether charming. We hope our little patrons, both lads and lassies, will accept it as a proof of our unfeigned good will toward them, a token of our warmest wish that they may have many a merry Christmas; that they may long retain their beautiful relish for these unbought, home bred joys, which derive their flavor from filial piety and fraternal love and which, they may be assured, are the least alloyed that time can furnish them."—Philadelphia Press.

The "Service of Light."

Christmas Song

Oh, Christmas is a happy [illegible]
When human hearts are light
And human hate have vanished
And all the world looks bright!

And Christmas is a solemn time,
For back long, long ago,
Christ was born to give the world
The joy that we now know.

But not alone at Christmas time
Is happiness and cheer,
For he who really loves the Lord
Hath Christmas all the year

Hints For Your Christmas Menu

Pineapple Appetizer
Clear Tomato Soup
Celery
Roast Duck With Potato Filling and Brown Gravy
Apple Sauce
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Escaloped Onions or Other Vegetable Fruit Salad
Charlotte Russe
Coffee
Cream Mints

Pineapple Appetizer.

Pare and grate half a pineapple and set in ice cold place until ready to use. Add two tablespoonfuls sugar to the pineapple and serve in cocktail glasses with a little shaved ice. Garnish with a half of maraschino cherry.

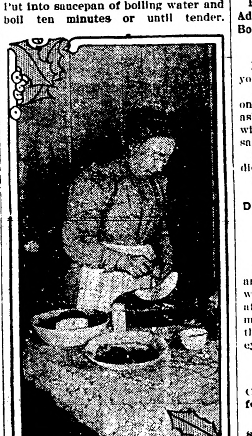
Roast Duck With Potato Filling and Brown Gravy.

Clean the duck same as any other fowl and fill with potato filling made as follows: Three cupfuls mashed potatoes, one cupful breadcrumbs, one teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half teaspoonful grated nutmeg, one-eighth teaspoonful paprika, two tablespoonfuls poultry seasoning, one tablespoonful of chopped celery top, two tablespoonfuls bacon drippings, three tablespoonfuls flour.

Escaloped Onions.

One quart of onions, one tablespoonful butter, one tablespoonful flour, one cupful milk, one and one-half teaspoonful salt, dash white pepper, one-half cupful breadcrumbs.

Put onions into pan of cold water, peel and cut into quarter-inch rings. Put into saucepan of boiling water and boil ten minutes or until tender.



Drain, saving stock for the tomato soup. Brush bake dish with butter; sprinkle with breadcrumbs; put in onions, pour over the cream sauce, cover with breadcrumbs and bake in hot oven until light brown.

Sauce—Melt the butter, add flour and stir until smooth; add milk slowly, stirring constantly until it is smooth and creamy; add salt and pepper and boil two minutes.

Tomato Stars on Lettuce.

Four cupfuls strained tomatoes, one teaspoonful finely cut onion, one-half teaspoonful salt, two tablespoonfuls granulated gelatin, one teaspoonful sugar, a dash white pepper, a dash paprika.

Put the tomatoes and onion in sauce pan; boil ten minutes; add the seasoning and strain through fine strainer. Soak the gelatin in two tablespoonfuls cold water and add to the hot strained tomatoes; stir until dissolved. Pour out on plate or platter which has been rinsed with cold water. When firm cut into small stars with fancy cutter. Put lettuce leaf on salad plate, lay the small stars on and serve with the French dressing.

Frozen Apricots.

A can of apricots, a quart of water, a cupful of sugar, a tablespoonful lemon juice. Mash the apricots through colander or strainer. Add water and sugar. Pack ice cream can with three parts ice and one part salt; then put mixture in. Let stand five minutes; then turn until stiff.

Inexpensive Fruit Cake.

This Southern recipe for cake is made without eggs, which is a decided advantage at the present prices. Mix together one cupful of light brown sugar, molasses and butter, a pinch of salt, heaping teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and ginger, half a nutmeg grated, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a little hot water. Add two cupfuls of floured raisins, a cupful of currants, quarter cupful of citron cut in small pieces and the same quantity of chopped almonds. Mix all together thoroughly and add one cupful of boiling water and then add flour enough to make it so stiff that it will hold the mixing spoon upright and bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

"To get the clothes white."

About an hour after she heard a loud yell from the house and running in, she saw Johnny trying to put the big black family cat into the bluing. Mother rescued the feline and upon demanding a reason for his actions, Johnny replied: "Well I don't like black cats an' I was goin' to soak her in the bluin' an' make her white."

One Romance Ended.

Mother—Has Mr. Jinks proposed to you yet, Bella?

Bella—No, ma; but I think he was on the point of doing so last night. He asked me if you were going to live with me when I got married and I said "Yes."

Mother (excitedly)—And then what did he say?

Bella—He said "Good-by!"

The Wonder of Cookery.

A new pupil in the cooking school sat at the instructor's desk copying receipts from cards. She wrote busily for some time and then approached a fellow student and asked wonderingly:

"Do we have to have all these things to make fruit punch?"

Her card read:

"Fruit Punch.—Two pounds powdered sugar, 12 lemons, nutmegs, paprika, tarragon, vinegar, two heads of lettuce, raisins, buttermilk."

Fourteenth Judicial District

ORDER

Upon reading the petition of F. E. Pearson, as Superintendent of Banks for the State of Minnesota, having in charge for the purpose of liquidation, the Farmers State Bank of Holt, a corporation, and which petition was duly verified and sworn to by the said F. E. Pearson, on the 16th day of November 1917, and which petition has been duly filed in the office of the Clerk of this Court, praying that this Court direct, order and levy an assessment upon each share of the capital stock of the said Farmers State Bank of Holt, and against each and every of the stockholders and persons liable on said stock, in an amount sufficient to pay the indebtedness of said corporation, and the costs and expense involved in the liquidation of the said Farmers State Bank of Holt, and the costs and expense involved in these proceedings, not exceeding the par value of said stock; the persons liable as stockholders in said corporation to be determined by the Court; and the amount of assessment to be fixed and determined by the Court against each and every of the stockholders and persons found by the Court to be liable on said stock, all of which shall be determined at the hearing on said petition, as required by law.

NOW THEREFORE, on motion of G. Halvorson, Attorney for said F. E. Pearson as Superintendent of Banks for the State of Minnesota;

IT IS ORDERED, that said petition be heard before the undersigned, one of the Judges of said Court, at his chambers in the Court House in the City of Warren, Marshall County, Minnesota, on the 22nd day of January 1918, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, at which time and place the Court will receive and consider such proof as may be offered in relation to the matter alleged in said petition by said Receiver and by any of the stockholders and creditors of said Farmers State Bank of Holt, and any other person interested therein.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that said Receiver give notice of such hearing by causing a copy of this order to be mailed to each of the stockholders of said Farmers State Bank of Holt, as alleged in said petition, or known to said Superintendent of Banks, at least 30 days prior to such hearing, and by publishing this order in The Holt Weekly News, a weekly newspaper in said County, at least once, which publication shall take place at least 30 days prior to such hearing.

Dated at Warren, Minnesota, this 13th day of December 1917.

BY THE COURT
Andrew Grindeland,
DISTRICT JUDGE.

Friday evening Dec. 21st

Dr. Barker has demonstrated his ability before Lyceum and Chautauqua audiences. The intellectual maturity, oratorical power and finished humor necessary for the fullest success in this great work, are all among his fortunate possessions.

By long contact with audiences in the many states in which he has appeared, he has truly developed into "The Man for the Masses." He not only pleases and enthuses his hearers, but gives them access to his wonderful store of thought and knowledge, as well as inspiring them toward better and greater things.

The Christmas Program

The Christmas program given by the Holt public school was a decided success, and showed that a careful selection had been made in the choice of pupils for the different characters of the play, that the pupils had been well trained for all parts of the program and that the selections for the program were all good and appropriate for the occasion.

The proceeds of the lunch served at the close of the program were a little over $28.00, which was divided equally between the school and the Red Cross.

Happenings of the World Tersely Told

U. S.—Teutonic War News

The kaiser's Christmas peace proposals are out. They reached this country through a "neutral" diplomatic channel. In brief they offer a return to near prewar boundaries, except in the case of Russia, which is to pay the bill. Belgium, northern France, Serbia and Roumania are to be rehabilitated with money that Great Britain is to pay Germany for her lost African colonies. The government at Washington received the unvouched-for offer with the governmental equivalent of a yawn.

RUSSIAN CHAOS MORE SERIOUS

Trotzky Recognizes Possible Necessity of Accepting Unfavorable Peace.

UKRAINIAN REVOLT STILL UNQUELLED BY BOLSHEVIKI

Liquor Raids Are Followed by Orgies and Bloodshed—American Influence Claimed Behind Revolts.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Analysis of the situation in Russia from facts available through dispatches of the past day or two indicates conditions of increasing chaos on almost every hand, with little light as to the exact status of affairs at many points at this date. A London report that Russian peace delegates are returning to Petrograd is unaccompanied by any assigned reason for their return, and says nothing of the reported German rejection of Russia's terms, no information having been given out at Bolsheviki headquarters on this point.

Detailed reports from Petrograd show the Bolsheviki foreign minister, Leon Trotzky, to have suggested a plan by which military opposition might be offered if there were an attempt by the Central powers to force objectionable peace terms. He is quoted as having said, however, that he did not know whether Russia could fight because of economic conditions, utter exhaustion and the disorganized state of the army. "The allies must understand," he said, "that we did not overthrow czarism to bend our knees before the Kaiser. * * If, exhausted as we are by this unprecedented slaughter, we must accept the terms of the German emperor, we would accept them only in order to rise together with the German people against German militarism as we did against Czarism."

Ukrainian Opposition Strong

Meantime the conflict between the Ukrainian rada and the Bolsheviki commissaries continues, the rada insisting upon the organization of a federal social republic, embracing maximalists and socialists, which it contends alone can be competent to decide the question of peace for the whole of Russia. The rada declares that if the commissaries assume the responsibility of civil war it (the rada) will accept the challenge and stop at no obstacles.

Among the items echoing from the scenes of Russian conflict which indicate that conditions are daily growing more chaotic are statements of liquor looting, orgies and indiscriminate shooting and incendiarism at Odessa and Petrograd. At Odessa conditions became so bad that it is reported the rada and representatives of the soldiers and workmen's delegates were compelled to combine for the suppression of lawlessness.

American Influence Suspected

The Bolsheviki headquarters at Petrograd are warmly discussing reports that American influence and money are being used to encourage and assist the Kaledines movement. Colonel Kolpashnikoff, connected with the American mission to Rumania, has been arrested for trying to get a trainload of automobiles and supplies to Rostov for the benefit of counter revolutionists. American Ambassador Francis has been represented as interested in the anti-Bolsheviki movements and is the object of growing distrust on the part of Trotzky and his associates.

ITALY FACES HEAVY FIGHTING

Enemy Must Try for Early Foothold on Plains

With French Armies in Northern Italy, Dec. 24.—Unexpectedly balked in their march towards the plain by the loss of the Monte Asolone positions within twenty-four hours after they had captured them, the Austro-German forces are concentrating heavily north and northeast of this important approach to Monte Grappa, from which point a new and unprecedently vigorous assault upon the barriers to the plains is expected soon. Enemy prisoners admit that the condition of their troops is terrible and that they must at all costs secure a line on the plain and control the Brenta and Piave valleys so that they will not have to endure the winter in the mountains. Unprecedentedly heavy fighting is predicted before the year is closed.

REVELATIONS MAKE BIG STIR

Anti-German Demonstrations Occur at Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires, Dec. 24.—Only the utmost vigilance of patrols and mounted troops prevented an outbreak of anti-German rioting here Saturday afternoon and evening. The downtown streets were crowded with Christmas shoppers and several attempts were made to organize demonstrations. Students and others marched to La Union building shouting "10,000 pesos," which was the amount of the monthly subsidy said to have been obtained from Berlin by Count Von Luxburg, the deposed German minister.

Christmas Dinner for Sammies

Washington, Dec. 24.—Every American soldier in France is to get his Christmas turkey, cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes and mince pie, was the announcement made by the war department upon the safe arrival of delayed supplies for certain units of the expeditionary forces. Hundreds of thousands of pounds of the best turkeys from the eastern markets have been sent across the Atlantic for General Pershing's men and for the bluejackets of the navy patrolling foreign waters. Bountiful provision was also made for the army's training camps and cantonments.

KRUPP FACTORY BURNS, REPORT

Great German Munitions Establishment Afire, Workmen Tell Hollanders.

BATTLE IN PETROGRAD

Four Army Corps Defy Orders Of Bolsheviki To Leave City—Engage Troops Sent to Carry Out Command.

London, Dec. 23.—The report is reiterated that the Russian delegation to the peace conference at Brest-Litovsk has been recalled because the Germans would not accept the Russian terms.

Maestricht, Holland, Dec. 24.—(British Admiralty per Wireless Press)—Workmen from Essen, Germany, say that the Krupp plant, the great German munitions establishment has been ablaze for 24 hours.

Expanded During War.

The plant at Essen, the main establishment of the Krupps, the largest manufacturers in Germany of arms and munitions employed about 30,000 men before the war. It has been expanded greatly during the war.

Facts relating to its present size and the number of workmen are kept secret by the German government. It was reported unofficially in October of last year that about 70,000 persons including several thousand women, were at work there and that 20,000 were to be added to the force.

Early this year there was a strike at the Krupp works, said to have been due to lack of food. It was reported that 40,000 workers were involved, and that the authorities combatted it by sending many of the men to the front, but little authentic information was permitted to come out of Germany.

Town Guarded Carefully.

Essen is in Rhenish Prussia, about 40 miles from the Dutch border. Few places in Germany are guarded more carefully. No persons unknown to the German authorities are permitted to visit the town. The plant has been raided several times by French and British airmen, notwithstanding its formidable antiaircraft defenses. Press dispatches last July said 100 persons there had been killed in a raid by French airplanes and that considerable damage had been done to the works.

Stockholm, Dec. 23.—A great battle in the streets of Petrograd is reported from the Russian capital. Four army corps refused orders of the bolsheviki government to leave the city. The bolsheviki sent other troops against them. The fighting was still in progress as the dispatch was sent from Petrograd.

STOPS MESSAGE TO ENEMY

U. S. Discovers Traffic—Invisible Ink And Codes Used.

Washington, Dec. 23.—An extensive traffic in written communications to Germany, Austria and the northern European neutrals, involving use of invisible ink and code system, has been discovered and stopped by customs officials within the last few weeks, treasury officials have disclosed.

The traffic, it was disclosed, was carried on largely by Swedish ship and marine men.

Scores of persons now are under surveillance and a number of arrests probably will be made soon. Evidence that the channel of communications have been open even since th United States has entered the war has been uncovered and officials suspect that much of the informatioon which the German government is known to have received concerning war preparations in America have been transmitted under a well organized scheme directed by subjects of neutral countries, assisted by some Americans.

RECOUNT SEATS GOVERNOR

Shows Hunt of Arizona Elected—Republican Now in Office.

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 23.—The Arizona supreme court has seated G. W. P. Hunt as governor of Arizona. Hunt contested the election of Governor Thomas Campbell, who now holds the office. Hunt is a democrat. The decision of the court was unanimous.

On the face of the returns, Campbell was given the certificate of election by the small margin of 31 votes. Hunt instituted a contest declaring a recount would show he had been elected.

The court unanimously decided that the recount showed Hunt has been elected by 43 votes.

Maximum Sentence for Plotters.

Detroit, Dec. 24.—Albert C. Kaltschmidt, who with four others has been convicted in federal court on a conspiracy charge, was sentenced a few hours later to four years in federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, and to pay a fine of $20,000. It was the maximum sentence. Mrs. Ida Neef, his sister, was sentenced to three years in the local house of correction and fined $15,000. Fritz A. Neef, her husband, and Carl Schmidt, and his wife, Maria, were sentenced to two years and fined $10,000 each.

HURLEY TAKES ENTIRE BLAME

Assumes Full Responsibility For Success or Failure of Shipbuilding Program.

OUTLOOK IS HOPEFUL

Tells Senate Committee But One Vessell Has Been Finished to Date But Prospects For Future Are Brighter.

Washington, Dec. 24.—Chairman Hurley of the shipping board, testifying at the Senate commerce committee's investigation, shouldered full responsibility for the success or failure of the governments' shipbuilding program.

Called as the first witness Mr. Hurley admitted that there have been delays, but declared that the recent reorganization of the board's emergency fleet corporation for the first time gives the chairman of the board proper authority and fixes responsibility where it belongs. "The dual organization of the board and the corporation," he said, "has been done away with and the present general manager of the corporation answers directly to the chairman."

Accepts Blame If Plans Fail.

After testifying that he personally approved and accepted all ships contracts as president of the emergency fleet corporation, Mr. Hurley was questioned by Senator Harding.

"All the finances of this big program rest in your hands:"

"Yes, sir."

"Not in the hands of the shipping board?"

"No, sir."

"Then, if the whole thing fails, it will be your fault?"

"Absolutely," said Hurley firmly.

New Legislation Not Needed.

"The present organization," Mr. Hurley said, "is the only way that ships can be built. We do not need additional legislation. If the head of the institution does not build ships it is because of his inefficiency and not because of faults of the organization."

From Mr. Hurley and from John A. Donald, who has been a member of the board since its creation, the committee drew a long story of the troubles of the board and the fleet corporation starting with the row at the outset between William Denman, first chairman of the board, and Major General Goethals, first general manager of the fleet corporation.

GERMAN FOOD PLOT BARED

Traffic Via Sweden Shown By Papers On Suspect.

New York, Dec. 24.—Important documents said to reveal extensive food traffic between the United States and Germany through Sweden, were seized by federal agents in Brooklyn when they raided the apartments of Gustav A. Meyers, a purchasing agent for certain German firms, and arrested him as an alien enemy.

According to government agents, some of the papers show Meyers shipped to Germany foodstuffs valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars and that he had been in communication with Germany as recently as a week ago.

Bank books showing deposits of $12,000 to his credit also are said to have been found.

UKRANIANS FORM ALLIANCE

Rebels Have Cast Lots With Cossacks, Defying Bolsheviki.

London Dec. 24.—The whole of the Ukraine is reported swept by the flames of rebellion. This vast land, inhabited by 32,000,000 souls that form the sixth race of Europe, apparently has found the hour ripe to drive home its centuries-old urge for independence. Moreover, its leaders see a chance to lead their home land from the dark days of enslavement under the czar to the most powerful, and possibly ruling racial entity in Russia.

The Rada, the governing body of the Ukraine, apparently is maintaining its determined stand against the Bolsheviki government. It is reported that it has converted its sympathies with the movement of General Kaledines, the Cossack leader, into a definite alliance.

Austria Backs Berlin in Demand.

Paris, Dec. 23.—The captain and 21 pledged to support Germany in retention of Alsace-Lorraine, according to a dispatch printed in the Matin, purporting to reveal the text of the agreement between the two biggest Central powers. The Matin also asserts Germany had determined not to evacuate Belgium and France unless her colonies were restored.

Collision of Planes in Midair.

Ft. Worth, Texas, Dec. 24.—One officer and two cadets of the Canadian Royal Flying corps were killed instantly when the two airplanes in which the men were flying collided in midair. The aviators were flying at a height of several hundred feet when the crash came, throwing the machines to the ground. The dead are: Second Lieut. R. G. Genner, Kingston, Ont., Cadet C. A. Baker, Kent, England and Cadet A. Eden, Kingston, Jamaca. The three came from the British aviation training fields in Toronto.

LUXBURG PLOT IS FULLY BARED

German Official Attempted To Bring About Secret Latin Pact Against U. S.

ARGENTINA IS AROUSED

Statement Made That Disclosure Will Probably Result In Rupture With Berlin—U. S. State Department Makes Disclosure.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Further facts about German diplomatic trickery are made public through a long series of telegrams exchanged by the notorious Count Luxburg, former German charge in Argentina, and the German foreign office, and at the same time light is shed upon some hitherto unexplained activities of certain Latin-American statesmen.

Luxburg in some of his messages, dated Aug. 1 last, reported that President Irrigoyen of Argentina at last had made up his mind to conclude a secret agreement with Chile and Bolivia for protection against North America "before the conference idea is taken up again."

Carranza Urged Conference.

The "conference idea" is assumed to have been the plan for a Latin-American neutrality conference strongly supported by President Carranza of Mexico and much discussed in some of the Southern American countries, while the proposed secret agreement may explain reports that have come from Buenos Aires recently of President Irrigoyen's proposals for a league of South American nations.

In Latin-American diplomatic quarters here it is regarded as certain that the disclosures will result very quickly in an Argentina declaration of war against Germany.

The messages were made public by the State department in an agreement with the Argentine government, which in an accompanying statement by its foreign minister says the "inaccuracies" of the German diplomat's reports are so surprising that no epithet will fit them.

The first of Luxburg's intercepted telegrams were transmitted to Berlin by the Swedish legation at Buenos Aires in its diplomatic code and publication of that fact by Secretary Lansing not only threw Argentina into a turmoil, resulting in the dismissal of the charge, but precipitated a crisis in Sweden."

GRAND DUKE RAISES ARMY

Raises Large Force of Royalists In Caucasus.

London, Dec. 22.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Haparanda reports that Kerensky with an army is now marching against Moscow, while Grand Duke Nicholas, the former Russian commander-in-chief, has gathered a great army of Royalists in the Caucasus.

A Bolsheviki force commanded by released German and Austrian officers prisoners has defeated the anti-Bolsheviki at Tashkent, capital of Russian Turkestan, according to a Petrograd dispatch to the Morning Post.

Dispatches from Petrograd indicate that the struggle between the Cossacks and the Maximalists in Southern Russia is increasing in severity. Reuter's Petrograd correspondent says the flame of civil war is spreading northward along the Volga river from Astrakhan to Samara.

PLENTY OF SUGAR FOR 1918

U. S. Will Be Well Supplied, Babst Tells Senators.

Washington, Dec 22.— A plentiful supply of sugar for the American people during the coming year was predicted by Earl D. Babst, president of the American Sugar Refining company, testifying before the Senate investigating committee. He opposed placing a limit on domestic consumption, contending that any such plan would result in a larger surplus than the tonnage shortage would permit to be shipped abroad.

3 Montanans To Be Hanged.

Butte, Mont., Dec. 22.—Frank Fisher, John O'Neill and Sherman Powell, negro, will be hanged from the same scaffold in the Silver Bow county jail jail yard, Jan. 4. Formal judgement was pronounced by Judge John V. Dwyer after receipt of remitturs from the supreme court denying new trials. The men were convicted of murder.

Argentina Buys French Bonds.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Dec. 21.—In Argentine 25,500,000 francs has been subscribed in the new French loan.

Caillaux Defends Himself.

Paris, Dec. 22.—Joseph Caillaux, former premier made his defense before the chamber of deputies against charges of treason and complicity with Bolo Pasha to undermine his country's defense. The former statesman, center of the political storm of the day, drew a great audience for what his friends predicted would be the greatest of all speeches of his tempestuous career. Caillaux denied his visits to Italy had any treasonable significance, or that he was working with sinister elements.

AGRICULTURE THE MAINSTAY OF THE NATION

The United States and Canada Have a Great Responsibility.

This is the day when the farmer has his innings. The time was when he was dubbed the "farmer," the "mossback," and in a tone that could never have been called derisive, but still there was in it the inflection that he was occupying an inferior position. The stiff upper lip that the farmer carried, warded off any approach that his occupation was a degrading one. His hour arrived, though, and for some years past he has been looked up to as occupying a high position.

Agriculture, by a natural trend of economic conditions, stands out today in strong relief, as the leader in the world's pursuits. Never in the nation's history have the eyes of the world been so universally focused on the farm. The farmer is the man of importance; the manufacturer of its most necessary product, and he now enjoys the dual satisfaction of reaping a maximum of profit, as a result of his operations, while he also becomes a strong factor in molding the world's destinies.

Manufacturers, business men, professional men and bankers realize the importance of agriculture, and gladly acknowledge it as the twin sister to commerce. In commercial, financial and political crisis, the tiller of the soil takes the most important place. Maximum prices, the highest in many decades, show the world's recognition of the necessary requirement for more farm stuffs. The time was coming when this would have been brought about automatically, but war time conditions urged it forward, while the farmer was able to secure land at reasonable prices. Throughout several of the Western states this condition exists, as also in Western Canada.

Never has such a condition been known in commercial life. It is truly an opportunity of a lifetime. Large and small manufacturing concerns and practically every other line of business have been limited in their profits to the point of almost heroic sacrifice, while it is possible today to reap dividends in farming unequaled in any other line.

Thirty, and as high as fifty bushels of wheat per acre at $2.20 per bushel and all other farm produce on a similar basis, grown and produced on land available at from $15 to $40 per acre represents a return of profit despite higher cost of labor and machinery, that, in many cases runs even higher than 100% of an annual return on the amount invested. Such is the present day condition in Western Canada. How long it will last, no one can foretell. Prices for farm produce will likely remain high for many years. Certainly, the low prices of past years will not come again in this generation. The lands referred to, are low in price at present, but they will certainly increase to their naturally productive value as soon as the demand for them necessitates this increase, and this day is not far distant. This demand is growing daily; the farmer now on the ground is adding to his holdings while prices are low; the agriculturist on high priced lands is realizing that he is not getting all the profit that his neighbor in Western Canada is securing; the tenant farmer is seeking a home of his own, which he can buy on what he was paying out for rent and many are forsaking the crowded cities to grasp these unprecedented opportunities.

The tenant farmer, and the owner of high priced land, is now awakening to the realization that he is not getting the return for his labor and investment that it is possible to secure in Western Canada. Thousands are making trips of inspection to personally investigate conditions and to acquaint themselves with the broadening benefits derived by visiting Western Canada. Such trips awaken in a progressive man that natural desire to do bigger things, to accomplish as much as his neighbor, and frequently result in convincing and satisfying him that God's most fertile outdoors, with a big supply of nature's best climatic and health-giving conditions lies in Western Canada.

The days of pioneering are over; the seeker after a new home travels through all parts of the country on the same good railway trains as he has been accustomed to at home, but on which he has been accorded a special railway rate of about one cent a mile. He finds good roads for automobiling and other traffic; rural telephone lines owned by the provincial governments; rural schools and churches situated conveniently to all; well appointed and homelike buildings, and everywhere an indication of general prosperity; cities and towns with all modern improvements, and what is the most convincing factor in his decision, a satisfied and prosperous people, with a whole hearted welcome to that country of a larger life and greater opportunities.

To Western Canada belongs the distinguished honor of being the holder of all world's championships in wheat and oats for both quality and quantity. For many years in succession Western Canada has proven her claim for supremacy in the most keenly contested National exhibitions and to her is credited the largest wheat and oat yields America has known The natural conditions peculiar to Western Canada and so adaptable to grain growing has been an insurmountable barrier for her competitors to overcome. In the last few years the yields of wheat and oats per acre have surprised the agricultural world. As much as sixty bushels of wheat per acre has been grown on some farms, while others have furnished affidavits showing over fifty bushels of wheat per acre, and oats as high as one hundred and twenty bushels per acre. One reputable farmer makes affidavit to a crop return of over fifty-four thousand bushels of wheat from a thousand acres. While this is rather the exception than the rule, these yields serve to illustrate the fertility of the soil and the possibilities of the country, when good farming methods are adopted. Western Canada can surely lay undisputed claim to being "The World's natural bread basket."—Advertisement.

How He Made Window Sashes.

A young Welshman, a woodworker, applied at the work of a building material company for a job.

"What can you do?" inquired the foreman in charge.

"Indeet, look you," said Taffy. "I can do any joinery work whateffer."

"Can you make window sashes?" asked the foreman.

"Surely!" was the laconic answer.

"Well, just take off your coat and let me see you make one.

So Taffy set to work, while the foreman went off round the works. The first sash the new hand attempted was a failure, so planting it under the bench, Taffy got ahead with a second one, and had just finished it when the foreman returned and taking hold of the sash, said, "Call that a sash, do yer? Don't believe I could find a worse one in the country."

"Indeet," said the wood butcher, grinning, "you may find a ferry much worse one under the bench made from your own timber!"

Then he got a move on.

He prodded one and then he tasted. They were good and he tried another, but curiosity getting the better, he inquired: "Would you kindly tell me just what this is I am eating?"

"Well," she replied, "if you must know, there was one batter cake left from breakfast and I put it in the soup."

"Chariots of Iron" at Gaza.

History repeats itself down to minute details, the London Star reminds us, and recalls previous operations at Gaza related in the Book of Joshua. It says:

"If that picturesque special correspondent to whom we owe the narrative of the sun and moon standing still in the valley of Ajalon had witnessed the onslaught of General Allenby's auxiliaries, he might have pictured behemoth wallowing on the shore and leviathan rising out of the sea. It is related in the Book of Judges that though the tribe of Judah took Gaza, they 'could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley because they had chariots of iron.'

"Allowing for the intervening centures which have transformed the 'chariots of iron' into tanks, we see that in this case the omens are in favor of the invaders, and we may reasonably hope that the clearing out of the Philistines will be final and complete."

St. Paul.

Estimates compiled by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture indicate that farmers have patriotically responded to the call for increased acreage of both winter wheat and rye. Figures for Minnesota given out from the office of the Minnesota field agent, Paul H. Kirk, at Fergus Falls, make the following showing:

Winter wheat—Preliminary estimate, area planted in fall of 1917 89,000 acres as compared with 87,000 acres last year. The increase of acreage is largely in the south central part of the state where crop is increasing in acreage. Conditions Dec. 1, was 93 per cent normal, compared with 92 a year ago and 93 the four year average. Soil conditions and growth were favorable in the south central counties.

Winter Rye.—Preliminary estimates of area planted in fall of 1917 452,000 acres as compared with 430,000 last year. The dry fall seriously hampered the seeding of fall rye in the northwestern part of the state, where under favorable conditions the acreage would have been considerably increased. However, with favorable spring weather spring rye will be planted. Condition, Dec. 1, was 90 per cent of normal compared with 90 a year ago and 92 the ten year average on Dec. 1.

The extreme dryness in the northwestern part of the state was unfavorable to the best growth and development of crop. The crop in other parts of the state is reported as having made a most excellent growth and goes into the winter under the most favorable conditions.

Mr. U. G. Pursell, Meteorologist of the U. S. Weather Bureau, Minneapolis says, "Weather conditions were unusually fine during November. The precipitation was sufficient over the entire state. No sub-zero temperatures were recorded.

Federal Food Survey Started.

The comprehensive inventory of food resources to be conducted in the United States has been started in Minnesota.

Many wholesalers state that they had received inventory blanks from the Washington office of the food administration to make a report on the stock of foodstuffs on hand.

The salesman of the large wholesale concerns have been enlisted by the food administration officials to explain to the merchants in the smaller communtities what the government expects of them when they make out their inventories While the salesmen have been supplied with blanks, the retail merchants will not receive them for a few days

The survey will be broad, the questionnaires containing questions relative to the eighty-six items and covering more than 100 different foods.

Officials in the office of A. D. Wilson, food administrator for Minneapolis, said they had not been advised of the start of the inventory, but believed it was being conducted from the Washington office.

Schedules also will be sent soon to a number of selected homes, returns from which will be used to compute a general average of the food on hand in the homes throughout the state.

Strange War Craft.

Plans for one of the strangest war vessels ever proposed have been submitted to the council of national defense, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The craft is an enormous ocean-going water wheel that is intended to perform much the same service for the navy as the British and French tanks have for the allied armies. Although highly visionary and entirely untried, it has novelty and potential power that draws attention. In addition to being amphibious to a certain degree, it is theoretically capable of great speed. Essentially it consists of two big connected cylinders that are supplied around their outer rims with adjustable paddles. The horizontal axle offers space for a crew and is gyroscopically stabilized to support a fighting mast. Opposite ends of the axis are utilized as gun turrets.

A Berlin Advertisement.

In Germany now there are advertisements which are not only news, but imply a great deal outside of the direct news sought to be conveyed.

As an instance the Berlin Tages Zeitung recently contained a want ad, reading as follows: "For exchange, 50 Polish laborers, 20 men and 30 girls, for the same number of other hands."

Polish laborers in Germany are not permitted to change masters or to move from place to place without government authorization. With such authorization, however, the masters can make exchanges, as we trade horses and mules, or as our housewives exchange soap grease for soap, or old rags for door mats, kitchen tins and such.—Exchange.

"Ten," replied father.

"And how many mills make a cent?" pursued Willie.

"Not a darn one of 'em, till this coal situation loosens up!" answered father, emphatically.

WAR TALKS

Number Four

Military Training Necessary for Safety and Defense.

"Say, Uncle Dan," said Billie, "Jim-ie and I have been looking up about ar in the encyclopedia at school. We ound that in the war between Ger-any and France in 1870-71, Germany st in killed and wounded 28,000 sol-iers while France lost about six times s many, and besides that, she lost very battle. We asked Professor Slo-um why this was. He said that the erman army was highly trained and bly commanded, while the French oldiers were poorly trained; and that eir war department was honey-ombed with jealousy and politics; at the officers were not much good, d that's why France lost the war d so many men. What do you think bout it, Uncle Dan?"

"Well," said Uncle Dan, "Professor locum is right. By inefficiency France st that war, together with two of r best provinces—Alsace and Lor-aine—and had to pay a billion dol-rs indemnity money. France today arned her lesson by that sad expe-ence, so she put in universal military aining, and as a result, her soldiers ow know how to fight and how to otect themselves. They are losing s men in the war than the Germans. rance also put politics out of her war epartment, so that expert authority, stead of bureaucratic stupidity, now rects the army. The result is. ance has one of the best and most ficient armies every assembled, and is shows what thorough training and od leadership means in warfare. his saved France in this crisis, as ll as the liberties of the world."

"As war is now conducted, there is place for an untrained man. A dy of 10,000 well trained soldiers operly handled could defeat five es their number of raw recruits and it every time with comparatively all loss to themselves. Proper train- alone will reduce the death and ualty rate one-third of what it oth-wise would be, and right here is an answerable argument for universal litary training.

"Our government has no moral right force her men into war service thout properly training them for it. do so is simply murder, hence the antic effort that is now being made give her soldiers some training be-e they are sent to the front. If we to win this war, it will take trained n to do it, and it will take trained n to win any other war that may me upon us in the future. If we st fight, let us fight to win and not lose."

"That's the stuff," said Billie.

Continuing, Uncle Dan said: "Our vernment has expended about $800,-0,000 to put up cantonments and aining stations in order to train the en called by the selective draft. hen these men are trained the train- stations should be immediately led with younger men, say those in eir nineteenth year, to receive six onths of intensive military train- along the lines of the Chamberlain ll. This will be of immeasurable nefit to them individually. It will them more good than any other two ars of their whole life; it will make em strong, manly, self-reliant, quick see and quick to act; it will equip em for a successful life. In short, will rebuild American manhood and ll also give the government a body trained men to draw from in case is necessary to defend our flag and untry. We must settle this question universal military training imme-ately, otherwise these training camps y be demolished. The adoption of iversal military training will be no-e to the world that from then on will be prepared to defend our-lves promptly and efficiently, and is will do more to keep us out of ar in the future than anything else could do."

"Do you think, brother," said Mrs. aham, "that there will ever be an-her war?"

"I have no doubt about it," said cle Dan. "So long as men are [illegible] so long as nations are ambi-us to acquire territory, so long as pulation presses and demands more [illegible], so long as there remains a amble for world trade—so long wars ll be. When the time comes that reach the high plane for which we e and dream, when all will recog- the fatherhood of God and the otherhood of man, then, and then ly, will wars cease. When that day use doors will need no locks, banks ll need no vaults to protect their asures, but that day is a long way

e only safe and sane plan is to able to defend ourselves at all es. Therefore, every citizen should ist that senators and congressmen all provide for universal military ining, so that never again shall the ntry be caught so completely un-dy as this war found us. For-ately, in this case, our enemy has held back, so we have had a few [illegible] in which to prepare. This ad-[illegible], probably will never come [illegible] It is however our salvation

ORDER

Upon reading the petition of F. E. Pearson, as Superintendent of Banks for the State of Minnesota, having in charge for the purpose of liquidation, the Farmers State Bank of Holt, a corporation, and which petition was duly verified and sworn to by the said F. E. Pearson, on the 16th day of November 1917, and which petition has been duly filed in the office of the Clerk of this Court, praying that this Court direct, order and levy an assessment upon each share of the capital stock of the said Farmers State Bank of Holt, and against each and every of the stockholders and persons liable on said stock, in an amount sufficient to pay the indebtedness of said corporation, and the costs and expense involved in the liquidation of the said Farmers State Bank of Holt, and the costs and expense involved in these proceedings, not exceeding the par value of said stock; the persons liable as stockholders in said corporation to be determined by the Court; and the amount of assessment to be fixed and determined by the Court against each and every of the stockholders and persons found by the Court to be liable on said stock, all of which shall be determined at the hearing on said petition, as required by law.

NOW THEREFORE, on motion of G. Halvorson, Attorney for said F. E. Pearson as Superintendent of Banks for the State of Minnesota,

IT IS ORDERED, that said petition be heard before the undersigned, one of the Judges of said Court, at his chambers in the Court House in the City of Warren, Marshall County, Minnesota, on the 22nd day of January 1918, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, at which time and place the Court will receive and consider such proof as may be offered in relation to the matter alleged in said petition by said Receiver and by any of the stockholders and creditors of said Farmers State Bank of Holt, and any other person interested therein.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that said Receiver give notice of such hearing by causing a copy of this order to be mailed to each of the stockholders of said Farmers State Bank of Holt, as alleged in said petition, or known to said Superintendent of Banks, at least 30 days prior to such hearing, and by publishing this order in The Holt Weekly News, a weekly newspaper in said County, at least once, which publication shall take place at least 30 days prior to such hearing.

Dated at Warren, Minnesota, this 13th day of December 1917.

Are You Eating To Win the War?

This Newspaper recommends Today's Housewife to every patriotic woman who wishes to help win the great war

Today's Housewife is especially needed by every homemaker in the present war-crisis, because the seven Courses in Domestic Science now running in the magazine help housewives to better select, prepare and conserve food supplies, to cut down waste, and at the same time to add to the health and welfare of the entire family.

Today's Housewife is the only magazine that maintains a model home where cookery recipes, new household devices, cleaning methods, etc., are put to practical tests before their appearance in the pages of the magazine.

The monthly lesson on "Cookery, Foods and Nutrition" under the direction of Caroline Hunt of the Department of Agriculture, is alone worth the price of a ten-year subscription not only to the woman who follows each lesson but to the government of the United States in helping to win the terrific war with the Central Empires of Europe.

Favorite Magazine of Home-loving Women

REMEMBER, better home-making is the ideal back of TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE, its reason for existence, its earnestly planned-for goal. Better homemaking in its largest sense, with the spiritual and mental no less than the material needs of the family in view; home-making as the biggest of woman's opportunities rather than housekeeping as the most dreary of woman's drudgeries.

Today's Housewife

While Today's Housewife stands in a class by itself in its practical value to homemakers, it is also noteworthy for its wonderfully inspiring editorials and special articles, for its clean, delightful stories, and its beautiful illustrations and covers by leading artists. Over one million women agree that TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is worth several times the price of 10 cents per copy.

May Be Called Feb. 15th.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 26, '17.
Governor Burnquist,
St. Paul, Minn.

It has been decided that there will be no more formal calls for deferred percentages of the present quota before Feb. 15th. While Boards should, until they have enough men finally classified in class one, send forward promptly men selected under the old regulations to make up deficiencies in calls already made, the result of this decision will be that we shall be able to give the benefit of the new classification system to all men whose order numbers are so late as to place them within deferred percentages of the present call. Calls will, however, be made very shortly under the provisions of Section 149 for the special class of men there mentioned. For the sake of composing the public mind and for the convenience of registrants this information ought to be given wide dissemination.

Gen. Crowder.

The above telegram from Provost Marshall Gen. Crowder to the Governor was sent out for publication by the Ad't General's office at St. Paul, with the following information:

Questionnaires, however, must be sent in to the Local Board within the time limit stated therein.

War Bread

(Substitute this bread for all-wheat bread whenever possible.)

Yeast Cornmeal Bread.

1-4 cups liquid (milk and water)
2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon fat
2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cake compressed yeast, 2-3 cups cornmeal, 2 1-3 cups flour.

Add sugar, fat, and salt to liquid and bring to the boiling point. Add cornmeal slowly, stirring constantly until all is added. Bring to the boiling point. Remove from the fire and cool. These proportions of cornmeal and water result in so thick a mixture that to add the given amt. of flour looks impossible. It can be done however. Add compressed yeast softened in 1-4 cup water. Add flour and knead. Let rise until double its bulk, knead again and put into pans. When light, bake in a moderate oven for at least an hour.

ALIEN ENEMIES REGISTER FEB. 4

Plans Perfected for Big Task Which Executive Proclamation Requires.

PROVISIONS RELATE ONLY TO ADULT MALE GERMANS

Postmasters to be Registration Officers in Small Towns—Penalties for Noncompliance With Rules Laid Down.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The week of February 4 has been set aside by the department of justice for the registration of the half million unnaturalized Germans in the continental United States by police and postmasters in pursuance of President Wilson's alien enemy proclamation directing this action as a means of minimizing the danger from enemy sympathizers in the United States.

Earlier plans for administering the registration in the eastern cities first and gradually extending it to the country were abandoned to prevent evasion of the proclamation's provisions by the movement of persons subject to registration, from one district to another.

The registration will involve the gathering of detailed information concerning the business, relatives and habits of every German, together with his photograph and finger prints. After registering he must carry a certificate card, and may not change his place of residence without approval of the police or postmaster. Violation of the regulations will be punishable by internment for the war.

These Are Exempt

The orders do not apply to German women, nor to persons under 14 years of age, and subjects of Austria-Hungary are not required to register. In announcing the regulations the department of justice took care to avoid creating the impression that the government looks on each German with suspicion. "Registrants are not to be treated as persons of evil disposition," said the instructions to registrars, "and the registration officers are urged to deal with them in a courteous and friendly manner."

Police, federal marshals and agents and postal authorities are expected to co-operate in the registration and investigate and check up each fact reported by the registrants. Certificate cards will be issued only after a complete verification is made.

In cities of 5,000 or more population the chief of police and his assistants will administer the registration. In smaller communities and rural districts it will be conducted by postmasters, and the postmaster of the largest office in the local judicial district will be chief registration officer to gather the reports and forward them to the United States marshal and the department of justice.

Every German is required to go to the registrar and make out triplicate affidavit information blanks, and to furnish four photographs of himself—one for each affidavit and one for his registration card. The photograph must bear his signature written across the front, and must not be larger than three inches square. It must be on thin paper and have a light background.

Affidavits are required to set forth very full information concerning name, address, age, place of birth, occupation and residences since January 1, 1914, date of arrival in the United States, whether married, names and ages of children, whether the registrant has any male relatives in arms against the United States, whether registered for draft, military training, naturalization conditions, etc. Full description of the man and the prints of each finger must be taken by the registrar.

Germans not at their place of residence during the week of February 4 may be registered in the district where they happen to be.

GUATEMALA CITY IS IN RUINS

Culmination of Earthquake Series Makes City a Waste

Washington, Dec. 31. — Guatemala city, capital of the little Central American republic of Guatemala, has been laid in ruins by earthquakes beginning Christmas day and culminating Saturday night in violent shocks which completed the work of destruction. A cablegram to the navy department says that 125,000 people were in the streets without shelter and that a number were killed by falling walls. A San Salvador report says that the Colon theater, which was filled with people, collapsed, and many were killed. Various hospitals, asylums and prisons were also the scenes of wholesale fatalities among their inmates as the result of falling walls.

The San Salvador report further states that the railroad depot, sugar mills, post office, the American and British legations, United States consulate and the churches of the city have been completely leveled. Deep fissures have opened in the middle of the city, and the inhabitants have fled in panic. Provisions in the city are scant and help is urgently required.

MEXICAN BANDITS ARE SHOT

Raid on American Ranch Results Fatally to Attackers

El Paso, Dec. 31.—At least six Mexican bandits were killed in a fight with United States troops and Texas rangers Saturday at San Jose, Mexico, according to a statement tonight at military headquarters. The Americans crossed into Mexico. There were no American casualties. The bandits, 50 in number, were put to rout. The pursuit across the border followed raids on the Indi ranch, in which it is estimated that a score of Mexicans were killed.

RUMANIAN KING QUITS IS RUMOR

Abdicates in Favor of Crown Prince Charles, According To Petrograd.

BOLSHEVIKI AT WORK

Propagandists Reported Busy Among Rumanian Troops—Two-thirds of Territory Lost—Plebiscite for Alsace-Lorraine Proposed.

Washington, Dec. 31.—B. P. Stevens, manager of the National City branch bank in Petrograd, and his assistant, a Mr. Link, arrested when the bolsheviki seized the bank, have been released, American Ambassador Francis reports.

Petrograd, Dec. 31.—There are persistent rumors here that King Ferdinand of Rumania has abdicated in favor of Crown Prince Charles.

Disturbed conditions in Rumania were previously reported in a dispatch from Petrograd. It was said that news of a revolutionary plot against King Ferdinand had been received at the bolsheviki headquarters in Petrograd. Other reports, it was added, tended to confirm indications of a political crisis. Except for this there has been little news from Rumania since the Rumanian army was forced to agree to an armistice on the eastern front. It had been reported that bolsheviki and German propagandists were at work among the Rumanian troops.

Member of Hohenzollern Family.

King Ferdinand, who is a member of the Hohenzollern family, succeeded his uncle, King Charles, in October, 1914, King Charles having died at Sinaia on Oct. 10. Rumania declared war on Austria on Aug. 27, 1916, and King Ferdinand took personal command of the army shortly thereafter.

King Ferdinand is the son of Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern Sigmaringen, and two of his brothers are generals in the German army. He was born at Sigmaringen, Aug. 24, 1865.

Crown Prince Charles was born Oct. 3, 1893, and is an officer in the Rumanian army. He is unmarried, although early in 1914 it was reported that his betrothal to the then Grand Duchess Olga of Russia had been arranged.

Two-Thirds of Country Taken.

Queen Maria of Rumania, who was a duchess of Saxe-Coburg Gotha, is a granddaughter of Queen Victoria of Great Britain, and was married to King Ferdinand on Jan. 10, 1893.

Since Rumania's entrance into the war, more than two-thirds of her territory has been overrun by the enemy. The royal family fled from the capital, Bucharest, in the fall of 1916, and since that time has been at Jassy.

German delegates to the Brest Litovsk peace conference were reported to have privately agreed to a plebiscite to determine the future of Alsace-Lorraine.

Favorable Step Toward Peace.

The declaration that it had been covered was regarded here as further evidence of a favorable step toward general peace.

The Central Powers' reply in general caused a good impression here. Some observers declared if the bolsheviki convened the constituent assembly, their peace aspirations would probably be supported.

Admission of 10 revolutionary socialists to the bolsheviki government circles strengthened the bolsheviki very greatly here today.

SEEK TO REGAIN JERUSALEM

Sixty Thousand Turks Under Hun Begin Desperate Drive.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Four Turkish army divisons, upward of 60,00 men, —reinforced by Teutonic troops from the Russian and Rumanian fronts, have begun a desperate campaign to retake Jerusalem, according to official reports.

Heavy fighting is in force from Jaffa through Jerusalem and along the Jericho road almost to the river Jordan. The Turks vainly attempted to break the British grip on the Jaffa-Jerusalem railroads. Efforts to turn the British flank near Bethany, northeast of Jerusalem, failed.

At some points General Allenby's force is outnumbered two to one. He is making a determined stand against General Falkenhayn's divisions.

Italian Attack Breaks Down.

Berlin, Dec. 31.—An Italian attack against the Austro-German positions on the heights east of Monte Tomba has broken down, it is announced.

Food Saving Slackers Fined.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Four men who attacked a restaurant keeper who refused to serve them a meat order on meatless day have been each fined $100 and costs by Judge Trude in the Maxwell street police court. In announcing the fines Judge Trude said: "These are wartimes and the government must be supported in every way possible. Any man who says 'To hell with the law,' in times like these, as one of these men did, may be a traitor. Those having a lawless point of view must be given a lesson."

ROADS GO UNDER CONTROL OF U. S.

Government Takes Over Railroads With Secretary McAdoo As Director General

ALL SYSTEMS INCLUDED

President Issues Proclamation Assuming Control of Every Transportation Line Engaged in General Business.

Washington, Dec. 28.—President Wilson proclaims government possession and operation of the nation's railroads to become effective at non Friday, December 28.

William McAdoo, retaining his place in the cabinet as Secretary of the Treasury, is placed in charge as director general of the railroads.

Every railroad engaged in general transportation, with its appurtenances, including steamship lines, is taken over and all systems will be operated as one under the director general.

In a statement accompanying his proclamation the President announced that as soon as Congress reassembles he will recommend legislation guaranteeing pre-war earnings and maintenance of railroad properties in good repair.

Government backing will be given to new issues of railroad securities that a ready market may be found.

Move Proves Great Surprise.

The President's move, though forecast for weeks, came at this time as a great surprise to nearly everybody in Washington, including railroad officials. It had been generally believed he would await the reassembling of Congress before taking any step. He acted under Secretary of War Baker, through authority conferred in the army appropriation act.

Direct management of the roads will remain in the hands of the railroad officials, and the Railroad War Board, comprised of five railroad heads, will continue to direct actual operation under Secretary McAdoo's general supervision.

The chief practical effect of government operation will be to permit complete unification of all rail systems, impossible under private operation by reason of statutes prohibiting pooling of rail traffic and earnings.

The roads themselves had gone as far as they dared in this direction and it just became known that they had been warned by Attorney General Gregory that a violation of anti-pooling laws could not be permitted. This situation was fully realized by President Wilson, who, in his statement, declared the roads had gone as far as they could and already some systems were endangering their earnings in attempting unification.

Earnings to Be Guaranteed.

Although the proclamation applies to all electric lines engaged in general transportation, local interurban systems are specifically exempted. Congress will be asked to guarantee earnings equivalent to the net operating income of each railroad in the three-year period ending June 30, 1917. Railroad experts estimate that this will cost the government next year in the neighborhood of $100,000,000.

The Interstate Commerce commission and other government agencies, which have to do with the railroads, will continue to perform their functions as heretofore, except that they will be subject to orders of the director of railroads.

Wilson Explains Action.

"I have exercised the powers over the transportation systems of the country which were granted me by the act of Congress of August, 1916, because it has become imperatively necessary for me to do so. This is a war of resources no less than of men, perhaps even more than men, and it is necessary for the complete mobilization of our resources that the transportation systems of the country should be organized and employed under a single authority and a simplified method of coordination which have not proved possible under private management and control. The committee of railway executives, who have be cooperating with the government in this all important matter, have done the utmost that it was possible for them to do; have done it with patriotic zeal and with great ability, but there were difficulties that they could neither escape nor neutralize. Complete unity of administration in the present circumstance involves upon occasion and at many points a serious dislocation of earnings, and the committee was, of course, without power or authority to rearrange charges or effect proper compensations and adjustments of earnings. Several roads which were willingly and with admirable public spirit accepting the orders of the committee have already suffered from these circumstances and should not be required to suffer further. In mere fairness to them the full authority of the government must be substituted. The government itself will thereby gain an immense increase of efficiency in the conduct of the war and of the innumerable activities upon which its successful conduct depends.

Public Comes First.

"The public interest must be first served, and, in addition, the financial interests of the government and the financial interests of the railways must be brought under a common direction.

"The financial operations of the railroads need not then interfere with the borrowings of the government and they themselves can be conducted at a greater advantage.

"Investors in railway securities may rest assured that their rights and interests will be as scrupulously looked after by the government as they could be by the directors of the several railway systems. Immediately upon the reassembling of Congress, I shall recommend that these definite guarantees be given:

"First, of course, that the railway properties will be maintained during the period of federal control in as good repair and as complete equipment as were taken over by the government, and

"Second—that the roads shall receive a net operating income, equal in each case to the average net income of the three years preceding June 30, 1917; and I am entirely confident that the Congress will be disposed in this case, as in others to see that justice is done and full security assured to the owners and creditors of the great systems which the government must now use under its own direction or else suffer serious embarrassment.

Best Results Are Sought.

"The Secretary of War and I are agreed that, all the circumstances being taken into consideration, the best results can be obtained under the immediate executive administration of the Hon. William G. McAdoo, whose practical experience peculiarly fits him for the service and whose authority as Secretary of the Treasury will enable him to co-ordinate, as no other man could, the many financial interests which will be involved and which might, unless systematically directed, suffer very embarrassing entanglements.

"The government of the United States is the only great government now engaged in the war which had not already assumed control of this sort. It was thought to be the spirit of American institution to attempt to do everything that was necessary through private management, and if zeal and ability and patriotic motive could have accomplished the necessary unification of administration, it would certainly have been accomplished, but no zeal or ability could overcome insuperable obstacles, and I have deemed it my duty to recognize that fact in all candor now that it is demonstrated and to use without reserve the great authority reposed in me. A great national necessity dictated the action and I was therefore not at liberty to abstain from it.

"WOODROW WILSON."

WILLIAM G. McADOO

Holds two of biggest jobs in the United States.

Secretary of the Treasury, William G. McAdoo has been chosen by President Wilson as director of railroads. He takes up his new duties at noon, Dec. 28, still retaining his cabinet post.

I. W. W. Stage Riot in Jail.

Wichita, Kan., Dec. 28.—Christmas was celebrated by the 33 Industrial Workers of the World, held in the jail here, by an all night riot which it was impossible to quell. The men broke their cots, pounded their cells, groaned, yelled, sang and cursed all night. The city fire department will be held in readiness to give the rioters the "water cure" if the rioting is repeated. Everything excepting clothing has been taken from the cells by the sheriff.

Workers to Get More Pay; Less for Officers

Washington, Dec. 28.—One of the first acts of the government in beginning operation of railroads will be to reduce large salaries now paid to the railway executives and increase in some measure the wages of railway workers.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a
and other land at very low prices.

During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley, and Flax. Mixed Farming is as profitable an industry as grain raising. Good schools, churches; markets convenient, climate excellent. A Tart Reply.

"I hope you never deceive your wife," said the meddlesome man with a look of pious concern.

"I'd like to know what business it is of yours to hope that I never deceive my wife," snapped the irascible citizen. "Do you think I'm going to let her find out how ornery I am, just to please you."

A Harsh Cynicism.

MUST FILE RETURN

HEAVY PENALTY FOR FAILURE

Returns Will Be Rigidly Checked and Assistance Given Taxpayers by Officials in Every County—Tips to Farmers.

Washington.—All good Americans who are making a fair living are now called upon to pay, in the way of an income tax, their share of the cost of the war. Whether or not he is subject to this tax is the question every man must settle at once. In a few words this is the answer: Every unmarried man whose net income is $1,000 or more and every married man or head of a family whose income is $2,000 or over must pay the tax. Before March 1, 1918, he must file his return with the collector of internal revenue in the district in which he lives or has his principal place of business.

The man who thinks to evade this tax is making a serious error. Revenue officials will be in every county to check returns. Failure to make a correct return within the time specified involves heavy penalties.

"Net income" means gross income less certain deductions provided for by the act. The law defines income as profit, gain, wages, salary, commissions, money or its equivalent from professions, vocations, commerce, trade, rents, sales and dealings in property, real and personal, and interest from investments except interest from government bonds, or state, municipal township or county bonds. Incomes from service as guardian, trustee or executor; from dividends, pensions, royalties, or patents, or oil and gas wells, coal land, etc., are taxable.

Normal Rate Is 2 Per Cent.

The normal rate of tax is 2 per cent on net incomes above the amount of exemptions, which is $2,000 in the case of a married person or head of a family and $1,000 in the case of a single person. A married person or head of a family is allowed an additional exemption of $200 for each dependant child if under eighteen years of age or incapable of self-support because defective. The taxpayer is considered to be the head of a family if he is actually supporting one or more persons closely connected with him by blood relationship or relationship by marriage, or if his duty to support such person is based on some moral or legal obligation.

Debts ascertained to be worthless and charged off within the year and taxes paid except income taxes and those assessed against local benefits are deductible. These and other points of the income tax section of the war revenue act will be fully explained by revenue officers who will visit every county in the United States between January 2 and March 1 to assist taxpayers in making out their returns.

Officers to Visit Every Locality.

Notice of their arrival in each locality will be given in advance through the press, banks and post offices. They will be supplied with income tax forms copies of which may be obtained also from collectors of internal revenue.

The bureau of internal revenue is seeking to impress upon persons subject to the tax the fact that failure to see this official in no way relieves them of the duty imposed by law to file their returns within the time specified.

The government is not required to seek the taxpayer. The taxpayer is required to seek the government.

The penalty for failure to make the return on time is a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $1,000, and in addition 50 per cent of the amount of the tax due. For making a false or fraudulent return, the penalty is a fine not to exceed $2,000 or not exceeding one year's imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court, and in addition 100 per cent of the tax evaded.

As to the Farmers.

The number of farmers who will pay income taxes has not been estimated by the government officials, but it is certain they will form a large percentage of the 6,000,000 persons assessed who never before have paid an income tax. The average farmer does not keep books but if he avails himself of the services of government experts who will be sent to aid him, it will not be difficult for him to ascertain the amount of his net income.

The farmer in making out his return may deduct depreciation in the value of property and machinery used in the conduct of his farm, and loss by fire, storm or other casualty, or by theft if not covered by insurance. Expenses actually incurred in farm operation may be deducted, but not family or living expense. Produce raised on the farm and traded for groceries, wearing apparel, etc., is counted as living expenditures and cannot be deducted.

Take the Short Route.

A Genuine Patriot.

The school teachers on the East side in New York are finding some interesting material in the manner in which alien parents are saving to aid in the war. One little girl told her teacher how "the folks at home" are going to help. "My father and mother and me," she said, "we made it on a piece of paper last night. My father makes $18 the week, and he pays for the rent $18 the month, $2 for coal, $3 for milk for the baby, $7 a week for eats. Then he gets left $4 the week. He gives my mother $2 for clothes, he keeps $1 the week and puts $1 the week for the war savings. He does that so long as the war should last."

Under Control.

Mrs. Flatbush—Does your husband come home to his luncheon?

Mrs. Bensonhurst—Oh, yes; every day.

"And does he grumble when it's not ready on time?"

"He does not."

"But you don't always have it on time for him, do you?"

"Hardly ever on time."

"And he don't grumble?"

"He certainly does not."

"Why doesn't he grumble, do you suppose?"

"Because I won't let him."

No Proofs.

"The sense of public honesty is growing every day."

"Can't notice that contributions to the conscience fund are getting into the million class."

The Chase as an Exercise.

The chase as an exercise for the ruling caste in Germany has survived into our own time, states a writer. Every Prussian officer had to spend part of his time hunting, not foxes merely, but deer and boar as well. Royalty still went in state to the boar-seeking, and stag hunt, with hundreds of beaters and a tremendous retinue. The slaughter still mounted into the hundreds.

Circumstantial Evidence.

"I say, Dick, what makes you so suspicious about your girl's letting other fellows court her?"

"I put it to you, Bill, wouldn't it make you suspicious if your girl's parrot kept saying all the time you were sitting with her, 'Oh, don't, Charley?'"

Natural Place.

"So Bill dressed up his story?"

"Yes, and then took it to a swallow-tale party."

Nonpartisian League

Golden Valley, Minn., Dec. 19, '17

Editor Holt Weekly News:

Inasmuch as some of the newspapers and a good many of the professional politicians have had a great deal to say about the alleged disloyalty of the National Nonpartisan League and its leaders, we want to call your attention to the fact that a few days ago, Mr. A. C. Townley, head of the league, was invited to see President Woodrow Wilson. Now President Wilson is not inviting disloyalists to call at the White House and we think all will admit that the President usually is pretty well informed and probably knew exactly what he was doing when he invited Mr. Townley in to see him.

We also notice that President Wilson's message to Congress on Dec. 4, called attention to the fact that the farmers complain with considerable justice, that while regulations of food products restricts their incomes, no restraints are placed upon the prices of most of the things they purchase. The President went on to say that "Profiteering still runs Impudently Rampant" in many lines of industries and he recommends that congress go further and extend the price fixing law. This sounds a good deal like the resolution which the Nonpartisian League convention adopted at St. Paul on Sept. 18, 19 and 20th. In fact these resolutions advocated this very thing and a copy of these resolutions was sent to President Wilson.

When the National Nonpartisian League adopted resolutions denouncing the profiteers and demanding that the price fixing act be extended, we were attacked by Big Business through its kept press and professional politicians. Big Business attacked the league because the league hit it in a pretty sensitive spot—its pocket book. Big Business tried to discredit the league because we had shown that it was profiteering. But now that President Wilson brings the same charge and makes the same recommendations that we made, Big Business and the kept press haven't much to say. It seems that President Wilson's reception of Mr. Townley and his endorsement of the plank in our St. Paul resolutions makes any talk about the disloyalty of the Nonpartisian League and its leaders look absolutely ridiculous.

As a matter of fact, the Nonpartisian League is patriotic in its stand, and it is the Big Business profiteers who are the real disloyalists and who are trying to wring more money out of the necessities of the people and holding up the government with high prices and they need'nt think they are going to fool the people by hiding behind the flag. The Nonpartisian League started the campaign against these profiteers and now we have the President of the United States squarely behind us in our demands, that ought to settle any doubts about our patriotism in the minds of any honest man.

Yours for the common good,

Olaf Dahl.

Are You Eating To Win the War?

This Newspaper recommends Today's Housewife to every patriotic woman who wishes to help win the great war

Today's Housewife is especially needed by every homemaker in the present war-crisis, because the seven Courses in Domestic Science now running in the magazine help housewives to better select, prepare and conserve food supplies, to cut down waste, and at the same time to add to the health and welfare of the entire family.

Today's Housewife is the only magazine that maintains a model home where cookery recipes, new household devices, cleaning methods, etc., are put to practical tests before their appearance in the pages of the magazine.

The monthly lesson on "Cookery, Foods and Nutrition" under the direction of Caroline Hunt of the Department of Agriculture, is alone worth the price of a ten-year subscription not only to the woman who follows each lesson but to the government of the United States in helping to win the terrific war with the Central Empires of Europe.

Favorite Magazine of Home-loving Women

REMEMBER, better home-making is the ideal back of TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE, its reason for existence, its earnestly planned-for goal. Better home-making in its largest sense, with the spiritual and mental no less than the material needs of the family in view; home-making as the biggest of woman's opportunities rather than housekeeping as the most dreary of woman's drudgeries.

While Today's Housewife stands in a class by itself in its practical value to homemakers, it is also noteworthy for its wonderfully inspiring editorials and special articles, for its clean, delightful stories, and its beautiful illustrations and covers by leading artists. Over one million women agree that TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is worth several times the price of 10 cents per copy.

SUBSCRIBE AT OUR OFFICE

You can save 45 cents by subscribing by the year through us instead of buying single copies. Call at our office and examine the current issue or mail your (new or renewal) subscription to us at once. Remember, a year's subscription for only 75 cents for the magazine that would be cheap at $1.50.

Bayberry Shrub.

The plant from which the bayberry candle is made is the shrub Myrcia cerifera, a plant which is common in New England, and especially along the coast of Maine. The bayberry shrub is not closely related to the Myrcia acris, or West India bay, from the leaves of which bay rum is obtained by distillation.

Lesson From the Lily.

How easily we lose poise, swept by the current of life. Our root is not deep enough. Consider the lily rooting on the face of the waters, its roots far below. How serene it rides the ripples, and how confidently it has sought a light that its life may expand above the turbulence of the waves.—Tributes and Sanctities.

Death of Aged Mother.

The aged mother of Lewis Johnson passed peacefully away at the son's home on Sunday night after a few days sickness from diseases incident to old age.

The deceased would have been 95 years old the 15th of this month.

The funeral will be held this afternoon in the Ringbo church, Rev. M. T. Strom officiating, and interment will be made in the cemetery there.

Fires in Thief River Falls.

Early Monday morning the residence of Dr. H. Froehlich, in Thief River Falls, Minn, was burned to the ground by a fire supposed to have started from the furnace. Besides the family there were four of the teachers rooming there and one had her arm badly burned in getting out, and all had to make their escape in their night clothes, the fire burned so rapidly. The same story is told of the old Gullingsrud hotel which burned Monday night, supposedly from a defect in the electric wiring. The Park Hotel caught fire Tuesday but was soon put out.

A Growing Institution.

Our readers will notice by the report of the Holt State Bank, published this week, that their totals have almost reached the $200,000.00 mark. Their deposits are now over $162,000.00. This speaks well for the management of the bank and especially for B. Docken, the obliging cashier, to whom the greater part of the success of the bank is due.

From California

Following are extracts from a letter written by Rudolph Reierson, shortly after his arrival in San Francisco, to his father Ole Reierson and family:

The Red Cross gave us a big supper in Warren before we left. We had turkey and everything you could think of even ice cream. Then they gave us confort bags. My bag contained: a testament, tablet, 2 doz. euvelopes, stamps books, comb and glass, army and navy diary, pencil, 2 pair shoe strings, paper stick pins, paper safty pins, tooth brush, spool darning thread, paper needles, first aid packet, tooth paste, one dozen P. O. post cards, half doz. white hankerchiefs, iodine swabs, one bag buttons, 2 spools thread, scissors and thimble. And then we were given apples, nuts, and such things all along the line.

It took us 5 days and 6 nights to make the trip and I thought we would never get here. I am feeling fine and like it here. The winters are nice—every thing is green, the trees are full of oranges and ripe olives. Measurements have been taken for our clothes. They picked four in a company to work in the dining room and kitchen. I have been waiting on table, washing dishes, scrubbing floors and then setting table for the next meal. After all our work is done, then we take a shower bath. We have breakfast at 6:30, and have plenty to eat. Our sleeping quarters are in a long shed which holds 75 beds.

U. S. Thrift Stamps, in denominations of 25c each, are now on sale at the postoffices and by the rural carriers. Ask them for full information. If each person in the U. S. would buy at least one Thrift Stamp it would make Uncle Sam 25 million dollars to help win the war. $4.00 worth of stamps and 12c cash will buy a $5.00 Certificate at any time next month.

News of the Week Cut Down for Busy Readers

Washington

Fifty thousand real slackers in the United States is Provost Marshal General Crowder's estimate in his report to Secretary Baker at Washington. That calculation supposes that ten men in each registration district have escaped service without being caught.

Chairman Hurley of the Shipping board at Washington asked congress for $82,000,000 for acquisition or establishment of shipbuilding plants, in addition to the $165,000,000 heretofore asked for the next fiscal year.

As the result of the sinking of the American transport Antilles by a German submarine with the loss of many American lives, Rear Admiral W. C. Fletcher, who was in charge of the convoy system of the navy, has been relieved from duty and ordered home, the navy department announced at Washington.

Overcoat shortages at National Guard and National army training camps were reported ended except at Camp Beauregard, La., by Secretary Baker at Washington in a further response to the senate military committee's resolution urging immediate steps to provide the soldiers with adequate winter clothing.

A department of munitions under a new cabinet head known as the secretary of munitions is proposed in a bill introduced in the senate at Washington by Chairman Chamberlain of the senate military committee as a result of the committee's investigation of war operations.

Peyton C. March, major general in the National army, was nominated by President Wilson at Washington a major general in the regular army. Brig. Gen. Edwin B. Babbitt, ordnance department, was nominated to be a brigadier general in the regular army.

Provost General Crowder, reporting to congress at Washington on the progress of the draft, expresses for the first time a definite promise and aim of the government not to take for army duty any other men than those listed in class one of the new questionnaire. This classification entirely excludes married men whose wives or families are dependent on them for support, and other men with dependents.

Herbert C. Hoover, food administrator, wound up his stormy session before the senate manufactures subcommittee at Washington with the declaration that America will have a fair sugar supply this year with reasonable prices.

The food administration at Washington is not getting the results that it expected. Food Administrator Hoover told a senate committee that laws should be passed to regulate the amounts and kinds of food to be served in hotels and restaurants.

Plans for a complete reorganization of the ordnance bureau at Washington were given out by Secretary of War Baker in an announcement. The changes will place the bureau under control of civilians.

Army supply contracts given through the supplies committee of the council of national defense to concerns in which committee members are interested were investigated by the senate military committee at Washington. Charles Eisenman, vice chairman of the supplies committee and a retired clothing manufacturer of Cleveland, and Samuel M. Kaplan of New York were the principal witnesses.

Railroads Director General McAdoo at Washington dissolved the railroads war board at its own suggestion and appointed Hale Holden of Chicago a member of the board to direct the nation-wide organization which it has built up. The director general also appointed a temporary advisory cabinet.

Domestic

Assemblyman Carl Hansen, a leader and humorist in the last session of the legislature, committed suicide by firing a bullet through his brain in his insurance office at Manitowoc, Wis.

Announcement was made at Pittsburgh, Pa., that four fast trains on the Pennsylvania railroad had been ordered discontinued to conserve motive power.

Hundreds of passenger trains on railroads east of the Mississippi will be withdrawn from service under orders soon to be issued at Washington by Director General McAdoo, based on specific recommendations made by a committee of Eastern passenger traffic officers.

There will be no lightless nights in America's shipyards, says a dispatch from Washington. Every one of them will be equipped with lighting to permit construction without cessation. As soon as one shift of men is ready to lay down its tools another shift will take them over.

Norfolk, Va., was swept by a series of mysterious fires which did $5,000,000 damage. German agents are blamed. Hugo Schmidt and H. K. Lessing suspected of starting the fire, have been arrested, charged with incendiarism. Norfolk is under martial law. The fire wiped out two blocks in the heart of the business section.

U. S.—Teutonic War News

The bulk of the National Guard will be hurried to France at once or as soon as it can be shipped, and the Prairie division, including the Illinois regiments now at Houston, will be one of the first three divisions sent forward. The administration at Washington is endeavoring to speed up the dispatch of troops to France, as urgently recommended in Col. E. M. House's report of the achievement of the American war mission, which was made public.

• • •

Allied air raids over Germany are awakening the people to a recognition of their ruler's mistaken air ruthlessness, according to the Amsterdam correspondent of the London Times. There is great nervousness throughout Germany, he says, owing to the reported intention of the Americans to invade Germany by air.

Foreign

Developments in the Russo-German negotiations, the London Daily Chronicle says, are likely to cause the western powers to give de facto recognition to the Lenine government in Russia. A statement of entente allied policy of a democratic character, it adds, shortly will be sent to Russia.

The bolsheviki foreign minister, Leon Trotzky, declared at Petrograd that the government of the Russian workers would not consent to the German peace proposals. He said that if the central powers did not agree to free disposal of the destiny of thee Polish and Lettish nations, it would be urgently necessary to defend the Russian revolution.

Count Luxburg, German envoy of "spurios versenkt" fame, is now insane, and has been "eccentric" for a decade, according to report made public at Buenos Aires of medical authorities, who have had him under observation.

The Petrograd correspondent of the London Times wires that the military commissioner of posts and telegraphs on the northern front has sent a notice to the postal and telegraph stations that severe punishment will be inflicted on any person who transmits appeals to French and American socialists, who are characterized as "those imperialist hirelings."

The Norwegian government at Christiana warned the nation through the clergy at the New Year's services in an official proclamation that suffering and danger were in store for it during the coming year and called upon the people to show resignation and practice frugality, as the food supply was poor while the chances of Norway being drawn into the war were greater than before.

• • •

An estimate of 1,000 persons dead in the earthquake ruins at Guatemala City is contained in a telegram received at New York from the Central and South American Telegraph company's manager at San Jose, Guatemala, who returned to San Jose from Guatemala City.

European War News

An official statement on the campaign on the Italian front issued by the British war office in London says: "In Italy one of our battalions made a successful and difficult raid across the Piave at night, capturing prisoners and inflicting considerable damage. Our losses were slight."

The British took 74,340 prisoners on the western front during 1917, according to figures obtained in London. Of these 1,572 were officers. They captured 542 guns of all calibers, 647 trench mortars and 2,422 machine guns.

Eighteen British merchantmen of 1,600 tons or over have been sunk by mines or submarine during the last week, according to the admiralty statement issued in London. Three merchantmen under 1,600 tons were also sunk. This is a material increase over the last report.

• • •

"The enemy becomes more bitter in the bombardment of open cities," says the Rome war office report. Sunday night his airmen returned for the third time over Padua, dropping several score of bombs. The casualties were only five wounded, including one woman.

IS TO PUSH WAR; PEACE UP TO FOE

America Not to Slacken Preparations Because of Germany's Peace Proposals.

READY FOR SACRIFICE

Allies Determined Central Powers Must Accept Terms or Fight to Finish—Conference of Premiers Expected Soon.

Paris, Jan. 8.—An early conference of Allied premiers is semi-officially reported as likely to be called soon.

Presumably such a conference will decide the exact outline of a joint re-statement of Allied war aims.

Washington, Jan. 8.—America will push her work without a thought peace may be drawing nearer.

Secretary of War Baker and other officials hold there must be no letting down in preparations. Peace, they say, now is up to Germany. Lloyd George has stated Allied terms and insofar as unofficial expressions here go these are America's terms, too.

Foolhardy to Slow Up Now.

If Germany wants to reform herself and accept those terms the way is open, but if she wants to fight on the Allies and America are fully aware of and ready for the bloody sacrifice involved, all officials agree.

They added it would be little short of treasonable and foolhardy for this nation to slow up now, merely because of growing convictions Allies and Teutons are getting more nearly together through a process of unofficial statement of peace aims.

Shift Into Diplomatic Field.

True, authorities here, including men high in the military councils, do believe peace is coming more rapidly than is the general belief. But if they had their way wholly there would not even be a statement of war aims. Instead there would be a policy of blood and iron which would ultimately make the German lines crumble and the kaiser beg for peace.

Some military men, however, are inclined to feel that already the war is shifting into the diplomatic field, that by the mere fact of a statement of terms from both sides a desire for peace is manifest which sows the seed for actual negotiations.

Sees Long War or Quick Peace.

Not that they think Germany is going to accept Lloyd George's terms right away, but they believe Germany now knows she cannot win, and is willing, therefore to go far to get an adjustment.

A neutral diplomat sized up the situation as a case of peace in three or four months, or war for three or four years. That may be said to be a more or less prevalent opinion here, though those who venture into prophecy vary in their maximum and minimum figures considerably.

U. S. CONTROLS BINDER TWINE

Food Administration Takes Over Supply—To Regulate Prices.

St. Paul, Jan. 8.—Minnesota's lead ing industry at the state prison and farmers throughout the state, and in neighboring states, are affected by the report from Washington that the United States food administration has arranged to control supply of binder twine for this year and to regulate prices to consumers. Henry Wolfer, former warden of Minnesota prison, will have charge of this work for the food administration.

The control, dispatches state, will be effected through voluntary agreements binder twine makers have made with the food administration, which will centralize buying and eliminate competition. An official announcement by the administration says the arrangements will stabilize prices, prevent undue advances, eliminate waste, speculation and hoarding and give the product to the ultimate consumer at the lowest possible price.

WOULD ACCEPT SLAV TERMS

German Socialists Meet to Discuss Peace Negotiations.

Amsterdam, Jan. 8.—What the Socialist organ Vorwaerts called "the most important meeting of Socialists since the start of the war," has been called in Berlin.

It was composed of Socialist members of the reichstag and was specifically assembled to discuss Brest-Litovsk peace negotiations.

Berlin dispatches predicted the conference would urge withdrawal by Germans of the terms held unacceptable by Russia.

Foe Recognizes Finnish Republic.

Amsterdam, Jan. 8.—Germany has recognized the Finnish republic. An official dispatch from Berlin says that after the Russian government declared its willingness to recognize the independence of Finland the German emperor charged the imperial chancellor to express in the name of the German government recognition of the Finnish republic to plenipotentiaries of Finland now in Berlin. Chancellor von Hertling received the plenipotentiaries and informed them Germany had recognized Finland.

400 PASSENGER TRAINS CUT OFF

Curtailment of Service Is Made On Three Principal Roads East of Pittsburgh.

NEW DEMURRAGE RULES

Stringent Reguluations and Increased Charges Expected To Result In Release of Many Freight Cars For Active Service.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Approximately 400 passenger trains have been taken off the three principal railroads operating east of Pittsburgh, according to announcement made at the office of Director General McAdoo.

The Pennsylvania system has dropped more than 125 passenger trains, the New Haven 85; the Baltimore & Ohio, 60; the New York Central, 60; and other roads varying numbers from 5 to 25, according to the character of their service. Some of the others which curtailed greatly are the Philadelphia & Reading, the Ere, the Delaware & Hudson, the Delaware, Lackawana & Western, the New York, Ontario & Western, the Boston & Maine, and the Boston & Albany.

These were all parlor car trains, or trains of chair cars.

Locomotives relieved by the cutting off of these trains will be turned to the hauling of coal and generally relieving the freight congestion.

No more passenger trains will be cut off in the immediate future. But the director general may make a further ruling in the number of cars allotted to some trains.

New Demurrage Rules.

Director General McAdoo last night made public the demurrage rules, regulations and charges.

1. Forty-eight hours free time for loading or unloading on all commodities.

2. Twenty-four hours free time on cars held for any other purpose permitted by tariff.

3. Demurrage charges per car per day or fraction of a day a car is released as follows: $3 for the first day; $4 for the second day, and for each succeeding additional day charges to be increased $1 in excess of that for the preceding day until a maximum charge of $10 per car per day shall be reached the eighth day of detention beyond free time, the charge thereafter to be $10 per car per day or fraction thereof.

These charges will supercede all those named in existing tariffs applicable to domestic freight, and specifically contemplate the cancellation of all average agreement provisions of existing tariffs.

FOR LABOR LOYALTY WEEK

Call For Observance With Lincoln's Birthday.

New York, Jan. 8.—A proclamation calling for the observance of a national labor loyalty week in connection with the celebration of Lincoln's birthday, with the additional purpose of "combatting the insidious forces of pro-German and anti-American propaganda" has been issued by the American 0Alliance for Labor and Democracy.

Copies were sent to the alliance's branches and all central labor bodies affiliated with the American Federation of Labor over all the country. The proclamation was signed by Samuel Gompers, as president of the Ican Alliance for Labor and Democ Democracy.

FOREIGN FUNDS ARE TIED UP

Bolsheviki Forbids Banks To Pay Money To Ambassadors.

Petrograd, Jan. 8.—Foreign Minister Trotzky has issued an order forbidding banks to pay out money deposited by foreign embassies. When asked the object of these instructions, M. Trotzky said:

"The old Russian government has funds deposited to its credit in banks abroad and until those deposits are placed at the disposal of the Council of National commissioners the embassies cannot draw the money they have on deposit in Russian banks."

The American embassy is among those that have been refused funds.

Pacifist Preacher Removed.

Los Angeles, Jan. 8.—The Rev. E. P. Ryland, removed as superintendent of the Los Angeles district of the Southern California conference of the Methodist Episcopal church by Bishop Adna W. Leonard for alleged "pacifist ideas," has announced his withdrawal from the ministry. He had been a minister 26 years.

Teutons Starving, Says Deserter

Washington, Jan. 8.—A dispatch to the Greek legation here said that a German aviator, a graduate of Berlin university, who had deserted and arrived in Greece, told of starvation and cruel treatment of the Greek population in Thrace, occupied by the Bulgars. "Questioned by Greek authorities," said the dispatch, "the viator said that daily a great number of deaths occur in Germany due to starvation. Coffee and fats are carce. Coffee and bread are being substituted by acrons.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Chairman Hare of the county Red Cross drive reports that 7,120 is the record of Mower county's Red Cross membership contest.

W. B. Lindell, the second of the two prisoners who escaped from the Fort Snelling guard house Dec. 22, gave himself up at the fort Sunday night.

O. E. Reiersgard of Ulen was elected president of the Clay County Editorial association, Ray B. Osborn of Glyndon vice president and J. H. Freeman, of Moorhead, secretary-treasurer.

During the past thirty days 263 lumber-jacks have been shipped from Stillwater to Satona, Minn., where they are employed by J. E. McGrath of Stillwater in a big lumber camp near that place that he is operating.

Breeders of fancy poultry from Canada and the East competed with Minnesota poultry fanciers at the state poultry show which was held at Minneapolis. The show this year was larger than for several years past.

Daniel S. Hayward, proprietor of the Grand Central hotel, St. Cloud, has leased the hotel for twelve years to W. S. Beard of Minneapolis, former proprietor of the Hotel Nicollet. Mr. Hayward has left for Riverside, Cal., to spend the winter.

Five Winona boys, all classmates, have arrived in France, according to messages received by their parents. They are: Privates William Riley, Arthur Gallien, Paul Baumgartner, Stanley Ollhoff and Corporal Clarence B. Barth. All were enlisted early in the spring and left New York as members of the aviation corps two weeks ago.

The northerly division of the Red Cross now has 500,000 members, John Leslie of Minneapolis, head of that division, stated. This is 20,000 more than the apportionment for this division. Of this number St. Paul claims 47,000 and Duluth 25,000. The Minneapolis Red Cross chapter has on hand $71,000 in cash from the membership drive in that city.

Reinhold Kintzi, publisher of "Die Freie Presse," at Glencoe, has been arrested on a charge of perjury in connection with alleged seditious articles published in his paper. Kintzi was brought to Minneapolis by Joseph Buisson, United States deputy marshal and taken before Howard S. Abbott, United States commissioner. He waived examination and was committed to the Hennepin county jail in default of $2,000 bail. He is to be tried at the April term of the United States district court.

Lamb sold in Minnesota the other day for $5.36 a pound, the highest price ever known in the state. Indirectly the war was responsible. Only 54 pounds of lamb brought this price, and proceeds will go to the Red Cross. The sale took place on the University farm campus and was conducted by the Minnesota Sheep Breeders' association. The animal raised by H. H. Pond of Minneapolis, had won first prize in the association's exhibit the day before. Its carcass was auctioned off before a crowd that included most of the folk attending Farmers' and Homemakers' week.

The Northern Minnesota Editorial association will hold its annual meeting in Fergus Falls on Jan. 17 and 18.

A 10 per cent increase in wages, effective Jan. 1, was granted by the Northern Pacific railroad to 3,500 station clerks and employes.

A new automobile fire truck for the Moorhead fire department has been purchased, according to an announcement of Treasurer O. D. Hilde.

E. S. Tolman of Pine River, well known as "Dinkey" Holman, was arrested by Sheriff Mack Kennedy and taken to the county jail at Walker, charged with seditious utterances against the government. At a hearing before Justice Morcel he was released under a bond of $500.

The Rathskeller, one of Moorhead's leading saloons and which catered exclusively to the elite before the saloons were voted out on May 17, 1915, and where the "little German band" used to give open air concerts nightly from the veranda, is being remodeled into an apartment house. Announcement was made some time ago that the famous "House of Lords" just south of the Rathskeller, would be made into a garage.

Edmund F. Warner, confessed accomplice of Donald Dow alias Fred Anderson in the murder of George Sheffield, night operator of the Great Northern railroad at Moorhead, early in the morning of September 19, 1917, has been taken to the state penitentiary at Stillwater by Sheriff Dan W. McDonald. Following his confession and plea of guilty to robbery in the second degree, Warner was given an indeterminate sentence of three to 15 years.

Minnesota began 1918 business with $6,474,703 cash in the state treasury where a year ago there was but $3,606,291. The increase in the yearend balance is due mainly to deferring payments of state school aid, pending decisions in litigation involving the fund. Treasurer Henry Rines asserted, nevertheless, that the state was never more prosperous on its own financial account.

John Swanson of the Hallock Roller Mills has made extensive improvements on his mill. Mr. Swanson has also secured the services of a miller of 30 years' experience.

USE MORE CORN WILSON EXHORTS

State Food Administrator Announces Coming Drive For Greater Use of Grain.

CHILD LAWS IN FORCE

New Statutes Giving Protection to Illegitimates, Dependents and Delinquents Now Effective.

St. Paul.

Minnesotans as well as Iowans are to be cornfed folk if the Federal Food administration for Minnesota has its way. A. D. Wilson, state food administrator, has announced that corn was to be the subject for the next big food drive.

"American housewife, use more corn!" is Mr. Wilson's exhortation.

"We have 30 bushels per person for this year, and our average consumption is less than one bushel per person. Four-fifths of all the farmers in America grow corn and one-third of all the land under cultivation is in corn. Corn cannot be shipped for two reasons: There are no mills over seas for grinding of whole grain, and cornmeal grows rancid in passage. This is due to the large amount of fat which detracts from its keeping qualities, while it adds to its food value. What is the 'bit' for the housewife of today? Corn saves wheat for soldiers.

New Child Laws in Force.

With the war making more urgent the necessity of child conservation, authorities will begin enforcement of Minnesota's new child welfare laws which give children born out of wedlock a better chance; place guardianship over all dependent and delinquent children; broaden the jurisdiction of the juvenile court and increase the scope of the mothers' pension law.

Under the terms of the new laws, the maternity hospitals and infant homes in the state also must be incorporated and licensed annually.

William W. Hodson of Minneapolis, who has been named director of the children's bureau, which will be conducted by the State Board of Control, said that he will confer at once with Mrs. R. J. O'Connor and Miss E. Hayes of St. Paul, Miss Florence Monahan of Minneapolis, and Miss Lucile Way of Northfield, field agents, on their duties.

They will begin their work in the Twin Cities, reporting all unlicensed hospitals and infant homes to the Board of Control so that they can be licensed under the terms of the act passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Under the illegitimacy section of one of the statutes, the father is made responsible in the same degree as though the child were legitimate.

May Charter No More Banks.

With a view toward conserving Minnesota's financial power to aid the government in winning the war, F. W. Pearson, state superintendent of banks states that he has planned to suggest to the State Public Safety commission an order to prohibit chartering new state banks until the end of the war. The results, Mr. Pearson said, would be that prospective stockholders in new banks would be influenced to buy Liberty bonds and use their funds in other ways which would help the government. The Public Safety commission has been passing on applications for charters for new state banks for some weeks, but only with a view of determining the loyalty of the project.

In one instance the commission directed the superintendent to refuse a charter for a new bank on the ground that it was backed in some measures by parties who became displeased with other banks in the same town which had aided in Liberty Loan and other patriotic undertakings.

1918 Crop Survey Unlikely.

No special survey of Minnesota's crops likely will be made next summer other than the customary crop report estimate, A. D. Wilson announced after a conference with Paul H. Kirk, field agent in the crop reporting service of the Department of Agriculture.

The conference came as a result of a letter to Mr. Kirk from Washington, urging him to consult with Mr. Wilson as to the advisability of conducting a state-wide survey of crops, yield, acreage, labor and general resources next summer. It was proposed to do this work through the schools. Several hundred high school agricultural students were to be enlisted in this work.

Delinquents Face Suit.

Hotel and restaurant keepers who failed to pay the state license fee of $2 for 1917 will not escape payment, it has been announced by W. A. Wittbecker, state hotel inspector. Fifteen or twenty places in St. Paul are delinquent and prosecutions may start this week. By February delinquent lists will have been mailed certifying hotel and restaurant keepers to county attorneys for prosecution. Further inspections will be made soon of St. Paul hotels and restaurants, Mr. Wittbecker announces.

Splendid Work by Woman.

Valuable work was done by Dr. Elsie Inglis, who died recently. She was the organizer and head of the Scottish Women's Hospital units, staffed entirely with women, and offered early in the war to the British government for service with the forces. Refused at home, they were accepted by the French war office, and in the first year they did valuable work in France. When typhus broke out in Serbia, Doctor Inglis took a unit to that country, went through the hardships of the retreat and was taken prisoner by the Austrians. Released in 1916, she set out for Roumania, where again she shared in a retreat. From the Dobrudja she eventually took her unit to southern Russia, but the rigors of this campaign had told on her and she fell a victim to overwork and disease. She brought her unit safely away with her, but died when port was reached. Doctor Inglis was born in India and educated in Edinburgh and Paris.

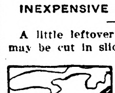
INEXPENSIVE GOOD THINGS.



A little leftover oatmeal if molded may be cut in slices and fried. If a piece or two of bacon or a little meat or sausage is added to it before putting it in the mold it will make a more nourishing dish and one which may take the place of meat.

Chicken en Casserole.—Prepare a small fowl as for stuffing. Remove legs and wings. Bone the legs and stuff them with the following: Chop the cooked chicken liver, a half cupful of ham and six blanched chestnuts. Mix with a cupful of bread crumbs a half cupful or more of milk, two egg yolks. Season to taste with nutmeg, thyme, marjoram, salt, parsley and onion juice. Roll the fowl after stuffing in flour and brown in the pan; place in a casserole, add two carrots, two onions and a half cupful of uncooked rice with a pint of water. Simmer one or two hours.

Indian Delight.—Cook a half pound of spaghetti in boiling salted water. Chop one small onion, one clove of garlic, a green pepper fine and fry in half a cupful of olive oil until the onions are golden, then add a cupful of condensed tomato, one and a half teaspoonfuls of salt, cayenne and paprika to taste, a half teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce. When thoroughly heated stir in a half cupful of cheese. When melted add the spaghetti and a half a can of corn and lastly a half pound of hamburg steak, softened with cold water to prevent its cooking in lumps. Stir over the fire for five minutes and turn into a baking dish. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake 20 minutes.

California Pudding.—Take a cupful each of raw potato ground, a carrot and apple, also ground, a cupful of brown sugar, a cupful of raisins, a cupful and a quarter of flour, a teaspoonful of cinnamon, a half teaspoonful of cloves and a teaspoonful of soda stirred into the potato. Cream a half cupful of shortening with the sugar, dredge the raisins with a little flour. Mix and steam three hours. Serve hot with hard or liquid sauce.

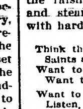
SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.



A thick cut of round steak makes a most appetizing dish cooked in a casserole. Wipe the steak and broil it for two minutes on each side to sear the meat and hold in its juice. Transfer it to a stone-covered dish and add one pint of Spanish sauce, one cupful of small onions which have been lightly browned in hot fat and four tablespoonfuls of any canned fruit juice or a little grape jelly. Cover and cook in a moderate oven for an hour and a quarter. Add one cupful of potato balls, which have also been browned, and send to the table in the casserole.

Spanish Sauce.—Cook together for ten minutes two tablespoonfuls of sweet fat, two of chopped onion, two of chopped carrot and one tablespoonful of chopped celery. Add two tablespoonfuls of flour and cook until a rich brown; add one pint of rich clear stock and stir until thick and smooth. Add one tablespoonful of chopped ham, one bay leaf, two cloves, a sprig of parsley, a blade of mace and salt and pepper to season. Simmer very slowly for two hours; add one tablespoonful of gelatin soaked in a quarter of a cupful of soup stock until soft; simmer for 15 minutes longer, skim and strain.

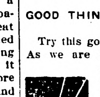
Combination Rarebit.—Take three fourths of a cupful of grated cheese, half a pound of spaghetti cooked until tender, one cupful of minced cooked ham, two tablespoonfuls each of sweet fat and flour, a cupful of milk, three fourths of a teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper, a half cupful of dry crumbs mixed with two tablespoonfuls of ham fat. Butter a casserole. Melt the fat and add the flour and seasonings, then the milk and cheese, allowing the cheese to melt. Put a layer of spaghetti in the casserole, sprinkle with ham, add some sauce, continuing until all is used having the crumbs on top. Bake 15 minutes in a hot oven. The proportions of ham spaghetti and cheese may be varied to suit the amount of leftovers.

Cauliflower Soup.—Select one good head of cauliflower. Wash and pick it apart, drop into a kettle of boiling water, add a teaspoonful of salt after a few minutes and cook thirty minutes. Drain and add to the water one pint of milk a teaspoonful of scraped onion and a bay leaf. Mix together two tablespoonfuls each of flour and butter and when well cooked, add to the milk, cook five minutes, add the cauliflower and serve.

Just doing right—not striving to be great
Or wise or rich or seeking noble fate;
Just being good and generous and brave,
Just trying how humanity to save—
Ah! that's the way to live!

GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE.

Try this good and inexpensive cake. As we are conserving on sugar, it seems to be the good custom to go without frosting on our cakes:



Inexpensive Cake.—Beat to a cream five tablespoonfuls of sweet fat of any kind, add a cupful of sugar and an unbeaten egg yolk. Mix well one and two-thirds cupfuls of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a dash of salt; add this mixture to the sugar and egg mixture alternately with a half-cupful of cold water, beating very thoroughly, then fold in the egg white and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. If this cake is well-beaten and carefully made it will have a fine texture.

Ginger bread, hot and fresh, with cottage cheese and apple sauce makes a most satisfying dessert.

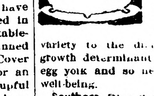
Marshmallow Rice Pudding.—Take cold boiled rice and add sugar, spices or flavoring, with a beaten egg and milk for an ordinary rice pudding. Then place on top a dozen marshmallows which have been soaked in milk for three hours, and bake until a light brown.

Apple Omelet.—Mix a tablespoonful of flour into a smooth paste with one-third of a cupful of milk; add a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of sweet fat, melted, with four well-beaten eggs. Pare, core and chop four large apples, melt a tablespoonful of fat in a frying pan and, when very hot, turn in the apples, stir and cook until slightly soft. Pour over the flour, egg and milk mixture and shake well, lifting the edges to prevent scorching and to cook evenly. When the eggs are set, dust with sugar and roll out on a hot platter. Set in the oven on the grate, or under the gas flame to brown the top.

Pimento and Cheese Entre.—Take six canned red peppers, salt the insides, after draining; fill with a cupful of sharp cheese, grated; set on rounds of toast, pour the pimento liquor around the toast in a pan and bake just long enough to melt the cheese.

To save meat we must use more poultry, rabbits and especially fish and sea foods, perishable meats like kidneys, liver and sweetbreads, in place of beef, mutton and pork.

SEASONABLE DISHES



With eggs as high in price as they are it seems expedient to plan out meals without much reference to them. They are so nourishing that when possible, especially when one has children they should be used in various ways occasionally to add variety to the diet and furnish the growth determinant which is found in egg yolk and so necessary for bodily well-being.

Southern Rice Bread.—Put two cupfuls of boiled rice in a bowl add two cupfuls of milk, and the yolks of four well beaten eggs. Sift in gradually, one cupful of flour, add a half teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of melted shortening, and the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Turn into a shallow well greased pan and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. A half cupful of rice may be added to almost any muffin, gem, or griddle cake batter.

Almond Milk Soup.—Take a half a pound of rice, wash well and put into a double boiler with a quart of milk, add one-half teaspoonful of salt and let it cook slowly until every grain is tender and swelled to double its original size. While the rice is cooking, shell and blanch a half pound of almonds, chop them very fine, or grind in a meat chopper, then pound in a mortar, add a few drops of milk at a time (using three or four tablespoonfuls, it will make the nuts less oily). When the paste is smooth, add it to three pints of milk and simmer for thirty minutes. When the rice is done turn it out carefully into the soup tureen, then pour over it the almonds and milk.

No Woman Auctionee

Although there is no record that a woman has ever been an auctioneer it is on record that in May, 1912, the mayor of New York, Mr Gaynor, answered an inquiry addressed to him by a woman by saying that there was nothing in the law to prevent a woman from becoming an auctioneer. Strange enough it was a milliner who made the inquiry.

ARMISTICE MAY BE TERMINATED

Germany May Break Temporary Agreement With Russia at Any Moment.

DELEGATES ARE SPLIT

Germans Take Position of Conquerors, While Delegates of Her Allies Assume Attitude More Conciliatory.

Petrograd, Jan. 7.—It is made clear by disclosures of the details of the Brest-Litovsk peace negotiations that Germany assumed a domineering attitude, while Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria were very conciliatory and disagreed with the German position.

There were differences also among the German delegates. Foreign Minister Von Kuehlmann and General Hoffman clashed openly during the general meetings.

Germany posed constantly as a conqueror, while her three allies showed eagerness for peace and a disposition to compromise.

Exchange of Prisoners Is Discussed.

The work of the commission which is dealing with prisoners is proceeding slowly. The Russian delegates claimed the right to send any publications they desired to Russian prisoners in Germany and to Socialists in the Central Empires. They also demanded unrestricted direct telegraphic communication with representatives of the Socialist parties in the enemy countries. The German delegates replied they were unauthorized to make an agreement on this point.

The Russians demanded the creation of a special commission to inquire into the deportation of Polish workmen for employment in privately owned factories in Germany. To this demand the Germans responded they had not been authorized to take up the question. The Russians thereupon asked for further instructions from the council of people's commissioners.

Petrograd Is Silent.

Although the peace conference between representatives of the Bolsheviki government and the Teutonic powers was due to reconvene, no news has come through indicating whether the meeting took place. Neither has there been any advice as to whether the difficulties in the way of reaching an agreement have been surmounted or if concessions by either side, making possible further negotiations, are intended.

Should the Bolsheviki delegation fail to reappear at the conference Germany may break the armistice on the eastern front at any moment.

SUFFERING GREAT IN N. Y.

Crisis in Gotham Coal Shortage Is Reached.

New York, Jan. 7.—Despite concentrated efforts to relieve the situation, the city has experienced its worst distress since the extreme cold weather began a week ago.

Aside from continued widespread suffering in the homes of rich and poor alike, so serious was the coal shortage that many large office buildings may close, according to Reeve Schley, county fuel administrator, unless supplies reach the city at once.

The greatest problem again is the freeing of coal laden barges from the packed ice floes at tide water points to get them across to Manhattan and Brooklyn shores. A fleet of government tugs battled all day to clear a passage to the ice-encrusted shores after numerous harbor tugs had been disabled in the work.

SLAVS FAIL TO MEET ENEMY

Central Powers Delegates Find Only Telegram at Brest-Litovsk

London, Jan. 7.—When the delegates of the Central Powers arrived at Brest Litovsk to resume the peace negotiations they found no Russian delegates there, according to a Vienna dispatch to Zurich, forwarded by the Exchange Telegraph company. All that awaited them was a telegram from the Russians asking for transfer of the negotiations to Stockholm.

SOCIALIST RENOUNCES PARTY

Milwaukee Mayor Puts Country Above Organization.

Milwaukee, Jan. 7.—Mayor Daniel A. Hoan, Socialist, has issued a statement in which he declared he could not comply with the St. Louis platform adopted by the Socialist party and obey the Constitution and laws of the United States. He further states that the Milwaukee County Central committee, the highest Socialist government body, held the same view.

U. S. Ownership Believed In Sight.

Washington, Jan. 7.—President Wilson's message to Congress on government control of the railroads of the country during the war has given impetus to the move in certain quarters for permanent government control. Many government officials and leading railroad men make no concealment of their belief the railroads never will be returned to private ownership. Senator Johnson, California, said the President's message ought to mean government ownership of the roads.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

Scheme of Food Swindlers.

Rationing has its drawbacks. Reports from Holland state that the ingenuity of the food swindlers knows no bounds. Within the last few weeks many have gone to private houses representing themselves as inspectors under the distribution law, and by some plausible pretext obtained the residents' food cards or carried off all the available provisions.

A FIGHT FOR LIFE

It has been fight or die for many of us in the past and the lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they heeded nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "An-u-ric." You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as Bright's disease, diabetes or stone in the bladder.

To overcome these distressing conditions take plenty of exercise in the open air, avoid a heavy meat diet, drink freely of water and at each meal take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets (double strength). You will, in a short time, find that you are one of the firm indorsers of Anuric, as are thousands of neighbors.

Step into the drug store and ask for Anuric, (60c a package) or send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial pkg. Anuric is many times more potent than lithia.

Nuns Fight Flames.

Nuns assisted to fight a fire in East Mariches, L. I., the other day. A three-story wood-and-stucco edifice caught fire. Bucket lines were formed, and 12 nuns who had been living in the building took part, but the fire was unconquerable, and the building was destroyed.

BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP

Why use ordinary cough remedies, when Boschee's German Syrup has been used so successfully for fifty-one years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis, colds settled in the throat, especially lung troubles. It gives the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning, gives nature a chance to soothe the inflamed parts, throw off the disease, helping the patient to regain his health. Sold in all civilized countries. 30 and 90 cent bottles.—Adv.

"BEST MEDICINE FOR WOMEN"

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did For Ohio Woman.

Portsmouth, Ohio.—"I suffered from irregularities, pains in my side and was so weak at times I could hardly get around to do my work, and as I had four in my family and three boarders it made it very hard for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me. I took it and it has restored my health. It is certainly the best medicine for woman's ailments I ever saw."—Mrs. SARA SHAW, R. No. 1, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mrs. Shaw proved the merit of this medicine and wrote this letter in order that other suffering women may find relief as she did.

Women who are suffering as she was should not drag along from day to day without giving this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice in regard to such ailments write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its forty years experience is at your service.

THE REFLECTIONS OF A MARRIED WOMAN—are not pleasant if she is delicate, run-down, or over worked. She feels "played out." Her smile and her good spirits have taken flight. It worries her husband as well as herself.

This is the time to build up her strength and cure those weaknesses or ailments which are the seat of her trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength. At druggists. Liquid or tablets. Tablets sell for 60 cents.

A well-known agent which can be procured at all drug stores is "Pleasant Pellets," made up of the May-apple, the dried juice of the leaves of aloes and the root of jalap. First put out by Dr. Pierce nearly fifty years ago.

Vanity Is Happiness.

The vainer one is the happier one is. Women can be happy on very little reality until they lose their good looks.

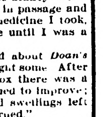
HEALTH WAS WRECKED

Nothing Brought Relief Until Doan's Were Used. Wonderful Improvement Was Effected.



Mrs. Wiethoelter

"I had such awful cutting pains in the small of my back and hips, I often had to cry out," says Mrs. Ernest Wiethoelter, 550 Madison St., St. Charles, Mo. "The pain was knife-like and I couldn't turn in bed, in fact I was almost helpless. My feet and ankles swelled badly, my hands were puffed up and there were swellings under my eyes.

"I often got so dizzy I had to sit down to keep from falling, and my health was completely broken down. The kidney secretions pained terribly in passage and in spite of all the medicine I took, I kept getting worse until I was a wreck.

"By chance I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and bought some. After I had used half a box there was a change and I continued to improve; the pains, aches and swellings left and my health returned."

Sworn to before me.
WM. F. WOLTER, Notary Public.

ALMOST TWO YEARS LATER, May 25, 1917, Mrs. Wiethoelter said: "I think as highly of Doan's as ever. Whenever I have used them, they have benefited me."

Stale Bread Muffins

One cupful of softened bread, two teaspoonfuls of dark molasses, one egg, one-half cupful of buttermilk, one-third teaspoonful of soda, one half teaspoon of salt, two teaspoonfuls of melted fat, and corn meal. After soaking bread in warm water until soft, measure one cupful, add the well beaten egg, buttermilk, salt molasses and fat. Stir in enough corn-meal to make batter consistency of cake mixture. Add soda and beat thorougly. Pour in smoking hot muffin-rings and bake quickly.

Date and Cranberry Marmalade.

1 qt. cranberries, 1 lb. dates. (one pkg. will do) 2 cups sugar. Add water to the cranberries, cook until done. Strain thru a sieve. Stone and cut up the dates and cook until thick Add the cooked dates to the strained cranberries, add the sugar. Cook slowly until as thick as desired.

War Bread

(Substitute this bread for all-wheat bread whenever possible.)

Measure flour after sifting.

Yeast Cornmeal Bread.

1-4 cups liquid (milk and water) 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon fat 2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cake compressed yeast, 2-3 cups cornmeal, 2 1-3 cups flour.

Add sugar, fat, and salt to liquid and bring to the boiling point. Add cornmeal slowly, stirring constantly until all is added. Bring to the boiling point. Remove from the fire and cool. These proportions of cornmeal and water result in so thick a mixture that to add the given amt of flour looks impossible. It can be done however. Add compressed yeast softened in 1-4 cup water. Add flour and knead. Let rise until double its bulk, knead again and put into pans. When light, bake in a moderate oven for at least an hour.

Why We Are Fighting

If you don't know why we are fighting,
Let the seas out there explain.
There's a place in the Atlantic
That will never lose its stain;
And a liner on the bottom
With a great hole in its gut,
Where the eels are mounting babies' bones
And nameless horrors glut.

If you want to know why we are fighting,
France will point you to the west,
Where the bayonets of Germany
Are hacking at her breast;
Where a thousand lovely villages
Are marked with blood and flame,
And the gentlest of her lassies,
Soiled and broken, walk in shame.

If you want to know why we are fighting,
Belgium has a tale to tell,
How the Kaiser's "cultured" legions
Came to do the work of hell.
Let her hordes of homeless starvings,
Let maltreated children show;
Look upon her desolation,
Ask her women—and you'll know.

The Kaiser's Dream

There's a story now current, tho' strange it may seem,
Of the great Kaiser Bill and his Wonderful dream.
Being tired of the allies, he lay down in bed,
And amongst other things he dreamt he was dead,
And in a fine coffin was lying in state,
With a guard of brave Belgians, who lamented his fate.
He wasn't long dead till he found to his cost,
That his soul, like his soldiers, had surely been lost.
On leaving the earth to heaven he went straight,
And arriving up there gave a knock at the gate,
But St. Peter looked out, and in voice loud and clear
Said: "Begone, Kaiser Bill, we don't want you here."
"Well" said the Kaiser, "that's very uncivil,
I suppose after that I must go to the devil?"
So he turned on his heel and off he did go
At the top of his speed to the regions below.
And when he got there he was filled with dismay,
When waiting outside he heard Old Nick say
To his imps: "Now, look here boys, I give you a warning,
"I'm expecting the Kaiser down here in the morning,
But don't let him in, for to me it's quite clear,
"He's a dangerous man, and we don't want him here.
"If once he gets in there'll be no end of quarrels.
"In fact I'm afraid he'll corrupt our good morals"
"O, Satan, my dear friend," the Kaiser then cried,
Excuse me for listing while waiting outside.
If you don't admit me where can I go?
"Indeed," said the devil, "I really don't know."
"Oh, do let me in, I'm weary and cold,"
Said the Kaiser, quite anxious to enter Nick's fold.
"Let me set in a corner, no matter how hot."
"No! said the devil, "most certainly not,
"We don't admit people for riches or pelf;
Here are sulphur and matches, make a hell for yourself."
Then he kicked Wilhelm out and vanished in smoke,
And just at that moment the Kaiser awoke.
He jumped out of bed in a shivering sweat,
And said: "Well, that dream I shall never forget.
"That I won't go to heaven I know very well,
"But it's really too bad to be kicked out of hell."

The United States now has in France an army of "substantial" size ready for active service, Secretary Baker told the senate war invesigating committee at Washington. Baker replied to criticisms of his department's conduct of the war and the delays and errors of judgment in the vast undertaking. Arms of the most modern and effective kind, he said, have been provided for every soldier in France. An army of nearly a million and a half men is now in the field or in training, he asserted.

BLAZE DAMAGES U. S. ARMY DEPOT

FOUR FIRES IN 10 DAYS

Mysterious Blazes Laid To Incendiaries—Loss $200,000—Firemen And Soldiers Brave Exploding Munitions.

Washington, Jan. 15.—While firemen and soldiers battled in the face of exploding munitions, which at times shook the vicinity, flames destroyed the interior of the giant quartermaster's corps building at the Washington barracks here. It was the fourth of a series of mysterious fires to break out in the building during the last 10 days and the loss may reach $200,000.

Baker Orders Probe.

An immediate investigation was ordered by Secretary of War Baker, who personally went to the scene and remained until the flames were extinguished about noon.

Although Lieut. Col. J. H. Earle, in charge of the post, stated no one is suspected of firing the structure—a three story brick building covering a solid block—the guard was doubled about the grounds as soon as the flames were discovered and no one allowed to enter or leave. No arrests have been made thus far.

Soldiers Blame Incendiaries.

Soldiers from the post insisted the blaze must have been incendiary.

Today the first flames were noted about 9 o'clock in the second floor where mattresses and wood shavings were piled. This had no sooner been extinguished than a second fire broke out in an adjoining section.

Ammunition Set Off.

As the flames spread heat and fire touched off quantities of small arms ammunition stored in the building together with other commissary supplies. Despite danger from these explosions, firemen from 12 stations stood their gronnd and together with firemen from the post played water over the flames for more than three hours. No casualties were reported, though a few soldiers sustained minor injuries.

AMERICA SHOWS FRIENDSHIP

Envoy Greets People on Occasion of Russian New Year.

Petrograd, Jan. 15.—David R. Francis, American ambassador, in greeting Russian people on the occasion of the Russian new year, issued a statement to the Russian press in which he says:

"The best greetings I can give Russian people from American people is President Wilson's message to Congress on January 8 (December 26, old style, which has been given in full to the Russian press."

The ambassador says the message expresses clearly the friendship of America for Russia.

DRAFT OBSTRUCTORS TO JAIL

Conviction Upheld By Supreme Court of United States.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Conviction of Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman on charges of conspiring to prevent operation of the selection service act by urging men of draft age not to register has been sustained by the supreme court.

Conviction of Louis Kramer and Morris Becker on charges of conspiracy to prevent persons of draft ages from registering in New York were also affirmed. Kramer was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine and Becker to 20 months imprisonment.

TURKEY VIOLATES ARMISTICE

Lands Troops and Torpedoes Russian Transport, Is Report.

Petrograd, Jan. 15.—Turkey has violated the armistice signed between the Teuton powers and Russia, according to word received here. The Ottoman commander, it is stated, has landed 20,000 troops between Trebizond and Rize, and a Turkish submarine is reported to have sunk a Russian transport.

FOE INVENTS NEW GAS HORROR

Perfects Brutal Device Especially For Use Against Americans.

Rotterdam, Jan. 15.—Germany has devised a new gas horror for use especially against Americans, according to released British prisoners here. The new device has been thoroughly tested out, according to the information.

100,000 Attack Chicago Drifts.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—An army of more than 100,000 workers including 60,000 schoolboys, has resumed the attack on the great snow drifts which for 48 hours tied up railroad traffic and caused what the health authorities termed an alarming shortage of fuel and milk. Everyone of the 27 steam railroads has resumed limited service but officials said it would be at least two days before normal passenger schedules could be established, and perhaps a week before freight trains could be run as usual.

MAY WAGE TRADE WAR ON TEUTONS

Americans Plan Threat of Boycott After War Unless Kaiser Quits.

WARNING NOW IS URGED

Present German Government Held Not Responsible to People—U. S. Chamber of Commerce Is Behind Movement.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States asks American business, in a referendum submitted to them, to pass upon a proposed warning to German industrial leaders that they cannot hope to resume friendly commercial relations with the United States after the war unless the German government has become a responsible instrument for the people.

It is proposed that the Germans be told that the United States, in common with other nations, supplied raw materials with which Germany made ready to start the world war, and that the lesson has been learned. Newspapers and business men of neutral countries will be relied upon to carry the message.

To Speak Bluntly.

"If the proposed action carries," says a statement from the chamber's headquarters, "the industrial leaders of Germany, who with the military party constitute the most powerful caste in Germany, will be bluntly told that Germany must choose a responsible government to conclude a just peace or suffer the consequences of an outlaw after the war.

"She will be denied economic intercourse with her best customer—the United States. The message could not fail of its purpose as Germany cannot hope for years to come to reestablish satisfactory trade relations with Great Britain, Italy or France.

Concerted Stand Urged.

"No single action by the United States can be calculated to go further than this proposed action of America's business men. It is more potent in its authority, perhaps, than any similar warning coming from official sources. The difference lies in the fact that Germany might doubt where Congress would sanction a treaty with the Allies for a trade boycott of Germany or that the people would abide by such a treaty were it made. This, on the other hand, would be a direct notice to German business men that the business men of America have taken a concerted stand to close trade to Germany as long as it remains an outlaw.

"The further fact should be borne in mind that the proposal to discriminate against German trade after the war is not at variance with the President's announced policy not to continue after the war policies which would engender hatred among the nations.

JOKER BANDIT SLAIN BY GIRL

Ordered Her to Hold Up Her Hands As Joke.

Minneapolis, Jan. 14.—E. F. Orr, a Great Northern switchman, was shot and instantly killed—a victim of his lifelong penchant for joking.

He had entered the office of P. McCoy Fuel company, to order coal. Mabel Drumater, stenographer, was counting the day's receipts. Orr jokingly told her to "throw up her hands." She took the order seriously, drew a revolver from her desk and shot him through the head.

When, some time later, she learned she had killed the man, instead of wounding him, as she had supposed, she collapsed.

MEXICAN MISSION TO JAPAN

A Pacific Port, Jan. 14.—A Japanese ship carrying a mission sent by President Carranza of Mexico to Japan for the alleged purpose of negotiating a treaty between the two countries and also arranging for the purchase by Mexico from Japan of arms and ammunition for the Mexican army has arrived in port here, according to a local paper. The mission, according to the newspaper, is headed by Juan T. Burns, said to have been former Mexican consul general of New York, where he was indicted, it was said, for his alleged connection with passport frauds and liberated on $10,000 bonds.

Mexican Storm Kills Score.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 13.—The blizzard sweeping the southwest extends far into northern Mexico and, combined with scarcity of food and fuel, is causing the death of scores in Chihuahua and other border states, according to reports reaching here.

20,000 in Vienna Food Riot.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Food rioting in Vienna on New Year's day is described in a dispatch received here from Switzerland today. The authorities announced that 500 Serbian pigs would be put on sale at 75 cents a pound. More than 20,000 people assembled outside the market, the most of them remaining throughout the New Year's eve in intense cold for the chance to buy. In the morning, the dispatch says, the crowd lost its patience, broke through the police lines and invaded the market

WEST STRUGGLES IN STORM'S GRIP

Thousands Working to Rescue Chicago from Blanket of Drifted Snow.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR WEEK; CHILDREN WORK IN STREET

Railroads Sunday Night Dispatched First Trains Since Storm Began—Resumption of Traffic Is Slow.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Hundreds of thousands of volunteer workers in Chicago and thousands of laborers employed by the city and by railroads yesterday began the work of rescuing Chicago and the middle west from the terrific storm which swept over this section Friday and Saturday, tieing up transportation facilities for 24 hours and threatening food and fuel shortages in many cities. Railroads entering Chicago last night dispatched their first outgoing trains since the storm began.

Reports from outlying territory indicate that a majority of the scores of trains stalled in the snow drifts Saturday gradually were proceeding toward their destinations and that today, with clear weather, all lines would be open. Several through trains from the east and a few from the west arrived yesterday, 24 to 36 hours late.

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy closed all local freight yards, so as to release the men for work in clearing tracks. The Chicago switch yards were opened and scores of freight stock trains blocked on the outskirts of the city were brought in during the day.

Railroad officials announced that the usual number of trains could not be operated before tonight. The ones sent out last night were made up late in the afternoon and sent out whenever it was thought there was a chance for them to get through.

Local Deliveries Delayed

In Chicago the situation, although improving, is still foreboding. Despite the efforts of the thousands of men, women and children who worked from early morning until late last night, it still is impossible to make deliveries in many sections. The city has been practically without milk since Saturday, and dairies reported that only preferred deliveries—to hospitals and to houses where there are children—would be made today.

Schools Closed—Children Help

Schools will be closed this week until the streets are cleared, releasing some 60,000 children for work in shoveling snow.

EUGENE WALLA NOT GUILTY

Auto Vehicle Clerk Acquitted on Shortage Charge.

MANDAN, N. D., Jan. 14.—Eugene M. Walla, former chief clerk in the automobile registration department of Secretary of State Thomas Hall's office, was on Saturday found not guilty of the embezzlement of funds of the department, amounting to $3,400 as charged in a complaint sworn out some time ago by Attorney General Wm. Langer. Mr. Walla was charged with the offense jointly with his chief, Mr. Hall, whose trial terminated in a prompt acquittal which was found by the jury after ten minutes deliberation and announced on Christmas morning.

The case of Mr. Walla was transferred to Morton county for trial, the evidence closely following that submitted in the trial of Mr. Hall. The case lasted four days, and the jury agreed on an acquittal of the registration clerk after deliberating less than one hour.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS BANK RAID

Army Captain Slays Self After Sensational Robbery.

Camp Funston, Kan., Jan. 13.—With the finding late yesterday of the body of Captain Lewis R. Whisler of Salina, Kan., in his tiny office at the national army cantonment here, the last chapter was written in the bloody story of the looting of the army bank and the murder of four men and serious wounding of a fifth. The murders were committed with a hand axe.

Captain Whisler killed himself, firing two shots from a regulation army service rifle into his head. The first bullet glanced downward through one cheek, but the other lodged in his brain. The suicide followed a general order instructing all captains at the cantonment to report and have their finger prints taken.

Idaho Senator Is Dead

Washington, Jan. 14.—Senator James H. Brady of Idaho died at his home last night from heart disease. He suffered an acute attack a week ago Saturday, while on his way to Washington from Idaho, and has been in a critical state since. The senator's wife and several relatives were at his bedside. His two sons, S. E. Brady of Chandler, Okla., and J. Robb Brady of Kansas, were on a train from the west trying to reach Washington in time to see their father alive. Senator Brady was 56 years old, a native of Pennsylvania, but moved to Kansas when a boy, and to Idaho in 1895. He was a Republican.

Bolsheviki Reconcile Ukraine

Petrograd, Jan. 14.—The threatened food shortage in northern Russia promises to be averted through the reconciliation of the Bolsheviki and the Ukraine. M. Barakroff, member of the Petrograd food supply committee, has just returned from Kiev, where he conferred with the Ukrainian authorities, who say that they are willing to provide Petrograd with an unlimited supply of breadstuffs on a basis of half cash and half merchandise. M. Barakroff says that the Ukraine guarantees to supply 3,000,000 pounds of bread within sixty days.

Back Lame and Achy?

Messengers of Death.

There are about 200 separate and distinct kinds of shells fired from German guns, and each and every one of them has been given at least one nickname by the Tommies, according to London Tit-Bits. Some of them have been given several.

The biggest kind of high explosive shells, for instance, are known indifferently as "Dirty Dicks," "Jack Johnsons," "Coal Boxes," "Flower Pots," "Crumps," "Black Peters" or "Whistling Willies."

The smaller kind are "Black Marias" and "Woolly Bears," according to whether the smoke they emit when bursting is black, or white with a yellowish tinge.

High explosive shrapnel and trench mortar shells are respectively "whizz-bangs" and "pip-squeaks," from their habit of giving only those warnings of their approach. "Archibalds" are anti-aircraft shells. Ordinary shrapnel projectiles are "Little Willies."

TWO DOLLAR WHEAT

This Price Will Hold For Some Years.

A well advised commercial authority gives it as his opinion, "as a slow, descent may be counted on in the prices for grain when the war ends—it may take several years to restore the world's stock of foodstuffs to normal—there is good ground for confidence in the outlook for rapid development in agriculture."

If this be correct, it follows that the profession of farming will materially increase its ranks in the next few years.

Today, the price of wheat is set by the United States government at $2.20 per bushel, and in Canada the price has been set at $2.21. This, of course, is less freight and handling charges which brings the average to the farmers at about $2.00 per bushel. This price will pay so long as land, material and labor can be secured at reasonable prices. It remains for the would-be producer to ascertain where he can secure these at prices that will make the production of grain profitable. He will estimate what price he can afford to pay for land that will give him a yield of wheat which when sold at $2.00 per bushel, will return him a fair profit. Local and social conditions will also enter into the consideration. Finding what he wants he would be wise to make his purchase now. Land prices in some portions of the country are low, certainly as low as they will ever be. City property and town property will fluctuate, but farm property will hold its own. The price of grain is as low as it will be for some years. Therefore it would be well to look about, and find what can be done.

There are doubtless many opportunities in the United States, especially in the Western States, to purchase good agricultural lands, that will produce well, at reasonable prices. If the would-be buyer has the time to investigate, and that is needed, for these lands do not exist in any considerable area, he would be well repaid. Not only will his land certainly increase in value—the unearned increment would be an asset—while under cultivation he can find nothing that will give better results. He will at the same time be performing a patriotic act, a needful act, one that would meet with the food controller's plea to increase agricultural production and assist in reducing the deficit of 75 million bushels of wheat reported by the controller.

In addition to the vacant lands in the United States which should be brought under cultivation, Western Canada offers today the greatest area of just the land that is required, and at low prices—prices that cannot last long. Even now land prices are increasing, as their value is daily becoming more apparent, and their location desirable.

As to the intrinsic value of land in Western Canada, hundreds of concrete cases could be cited, which go to prove that at fifty and sixty dollars per acre—figures that have recently been paid for improved farms—the crops grown on them gave a profit of from twenty to thirty per cent and even higher, on such an investment. One instance, is that of a young Englishman, unaccustomed to farming before he took his seat on the sulky plow with which he does most of his work, after allowing himself $1,000 for his own wages last year, made a profit of $2,200 on a $20,000 investment. His total sales amounted to $5,700 and his expense, which included the $1,000 wages for himself, was $3,500. The interest was 11½ per cent.

To the man who does not care to buy or who has not the means to purchase, but possesses wealth in his own hardihood, his muscle, and determination, there are the thousands of free homesteads of which he may have the pick on paying an entry fee of ten dollars. These are high class lands and adapted to all kinds of farming. Send to your nearest Canadian Government Agent for literature, descriptive of the splendid opportunities that are still open in Western Canada. Adv.

Last year, during the first four days in January, the Bemidji postoffice did over $400 worth of stamp business, while during the first four days of this year the office did over $700 worth.

Five thousand and eighty children were born in St. Paul in 1917, according to the report of births completed in the Health department. This is the smallest number in the past four years.

F. H. Shoemaker, who represented the National Nonpartisan league at a meeting held at Walters, pleaded guilty to charges of using indecent and abusive language, tending to provoke assault and was fined $10 and costs.

Two Indian boys from the Flandreau Indian School were captured at Pipestone while running away from the institution. The boys were bound for their home in the northern part of the state and said that they wanted to go hunting.

K. T. Stavn, a 71-year-old bachelor near Willmar, was found dead in a 30-foot well on his farm by boys coming from a party. A ladder with a broken rung in the well indicates that Stavn had gone down to make some repairs and fell into the water when the ladder broke.

There is no law existing which permits soldiers absent from the state to vote at Minnesota elections, according to a statement of Julius A. Schmahl, secretary of state, who said that the socalled absent voter law is inoperative in the case of soldiers. Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith said the soldier vote cannot be taken under any existing laws.

A farm crop survey of Minnesota may be made by town assessors during their canvasses next spring, preliminaries in that direction having been discussed at a special conference at the Capitol. The scheme is similar to that proposed to the State Public Safety Commission last year and this time probably will be carried out under the direction of A. D. Wilson, state food administrator.

Fairmont is proud of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Thieman, who were born in Germany. Mrs. Thieman has knit 24 pairs of socks for the Red Cross and 21 pairs for the boys of E company, 136th infantry. They have two sons in E company and a third in the National army. In the windows of their home are a service flag, a Red Cross emblem and a food conservation card. The Stars and Stripes fly from the roof.

A proposal for abolishment of both the state forestry and timber boards and creation of a new state board to administer laws relating to state owned timber was referred to a committee of five to be appointed by Governor Burnquist and include members of both bodies at a joint meeting of the present boards. Recommendations will be considered at another joint conference and finally presented to the legislature of 1919.

The new city hall at Breckenridge was formally opened to the public with a municipal ball, music for the event being furnished by an orchestra from Fergus Falls. The Breckenridge chapter of the Red Cross served the refreshments.

Federal appropriations of $76,000 having been expended to date on draft expenses in Minnesota, Maj. H. L. Brady, Federal property and disbursing officer, announced that a new allowance of $55,000 will be made available in a few days.

It was the irony of fate that brought death to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Liflin, each 80 years old, at Lake City within the same day. Both were among the oldest residents of Wabasha county, having lived there more than half a century. They died on their wedding anniversary.

The Nonpartisan league meeting, scheduled for Wells, which aroused much feeling and open threats of violence, should the meeting be held, was held on the property of the Farmers' Co-operative Creamery company, out of doors. No seditious utterances were reported. About 100 farmers attended. The loyalty meeting planned to offset the Nonpartisan gathering, attracted the larger crowd. Delegates from all parts of the county, aggregating more than 500 persons, were in attendance.

A new file was established in the office of the Ramsey county register of deeds office when a wedding contract, the first of the kind to be recorded in this state, was placed on file. The contract contained the signatures of Veronica Mihalyi of St. Paul and George Davis, also of St. Paul, now a member of One Hundred and Fifty-first field artillery serving in France. The contract with Miss Mihalyi's signature affixed followed Davis to the trenches, where he signed, in the presence of the captain and adjutant of his regiment.

The Minnesota Federation of County Fairs held its annual meeting at the capitol. The session closed with an annual dinner at the St Francis hotel, St. Paul. President George E. Hanscom, St. Cloud, and Treasurer C. F. Serline, Mora, were re-elected by members of the federation. F. F. Hall, New Auburn, was elected secretary and F. F. Millard, Canby, was chosen vice president. C. W. Bouck, Royalton, was elected to succeed the late J. H. O'Neil, Park Rapids on the directorate and other members, whose terms expired, were re-elected.

WEEKLY POTATO DAYS ARE URGED

Administrator Wilson Says Minnesota Crop Must Be Utilized By Consumer.

TO VISIT STATE TROOPS

Delegation From Safety Commission to Go To Camps Cody and Dodge Soon to See Minnesota Soldiers.

St. Paul.

Inauguration of a potato day each week by grocers of the state on which special prices for potatoes would be made, and the co-operation of housewives to purchase enough potatoes to last them through the week on such days, would utilize last year's crop to the advantage of the consumer, distributor and grower, says A. D. Wilson, state food administrator.

"It is necessary now as a war measure, for everyone to eat potatoes and to purchase them in fairly regular quantities each week," Mr. Wilson says. "In this way, distribution would be regular everywhere during the next five or six months."

As a result of the food production campaign of last spring, Minnesota planted one of its largest acreages and raised one of its largest potato crops. It now rests with the housewife to use the potato freely in her home or a great part of the value of the crop will be wasted, it was said.

To Visit Minneapolis Troops.

Governor Burnquist, Attorney General Smith and Commissioner March have been designated to visit the military training camps in which more than 16,000 Minnesota men are in training.

"The idea is to obtain first hand knowledge of actual conditions in the camps, although no complaints have been received," Secretary H. W. Libby explained. "The commission wished to keep in touch with the Minnesota boys and show them that the state is behind them."

Governor Burnquist said that because of the commission's action, Adjutant General Rhinow probably will abandon his proposed trip to Camp Cody to investigate criticisms made by a St. Paul clothier, who recently visited there.

May Send Member to France

A member of the public safety commission may be sent to France to receive the vote of Minnesota men there, and arrangements will be made to enable the Minnesota men in the American camps to exercise their right of franchise, according to proposals discussed at a recent meeting. Only the preliminaries were considered, however, as many legal questions remain to be answered, the secretary said, before any definite action can be taken. It is expected, however, that the plan can be put into operation without enactment of amendments to election laws which would necessitate an extra session of the legislature.

Pool Room Plea Denied.

The offer of pool room proprietors to donate a new ambulance monthly to the Red Cross, on condition that they are permitted to keep open until mid night and from noon until 11 P. M on Sundays, failed to influence the state safety commission to change its recent early closing order.

The commission also denied the petition of a delegation of Blooming Prairie citizens, including four saloonkeepers, for repeal of the commission order limiting liquor sales there to quantities consumed in the saloons.

Guard Against Carelessness.

C. C. Pierson, director of the division of records, has reported to the state board of health that large losses of state-supplied anti-toxin are suffered through carelessness on the part of local health officers, acting as distribution agents With a view to correcting the condition, the board authorized Dr. H M. Bracken, executive officer to withdraw supplies from careless health officers, and appoint druggists or town officers as distributing agents.

Many Aliens Bear Firearm.

On Aug. 1, a law went into effect in Minnesota, making it illegal for aliens to hunt in this state, or to have in their possession firearms of any kind, but this does not apply to persons of foreign birth who have taken out their first papers. Under this act, the game wardens have prosecuted and convicted fifty-one persons for illegal possession of firearms and have confiscated 135 firearms of various kinds from aliens.

Organizes Social Disease Division

The State Board of Health created a division on venereal disease and then discussed proposed regulation under which those diseases would be reported to the board and quarantined. Dr. H. G. Irvine, Minneapolis, was elected head of the new division, which will work in connection with the state commission on social hygene recently appointed by Governor Burnquist. Dr. Egil Boeckmann was elected president of the board of health and Dr. Christopher Graham, was re elected vice president.

ALL MEN AT HOME SHOULD PREPARE FOR WAR

The first test a man is put thru for either war or life insurance is an examination of his water. This is most essential because the kidneys play a most important part in causing premature old age and death. The more injurious the poisons passing thru the kidneys the sooner comes decay—so says Dr. Pierce of Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., who further advises all people who are past thirty to preserve the vitality of the kidneys and free the blood from poisonous elements, such as uric acid—drink plenty of water—sweat some daily and take Anuric, double strength, before meals.

This An-u-ric is a late discovery of Dr. Pierce and is put up in tablet form, and can be obtained at almost any drug store for 60 cents. For that backache, lumbago, rheumatism, "rusty" joints, swollen feet or hands, due to uric acid in the blood. Anuric quickly dissolves the uric acid. Take a little Anuric before meals and prolong your life. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package of Anuric.

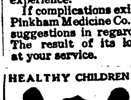
HOW THIS NERVOUS WOMAN GOT WELL

Told by Herself. Her Sincerity Should Convince Others.

Christopher, Ill.—"For four years I suffered from irregularities, weakness, nervousness, and was in a run down condition. Two of our best doctors failed to do me any good. I heard so much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others, I tried it and was cured. I am no longer nervous, am regular, and in excellent health. I believe the Compound will cure any female trouble."—Mrs. ALICE HELLER, Christopher, Ill.

Nervousness is often a symptom of weakness or some functional derangement, which may be overcome by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as thousands of women have found by experience.

If complications exist, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for suggestions in regard to your ailment. The result of its long experience is at your service.



HEALTHY CHILDREN come from healthy mothers. And mothers will certainly be healthy if they'll take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Nothing can equal it in building up a woman's strength, in regulating and assisting all her natural functions, and in putting in perfect order every part of the female system. It lessens the pains and burdens, supports and strengthens weak, nursing mothers.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic. All druggists sell the tablets for 60c.

Castor oil is good for children or adults, and especially good for aged people. A pleasant form of a vegetable laxative that is to be had at any drug store, was invented by Dr. Pierce, who put together May-apple (podophyllin), aloes, jalap. Ask at any drug store for "Pleasant Pellets," and they can be had for little money. They contain no calomel and are of vegetable constituents, therefore harmless.

RUSS ASSEMBLY FORCED TO QUIT

Bolshevik Government Dissolves Constituent Body for Offensive Attitude.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN MOSCOW DRAW FIRE OF GUARD

All Russian Railway Men's Organization Asked Government by Assembly—Statement by Japanese Embassy.

Petrograd, Jan. 21.—The constituent assembly has been dissolved by the Bolshevik authorities, it is officially announced. Sailors and guards closed the assembly at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, and a decree of dissolution was reported as due to be issued during the day. The text of the official statement reads:

"When the constituent assembly voted against the declaration made by the president of the central executive committee after an hour's deliberation, the Bolsheviki left the hall and were followed by the social revolutionists of the left, on the assembly showing its unwillingness to approve the manner in which the peace pour parlois were being conducted. At 4 o'clock this morning, the constituent assembly was dissolved by sailors. Today a decree dissolving the assembly will be published."

First Hint Given Saturday

The first hint the newspaper men received that extreme measures were contemplated was at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, when they were informed that the Tauride palace, where the assembly began its sessions, would be closed to the members of the assembly, to newspaper men and to everyone during the day.

Meanwhile the all-Russian railway men's congress has passed by a vote of 273 to 61, a resolution supporting the constituent assembly and calling upon the people's commissioners to agree with the majority with a view to the formation of a government responsible to the assembly.

From Moscow it is reported that many persons were wounded and others killed as the result of the Red Guard firing on demonstrators there in favor of the constituent assembly.

The Japanese embassy here in an official statement made denial of the reports that Japanese forces had been landed at Vladivostok.

BRESLAU SUNK; GOEBEN OUT

Famous German Cruisers Meet Fate in Dardanelles.

Washington, Jan. 21.—After an adventurous career of nearly three and a half years in fighting and raiding operations in the Black sea, it is announced from London, the famous former German cruisers Goeben and Breslau have met their fate at the hands of British warships in a fight at the entrance of the Dardanelles. The Breslau, renamed Midullu, was sunk, and the Goeben, rechristened Sultan Selim, was beached. The two cruisers escaped into Turkish waters shortly after the outbreak of the war, and were purchased by the Turks. The statement issued by the British admiralty says: "The Goeben and Breslau with destroyers were in action with the British forces at the entrance of the Dardanelles Sunday morning. The Breslau was sunk.

DANIELS PRAISES BOATSWAIN

Sailors From Torpedoed Armenia Officially Commended.

Washington, Jan. 21. — Secretary Daniels last night commended for devotion to duty Chief Boatswain's mate Stief Homiak and his men of the naval guard aboard the American steamer Armenia which was torpedoed early in December, but was taken safely to port, the naval personnel aiding in saving the ship. The bluejackets stood at their guns and even offered to go down to the engine room to drive the vessel for shore after many of the crew had left in the ship's boats. Homiak, in his report, warmly commended his men as well as the navy radio operator, Brown, who without orders kept sending "S. O. S." calls until the dynamo was shut down, when he went to the bridge and kept up communications with the convoying destroyer.

GENERAL STRIKE IN AUSTRIA

Report Says 100,000 Men Quitting and War Industries Closed.

London, Jan. 21.—A general strike is on throughout Austria, according to an Exchange agency dispatch from Paris, which reports 100,000 men quitting work in Vienna and Neustadt, closing down all the war factories. The strikers are described as openly anti-German and the movement as both political and economic and especially aimed at securing peace. Public demonstrations, it is added, have been held in many places at which hostility was voiced towards Berlin for trying to force the Austrians to continue the war.

Federal Arbitrator Quits Job

Chicago, Jan. 21.—John E. Williams' resignation as federal arbitrator of labor disputes arising in the packing industries, was announced yesterday at a meeting of the Chicago Federation of Labor, by William Foster, secretary of the stockyards labor council.

Pershing Reported as to Wed

Paris, Jan. 21.—Excelsior yesterday printed a photograph of Miss Anita Patton of San Marino, Cal., and says it is reported that she is engaged to General John J. Pershing, commander of the American forces in France

STRIKE SWEEPS DUAL MONARCHY

100,000 Men Quit Work in Munition Plants in Austria-Hungary.

LID CLAMPED ON NEWS

German Pressure Causes Serious Upheaval and Starts Move by Workers Aimed at Securing Peace.

London Jan. 22.—According to an Exchange telegraph dispatch from Paris a general strike is on throughout Austria, 100,000 men having been reported as quitting work in Vienna and Neustadt, closing down all the war factories.

The strikers are described as openly anti-German and the movement as both political and economic and especially aimed at securing peace.

Public demonstrations, it is added, have been held in many places at which hostility was voiced toward Berlin for trying to force the Austrians to continue the war.

Austria in Turmoil.

Amsterdam, Jan. 21.—Sparks of sedition are spluttering behind the hermetically sealed frontiers of Austria-Hungary, threatening at any moment to whip the empire-wide discontent into flames of open revolt.

So widespread and intense is this discontent that the very troops detailed to keep the borders closed and the news from filtering through are instrumental in keeping the world posted on the progress of Bolshevism in the Hapsburg domain.

Strikes and riots, mutinies and peace demonstrations, are the order of the day. Some of the largest plants are effected and the prospect of an empire-wide munitions strike looms large.

Vienna, Budapest and Prague are hotbeds of radical propaganda.

Four Factors Responsible.

Four factors were quoted here as the underlying causes of the Austro-Hungarian unrest:

1. Food and fuel are scarcer and dearer than ever before.

2. Ninety per cent of Austrians and Hungarians are intensely hostile and bitter against German, whom they accuse of delaying peace. Fearing absolute vassalage to Berlin, they clamor for peace now, lest Germany aggrandize herself by further conquests in the West.

3. The speeches by Lloyd George and President Wilson and the peace aims of the British Labor party have raised the cry among the alien races: "Our enemies promise to give us what our own government refuses to grant—independence."

4. The Austrian industrial world fears a war after the war, if the conflict lasts beyond spring.

HUGE AIR FLEET PLANNED

Congress To Be Asked To Double Last Appropriation.

Washington, Jan. 22.—More than $1,000,000,000, nearly twice as much as the last $640,000,000 appropriation, is to be asked from congress by Major General George O. Squier to continue the nation's airplane program. The exact figure Gen. Squire will submit is $1,032,294,260 for aviation with approximately $105,000,000 extra for signal corps work. He will go before the house military affairs committee at once.

It is probable the hearing will be behind closed doors. Particular interest will be shown in progress already made, including number of completed machines, number of fliers trained and in training, development of the Liberty motor and outlook for quantity of standardized parts.

American plans to increase the army's air strength follow information that Germany has been busy developing a new aircraft program.

ARGENTINA REJECTS DONOFF

Action May Mean Open Break With Berlin Government.

Buenos Aires, Jan. 22.—Argentina has rejected Count Donoff, now acting secretary of the German legation here, as successor to Count Luxburg. This action, it is believed in political circles, man mean the first step toward an open break with Germany.

The German government, through the Argentine minister at Berlin, proposed Count Donoff as envoy plenipotentiary to the Argentine government, and at the same time made representations regarding the detention of Count Luxburg on the Island of Martin Garcia.

Spoormann to Military Prison.

Baltimore, Jan. 22.—Walter Spoermann, 31 years old, who was arrested some days ago near Langley aviation field, Va., by agents of the department of justice, and who was brought to this city last week on the charge of violating his alien enemy permit, has been taken from the city jail and sent to a prison camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. He was received as a military prisoner aboard a military train with 35 other alien enemies who were on their way to prison camps from other parts of the country.

WILSON DEFENDS GARFIELD'S ACT

President Declares That Fuel Restriction Order Was Absolute Necessity.

RELIEF WILL RESULT

Asks Response of People To Necessities of This Kind As They Have To Every Other Sacrifice In War.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Breaking his silence on the coal situation President Wilson issued a statement defending the drastic action by Fuel Administrator Garfield. He said:

"I was, of course, consulted by Mr. Garfield before the fuel order was issued and fully agreed with him that it was necessary, much as I regretted the necessity. This war calls for many sacrifices, and sacrifices of the sort called for by this order are infinitely less than sacrifices of life which might otherwise be involved.

Necessities for Action.

"It is absolutely necessary to get the ships away, it is absolutely necessary to relieve the congestion at the port and upon the railways, it is absolutely necessary that our people should be warmed in their homes if nowhere else, and half way measures would not have accomplished the desired end. If action such as this had not been taken we should have limped along from day to day with a slowly improving condition of affairs with regard to the shipment of food or coal, but without such immdiate relief as has become absolutely necessary because of the congestions of traffic which have been piling up for the last few months.

Results Will Justify.

"I have every confidence that the result of the action of this sort will justify it and that the people of the country will loyally and patriotically respond to necessities of this kind as they have to every other sacrifice involved in the war. We are upon a war footing and I am confident that the people of the United States are willing to observe the same sort of discipline that might be involved in the actual conflict itself."

HAVE PLANS TO STOP LEAKS

War Trade Board Would Control Coal for Ships.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Drastic regulations governing the supplying of fuel coal and stores to vessels at American ports, designed, through control of neutral shipping, to shut off the channel through which Germany and its allies have been receiving information from agents in this country, as well as to prevent them from receiving goods from America, are made public by the war trade board. They become effective February 1.

As a condition to receiving fuel and supplies for their vessels, owners or charterers of neutral ships must sign an agreement with the war trade board, the officers and crews of ships; their destinations; their cargoes; use of their wireless and their sale or transfer.

BREAK IN FOE RANKS SEEN

Dual Monarchy's Food Reserve Exhausted 3 Months After Harvest.

Geneva, Jan. 20—Reports of a grave character regarding the situation in Austria-Hungary are in circulation here. The plain facts face the authorities and people, that barely three months after the gathering in of the harvest, food reserves are exhausted.

The latest issue of the socialistic Arbeiter Zeitung reaching here says not a kilogram of flour remains in reserve in Vienna. The capital is living from hand to mouth on the daily importations of foodstuffs from the country districts.

Well informed observers of Austrian affairs believe the dual monarchy really is on the eve of a long predicted, long postponed internal crisis which may have far reaching results.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The bill to create a war council of three civilian members was approved by the senate military committee and will be introduced in the senate. Proposals to include the secretaries of war and navy were defeated.

Allies' Sugar Supply Assured.

Washington, Jan. 21.—President Menocal of Cuba, by decree, has permitted distribution throughout the world of the entire Cuban cane crop by the international sugar committee which works with the food administration.

Urges Unemployed as Railroad Labor.

New York, Jan. 21.—A suggestion that idle labor, thrown out of work by Dr. Garfield's sweeping coal conservation order, be employed in moving freighters, was given to eastern rail-railroads by A. H. Smith, assistant to the director general of railroads. Smith in a telegram to railway heads, said he had been informed the closing regulations did not forbid the loading and unloading of cars at warehouses and terminals. The constructive point in Dr. Garfield's order, he said, was that cars emptied for other work.

CHANGED TO TEARS OF JOY

Jews Need No Longer Weep Bitterness at the Wall of Wailing in Jerusalem.

Strange sights must have been witnessed within the last few days at the wall of wailing in Jerusalem, the place of lamentation where for generations Jews have congregated to bewail the sorrows of their race.

Tears of joy that Jerusalem is at last freed from the Mohammedan clutch must have fallen upon stones that have been so often wet with tears of grief.

Many visitors from America have threaded their way through dark and dirty alleys to the small paved area where the Jews of Jerusalem have lamented their heritage. The wall is said to be the ancient retaining wall of Solomon's temple, the nearest place to the Holy of Holies that the Mohammadan masters allowed the Jews to approach.

Here every day, and especially on Fridays, the mourners leaned against the great stones of the wall, wept and chanted their litanies. Their sincerity was unquestionable. The stones were literally wet with tears and there was no mistaking the sorrow that shook their voices as they repeated the seventy-ninth psalm, with its somber opening.

"O God, the heathen are come into Thine inheritance; Thy Holy Temple have they defiled; they have laid Jerusalem in heaps."—Boston Post.

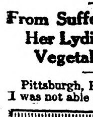
From Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused backache and headaches. A friend called my attention to one of your newspaper advertisements and immediately my husband bought three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me. After taking two bottles I felt fine and my troubles caused by that weakness are a thing of the past. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JAS. ROHRBERG, 620 Knapp St., N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.



Women who suffer from any form of weakness, as indicated by displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues," should accept Mrs. Rohrberg's suggestion and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a thorough trial.

For over forty years it has been correcting such ailments. If you have mysterious complications write for advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

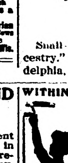
OUR BOYS IN FRANCE AND HOME PROTECTION

The men on the firing line represent the pick of our American youth. One in four of our boys at home was sick, rejected because of physical deficiency. Many times the kidneys were to blame.

If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says that you should drink plenty of water daily before meals. Then procure at your nearest drug store Anuric (double strength). This An-u-ric drives the uric acid out and cures backache and rheumatism.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition a diet of milk and vegetables, with only little meat once a day, is the most suitable. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anuric three times a day for a month.

Step into the drug store and ask for a sixty-cent package of Anuric, or send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial pkg. Anuric, many times more potent than lithia, eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar. A short trial will convince you.



WITHIN THE REACH of every woman—health and strength. They're brought to you by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Take this medicine, and there's a safe and certain remedy for all the chronic weaknesses, derangements, and diseases peculiar to the sex. It will build up, strengthen, and invigorate every "run-down" or delicate woman. It regulates and assists all the natural functions.

At some period in her life a woman requires a special tonic and nervine.

If you're a tired or afflicted woman turn to "Favorite Prescription," you will find it never fails to benefit. Sold in tablet or liquid form. Tablets 60c.

You will escape many ills and clear up the coated tongue, the sallow complexion, the dull headache, the lazy liver, if you will take a pleasant laxative made up of the May-appple, juice of the leaves of aloes, root of jalap, and called Dr. Pierces Pleasant' Pellets. Although they have not yet been officially notified of the Minnesota Safety board's order prohibiting shipments of liquor into Clay county Minnesota, Sheriff Dan McDonald has issued an order prohibiting express companies from making any further deliveries of liquor The order, it was said, would not only be a powerful weapon in dealing with illicit liquor traffic here, but it will prevent importation of spirits into North Dakota, which has in the past found its way across the border despite the federal and North Dakota "bone dry" laws.

STATE CAPITOL TO CUT USE OF FUEL

Measures Inaugurated Which Are Expected To Cut Coal Bill One-Third.

M'GEE DEFENDS ORDER

Tells Brick Manufacturers Things About Coal Prices and Conditions—Says Profiteers Should Face Firing Squad.

St. Paul.

Fuel economy measures expected to reduce coal consumption by fully one-third at the state capitol were inaugurated at a conference between Gustaf Lindquist, secretary to Governor Burnquist; Chief Engineer Alex Nicoll and Secretary J. H. Schoonmaker of the department of public property. Closer regulations of cold air intakes and the closing of north entrances and of the house and senate chambers were the chief orders made.

The heating and lighting plant is consuming an average of fourteen tons of coal a day at $8.35 a ton. On cold days the consumption is as high as nineteen tons a day.

Reports showed that about four tons of coal a day is required to heat the new State Historical Society building.

Officials may decide to close the capitol all day Saturdays.

Defends Garfield Order.

John F. McGee, fuel administrator for Minnesota, told the brick and tile makers of the Northwest, at their convention the other day, something about coal prices and conditions.

"Transportation is the pricipal difficulty," he declared. "Some of the biggest kicks that come to me from outside of the large cities come from points where wood is abundant, from the heart of Minnesota's wood producing district.

"Take my word for it, there will not be the amount of coal moved to the Head of the Lakes this year that was moved last. It is going somewhere else to help win the war the United States and her allies are waging for the sake of civilization.

"The people of Minnesota have only the faintest idea of the importance and the severity of the struggle we are in. This morning from the time I arrived at my office, at 6 a. m., until I came over here to speak, I was literally stormed with people wanting special dispensations.

"A poolhall proprietor came up with a vehement kick. A dance hall proprietor came up and wanted to know if he couldn't be allowed to run in spite of the order. The phones were paralyzed with complaints They aren't alive to the fact that they're United States citizens.

"If they could see the tonnage piled up in warehouses along the seaboard, the food and supplies needed urgently by our troops and our allies on the other side, waiting until there is coal enough to run steamships, they might feel differently It is a fact that England little England after three years and more of war, has actually sent coal over here to run our ships so that supplies can be transported

In discussing the coal order Judge McGee asserted that if it needed further modification it would be forthcoming. In the meantime he urged the manufacturers to support the order without reservation. He welcomed anything that would help bring his boys home from the trenches sooner, he said

Dealers that extort large margins should be given immediate attention by a firing squad he asserted

NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS

The Heads of Canada's Western Provinces, and Their Message.

The United States having been in the great world's war for about nine months, the touch of war's spirit has permeated the great commonwealth, and in every hamlet and district is felt and shown the interest that was to be expected from a people whose love of liberty and justice rises supreme to all else. Day by day their appreciation of what it means to give up now for the future happiness of themselves and the generations that follow grows greater and greater. There will be losses of loved ones, but there will be no badge of mourning to indicate the great sorrow that will be felt. It is realized that the sacrifice is the toll that is demanded for making the whole world better, and, sensing this, there is preparation and willingness to sacrifice until the goal—the defeat and downfall of despotism—is assured. When the people look back, and see what Canada has done, and learn that Canada today is bigger and better than ever, they will take heart, and with increasingly growing vigor carry on with a greater courage. Canada has been in the war for three and a half years. She has sent 400,000 out of a population of eight million, she has subscribed to Victory Bonds over and over again and there is no sound of a whimper. At each demand that is made upon her resources, she meets it, and gets ready for the next. Recently her people were asked to subscribe $300,000,000. She handed over $460,000,000.

Having already contributed 400,000 soldiers, Canada was recently asked to approve of sending another 100,000. With a sweeping majority, consent was given.

How the war affects Canada is best shown by the willingness of the people to contribute. They, too, realize the great and noble part they are taking in this great conflict. They are a unit on making the world better. Canada's wealth was never shown to better advantage than in the present struggle. It possesses great wealth in the soil, in its mines, its other natural resources, and wonderful riches in the tenacity and courage of its men and its women. The soil and the climate, and the hardihood and determination of the farming class to win, by cultivating and cultivating, growing wheat and raising cattle to build up the resources so necessary to carry on the war, are factors that will count.

Probably the best word of encouragement comes from the Premiers of the three great provinces where the bulk of the food products will come from. When one reads what these men, prominent in their country say, it gives inspiration. If there are any who may be pessimistic of the future, the message that these gentlemen send forward should remove all doubt. Three and a half years in the war, able to speak as they do, the future should look bright to those who may have their seasons of doubt!

Hon. T. C. Norris, Premier of Manitoba, says:

"Manitoba has prospered exceedingly during the year 1917, and the new year finds us not only still ready and willing, but unceasingly able to bear whatever burdens the fourth year of the war may bring

"Manitoba farmers generally speaking, have never been in better condition to carry on Out of her prosperity Manitoba is giving lavishly toward the winning of the war. Every appeal for funds has met with quick and generous response The people of the Province are well settled into the collar in all war efforts There's a spirit of determination, of willingness to make sacrifices, of confidence in the certain outcome, of which there is no room for pessimism. Manitoba will carry on."

Saskatchewan had a prosperous and successful year in 1917 and when Premier Martin sent out his New Year message it was filled with an optimism that was fully warranted.

"There is no doubt that the province today is in a better condition financially than ever before. True, the effects of the town and city real estate boom have not altogether passed away, but speaking generally, the farmers on the plains and the merchants in the towns are in a better financial position today than at any previous time. Our people are industrious and progressive.

"While we have in some portions of the Province a mixed population, education and scientific methods are making rapid strides and we are looking forward with every confidence to a glorious future and the development of a people on the central plains of Canada, of which the whole Dominion and the British Empire will have every reason to be proud."

While Alberta has given over to the war thousands of her virile manhood, thus taking from the farmer a large percentage of its producers, it still stands up big and buoyant The farm help thus temporarily removed means a demand for farm help and increased farm effort to till its highly productive acres. Hon Chas Stewart, Premier of Alberta, in a message to the people on the 1st of January, speaks with such buoyancy and hope of the future and so highly of the work of the past year, that his statement is reproduced He says:

"The prosperity of the farming communities is reflected in the towns and cities by increased wholesale business and bank clearances. Wholesalers report increases from 20 per cent to 25 per cent and their collections the best in the history of the Province. Alberta being essentially an agricultural Province at the present time, these conditions are a source of great gratification to our people, and no doubt will be to Canada as a whole—taking into consideration the fact that Alberta forms no small part of the granary to which the Empire at present looks as the source of its food supply."—Advertisement.

Body Terribly Swollen

Mr. Madara's Condition Was Critical Until Doan's Were Used. Health Was Restored.

"For six months I couldn't walk, I was so swollen as the result of kidney trouble," says Geo. T. Madara, 15 Mt. Vernon Ave., Pitman Grove, Camden, N. J.: "Backache drove me nearly wild and big lumps formed over each kidney. I bloated until I weighed 407 pounds, and I was a sight to behold. The water in my system pressed around my heart and I sometimes felt as if I was being strangled. The kidney secretions were scanty and contained a thick sediment.

Mr. Madara

"No one can imagine how I suffered. I finally went to the hospital, but when an operation was suggested I would not consent and came home.

"I heard how Doan's Kidney Pills had helped others, so I discarded all the other medicines and started taking them. The second day I began to improve and as I continued, my back stopped paining and the swelling went down. The other kidney troubles left, too, and I was soon as well as ever."

Everyone must help if we are to win. The soldier must obey orders or there will be no army. The people must be one or there will be no nation. So that we win, all must follow directions. This is your guide for use in Your Home.

It tells you what foods we must save to provision ourselves and our Allies; it tells how we can stretch our supplies so everyone will have enough—without any hurt to your health or your strength.

Your Government does not ask you to give up three square meals a day—nor even one. All it asks is that you eat less of the foods we need to keep the armies going and eat all you want of the other things that we have in plenty.

Eat plenty—keep up your strength and your vim to help win the war.

You have dedicated to the Nation everything that you have; you are ask now to give up—just some habits of the kitchen and table.

America and her Allies must not run out of WHEAT, MEAT, or FATS. If we let that happen, Germany will win the war. We must save SUGAR, use every drop of MILK, and —we must learn to FOLLOW DIRECTIONS

War Bread

Quick Cornmeal Bread

(Use more frequently than has been your habit.)

1 cup of milk, one egg, 1 tablespoon fat, 1-2 teaspoon salt 3-4 cup cornmeal, 1 and 1-4 cups of flour, 4 teaspoon baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar.—Method 1—Mix the milk, egg, and melted fat. Add to the dry materials which have been well mixed. Bake in a hot oven. The time will depend upon the thickness of the loaf.—2nd. Method—scald the cornmeal with the hot milk. Add egg and melted fat, and combine with dry ingredients. Bake in a hot oven.

Cornmeal Griddle Cakes

1 cup milk, 1 egg, 3-4 cup cornmeal 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt. Add beaten egg to milk, and add to dry ingredients which have been well mixed.

Everyone should plan on poultry raising so as to help out the shortage of meat and eggs. This plan is being strongly urged as the only solution of a great problem.

We expect to soon begin the publication of the story entitled "The Man without a Country," and want to urge everyone to read it as it is published in installments from week to week.

Anyone who enlisted in the army before Oct. 15th. must apply before Feb. 12th. to get government life insurance. Others must apply within 120 days from the date of their enlistment

All alien Germans must register with their postmasters during the week beginning Feb. 4th, and must also furnish four photos, of himself, printed on thin paper. All boys 14 years old and over must register.

Timber on state land will be sold direct to actual consumers for 25c a cord, to relieve the fuel shortage. Apply to Timber Dept., State Auditor's Office, giving legal description of land and amount of wood wanted.

A special committee of the Public Safety Commission, consisting of Gov. Burnquist, Col. March and Atty Gen. Smith left St. Paul Tuesday to visit Camps Dodge and Cody, where many Minnesoto soldiers are stationed at present.

The pupils in Mrs. L. C. Rudman's school purchased 15 Thrift Stamps and promised to buy 3 more. They have also signed a pledge of active devotion to their country. This is what we would term "A Patriotic School."

The report of the Red Cross Christmas Drive shows a total of 3251 members and donations brot the contributions up to $6709.27 Holt village has 51 new members to its credit and $127.50 in cash; Holt township has 36 members and $40.00 cash. Marshall county now has 4600 members and they want to double that number during the year of 1918.

Are You Eating To Win the War?

This Newspaper recommends Today's Housewife to every patriotic woman who wishes to help win the great war

Today's Housewife is especially needed by every homemaker in the present war-crisis, because the seven Courses in Domestic Science now running in the magazine help housewives to better select, prepare and conserve food supplies, to cut down waste, and at the same time to add to the health and welfare of the entire family.

Today's Housewife is the only magazine that maintains a model home where cookery recipes, new household devices, cleaning methods, etc., are put to practical tests before their appearance in the pages of the magazine.

The monthly lesson on "Cookery, Foods and Nutrition," under the direction of Caroline Hunt of the Department of Agriculture, is alone worth the price of a ten-year subscription not only to the woman who follows each lesson but to the government of the United States in helping to win the terrific war with the Central Empires of Europe.

Favorite Magazine of Home-loving Women

REMEMBER, better home-making is the ideal back of TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE, its reason for existence, its earnestly planned-for goal. Better homemaking in its largest sense, with the spiritual and mental no less than the material needs of the family in view; homemaking as the biggest of woman's opportunities rather than housekeeping as the most dreary of woman's drudgeries.

While Today's Housewife stands in a class by itself in its practical value to homemakers, it is also noteworthy for its wonderfully inspiring editorials and special articles, for its clean, delightful stories, and its beautiful illustrations and covers by leading artists. Over one million women agree that TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is worth several times the price of 10 cents per copy.

SUBSCRIBE AT OUR OFFICE

You can save 45 cents by subscribing by the year through us instead of buying single copies. Call at our office and examine the current issue or mail your (new or renewal) subscription to us at once. Remember, a year's subscription for only 75 cents for the magazine that would be cheap at $1.50.

Death of Aged Resident.

John Sanberg died Tuesday morning at the home of his son Olaf Jonhson. Mr. Sanberg had been confined to his bed for more than a year, during which time he was tenderly cared for by his aged wife, assisted by their son and his family. The deceased was about 86 years and six months old and was a well known and respected citizen. The funeral will be held at the home Saturday and burial will be made in the Folden cemetery. The News extends sincere sympathy to the sorrowing relatives.

From South Carolina

Following are some extracts from a letter written by Clarence Swan, who is stationed at Charleston:

"We get up at six A. M. and scrub the floor, clean up everything in our sleeping quarters and at 7:30 breakfast is served. We are ready to drill at 8 A. M. and keep it up until 11 o'clock, then wash and go to the mess hall for dinner, where 500 men can eat at the same time. They have 8 good cooks, so we get plenty of good things to eat. After dinner we have to wash our clothes and at 2:30 be ready to drill until 4:30, when our work is done for the day. At 5:30 we have supper and at 9 o'clock the bugle blows and the lights go out, after that everything has to be perfectly quiet.

There are guards all around the place and no one dares go out without a pass. I am to be on guard today, but no one ever gets in as far as our beats as we are all in the center. We have to keep clean at all times and take a bath three times a week. The doctor examines us a couple of times a week to see that there is nothing the matter with us, and we have to train every day.

Kind greetings to all friends and readers of this letter.

Back Given Out?

Housework is too hard for a woman who is half sick, nervous and always tired. But it keeps piling up, and gives weak kidneys no time to recover. If your back is lame and achy and your kidneys irregular; if you have "blue spells," sick headaches, nervousness, dizziness and rheumatic pains, use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have done wonders for thousands of worn out women.

A North Dakota Case

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

Mrs. L. J. Smith, 1 Phillip Court, Minot, N. D., says: "For a long time I suffered from kidney trouble. My back was stiff and lame and I had sharp shooting pains through my kidneys. There was a dull, bearing down pain through my loins and I had awful headaches and dizzy spells. My kidneys acted irregularly. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me a lasting cure."

WHERE HE DREW THE LINE

Driver of Balky Horse Would Not Stand for Any Witticism Directed at Quadruped.

A horse attached to a milk wagon deliberately tied up Herald square traffic recently by lying down in the middle of Sixth avenue and beginning what threatened to be a day-long siesta, muses a New York writer. The driver went about his arrangements deliberately. Evidently the horse's sleep-walking proclivities were as a primer to him. The principal ingredient of his preparations was a carefully selected torrent of language, and this soon brought an admiring crowd. But, as always in a crowd, there are those who know better. "Pull his tail," advised one, who wouldn't have dared do it himself. "Ever try building a fire under him?" suggested another. "Make a noise like a carrot," said the third wise man. And then came the blow that shattered the serenity of the driver. "Aw, get a real horse," sneezed an individual. Then it was that the driver turned and lunged savagely about him. By the time the police arrived to scatter the crowd the driver already had it in flight. And to the police he explained in fierce tones his creed of loyalty: "Dey can kid me all they wanter, see? But when dey tries to start somethin' about the horse—then I calls 'em. I won't stand for no man to kid me horse. See?"

Hard on Henry.

"I'm afraid Henry is going to be disappointed with army life," remarked Mr. Cobbles.

"Why so?"

"Henry was always dead set against manual labor, an' I understand all them trenches in Europe was dug by soldiers."

"There's a Reason"

TRADESMEN NEEDED IN SIGNAL CORPS

WILL BE ACCEPTED, ALTHOUGH REGISTERED, IF QUALIFIED ALONG CERTAIN LINES.

BOOKS FOR OUR FIGHTERS

More Than Half a Million Already Furnished Soldiers and Sailors by American Library Association—What the Hat Cord Denotes.

(From Committee on Public Information.)

Washington.—Men qualified along certain lines, although registered under the selective-service law, may be inducted into the land division of the Signal Corps, which is in need of men for the following duties:

Chauffeurs, motorcycle drivers, and gas engine repairmen for duty in field and telegraph battalions; telegraphers, both wire and radio; telephone men, including switchboard operators, telephone repairmen, and men skilled in testing and repairing telephone lines; telephone and telegraph linemen; photographers, still and moving; homing-pigeon men; radio men who are familiar with installing radio apparatus; men qualified as cooks, clerks, stenographers, blacksmiths, meteorologists, cobblers, cable men, etc.

Men inducted for this division, unless otherwise requested by the chief signal officer of the army, are sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

More than half a million books already have been furnished soldiers and sailors in training camps and in France by the American Library Association War Service, and the flow is steadily increasing, according to the director of this work.

A campaign for funds inaugurated by the association last autumn netted more than $1,500,000 and real results in the tangible shape of books and comfortable libraries are being felt by the soldiers and sailors. The Carnegie corporation gave $320,000 for the erection of camp libraries. Nearly all camps now have libraries and in the others the buildings are in course of construction. The reading rooms each accommodate 250 men.

For the men in France the association has organized distributing stations at all points of embarkation, where books are assorted for shipment abroad. Soon every soldier who steps on a transport will carry a book with him, which he and his companions will read on the way across, after which it will be forwarded to the men back of the trenches. No attempt will be made to establish libraries in France, but the association will have representatives there to supervise the work of distribution.

Just as the sleeve chevrons and bars, stars and eagles on the shoulder proclaims ranking officers, the hat cord denotes the branch of service each private has entered.

Light blue signifies infantry; scarlet, artillery; yellow, cavalry; buff, quartermasters corps; scarlet and white, engineers' corps; orange and white, signal corps; scarlet and black, ordnance; black and white, field clerk; maroon, medical corps; black and gold, officers; silver and black, adjutant general's clerk; green, instructor home guards; green and white, home guards. These cords are worn only on service hats.

Cadet aviators wear as hat bands inch and a half white ribbons and on coat collars insignia representing the aviation branch of the Signal corps, propeller blades.

There were 1,428,650 enlisted men and 110,865 officers in the United States army at the opening of 1918, more than one and a half times as large as any force ever before mobilized by this nation, according to a statement by Secretary of War Baker.

During the war with Spain the army of the United States at its maximum strength aggregated 272,000 men and officers. The army in the field and in training now is practically six times as great as the maximum number under arms in the Spanish-American war.

About 45,000 officers were commissioned from civil life in the two series of training camps, nearly eight times as many as the number of officers in the regular army April 1, 1917.

Postmasters are directed not to accept for shipment to members of expeditionary forces packages containing matches, cigar lighters, or solidified alcohol, including the preparation called "Sterno" or canned heat.

It is not deemed safe to admit these articles to mails for foreign countries or for United States naval vessels, including marines on shore in other countries.

Contractors working on orders for the navy are required to provide watchmen and devices to protect their plants and property and the work in progress against espionage, acts of war and of enemy aliens. Upon request they must report the citizenship, country of birth, or alien status of all employees.

A second training camp will be held at Porto Rico, starting February 1. The attendance of 400 will be selected from citizens and residents of Porto Rico.

The committee on public information has made the following translation of an article appearing in the Bremer Buerger-Zeitung:

"A soldier's wife who had gathered wood in the common forest of Waldkirch, near Freiburg in Breisgau, was sentenced for the offense in the following terms:

"'Mrs. Clara Ganter, on June 13, 1917, has removed from the common forest of Waldkirch, Sec. I 23, one fagot of dry fir twigs of the value of 10 pfenning. In punishment thereof she is sentenced to a fine of 1 mark and one day's imprisonment.'

"The husband of the culprit has been for three years at the front, she herself has four small children to support in the direst poverty. Similar reports of punishment should be reported in greater numbers. Our bureaucracy understands how to employ this period of shortage of wood and coal on a large scale for the benefit of the treasury."

In a bulletin on the employment of women in the storage and warehousing depots of the United States army is the following:

"The census of 1910 reported that of every 100 men and boys ten years of age and over, only 19 were not gainfully employed. This group of 19 included old men not able to work, children too young to work, the sick and handicapped, and men in schools and colleges.

"Assuming that 500,000 of the number called by the selective-service law have had some form of gainful employment, we may estimate that one out of every 60 men in the industries and professions of the country has been called into military service, while another in every 60 has voluntarily joined the forces of the army or navy. Thus, about 3 per cent of the gainfully employed men have been taken out of their occupations."

The largest shoe factories in Italy have started manufacturing the national standard shoes, using leather supplied by the ministry of industry, commerce, and labor. The standard types were established by the central shoe committee in Rome, but every factory is making little modifications, according to its means and system of manufacturing.

The government is organizing systems of sale of shoes to the public. They provide for the opening of stores in the principal Italian cities, to be engaged exclusively in the sale of national shoes and to be controlled by the government authorities. It is likely that buyers will have to obtain cards.

The private shoe stores will be supplied with an adequate number of shoes and will be granted a reasonable commission.

The army and navy commission on training camp activities, in addition to the work being done in army camps and cantonments, now has its representatives in every training station of the navy and at every place where enlisted men are preparing for sea service.

There are 86 clubs for sailors at camps and in adjacent cities. There are reading and writing rooms, assembly halls, and some of the cities have arrangements for athletics, swimming pools, and gymnasiums. In the 18 camps there are given each week 92 entertainments ranging from professional performances, lectures, and exhibitions, to club nights and weekly dances.

More than 60,000 books have been furnished ships and stations by the American Library association. The Y. M. C. A. has 42 buildings and tents in the various camps.

According to the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor, in the year from November 15, 1916, to November 15, 1917, prices of food as a whole advanced 28 per cent. Potatoes is the only article that shows a decline in price. Cornmeal advanced 87 per cent; bacon, 62 per cent; pork chops, 48 per cent; beans, 39 per cent; salmon, 38 per cent; milk, 33 per cent; and lard, 27 per cent.

Food as a whole was 48 per cent higher on November 15, 1917, than on November 15, 1913, and 46 per cent higher than on November 15, 1914. During this four-year period cornmeal advanced 127 per cent; flour, 100 per cent; lard, 104 per cent; bacon, 77 per cent; sugar, 75 per cent; and potatoes, 72 per cent. No article declined in price.

Examination of the records of 10,000 men passed for military service by local boards and then rejected by camp surgeons show that nearly 22 per cent of the final rejections were caused by defective eyes.

Teeth were responsible for 8.50 per cent; hernia, 7.47 per cent; ear, 5.94 per cent; heart disease, 5.87 per cent; tuberculosis, 5.87 per cent.

Attempts to evade military duty by deception regarding physical condition were very few.

The year of 1917 established new high production records for corn, oats, rye, white and sweet potatoes, tobacco, beans, and onions.

Arrangements have been made for some relaxation of the restrictions on the export of foodstuffs to Cuba, whose people are greatly dependent upon the United States for their food supply. Among the exports which may be licensed in limited quantities are condensed milk, butter and cheese, pork products, beef and beef products, and dried fruits.

The 16 cantonments built for the training of soldiers cost $134,000,000, with a net profit to contractors of 2.98 per cent.

GIVES ANSWER TO U. S. TERMS

Count von Hertling, in Reichstag Speech, Replies to President Wilson.

Amsterdam, Jan. 26. — In his speech to the Reichstag Chancellor von Hertling replied to President Wilson's 14 peace conditions as follows:

"I shall not enlarge upon the distorted representation of German policy which is contained in Mr. Wilson's message, but will deal in detail with the points which Mr. Wilson lays down there, not less than 14 points, in which he formulates his peace program; and I pray your indulgence in dealing with these as briefly as possible:

Agree With First Point.

"The first point is the demand that there shall be no more secret international agreements. History shows it is we above all others who would be able to agree to the publicity of diplomatic documents. I recall that our defensive alliance with Austria-Hungary was known to the whole world from 1888, while the offensive agreement of the enemy states first saw the light of publicity during the war, through the revelations of the secret Russian archives. The negotiations at Brest-Litovsk are being conducted with full publicity. This proves that we are quite ready to accept this proposal and declare publicity of negotiations to be a general political principle.

"In his second point Mr. Wilson demands freedom of shipping on the seas in war and peace. This also is demanded by Germany as the first and one of the most important requirements for the future. Therefore, there is here no difference of opinion. The limitation introduced by Mr. Wilson in the end, which I need not quote textually, is not intelligible, appears superfluous and would therefore best be left out.

"Point three: We too are in thorough accord with the removal of economic barriers which interfere with trade in superfluous manner. We too condemn economic war, which would inevitably bear within it causes of future war-like complications.

"Point four: Limitation of armaments—As already declared by us, the idea of limitation of armaments is entirely discussable. The financial position of all European states after the war might most effectively promote a satisfactory solution. It is therefore clear that an understanding might be reached without difficulty on the first four points of Mr. Wilson's program."

"I now come to the fifth point, settlement of all colonial claims and disputes. Practical realization of Mr. Wilson's principles in the realm of reality will encounter some difficulties in any case. I believe that for the present it may be left for England, which was the greatest colonial empire, to make what she will of this proposal of her ally. This point of the program also will have to be discussed in due time, on the reconstitution of the world's colonial possessions, which we also demand absolutely.

"Point six: Evacuation of Russian territory—Now that the Entente has refused within this period agreed upon by Russia and the quadruple alliance to join in the negotiation, I must in the name of the latter decline to allow any subsequent interference. We are dealing here with questions which concern only Russia and the four allied powers. I adhere to the hope that with recognition of self determination for the people on the western frontier, of the former Russian empire, good relations will be established, both with these peoples and with the rest of Russia, for whom we wish most earnestly a return of order, peace and conditions guaranteeing the welfare of the country.

No Designs on Belgium.

"Point seven: Belgium—My predecessors in office repeatedly declared that at no time did annexation of Belgium to Germany form a point in the program of German policy. The Belgian questions belong to those questions, the details of which are to be settled by negotiations at the peace conference. So long as our opponents have not unreservedly taken the standpoint that the integrity of the Allies' territory can offer the only possible basis of peace discussion, I must adhere to the standpoint hitherto always adopted and refuse the removal in advance of the Belgian affair from the entire discussion.

"Point eight: The occupied parts of France are a valuable pawn in our hands. Here, too, forcible annexation forms no part of the official German policy. The conditions and methods of procedure of the evacuation, which must take account of Germany's vital interests, are to be agreed upon between Germany and France. I can only again expressly accentuate the fact that there can never be a question of dismemberment of imperial territory.

Against Dismemberment.

"Under no fine phrases of any kind shall we permit the enemy again to take from us territory of the empire which ever increasing intimacy has linked itself to Germanism, which has in highly gratifying manner ever and increasingly developed in an economic respect, and of whose people more than 87 per cent speak the German mother tongue.

"The questions dealt with by Mr. Wilson under points nine, ten and eleven, touch both the Italian frontier questions and questions of the future development of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy and the future of the Balkan states, questions in which, for the greaater part, the interests of our ally, Austria-Hungary, preponderate. Where German interets are concerned we shall defend them most energetically.

"The matters touched upon by Mr. Wilson in point 12 concerns our loyal, brave ally, Turkey. I must in no wise forestall her statesmen in their attitude. The integrity of Turkey and the safeguarding of her capital, which is connected closely with the question of the straits, are important and vital interests of the German empire also. Our ally can always count upon our energetic support in this matter.

Says Teutons Liberated Poalnd.

Point 13 deals with Poland, it was not the Entente—which had only empty words for Poland and before the war never interceded for Poland with Russia—but the German empire and the Austro-Hungarian monarchy who liberated Poland from the Czaristic regime which was crushing her national characteristics. It may thus be left to Germany and Austria-Hungary and Poland to come to an agreement on the future constitution of this country. As the negotiations and communications of the last year prove we are on the road to this goal.

The last point, the fourteenth, deals with a bond of the nations. Regarding this point, I am sympathetically disposed, as my political activity shows, toward every idea which eliminates for the future a possibility or probability of war and will promote a peaceful and harmonious collaboration of nations. If the idea of a bond of nations, as suggested by President Wilson, proves on closer examination really to be conceived in a spirit of complete justice and complete impartiality toward all, then the imperial government is gladly ready, when all other pending questions have been settled, to begin the examination of the basis of such a bond of nations.

Doubtful of Sincerity.

"Gentlemen, you have acquainted yourselves with the speech of Premier Lloyd George and the proposals of President Wilson. I must repeat what I saw at commencement: We now must ask ourselves whether these speeches and proposals breathe a real and earnest wish for peace. They certainly contain certain principles for a general world peace, to which we also assent, and which might form the starting point and aid negotiations.

"When, however, concrete questions come into the question, points which, for we allies, are of decisive importance, their peace will is less observable. Our enemies do not desire to destroy Germany, but they cast covetous eyes on parts of our allies' lands. They speak with respect of Germany's position, but their conception, ever afresh, finds expression as if we were the guilty who must do penance and promise, improvement. Thus speaks the victor to the vanquished, he who interprets all our former expressions of a readiness for peace as merely a sign of weakness.

Calls Proposals Deceptive.

"If the leaders of the enemy powers really are inclined toward peace, let them revise their program once again, or, as Premier Lloyd George said, 'proceed to reconsideration.'

Seeks Lasting Peace.

"If they do that and come forward with fresh proposals, then we will examine them carefully, because our aim is no other than the re-establishment of a lasting peace.

"As to our purpose, gentlemen, we are all one.

Certain of Victory.

"Let us hold together the government and the nation, and victory will be ours. A good peace will and must come.

"The German nation bears in an admirable manner the sufferings and burdens of a war, which now is in its fourth year. In connection with these burdens, and sufferings, I think especially of the sufferings of the small artisans and the lowly paid officials. But you all, men and women, will hold on and see it through.

"With your political knowledge, you do not allow yourselves to be fooled by catch phrases. You know how to distinguish between the realities of life and the promises of dreams.

"Such a nation cannot founder. God is with us and will be with us in the future."

Demand Abolition of Lords.

Nottingham, England, Jan. 26.—A resolution for the abolition of the House of Lords, was reported to the labor conference in session here. Representatives of the railway men told the conference that the railway employes had reached the breaking point and that the union would back them if they declined to work on account of lack of food. The responsibity, they said, would be due to mismanagement on the part of the government.

Editor to Direct Loan Publicity.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Frank R. Wilson, assistant secretary of the Federal Farm Loan board, has been chosen publicity director for the third Liberty Loan campaign to succeed Oscar A. Price, private secretary to Secretary McAdoo, as director general of railroads. Mr. Wilson formerly was editor and owner of the Sioux City News, and for the past year has been connected with the Federal Farm Loan board. The date of the campaign is withheld.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Need Help to Pass the Crisis Safely—Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Can be Relied Upon.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms, I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women passing through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and your Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. I cannot recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."—Mrs. FRANK HENSON, 1816 S. Orchade St., Urbana, Ill.

Women who suffer from nervousness, "heat flashes," backache, headaches and "the blues" should try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

WESTERN CANADA'S CEREAL CROP

One of the Best Ever Harvested.

The cereal crop of Western Canada for 191. was the most valuable one ever harvested; the returns from all classes of live stock have been equally satisfactory. The wool clip was not only greater than in any previous year, but the price obtained was double that of 1916, which in turn was almost double that of the year before.

As was the case in 1915 and 1916, many farmers were able to pay for their land outright with the proceeds of their first year's crop. Further evidence of the prosperity of Western Canada is shown by the fact that one in every twenty of the population is now the owner of an automobile. If the farming community alone is taken, it will be found that the proportion of automobile owners is still greater. The bank clearings of the leading cities of Western Canada were consistently higher than they were in the corresponding periods of 1916, and then they were higher than the year preceding. In Winnipeg $500,000,000 more was cleared in the 11 months ending November 30 than in the same months a year ago.

The entry of the United States into the war has strengthened the bonds between that country and Canada. We are now working together for the same ends. Those who are not fighting are promoting a greater production of foodstuffs. In this connection Western Canada offers a wonderful opportunity. Not only can larger quantities of staple foodstuffs be produced, but the cost of production is lower and the remuneration greater than where land is more expensive. Notwithstanding the fact that the price of farm products has doubled during the past three years, there are millions of acres of arable land in Western Canada which can still be bought at a low price.

Western Canada has an enormous acreage prepared for seeding to wheat in 1918. It is larger than in 1917, and will probably surpass the record area put into crop in the year 1915, when the largest crop ever known in the West was harvested. The year 1918 should also see a further increase in live stock activity.

Farmers have been investing considerable sums in cattle; the high prices secured for wool and mutton have opened the eyes of Western farmers to the possibilities of sheep, and such was the demand for breeding animals last fall that it was impossible to meet it adequately; the campaign for greater hog production is expected to yield an increase of between 25 and 50 per cent in 1918.

Those who are contemplating coming to Western Canada cannot do better than come early in the spring when they can put in a crop and harvest it in the fall. In this way they will be able to achieve something that will not only be of great benefit to themselves, but also to the great cause for which the Allies, including the United States, are now fighting.—Advertisement.

USE LESS WHEAT IS EDICT GIVEN BY WILSON

NEW FOOD CODE EFFECTIVE NOW

America Put On War-Bread Diet By Proclamation of President Wilson.

TO HELP ALLIES IS AIM

Government Depends Upon American Women to See That New Food Rules Are Obeyed—Two Wheatless Days Weekly.

Washington, Jan. 29.—As a part of a war rationing system prescribed by President Wilson and the food administration, the American people have gone on a war bread diet. "Victory bread," the food administration calls it.

The reduced rations are asked to create a larger export surplus of food for the European Allies. Curtailment of consumptinon will be accomplished largely by voluntary effort, but force will be employed wherever permitted under the food control act.

The rationing system, as presented by the President in a proclamation and by Food Administrator Hoover in a list of regulations, forms the food administration's 1918 food conservation program.

The Regulations.

The food administration has issued this statement:

"The following is a summary of the rules that have been formulated by the United States food administration, with the approval of the President, in order to effect the further conservation in foodstuffs necessary to support the Allies and our own armed forces over the next four months. These rules are effective from the morning of Monday, Jan. 28.

Rests With People.

"The effectiveness of these rules is dependent solely upon the good will of and the willingness to sacrifice by the American people. In the last analysis the success or failure of any plan such as here outlined rests with the people. We are dependent upon the co-operation of the trades. We have but one police force—the American woman—and we depend upon her to organize in co-operation with our state and local food administrators to see that these rules are obeyed by that small minority who may fail. Part of the rules will be enforced under the Lever food act; other parts are voluntary and will depend for their success upon public sentiment. Our experience hitherto has shown a willingness of the vast majority of consumers and a full co-operation of the trades, to undergo the self-sacrifice necessary to render such measures effective. The small minority who refuse to co-operate should not be allowed to defeat the nation's necessities.

Equal Purchases Asked.

"1. As their part in reducing the consumption of wheat flour, the consumers of the country are called upon, in purchasing such flour to buy at the same time an equal weight of the other cereals (cornmeal, cornstarch, corn flour, oatmeal, rolled oats, buckwheat flour potato flour, sweet potato flour, soya bean flour and feterita flours and meals.) The housewife may use these products separately in making bread, cakes and pastry, or mix them as she thinks best. Retailers are to sell wheat our only with an equal weight of these other cereals.

Bakers to Supply Mixed Breads.

"2. Consumers will be able to obtain mixed cereal bread from their bakers, who will be required under the license regulations to mix 5 per cent (5 per cent) of other cereals with their wheat flour. both in bread and rolls and will be required gradually to increase this substitution until beginning Feb. 24, a minimum of 20 per cent of such cereals is to be used. The food administration strongly urges on consumers the buying of this bread, which will be known as Victory bread, and will contain not less than 20 per cent of cereals other than wheat. Graham or whole wheat bread will also be given that name, because, containing as they do, 25 per cent more of the wheat grain than ordinary white bread, they, too, will serve the purpose of saving wheat flour.

"If you bake bread at home use wheat substitutes; if you buy it, buy only Victory bread.

White Flour Use Curtailed.

"3. Manufacturers of macaroni spaghetti, noodles, crackers, breakfast foods, pie, cake and pastry are not to purchase to exceed 70 per cent (70 per cent) of the wheat flour they used during the corresponding months of 1917. These manufacturers will be performing a patriotic service by using cereals other than wheat in their productions.

"4. Wholesalers will be required under license regulations not to buy more than 70 per cent of their purchases of flour from millers as based on their purchase for the corresponding months of the preceding year and their sales to the retail trade must be in the proportion of one pound of wheat flour to one pound of other cereals, this being in the same proportion in which the seller sells to the consumer unless the wholesalers satisfies himself that the substitutes have already been purchased from another source.

CHIEF PROVISIONS OF NEW U. S. FOOD CODE

A BAKER'S BREAD OF MIXED FLOURS, a 5 per cent substitution of other cereals for wheat until a 20 per cent substitution is reached Feb. 24.

SALE BY RETAILERS TO HOUSEHOLDERS of an equal amount of substitute flours for every pound of wheat flour purchased at the time the wheat flour is bought.

SALE BY MILLERS TO WHOLESALERS and wholesalers to retailers of only 70 per cent of the amount of flour sold last year.

TWO WHEATLESS DAYS A WEEK—Monday and Wednesday—and one wheatless meal a day.

ONE MEATLESS DAY A WEEK — Tuesday — and one meatless meal a day.

TWO PORKLESS DAYS A WEEK—Tuesday and Saturday.

No Profiteering.

"A ruling has been made that in making any combination sales under this program, dealers shall name a price for each of the articles so sold which shall not represent more than a normal pre-war profit on any one of the articles sold.

"5. Millers of flour are to distribute their output through their customary channels and markets in such a manner that each city, town and district may receive its usual proportion. The wheat millers have been required to produce one barrel of flour (196 pounds) from 264 pounds of wheat. This is a white flour and represents from 2 per cent to 4 per cent higher extraction than from last year's harvest.

Two Wheatless Days.

"6. To assist further in conservation, Monday and Wednesday of each week are to be observed as wheatless days and one meal of each day as a wheatless meal. This applies both in the home and in the public eating place and on such days and meals no crackers, pastries, macaroni, breakfast food or other cereals containing wheat should be used. The only exception to this is such small amounts of flour as may be needed for thickening soups or gravies or as a binder in cornbread or other cereal breads.

"7. On wheatless days and at wheatless meals, the food administration urges that bread baked in the home be other than wheat bread. Where bread is purchased either for use in public eating places or in the home, Victory bread should be used, if no wheat substitutes can be found.

State Chief to Name Meal.

"The federal food administrator in each state will announce the meal to be observed as a wheatless meal in his state. If no meal is designated, the United States food administration prefers that the evening meal be wheatless.

"8. It is further desired, in order that meat and pork products be conserved, that one meatless day (Tuesday) in every week, and one meatless meal in every day, be observed, and in addition, two porkless days (Tuesday and Saturday) in every week, be strictly kept. By 'meatless' is meant without hog, cattle or sheep products. On other days use mutton and lamb in preference to beef or pork. By 'porkless' is meant without pork, bacon, lard or other pork products, fresh or preserved. Use fish, poultry and eggs.

"9. For local situations where exceptions are necessary application should be made to the state food administrators."

STOPPING UP LOOPHOLES

Rules for Heatless Monday Are Tightened.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Fuel Administrator H. A. Garfield has tightened holiday Monday regulations to stop up loopholes for evasion and obtain "100 per cent compliance" with the fuel order.

Rulings and interpretations were given, both with the idea of reducing fuel use and checking discrimination against places closed in favor of those remaining open because other parts of the building in which they were located were exempted.

The exemption of one or more offices in a building does not exempt the balance of the building. The spirit of the order is that heat should be turned off the nonexempt offices.

Hotel, cigar and news stands may not sell cigars, cigarets or tobacco. All news stands, cigar and stationery stores may remain open only for the purpose of selling newspapers and periodicals.

Lodges and fraternal orders with Monday night meetings are exempt and entertainments advertised on or before Jan. 19 may be held as planned.

"The sale of liquor everywhere should be discontinued on Monday," Dr. Garfield ruled, "to accord with the spirit of the order."

Five Years' Sentence for Woman.

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 28.—A sentence of five years was returned by the jury in the case of Mrs. Kate Ahlers, alias Mrs. Katherine Travers, charged with the killing of Phil E. Tucker, a broker, last October.

PRESIDENT PUTS U. S. ON WAR DIET

Issues Proclamation Calling On People To Cut Wheat Consumption Further.

BURDEN ON AMERICA

Reduced European Productivity and Destruction of Shipping Increases Load Which U. S. Must Carry, Says Executive.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Calling upon the people to make their greatest effort toward coservation of food for the Allies, President Wilson has issued a proclamation in which he says the reduced productivity of Europe, the partial failure of crops and the destruction of shipping have placed practically the entire burden upon the shoulders of this country.

The message follows:

A Proclamation.

Many causes have contributed to create the necessity for a more intensive effort on the part of our people to save food in order that we may supply our associates in the war with the sustenance vitally necessary to them in these days of privation and stress. The reduced productivity of Europe because of the large diversion of man-power to the war, the partial failure of harvests and the elimination of the more distant markets for foodstuffs through the destruction of shipping places the burden of their subsistence very largely on our shoulders.

The food administration has formulated suggestions, which if followed will enable us to meet this great responsibility, without any real inconvenience on our part.

30 Per Cent Reduction Asked.

In order that we may reduce our consumption of wheat and wheat products by 30 per cent—a reduction imperatively necessary to provide the supply for overseas—wholesalers, jobbers and retailers should buy and resell to their customers only 70 per cent of the amounts used in 1917.

All manufacturers of alimentary pastes, biscuits, crackers, pastry and breakfast, cereals should reduce their purchases and consumption of wheat and wheat flour to 70 per cent of their 1917 requirements, and all bakers of bread and rolls to 80 per cent of their current requirements.

Consumers should reduce their purchases of wheat products for home preparation to, at most, 70 per cent of those of last year, or when buying bread should purchase mixed cereal breads from the bakers.

To provide sufficient cereal food, homes, public eating places, dealers and manufacturers should substitute potatoes, vegetables, corn, barley, oats and rice products and the mixed cereal bread and other products of the bakers which contains an admixture of other cerals.

In order that consumption may be restricted to this extent, Mondays and Wednesdays should be observed as wheatless days each week and one meal each day should be observed as a wheatless meal.

In both homes and public eating places, in order to reduce the consumption of beef, pork and sheep products, Tuesday should be observed as a meatless day in each week, one meatless meal should be served in each day, while in addition Saturday in each week should further be observed as a day upon which there should be no consumption of pork products.

It is imperative that all waste and unnecessary consumption of all sorts of foodstuffs should be rigidly eliminated.

Maintenance of Health Necessary.

The maintenance of health and strength of our own people is vitally necessary at this time and there should be no dangerous restriction of the food supply, but the elimination of every sort of waste and the substitution of other commodities of which we have more abundant supplies for those which we need to save, will in no way impair the strength of our people and will enable us to meet one of the most pressing obligations of the war.

I, therefore, in the national interest, take the liberty of calling upon every loyal American to take fully to heart the suggestions which are being circulated by the food administration and of begging that they be followed. I am confident that the great body of our women who have labored so loyally in co-operatoin with the food administration for the success of food conservation will strengthen their efforts and will take it as a part of their burden in the national service to see that the above suggestions are observed throughout the land.

SELF DEFENSE

Defeat Backache and Kidney Trouble With Anuric

Many people in this section have suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble and have found that Anuric was the most successful remedy to overcome these painful and dangerous ailments.

The lucky people are those who have suffered, but who are now well because they needed nature's warning signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful new discovery of Dr. Pierce's called "An-u-ric" (double strength). You should promptly heed these warnings, some of which are dizzy spells, backache, irregularity of the urine or the painful twinges of rheumatism, sciatica or lumbago. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as diabetes or stone in the bladder. If you want quick relief buy it now, 60 cents, all druggists, or send Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c for trial pkg. This will prove that "Anuric" eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar.

YOU GET STRONG, if you're a tired-out or "run-down" woman, with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And, if you suffer from any "female complaint" or disorder, you get well. For these two things—to build up women's strength, and to cure women's ailments—this is the best medicine to benefit or cure.

The "Prescription" regulates and promotes all the natural functions, never conflicts with them, and is perfectly harmless in any condition of the female system. It brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and vigor. All druggists. Liquid or tablets. Tablets 60c.

If you eat the right foods, and not too much of them, the poisons in your system can be kept down and thrown out by taking a natural laxative, such as that composed of May-apple juice of aloes, root of jalap, and long sold by druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Canada made me Prosperous

—that's what thousands of farmers say, who have gone from the U. S. to settle on homesteads or buy land in Western Canada. Canada's invitation to every industrious worker to settle in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta is especially attractive. She wants farmers to make money and happy, prosperous homes for themselves by helping her raise immense wheat crops to feed the world.

You Can Get a Homestead of 160 Acres Free

or other lands at very low prices. Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre that will raise 20 to 45 bushels of $2 wheat to the acre—it's easy to become prosperous. Canadian farmers also grow wonderful crops of Oats, Barley and Flax. Mixed Farming is fully as profitable an industry as grain raising. The excellent grasses, full of nutrition, are the only food required either for beef or dairy purposes. Good schools and churches; markets convenient; climate excellent. For Your Pleasure
And the Pleasure of Your Wife and Family

This is an opportunity to secure our newspaper and the new TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE at a special price of which we give you the benefit, on account of our advantageous arrangement with the publishers.

We carry regularly news items of current events and happenings of importance in the present world war as well as items of special local interest and on many other subjects.

TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE decreases the cost and increases the joys of living. Both publications bring to you a wealth of information and good reading matter.

Two Great Magazines Now Published as One

TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is the new title of TODAY'S MAGAZINE with which has been consolidated THE HOUSEWIFE. This attractively illustrated family magazine is bigger, brighter, and better than either was alone. Every issue will afford your entire family many hours of pleasure and in addition the inspiration and encouragement that always make both present and future brighter.

Any women who fails to get at least $5.00 value from a year's subscription for TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is letting pure gold slip thru her fingers. One woman aptly remarked that if she spent all her money as wisely as that invested in subscribing for TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE she would soon own a bank.

Our Newspaper and Today's Housewife Both 1 Year for only 1.50

If you are taking either of the above publications now, your subscription will be extended one year from date up to which it is paid for. Send us your order today.

Are You Eating To Win the War?

This Newspaper recommends Today's Housewife to every patriotic woman who wishes to help win the great war

Today's Housewife is especially needed by every homemaker in the present war-crisis, because the seven Courses in Domestic Science now running in the magazine help housewives to better select, prepare and conserve food supplies, to cut down waste, and at the same time to add to the health and welfare of the entire family.

Today's Housewife is the only magazine that maintains a model home where cookery recipes, new household devices, cleaning methods, etc., are put to practical tests before their appearance in the pages of the magazine.

The monthly lesson on "Cookery, Foods and Nutrition" under the direction of Caroline Hunt of the Department of Agriculture, is alone worth the price of a ten-year subscription not only to the woman who follows each lesson but to the government of the United States in helping to win the terrific war with the Central Empires of Europe.

Favorite Magazine of Home-loving Women

REMEMBER, better home-making is the ideal back of TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE, its reason for existence, its earnestly planned-for goal. Better homemaking in its largest sense, with the spiritual and mental no less than the material needs of the family in view; homemaking as the biggest of woman's opportunities rather than housekeeping as the most dreary of woman's drudgeries.

While Today's Housewife stands in a class by itself in its practical value to homemakers, it is also noteworthy for its wonderfully inspiring editorials and special articles, for its clean, delightful stories, and its beautiful illustrations and covers by leading artists. Over one million women agree that TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is worth several times the price of 10 cents per copy.

SUBSCRIBE AT OUR OFFICE

You can save 45 cents by subscribing by the year through us instead of buying single copies. Call at our office and examine the current issue or mail your (new or renewal) subscription to us at once. Remember, a year's subscription for only 75 cents for the magazine that would be cheap at $1.50.

Called For Examination.

Andrew and Jesse Sorum and Hjalmer Peterson went to Warren Wednesday to be examined for the army draft. Clarence Docken and Ole Johnson are to go next week Tuesday.

Marshall county has to furnish 82 men for the next army draft, which will either be the 15th or 23rd of this month.

Fell Down Stairs.

Last Friday afternoon, one of the little boys of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Sandberg, accidentally left the door to the basement stairway open. Later the one year old baby girl came along and probably looking for something new, ventured too far and fell part way down the stairway and then fell off to one side, a distance of about five feet onto the cement floor, and it was thot for awhile that the little one could not live. A physician was immediately called from T. R. Falls who found that no bones were broken, probably owing to the baby being real fleshy, and by next morning, aside from being sore, the child appeared to be alright.

Red Cross Notes

(Too late for last week)

Red Cross meeting every Friday at 7:30 P. M. Do not fail to attend.

The following have showed their patriotism by doing their bit for the soldiers:

Mrs. Bjerk 4 sweaters; Mrs. Docken 8 pr. wristlets, 1 sweater, 1 pr. pajamas; Mrs. Adams 1 scarf; Mrs. Christianson 1 sweater, 1 hospital shirt; Martha Peterson 2 sweaters; Mrs. Nelson 1 sweater, 1 pr. wristlets, 1 pr. socks; Beatha Nelson 1 sweater, 1 hospital shirt; Mrs. Kautz (Crookston) 1-2 doz. hot water bag covers, 1-2 doz. flannel socks,; Mrs. Roman Olson 1 scarf; Mrs. Frank Hall 1 scarf; Mrs. J. B. Alkenbrack 1 scarf; Mrs. Hagberg 6 pr. hospital socks, 10 hot water bag covers; Mrs. Swan 1 scarf; Mrs. Bakke 1 scarf, 1 pr. wristlets; Mrs. A. L. Carlson 1 hospital shirt; Helen Johnson 1 sweater, 4 pr. hospital socks; Lydia Bjerk 1 scarf; Mrs. Wegge 1 pair wristlets; Inanda Fosholm 1 pair socks; Stella Mickelson 1 scarf; Mrs. John Alkenbrack (Tolley, N. D.) 1-2 doz. bed socks, 1-2 doz. hot water bag covers.

There are several who have not finished their articles

The girls of the sewing classes that have finished their work are now knitting for the Red Cross. Ruby Swan is the first to finish her knitted article, which is a scarf. Selma Saastad and Emma Olson have also finished sweaters.

The following girls served a lunch last Friday evening to the Red Cross: Inanda Fosholm, Beatha and Ingaborg Nelson, Martha Peterson and Helen Johnson.

A special business meeting was held Jan. 18th, at the school house. Mr. Docken read the treasurer's report. It was decided to count East Valley members on the Holt Auxiliary report. The members voted to remain an auxiliary rather than become a branch as was requested by Warren. They also voted to comply to the request of the Chapter at Warren to give 20c out of each $1 in order to pay a secretary and other expenses at the Chapter. Helen Johnson outlined the proceedings of the business meeting that was held at Warren Jan. 4.

Anyone not knitting or sewing for the Red Cross, may get material from Mrs. Docken or at the school. Everybody in the country ought to be doing something towards this great work.

Telephone Meeting

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Holt Telephone Co., will be held at the M. W. A. hall in Holt, on Monday Feb. 18th at one o'clock P. M., for the election of officers and to transact any other business that is properly brot before the meeting.

J. A. Sorum, Sec'y.

Have you bot a Thrift Stamp?

Geo. Jensen returned to McIntosh Wednesday.

Rudolph Dahl is now hauling the mail on the Golden Valley route.

K. O. Flakne returned Monday from a business trip to Crookston.

The village caucus will be held Friday evening March 1st, at the village hall.

Possibly some cannot afford to buy Bonds, but almost any man, woman or child can buy Thrift Stamps and help the cause of Liberty.

It is the purpose of the government to raise two billion dollars by the sale of Thrift Stamps and War Certificates. Everyone is called upon to help at this time. Thrift Stamps 25c each at the postoffice.

John Sorum hauled in some Marquis wheat, one day this week, that tested 63 lbs to the bushel without being cleaned, which is considered pretty good. Mr. Sorum expects to exhibit some of this wheat at the Farm Crops Show in Crookston, next week.

The Red Cross Chapters of the Red River Valley, Northern Division will hold a conference at Crookston, all day Feb. 12, and every chapter and branch is requested to send delegates. Representatives are expected from 26 counties and a helpful meeting is assured.

Nearly one-third of the food necessary for the armies consists of wheat. Our exports of wheat during the past three years have been the heaviest in our history and our supply is now the lowest in ten years, so our government can not afford to take a chance on the supply of wheat and bread for our army. The supply of flour dare not be left in private control where it can be hoarded, nor in the control of speculators who can, if they so desire, demoralize our army more effectively by withholding wheat supplies than in any other way. It's easy to see that the government had to take charge of the supply of flour and direct its sale, also that the bread supply will have to be handled in the same way.

Samson Windmills!

Had Kidney Trouble From Childhood and Was Discouraged. Doan's, However, Brought Health and Strength.

Mrs. C. Anderson, 4104 W. 22nd St., Chicago, Ill., says: "I had kidney trouble from childhood and three years ago a severe spell developed. If I stooped, a terrible pain took me in the small of my back, and for several minutes I couldn't straighten. Often at night the pain in my back was so bad I had to prop myself up with a pillow. It seemed as if my back would break. Watery sacs formed under my eyes and my feet were so swollen I had to wear slippers. Sudden dizzy spells came on and pains in my head drove me almost frantic.

Mrs. Anderson

"I felt tired and weak and had hardly enough ambition to move. Nothing seemed to help me and I was discouraged until I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me completely and my health has been of the best ever since. Doan's surely deserves my endorsement." Sworn to before me,

SLOWER THAN CITY COUSIN

Country Youngster in Army Found to Be Possessed of Much Less Initiative and Speed.

American officers are making precisely the same comment as to the city boy versus the country boy that the British officers made when the first green regiment came to the continent, says a correspondent in France. The country boy is a heavier, stronger, but also a slower lad than his city cousin.

"City life sharpens the wits," is the British conclusion. "The city boys adapt themselves to the devilish life there rapidly than the country boys do. They are just as hardy, too, and soon pick up the little outdoor tricks that so many country boys have learned on hunting and fishing trips. The city youngster has more initiative and more speed."

"Is he game?" I asked.

"There are no gamer regiments in the British army than the cockneys," was the reply.

Americans find the country boy needs more watching and caring for than the recruit from the city. His morale and behavior are far better, but he does not adapt himself quickly to his new environment.

How She Told.

A visitor to a certain Brooklyn household was duly amazed by the wonderful likeness between the twins.

"Why," she gasped, "I never saw two children look so much alike. How does your mother tell you apart?"

"Well," explained Tommy, "she finds out by spanking us. Clarence hollers louder than I do."—Oakland Enquirer.

Important News Events of the World Summarized

U. S.—Teutonic War News

Secretary of War Baker officially announced at Washington that American forces have formally taken over a section of the line in France. The announcement followed the publication of a dispatch from the American expeditionary force in France telling of the latest raid on the American trenches by German forces, in which two Americans were killed, four wounded and one was made prisoner.

A raid in which the Germans killed two and wounded four and captured one American occurred Thursday. Drafted men from California bombed the enemy as he retired. Two Germans were wounded.

The heart of America thrilled on Thursday with the news from Washington that the greatest armada in her history—18 huge transports—had arrived safely at French ports with thousands of officers, soldiers and supplies to battle the kaiser. Stealing out of American ports the last two weeks, the vessels—formerly the best of the Austro-German merchant marine—delivered their precious cargo on European soil unharmed by spies and unobserved by the watchful eyes of submarines.

Two Americans attached to the Red Cross were killed at Mestre, Italy, by bombs dropped by German raiders. They were William Platt and Richard Cutts Fairfield, the first Americans to meet death on the Italian front.

Three American aviators have been killed while training on Italian soil, said a dispatch to Paris from Foggia. They were Lieut. William Cheney, Lieut. Oliver Sherwood and Cadet George Beach. The Americans were buried with military honors.

Charges that Germany is violating the terms of the Russian truce by withdrawing troops from the eastern front and transferring them to the western battle lines were made by the war department at Washington.

* * *

Brief details of the wounding of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood of the United States army, while on a visit to the French front, have been received at Paris. General Wood was hit by a fragment of a gun which burst when being tested. His injuries, which are confined to the left arm, are not considered serious, but he was brought to a Paris hospital.

Washington

A new "submarine killer" has been developed by the navy department, Secretary of the Navy Daniels told the house naval affairs committee at Washington. Contracts for a great number have been let. The vessel is a fabricated ship, 200 feet long, equipped with all the latest appliances for submarine warfare.

The result of the European war will be determined during the coming year, in the opinion of President Wilson. He made this plain in a letter sent to the Farmers' conference at Urbana, Ill. The president urged that every effort be made toward bigger crops this year and promises government aid to agriculturists.

The house immigration committee at Washington tabled the Rankin bill to grant to American women married to foreigners the right to retain their citizenship. This means the committee will not act on it.

The navy department at Washington will need at least 150,000 naval reserves. The men will be required to man vessels turned over to the naval overseas transportation service.

Raymond B. Stevens, vice chairman of the shipping board at Washington, and George Rublee of the board's staff, are to be sent to London as permanent representatives of the shipping board.

Demands for wage increases pending before the railroad wage commission are for an aggregate average of 40 per cent, it was disclosed at Washington. The demands represent a total of nearly $500,000,000 this year.

Ten years' imprisonment at Leavenworth, and dishonorable discharge from the army, is the punishment a court-martial at Camp Logan, Tex., has meted out to three men of the Thirty-third division for conspiracy to rob and manslaughter. The defendants are Sergt. Granville W. Shaw and Privates Robert McCurry and Clarence A. Brobery, all Chicago boys.

Four persons were killed and forty others were injured when an Illinois Central combination flyer from Sioux City and Omaha jumped the track at Granger, Ill. Ten of eleven coaches plunged from the rails and rolled down a 25-foot embankment. Mrs. Dwight Henderson, Sioux City, Ia., wife of counsel for the Illinois Central railroad; Sidney Spitzer, five months old, Chicago, and M. O. Thompson, Sioux Falls, S. D., and Miss Viola Burg of Le Mars, Ia., were killed. More than a score of the injured were from Iowa.

An increase in British shipping losses is shown in the official weekly summary issued in London which reports the destruction of nine vessels of more than 1,600 tons and six of lesser tonnage.

Twenty persons were killed and fifty wounded in the German air raid on Paris, it is officially announced. One of the German machines was brought down. The occupants of the airplane were made prisoners.

The German proletariat has raised the banner of revolution throughout the empire, it was revealed in advices from Geneva. These estimate that the working classes are responding literally in millions to the call for a general strike. The strikers have formed a council of workmen similar to that of the Russian bolsheviki and presented a demand for peace to the government at Berlin.

A dispatch to the London Daily Express from Geneva reports that there have been clashes between soldiers and strikers in the suburbs of Berlin, in which lives were lost. The dispatch adds that the troops in some instances refused to fire on strikers.

An aerial attack of unusual severity was made on Zeebrugge, the German submarine base in northern Belgium, according to the Amsterdam Telegraaf's frontier correspondent.

More than 2,600 prisoners have been taken by the Italians in their successful attacks upon the Austrian lines on the Asiago plateau, the Rome war office announced. Six guns and 100 machine guns also have been captured. Col del Rosso was taken on Monday, the statement adds, and the Italian success was extended by the capture of Monte di Val Bella.

The bolsheviki have split on the question of peace, a majority being against the conclusion of peace on the German terms and in favor of a holy war, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch to London from Petrograd says.

After three days of fighting the Ukrainian Rada's troops have defeated the bolsheviki army and taken possession of Lutsk, according to a wireless message from Kiev to the Ukrainian committee at Geneva.

German airplanes made their first attacks of the year upon London and its suburbs on Monday night, their bombs inflicting casualties officially reported at 47 killed and 169 injured. Of those killed 14 were men, 17 women and 16 children. British airmen brought down one enemy airplane in flames. The three occupants were killed.

Sweden is believed by London to have intervened in the civil war in Finland. A paper announces the arrival of Swedish troops at Tornea and says a clash has already occurred between an advance guard of Swedes and the Finnish Red guard.

Information reaching Amsterdam from Berlin indicate the number who failed to appear in plants there for work because of the general strike movement was 90,000, most of them youthful workers of both sexes.

GERMANY UNDER TERRIFIC TENSION

Mailed Fist of Kaiser Trying To Break Down Strike In Empire.

ULTIMATUM IS ENDED

Although Strikers' Spirit Seems Broken, Clashes With Troops Are of Frequent Occurrence.

London, Feb. 5.—Whether the mailed fist of the kaiser is able to beat down the empire-wide strike will settle whether Germany will again face the world with a solid front.

Despite a rigid censorship, reports which have leaked through from Berlin contain unmistakable evidence that Germany is like a powder keg.

While under strong repressive military measures the general strike appears to be diminishing in importance, the strikers are still hitting back with heroic fury. But the realization that it is a losing fight seems to have punctured, if not broken, their spirit.

Terrific Tension Continues.

Nevertheless the whole empire continued in terrific tension, for clashes between troops and strikers, according to fragmentary dispatches, were numerous, and the government and the bourgeois masses are haunted by the fears that the soldiers will not go on indefinitely charging into crowds of emaciated countrymen and countrywomen clamoring for peace and bread.

Today expires the ultimatum of the military command to the strikers to return to work or take the consequences, which may be summed up "in indiscriminate shooting to kill" of anyone found among or near demonstrating crowds.

Already, probably spurred by the threats of the military authorities of drastic action against them, many workmen are reported to have returned to their duties, and even the recalcitrant ones are expected, beginning today, to start to work.

Order Terse and Sharp.

In Brandenburg the order of the military commander was terse and sharp and evidently was intended to convey to the strikers the intimation that the government requires full efforts of workers for further prosecution of the war.

"Employes failing to resume work," said the order, "will be tried by court-martial, which is authorized to impose sentence of death, execution to take place within 24 hours of the time the sentence is imposed."

Notwithstanding the fact that shipyard workers in Hamburg in large numbers returned to their duties, the latest reports are to the effect that dissatisfaction was so great that they again were to have been called out. The lack of information from German sources, however, leaves impossible of verification whether these men again threw down their tools.

BULGARIANS ASK WAR AIMS

People Make Demand That Silence Be Broken.

Amsterdam, Feb. 5.—A dispatch from Sofia to the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin says strong protests have been made in the Bulgarian parliament against the silence regarding Bulgaria's war aims which have marked recent German and Austrian pronouncements. Premier Radoslavoff speaking in the Chamber of Deputies, attributed the omission to "urgent business which Germany and Austria-Hungary had in their own countries."

In the debate which followed it was stated that the Bulgarian people were astonished and disappointed at the omission and demanded unequivocal enlighenment in regard to the attitude of Germany and Austria.

M. Malinoff, leader of the Democratic party, said the people would not be content until Bulgaria's war aims received formal approval of the German Reichstag. Mr. Todoroff, another of the party leaders, said the Austro-German attitude was "incomprehensible and unflattering."

WANT 250,000 SHIP BUILDERS

12,000 U. S. Agents To Campaign For Them.

Washington, Feb. 5.—The Department of Labor announces that more than 12,000 agents throughout the country will be engaged for the next two weeks in the enrollment of 250,000 men skilled in the shipbuilding trades.

Two thousand of the agents are appointees of trades unions, who are co-operating in building up the industrial army for a final drive to victory.

Priority for War Contracts.

Washington, Feb. 5. — Regulations under which manufacturers may obtain priority in materials for war contracts will be explained in priority circular No. 3, which the war industries board has announced, and now in the hands of the government printer. Simplification of priority certificates recently was ordered and the new circular will clarify still further the method of procedure devised to speed up production. Under the new regulations priority may be asked by a manufacturer or government official

NO PEACE SEEN IN TERMS OF FOE

Supreme Council of Allies Decide To Fight On For Wilson's War Aims.

MAKE ANNOUNCEMENT

To Prosecute War Vigorously Until Freedom, Justice And Respect For International Law Are Obtained.

London, Feb. 5.—Until a peace based on the principles of freedom, justice and respect for international law is obtained the war is to be prosecuted vigorously by the Allies and the United States.

This is the decision of the Supreme War council of the countries in arms against the Teutonic allies.

The Supreme War council, which met at Versailles, finds no approximation in the German chancellor's and the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister's speeches to the terms of the Allies.

Announcement Is Made.

This official announcement has been made here. A summary of the official report of the Versailles war council says:

"The council was unable to find in Von Hertling's and Czernin's recent utterances any real approximation to the moderate conditions laid down by the Allies' governments. Under the circumstances the council decided that the only task before them to meet was the vigorous and effective prosecution of the war until the pressure of that effort produces a change of temper in the enemy governments, justifying the hope of the conclusion of a peace based on the principles of freedom, justice and respect for international law.

"The council arrived at a complete unanimity of policy on measures for the prosecution of the war.

War to Utmost.

"Under the circumstances the supreme war council decided that the one immediate task before them lay in the prosecution of the war with the utmost vigor and the closest and most effective co-operation of the military effort of the Allies until such time as the pressure of that effort shall have brought about in the enemy governments and peoples a change of temper which would justify the hope of the conclusion of peace on terms which would not involve the abandonment, in the face of an aggressive and unrepentant militarism, of all the principles of freedom, justice, and respect for the law of nations, which the Allies are resolved to vindicate.

"The supreme war council gave the most careful consideration to the recent utterances of the German chancellor and the Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, but was unable to find in them any real approximation to the moderate conditions laid down by the Allied governments. This conviction was open, deepened by the impression made by the contrast between the professed idealistic aims with which the Central powers entered upon the present negotiations at Brest-Litovsk and their now openly disclosed plans of conquest and spoliation.

Allies Are United.

"The Allies are united in heart and will, not by any hidden design, but by their open resolve to defend civilization against an unscrupulous and brutal attempt at domination. This unanimity is confirmed by a unanimity no less complete, both as regards the military policy to be pursued and as regards measures needed for its execution which will enable them to meet the violence of the enemy's onset with firm and quiet confidence, with the utmost energy and with the knowledge that neither their strength nor their steadfastness can be shaken.

"The splendid soldiers of our free democracies have won their place in history by their immeasurable valor and their magnificent heroism, and the no less noble endurance with which our civilian populations are bearing their daily burden of trial and suffering testify to the strength of those principles of freedom which will crown the military success of the Allies with the glory of a great moral triumph."

Ten-Ton Steel Truss Falls.

Philadelphia, Feb. 5.—One workman, Benjamin Huff of New York, was killed and three were seriously injured at the Philadelphia navy yard at League Island, when a 10-ton steel truss slipped a hoisting cable while being raised to position.

Bandit Slain; Spectator Shot.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—One holdup man was killed, a physician probably fatally injured and three policemen shot in a pistol battle between three robbers who had held up a saloon on a crowded street in an outlying district of the city. A patrol wagon filled with policemen reached the scene of the robbery as the bandits were departing. The robbers separated, opening fire on their pursuers. At the first volley Dr. J. M. Hancock, a spectator, fell badly wounded, while one of the gunmen was shot through the head.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION
Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Nellie B. Brittingham, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

HIS PRESENT WAS SPURNED

Jack Thought It Pretty Fine, but the Girl of His Heart Had Another Viewpoint.

Fresna Spines put a little powder on her nose, rubbed it off, put a little more on, rubbed it off, and put a little more on and considered that she was dressed for the evening.

Downstairs, waiting, pacing nervously the length, breadth and thickness of the parlor, was handsome Jack Pantry, looking even more than ordinarily distinguished in his white sox and yellow shoes, according to the Detroit Free Press.

"Fresna," he said, nervously dusting a piano leg with his red silk handkerchief, "I've brought you a little something."

And he took a small jeweler's box from his back hip pocket, dropped it on the floor, and upset a $200 twoozer vase picking it up.

"Never mind, Jack, we were going to break it anyway," said Fresna, with charming diplomacy. Meanwhile, her eyes glued to the little box, her heart beat like a sewing machine.

"I—I don't know whether it will fit your finger," stammered Jack, as he placed his right foot firmly on his left.

"O, Jack!" breathed Fresna. "This is so——"

She stopped. For Jack had opened the box and the darned thing was only a thimble!

"I'll thank you to pay for that vase!" she said icily, and swept from the room in a cloud of dust.

FOOD CONTROLLER OF CANADA GIVES WARNING

Food Production Should Be Increased at All Cost.

In his letter to the public on the 1st of January, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Canada's Food Controller, says:—

"Authoritative information has reached me that food shortage in Europe is terribly real, and only the sternest resolve on the part of the producers, and equally stern economies on the part of all as consumers, can possibly save the situation.

"France last year had a crop between one-third and one-half that of a normal year. Women did the work of draught animals in a determined effort to make the impoverished soil of France produce every possible ounce of food. They now look to us to make up their deficiency of essential supplies.

"The harvest in Italy was far below normal and will require much larger supplies to feed her people until next harvest.

"It is impossible for the allies to spare many cargo carriers to transport foodstuff from India, Australia, New Zealand and even the Argentine Republic. This means that the allied nations are practically dependent upon North America to supply them with the food which must be forthcoming if terrible suffering is to be avoided and the fighting efficiency of the armies maintained.

"On December 1, the United States had not a single bushel of wheat for export, after allowance was made for domestic requirements on the basis of normal consumption, and the United States Food Administration is endeavoring to bring about a reduction of 20 per cent in home consumption of wheat and flour. This would release 100,000,000 bushels for export, but the Allies will require nearly five times that amount before the 1918 harvest.

Canada is the only country in the world, practically accessible to the Allies under present conditions of shipping shortage, which has an actual exportable surplus of wheat after allowance for normal home requirements. The surplus today is not more than 110,000,000 bushels. A reduction of 20 per cent in our normal consumption would save an additional 10,000,000 bushels for export. The outlook for production of food stuffs in Europe next year is distinctly unfavorable.

"Such is the situation—grave beyond anything that we thought possible a few months ago. Unless our people are aroused to a realization of what the world shortage means to us, to our soldiers and to our Allies, and of the terrible possibilities which it entails, disaster is inevitable.

"Production, too, must be increased to the greatest possible extent. Present war conditions demand extraordinary efforts, and every man, woman, boy or girl who can produce food has a national duty to do so.

"I am confident that when the people of this country realize that the food situation is of utmost gravity they will willingly adjust themselves to the necessities of the case and make whatever sacrifices may be required. The front, the allied armies, and the civilian populations of the allied nations who have already made food sacrifices to an extent little realized by the people of this country."

Here is an appeal made by a man, upon whom rests the great responsibility of assisting in providing food for the allies and the soldiers at the front, who are fighting the battles in mud and blood. It cannot be ignored. At home we are living in luxury and extravagance inclined to idleness and forgetfulness. This must cease. We must save and produce. Our lands must be tilled no matter where it may be, in Canada or the United States. It is our duty to cultivate. Splendid opportunities in the United States are open for further cultivation of lands. Western Canada also offers opportunities in high producing lands at low prices. Decide for yourself where you can do the most good on land in the United States or in Canada, and get to work quickly.—Advertisement.

His Wish About the War.

He is an old-fashioned man who is getting well along in years and he finds it rather difficult to keep pace with the rapidly changing phases of the war situation. He is loyal, however, and does his best to keep up, though at times he finds himself a stride or two behind.

The other day the news was broken to him that because of his income from a farm and certain other real estate, he probably would have to pay a small income tax, under the law relating to that subject. It was the wife who first discovered this interesting bit of news and after she had read it to him out of the paper the old man remarked: "Maw, sometimes I almost wish this war had never happened."—Indianapolis News.

The Navy is in great need apprentice Seamen, this districts quota of 800 being far from being filled. This number must be obtained by Feb. 22nd. Men enlisted now are being sent home on furlough, subject to call, because the training stations are filled. Pay, $32.60 a month to start, begins the day of enlistment. Men enlisted, after their periods of training, are put in branches they are best qualified to fill.

TO GROW ALFALFA GET RIGHT START

Drainage First Essential—Plowing Must Be Done at the Proper Time

WHAT IS IDEAL SEEDBED?

Ground Must Be Dragged and Dragged and Dragged Again and Then Properly Firmed

A farmer came into our office one day and declared, in the popular slang of the day, that he was "off this alfalfa growing." He was clean, plumb discouraged. Had tried to grow the stuff again and again, and had always failed. Never wanted to hear or read about it again.

The case of this man is typical. Thousands of other intelligent men have tried and failed in growing alfalfa. Their failures, like his, can, in practically every case, be attributed to the fact that they did not go at it right.

Getting the Proper Drainage.

The seed bed has to be in just the proper condition if it is to be the home of a successful field of alfalfa. Above all things the land must be well drained. If the water stands within even three feet of the surface, the alfalfa plant cannot grow or live. A sloping field is preferable, though tiled land is all right for this plant. The old adage, "Alfalfa will not stand wet feet"—though you may have heard it ten thousand times—is absolutely true, and must be ever in the mind of the man who would grow alfalfa.

It may be set down as a pure waste of time to sow alfalfa on soil where the bedrock is close to the surface or on land where the subsoil is hardpan. Alfalfa is a deep-rooting plant. It is essential to its life that the roots penetrate 12, 24 and 36 inches into the earth for its food. If the subsoil is of such solid material as bedrock and hardpan, the roots cannot pierce it and, as a consequence, the plant is short lived. This difficulty is being overcome in many places by dynamiting the subsoil—and that is probably the only way to overcome it.

Will Grow on Any Soil.

The plant will grow in practically any kind of soil to be found in the United States, Canada or Europe. Alfalfa does do best, apparently, on loam, silt loam or sandy loam. The attractiveness of these soils may be honestly said to be due, principally, to the fact that the crop is more easily started in them. Once establish the plant in heavy clay or in sandy soil and you need take a rear chair for no one. Clay soil will need to be more closely examined for drainage than any other soil. The don't-forget-it-for-a-minute precaution is to get rid of standing water in or on the land.

A field that was well manured and which has just grown a crop of corn or potatoes is in the best condition for an alfalfa field. It is taken for granted that the corn or potato crop was repeatedly cultivated. Weeds share with standing water the distinction of being alfalfa's most bitter enemy. It is assumed, too, that the field was plowed deeply for the cultivated crop. A good, clean field of grain stubble—if such happens to be the best drained field on the farm—may be chosen for alfalfa. The ground should be plowed the fall before, though this is not absolutely necessary. The nearer the time of seeding the plowing is done the shallower it should be. In fall plowing the furrow should be cut at a depth of about six inches.

The Ideal Seedbed

The ideal seed bed—and it is well to approach the ideal just as closely as possible—is firm and moist. It should be mellow and finely pulverized, but only to the depth of one inch—the depth at which the seed is to be sown. The field should be as smooth as it can be made, without ruts or holes to catch and hold the water.

By fall plowing it is possible to have nature's aid for several months in settling the seed bed. The rain and snow aid wonderfully in the process. Frequent harrowing from the opening of spring until the alfalfa is planted must be done; this is to keep down the weeds and to conserve the moisture. Sometimes it is well to harrow the ground as often as every 10 days.

If the ground has not been plowed in the fall extraordinary means must be used in order to properly prepare the seed bed. When one has six weeks leeway between plowing and seeding he may plow to a fair depth. Some farmers, if they have have not been able to start getting their ground in condition a considerable time before sowing, merely disc and cross-disc the stubble field. This is the thing to do in such cases. Deep plowing just before seeding is fatal. At that it is not a very good idea to wait until the last minute to get the alfalfa land in shape. Late tillage may succeed if moisture conditions are right. But it is better to play safely and plow a few weeks before time for seeding.

How to Help Nature.

As aids to nature in firming the ground a soil packer or roller comes in most handily. If the farmer does not have these implements he may set the discs straight to pack the soil. A plank or long drag will do good work if sent along following the disc. And meantime, keep harrowing the soil. Keep the drag going. Give it just one more dragging, and then when you think you have dragged it enough—why, just drag it a couple of times more, and then once more for good measure.

DELICIOUS CORN MUFFINS

Here's an old fashioned recipe for corn muffins that has recently been revived and used with unusual success in several of the larger New York hotels: To make three and a half dozen muffins take one quart milk, six ounces butter substitute, twelve ounces of light syrup or honey, four eggs, pinch of salt, two ounces baking powder, one and a half pounds cornmeal and one and a half pounds rye flour. The butter and syrup should be thoroughly mixed; then add the eggs gradually. Pour in the milk and add the rye flour mixed with cornmeal and baking powder.

E. J. Lynch, Collector of Internal Revenue, announces that a federal income tax officer will be in this county on the following dates: Jan. 30 to Feb. 9 at Warren; Feb. 12 to 16 at Argyle; Feb. 19 to 20 at Stephen. Better make sure if you are liable to the tax, and if so report it before March 1, as there is heavy fine for failure of those, who are subject to income tax, to make their reports. Incomes of $1000 for the unmarried, and $2000 for all married people, are subject to the federal income tax.

Quick Cornmeal Bread

1 cup of milk, one egg, 1 tablespoon fat, 1-2 teaspoon salt 3-4 cup cornmeal, 1 and 1-4 cups of flour, 4 teaspoon baking powder, 2 tablespoons sugar.—Method 1—Mix the milk, egg, and melted fat. Add to the dry materials which have been well mixed. Bake in a hot oven. The time will depend upon the thickness of the loaf.—2nd. Method—scald the cornmeal with the hot milk. Add egg and melted fat, and combine with dry ingredients. Bake in a hot oven.

FACE the FACTS

LET us face the facts. The war situation is critical. Unless the Allies fight as they never yet have fought, defeat threatens. Hungry men cannot fight at their best; nor hungry nations. France, England, and Italy are going hungry unless we feed them.

Wheat Saving—They must have wheat. It is the best food to fight on. It is the easiest to ship. We alone can spare it to them. By saving just a little—less than a quarter of what we ate last year—we can support those who are fighting our battles. And we can do it without stinting ourselves. We have only to substitute another food just as good.

The Corn of Plenty—Corn is that food. There's a surplus of it. Providence has been generous in the hour of our need. It has given us corn in such bounty as was never known before. Tons of corn. Trainloads of corn. Five hundred million bushels over and above our regular needs. All we have to do is to learn to appreciate it. Was ever patriotic duty made so easy? And so clear?

America's Own Food—Corn! It is the true American food. The Indians, hardiest of races, lived on it. Our forefathers adopted the diet and conquered a continent. For a great section of our country it has long been the staff of life. How well the South fought on it, history tells. Now it can help America win a world war.

Learn Something—Corn! It isn't one food. It's a dozen. It's a cereal. It's a vegetable. It's a bread. It's a dessert. It's nutritious; more food value in it, dollar for dollar, than meat or eggs or most other vegetables. It's good to eat; how good you don't know until you've had corn-bread properly cooked. Best of all, it's plentiful and it's patriotic.

Corn's Infinite Variety—How much do you know about corn? About how good it is? About the many delicious ways of cooking it? And what you miss by not knowing more about it? Here are a few of its uses:

There are at least fifty ways to use corn meal to make good dishes for dinner, supper, lunch or breakfast. Here are some suggestions:

HOT BREADS	DESSERTS
Boston brown bread.	Corn-meal molasses cake.
Hoecake.	Apple corn bread.
Muffins.	Dumplings.
Biscuits.	Gingerbread.
Griddle-cakes.	Fruit gems.
Waffles.

HEARTY DISHES

Corn-meal croquettes. Corn-meal fish balls.
Meat and corn-meal dumplings.
Italian polenta. Tamales.

The recipes are in Farmers' Bulletin 565, "Corn Meal as a Food and Ways of Using It," free from the Department of Agriculture.

Are You Eating To Win the War?

This Newspaper recommends Today's Housewife to every patriotic woman who wishes to help win the great war

Today's Housewife is especially needed by every homemaker in the present war-crisis, because the seven Courses in Domestic Science now running in the magazine help housewives to better select, prepare and conserve food supplies, to cut down waste, and at the same time to add to the health and welfare of the entire family.

Today's Housewife is the only magazine that maintains a model home where cookery recipes, new household devices, cleaning methods, etc., are put to practical tests before their appearance in the pages of the magazine.

The monthly lesson on "Cookery, Foods and Nutrition" under the direction of Caroline Hunt of the Department of Agriculture, is alone worth the price of a ten-year subscription not only to the woman who follows each lesson but to the government of the United States in helping to win the terrific war with the Central Empires of Europe.

Favorite Magazine of Home-loving Women

REMEMBER, better homemaking is the ideal back of TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE, its reason for existence, its earnestly planned-for goal. Better homemaking in its largest sense, with the spiritual and mental no less than the material needs of the family in view; homemaking as the biggest of woman's opportunities rather than housekeeping as the most dreary of woman's drudgeries.

Today's Housewife

While Today's Housewife stands in a class by itself in its practical value to homemakers, it is also noteworthy for its wonderfully inspiring editorials and special articles, for its clean, delightful stories, and its beautiful illustrations and covers by leading artists. Over one million women agree that TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is worth several times the price of 10 cents per copy.

Should Be Sent to Federal Prison

The Oslo Tribune last week gave an account of a man calling himself Rev. James B. Gray, who is being held in the county jail at Park Rapids, in default of $200 bonds, on a disloyalty charge.

This fellow was in Holt sometime last summer. He claimed to be doing missionary work and solicited funds ostensibly for that purpose, but for his personal use, his real purpose being to sow the seeds of discontent with the government and disloyalty in general. Postmaster Engebretsen reported Gray to the Federal authorities, who failed to get sufficient evidence for his arrest. Since then he has been arrested and fined for vagrancy at both Badger and Argyle, but now they seem to have a stronger charge against him, which ought to send him to a Federal prison for the duration of the war, and then some.

Possibly some cannot afford to buy Bonds, but almost any man, woman or child can buy Thrift Stamps and help the cause of Liberty.

A Crying Need

There is a crying need of price fixing all along the line. Poor people cannot afford many of the real necessities of life, at the prices they are held at. Many substitutes for wheat are much higher than the wheat flour itself. Barley prices are soaring sky high, since the agitation for greater use of barley flour and other substitutes. Congress has the same power to set the selling price of barley and barley flour, as of wheat and wheat flour. Congress should get busy at once on this.

The less money people have to spend for the necessities of life, the more they will have for Liberty Bonds and Thrift Stamps and War Saving Certificates.

Write to your Senators and Congressman urging immediate action in these matters.

WASH THE KIDNEYS!

All the blood in the body passes thru the kidneys every few minutes. This is why the kidneys play such an important role in health or disease. By some mysterious process the kidney selects what ought to come out of the blood and takes it out. If the kidneys are not good-workmen and become congested—poisons accumulate and we suffer from backache, headache, lumbago, rheumatism or gout. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment; channels often get sore and sleep is disturbed at night. So it is that Dr. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., advises "Washing the Kidneys," by drinking six to eight glasses of water between meals and then if you want to take a harmless medicine that will clear the channels and cure the annoying symptoms, go to your druggist and get Anuric (double strength), for 60c. This "Anuric," which is so many times more potent than lithia—will drive out the uric acid poisons and bathe the kidneys and channels in a soothing liquid.

If you desire, write for free medical advice and send sample of water for free examination. Experience has taught Doctor Pierce that "Anuric" is a most powerful agent in dissolving uric acid, as hot water melts sugar.

Send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial package.

WITTY AMID FALLING SHELLS

Irishman Within an Inch of Death Answered Superior's Fool Question With Ready Humor.

As Private Mulligan of the ——th Irish was leaning against the sandbag parapet, dividing his period of guard between nervous glances through the battered periscope and day-dreams of the little colleen back in the Emerald isle, a noisy shell of the 59 pattern insinuated its brazen nasal organ into the earth about two feet in front of Pat's parapet, thereby making a far different channel of thought for the Irishman.

After the smoke had cleared a little and the confusion subsided a subaltern in action for the first time protruded his startled vision from a nearby dugout, and gazed in horror on the only visible portion of Patrick that being his head, and in a voice of plaintive inquiry asked:

"Er—er—Mulligan, was that a shell?"

For a moment Pat looked innumerable things at his superior, and then, remembering who he was, answered, keeping the sarcasm as much to himself as possible:

"No, sorr. Shure, it was only an explosive bullet, sorr!"

PEACE WITH UKRAINIA

Teutonic Powers Sign Separate Treaty With Republic.

Result May Be Break With Bolsheviki, As Trotzky Is Expected To Make Fight.

Amsterdam, Feb. 12.—Berlin officially announces the signing of a separate peace treaty between the Teutonic powers and the Ukraine at Brest-Litovsk.

Later unofficial dispatches from Berlin and Vienna said:

"Germany and Austria have signed peace with the Ukrainian Republic. This would indicate that Bulgaria and Turkey are not parties to the contract."

The completion of the pact with Ukraine surprised no one in responsible quarters here, or in the Allied countries. But intense interest is focused on what course the negotiations between the Teutonic powers and the Bolsheviki at Brest-Litovsk now will take.

The general expectation is that the Bolsheviki not only will refuse to recognize the Ukraine-Teuton treaty, but may even precipitate a break at Brest-Litovsk, as the pact was signed on the Ukrainian side, not by a central government representing all of the 30,000,000 inhabitants of this richest part of Russia's grain-growing country, the great "Black belt," but by the elements adhering to the recently proclaimed independent Ukrainian Republic and hostile to the Bolsheviki.

Discussing the peace negotiations, the Nordeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung says that no further concessions to the Russians will be permitted. "Should the peace negotiations with Ukraine materialize, the development of peace negotiations with Trotzky may be a matter of indifference to us," the paper adds.

Three Northwestern States Take Up Matter In Washington.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Minnesota, North and South Dakota have united here on a program to bring about changes in the Federal grain standards.

Congressional delegates from the three states met with O. P. B. Jacobson, Colonel March and E. R. Renke of Minnesota, A. J. Aandahl of the North Dakota railroad commission, and P. W. Murphy, South Dakota railroad commissioner, and decided to put the case directly to Secretary David F. Houston of the Department of Agriculture.

A subcommittee composed of the five local men was named to draft resolutions on the changes desired. These will be passed Monday and will be taken to Secretary Houston Tuesday.

One proposal to be submitted is that a commission composed of a practical grain man appointed by the governor in each state that grows at least 100,000,000 bushels of grain annually, met with Mr. Houston to formulate the new standards.

WOULD CUT AVIATORS' PAY

Senate Committee Gets Bill Recommended By Pershing.

Washington, Feb. 12.—On a report from General Pershing that aviation is not extra-hazardous service, Secretary Baker has submitted to the Senate military committee a bill to repeal all extra allowances in the aviation service, averaging 50 per cent.

"Flying duty is no more hazardous that duty with other combat troops and involves nothing like the hardships endured by troops which occupy trenches," said General Pershing. "Such laws are productive of improper balance in rank and pay which result in injustice to other arms and are no longer necessary in order to get personnel."

The measure submitteed by Secretary Baker also would create a new grade of "aviator" to be filled by specially qualified civilians paid $150 monthly.

DIPLOMATIC COURIERS HELD

Detained In Stockholm For Lack of Passports.

Stockholm, Feb. 12.—All diplomatic couriers on their way to Petrograd have been detained in Stockholm because of instructions received by the Finnish minister here to vise no passports for foreigners.

Ira Nelson Morris, American minister, received information from Tornea, on the Finnish border, that a train had left for Petrograd, but that there was no certainty that it would get through to the Russian capital.

A Swedish relief boat left for Mahty-Luoto, taking provisions and money furnished by Minister Morris for the American consul at Helsingfors.

Canadians Sing French Songs.

An Atlantic Port, Feb. 12.—Seventeen hundred Canadian soldiers, invalided home, but all in good enough health to take care of themselves, joined in singing the songs of the trenches as the ship on which they arrived here from Europe was warped into her berth. The majority of the men had been abroad since 1914, and were discharged from hospitals only a short time ago. Ten Canadian nurses who had seen service abroad and whose health was impaired, also were among the passengers.

A KLONDIKE TO THE REAL FARMER

A Western Canada Crop Estimated at $12,000, Makes $19,000.

Messrs. Harris, formerly of Audubon, Iowa, wrote the "Audubon Advocate," expressing their satisfaction of things in Western Canada. They located at Makepeace, Alberta. They say there are those who make good, and those who fail. The former are those that land agents refer to when advertising their land. "But," continues the letter, "A great many of the farmers in this vicinity pay for their land with their first crop. A man near here bought a section of land in the year 1915 for $23 per acre. He broke 300 acres of the land during the summer of 1915. In the fall of 1916 he threshed 16,000 bushels of wheat, which paid for his land, all expenses and had a balance of $4,000. In the fall of 1917 he threshed nearly as much off the other half of the section. At the present time he would not take $50 per acre for his land.

"We have had five crops in Alberta. The two dry years (1914-1917) our wheat made 20 and 30 bushels to the acre respectively. In 1916 we raised 50 bushels of wheat to the acre on summer fallow. The best results are obtained by plowing or breaking in the summer, working it down in the fall so that it will retain the moisture. Thus farming one-half your ground each year.

"Persons owning land here and still living in the States should, if they don't feel themselves able to come up here and finance themselves until they could get their first crop, get some of their land broken and worked down in the fall before they come. The next spring they could come and put in the crop, fence and put up their buildings. This way they have to wait only one summer for their first crop.

"It is not advisable for a person to come here in the spring, break out land and put it in crop the first year, because the moisture is not in the ground and a failure is almost certain unless it is an exceptionally wet year.

"One of the boys from that locality, Mr. Peder M. Jensen came to Alberta last spring. He bought a 30-60 Rumely Oil-Pull engine on the 8th day of June, 1917. After that date he broke 1,100 acres of prairie sod for which he received an average of $5.00 per acre.

"Mr. Hansen from your community, was up here last fall with several prospective land buyers from that neighborhood. At that time he inquired the value of the crop on the section we were farming. We told him that it would probably make in the neighborhood of $12,000. This same crop when sold brought nearly $19,000. The most of it being sold when prices were low for the year."—Advertisement.

Call Again.

The young "pride of the family" had been to school for the first time in his short six years.

"What did you learn?" asked his mother, as mothers always ask one the afternoon after the morning before.

Little Johnny frowned.

"I didn't learn nothin'," he replied. "I have to go back tomorrow."

The man with a wrist watch has time on his hands.

After all, the speculator is a sort of bargain counter.

NO NEED TO WORRY

Youth's Desires Should Rather Be Cause of Smiles.

Grandma Says There Is Bound to Come a Time In Every Girl's Life When She Wants to Put on Woman's Clothes.

"I am worried about Sue Charlotte," observed Mrs. Bardunkle. "She wants to be a young lady and wear corsets and a belt and high heels like Roberta Cublets, and I want her to be a girl for a while yet, and wear loose clothes and low heels, and be athletic and childlike."

"Oh, let the girl wear anything she wants to," urged Roberta's grandma. "She will get tired of being a lady and want to be a girl again before long. High heels and things look exciting a long way off, but as soon as a sensible girl like Charlotte finds out that they hurt she will have nothing more to do with them.

"I remember how it was when I was a girl. I wanted corsets and belts and things that were ladylike and uncomfortable. But, of course, my mother wouldn't let me have any of them and I had to get them on the sly.

"Why, I can remember when the desire to wear those things was so strong in me that I grabbed an old pair that I found on a heap of discards. They weren't all there, but I hugged them to my bosom, and what's more, I put them on. It was a struggle, for I was rather a stout girl and the garment was designed for a more slender and waspish waist than mine. I also found an old belt which I persuaded two stout girls to strap around me the way transfer men strap trunks.

"One day my mother saw me thus arrayed, my ample waist transformed into what I thought was something waspish, and she almost fainted with surprise besides exploding with amusement. I didn't mind the surprise, but the amusement wasn't what I wished to excite, so I took the things off and was glad to be comfortable once more."

"I went through the same thing," observed Bardunkle, "with my first collar, long pants and socks. They didn't have any boy's size collars in my day, and I looked the town over trying to find one. I think size 11 was what I wanted and I had to compromise on size 16 and celluloid at that; and the thing had a way of parting from the tie in front. Stockings transformed into socks were hard to manage, too, and they had a way of coming down and dangling around my feet in spite of various ingenious devices which I employed to keep them up. Cuffs also refused to be violetlike and protruded some six or seven inches.

"My efforts to be a man provided very fair comedy, but I persisted until I got a collar I could not draw my head down through. It was a lady's collar that I pinned to the inside of my coat collar. I was indeed proud and happy on that day. Socks, however, are still a bugbear, and I will be glad when a sensible substitute is provided.

"So I, too, say let the girl go ahead and have a throw at the woman's game if she thinks it will be fun. She will soon get tired of it and chuck the whole business."

"I'm not so sure of it," replied Mrs. Bardunkle sadly. "You haven't chucked the manly cigars and tobacco yet."—Chicago News.

Peculiarities of Birdmen.

That aviators have their own peculiarities in driving and can be identified as certainly as the telegraph sender can be recognized by the story told here by Lieut. R. G. Searson of Pittsburgh, now a member of the Royal Canadian Flying corps.

"When Major Bishop, the American flyer, who has won so much fame at the French front, takes the air," said Searson, "he can be easily identified. The machine moves with the instinct of a bird, so graceful and devoid of jerks is the movement. When Capt. Vernon Castle mounts, even if one does not see him enter the machine before he rises, his presence is betrayed by the plane's peculiar display of dancing in the air, as we call it."

Children Operate Furnace.

A certain element of romance in steel making is suggested in an account received from England of the operation of a two-ton electric steel furnace at Sheffield, says the Scientific American. The furnace is entirely hand operated through a control worked in conjunction with recording ammeters; but the chief point is the size of the operator. A boy of fourteen or fifteen runs the furnace constantly, and other furnaces of this particular type are now operated in the same manner by girls, owing to the scarcity of male labor. The whole is an object lesson in the steadiness and simplicity of the new type of steel-making furnace. Such results would have been ridiculed only a few years ago.

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY
TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 Is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a son we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interest.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

PORTER HAD HIS SUSPICIONS

And Really There Seemed Some Reason to Believe That Traveler Had Inside Information.

Joseph H. Ingleheart, an attorney of Evansville, was in Indianapolis a few days ago and when he reached Terre Haute en route home and got on a passenger train on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, he decided he would take a sleeper. He looked up the porter and told him he wished a berth. He was due in Evansville at 11 o'clock that night and the porter remonstrated, saying that it was a three hours' ride and that no one needed a sleeper for that short distance.

"I don't care," shouted Igleheart. "I want a berth if it's only a three minutes' ride." The porter said he would have to see the conductor and later returned and told Mr. Igleheart that he could have a berth.

Owing to a heavy snowstorm and bad weather conditions the train arrived at six o'clock the next morning at Evansville, being seven hours late. When Igleheart got up he greeted the porter who was standing in the aisle. The porter was angry and after Igleheart had spoken to him the second time, he said: "Don't you speak to me, white man. How did you know that we were going to have this lay-out?"—Indianapolis News.

Surely Meatless Day.

They didn't violate "meatless day" after all.

Food conservation hath its heroes and heroines no less than war.

A young housewife bought herself a lamb stew, and that evening set it forth for the delectation of her husband.

The stew was mostly lamb bone, the husband thought, as he searched the dish for a bit of meat.

His probe proved unsuccessful.

But he didn't say anything.

Neither did his wife, but she was thinking a lot.

All of a sudden the husband spoke up.

"Why, this is meatless day!" he gasped, horror struck in remembrance.

His wife looked sadly at the dish.

"It is," she said, grimly.

Terrible Strain.

"We have a new boarder in our house. He came a week ago and nobody has been able to find out anything about him."

"Remarkable."

"Yes. The landlady says he will either have to talk about himself or leave. Six lady boarders are on the verge of nervous prostration as a result of baffled curiosity."

Worth While Quotation.

"A laugh is just like sunshine—it brightens all the day."

There are lots of people you'd willingly give the last word—if only they'd hurry to it.

WHERE HE GOT HIS SCARS

Battered-Up Specimen of Humanity Had Sad Story to Tell, but Not of Battles.

"My good man," said the kind old lady to the sad wreck of humanity she met in a lane, "you look like an old soldier. I'm sure you've seen many battles."

"Yes, mum; I've bin in wars in my time; I'll carry these scars to the grave, shure I shall. Yer see this ear o' mine, mum; there's a tidy piece gone out o' that. And see the top o' me nose; a tidy dent there, too, mum. Well, they wor both done in one day. The missiles did fly that day, an' no mistake."

"What battle was it, my good man?"

"Well, mum, it worn't exactly a battle. Yer see, it wor like this. I wor a cab-driver, and I had to drive the newly married folks to the station. This dent in my nose wor done by a hob-nailed boot; this bit out o' my ear is the result of a well-aimed horseshoe; this lump on my jaw was done by a bag of uncooked rice; but wait till I show yer me back, mum."

But the old lady had vanished.

Oyster Beds for Great Salt Lake.

Plans have been made to bring the propagation of oysters in Bear River bay, Salt Lake, Utah, this spring, says Popular Mechanics Magazine in an illustrated article. Experiments and scientific study of local conditions have indicated, to the satisfaction of the state fish and game commissioner, that the enterprise is a thoroughly feasible one. Analysis has shown that the percentage of salt in the water is practically the same as in ocean oyster beds. In searching for a desirable section of the bay to commence operations, those in charge of the work used an amphibious craft built particularly for navigating shallow waters and negotiating salt and mud bars. The boat, a long, narrow motor-driven scow, is provided with side wheels that propel it through the water and across mud.

Lesson in Geography.

Readers of General Allenby's dispatches, unfamiliar with the peculiarities of the Dead sea, were not a little puzzled at his description of British airplanes flying four hundred feet below the sea level. But reference to a geography brought the information which solved the riddle; the Dead sea lies 1,292 feet below the surface of the Mediterranean, so that airplanes sailing four hundred feet below sea level were still at an elevation of eight hundred and ninety-two feet. Lessons in geography abound in the papers nowadays!

YOU COOK YOUR FOOD—WHY NOT YOUR TOBACCO?

You know what broiling does to steak, baking to a potato—and toasting to bread. In each case flavor is brought out by cooking—by "toasting."

So you can imagine how toasting improves the flavor of the Burley tobacco used in the Lucky Strike Cigarette.

DEATH ON GALLOWS

Modern German Pirates Deserve Fate of Buccaneers of Old.

Sailors Serving on United States Merchant Marine Today Knew Man Who Remembered Fate of Spanish Freebooters.

Stories of piratical methods employed by German submarine commanders in burning undefended merchant vessels and mistreating defenseless crews are no novelty to thousands of mariners on the Atlantic coast, such as are now enrolling for service in the new merchant marine.

Some of these sailors, who are to man the emergency fleet of merchant ships being constructed for the United States shipping board to take supplies to our armies in France, actually knew men who suffered at the hands of the last pirates of the Spanish main, whose methods were similar to those of the Germans.

Among the men who reported for duty as mates recently at the recruiting headquarters of the shipping board were some from the Massachusetts coast who had known a survivor of the last ship taken by Spanish pirates of the Caribbean. This was Capt. Thomas Fuller of Salem, who died in 1906 at the age of ninety-four.

Captain Fuller was able seaman in the crew of the brig Mexican of Salem in 1832 when, laden with saltpeter and tea, with $20,000 in silver stowed under the cabin floor, she sailed from her home port for Rio.

On August 29, near the coast of Cuba, the schooner was held up by a vessel described as "a long, low, straight topsail schooner of about 150 tons, painted black," which hailed and requested the captain of the Mexican to send a boat alongside with his papers.

The boat was sent, and came back in charge of an ill-looking armed crew of pirates from the Spanish main, who drove the crew of the Mexican below decks, fastened down the hatches, and began looting the vessel. Finding the silver, they sent it aboard their own ship.

The pirates next cut the sails and rigging of the brig to pieces and started a fire in the galley on deck, which they expected would soon destroy the brig. They then departed for their own vessel, and sailed away in search of other victims.

But they had neglected to fasten down the cabin skylight. Through this the brig's captain crawled, and, getting to the fire, splashed water on it until he had it in control. He then caused it to smoke heavily until the enemy was out of sight.

The crew rerigged their vessel, and favored by a gale made their escape from such a dangerous neighborhood.

Salem sailors today recall with satisfaction that the long arm of justice meted out retribution to the pirates.

A few months later a Salem vessel was in the harbor of St. Thomas, when a low, black schooner anchored near her. The Salem captain was suspicious, and inventing an excuse went aboard the schooner for a call. On her deck he saw two spars painted black which he recognized as belonging to the Mexican.

That night the stranger left the harbor, but the Salem captain notified a British man-of-war captain of her character.

A few months later the British brig-of-war Curlew, caught the black stranger in the Nazareth river, a slaving locality on the west coast of Africa. The pirate crew fled to the shore and found shelter with a native. They were hunted hard, and four were taken. Later 11 others were taken at Fernando Po and St. Thomas.

The pirates were conveyed to Boston for trial, and found guilty of the attack on the Mexican. Their captain, Pedro Gilbert, assumed innocence and the air of an injured gentleman. He was found guilty, with four others. In sentencing the five to death, Judge Joseph Story used language that reduced the court to tears, closing with these words to the condemned men: "And in bidding you, as far as I can presume to know, an eternal farewell, I offer up my earnest prayer that Almighty God may in his infinite mercy and goodness have mercy on your souls."

The five men were hanged in Boston and with their exit piracy ended in the western world.

How They Became Sammies.

It has been reserved to the [illegible] Figaro to discover, in the American slang dictionary, the "true" origin of the term "Sammy" as expressive of the American "Tommy," says the Christian Science Monitor. The expression did not originate in France, but at West Point, in 1870 when a certain Lieutenant Mills was manager of the mess. The fare included some formidable sandwiches of bread and molasses. Only the cadet who had consumed six of these substantial sandwiches in succession was allowed to bear the appellation of "Sammy." All of which sounds like a very plausible attempt, on the part of the French poilu, to disclaim credit for the cognomen which caused so much dissatisfaction with the American troops when it was first heard at a French landing port.

The Frank Butler.

William H. Crocker of San Francisco, who recently rebuilt a war wrecked French village at his own expense, tells, apropos of the wine shortage, an amusing story.

"A friend of mine," so Mr. Crocker's story runs—"is remarkable for the bad wines he keeps. My friend entertaining some rather important guests, one evening, turned to his new butler and said:

"Higgs, is this the best claret?"

"No, sir," said Higgs solemnly, "it ain't; but it's the best you've got.'"

Had a Better One.

Little Lillian was shopping with her mother when they came to the doll counter. "Don't you want to buy a baby doll for your friend's birthday present?" asked her mother. "I don't think she would like one," said Lillian; "you see they have a meat baby at their house already."

AMERICAN SUGAR SENT TO FRANCE

American Price Rigidly Regulated by United States Food Administration.

CONSUMERS HERE PAY 9c.

Sugar Cost 35 Cents a Pound During Civil War—Refiners' Profits Now Curtailed.

Sugar is selling today throughout America at from 8½ to 9 cents a pound to the consumer, even though there is a world shortage which has reduced this nation's sugar allotment to 70 per cent. of normal.

Through the efforts of the United States food administration the sugar market has been regulated as far as the producer, refiner and wholesaler is concerned. The food administration has no power to regulate retail prices except by public opinion. Even though more than 85,000 tons of sugar have been shipped to France in the last four months the retail grocer's sugar price is around 8 to 8½ cents. He should sell this sugar at 8½ to 9 cents, the food administration believes, and asks the American housewife to pay no more than this amount.

Last August when the food administration was organized the price of sugar rose suddenly to 11 cents a pound. During the Civil War sugar cost the consumer 35 cents a pound. By regulation of the sugar market and reducing the price to 8½ and 9 cents and keeping it from advancing to 20 cents the food administration has saved the American public at least $180,000,000 in four months, according to a statement made by Herbert Hoover the other day.

"It is our stern duty to feed the allies, to maintain their health and strength at any cost to ourselves," Mr. Hoover declared. "There has not been, nor will be as we see it, enough sugar for even their present meagre and depressing ration unless they send ships to remote markets for it. If we in our greed and gluttony force them either to further reduce their ration or to send these ships we will have done damage to our abilities to win this war.

"If we send the ships to Java for 250,000 tons of sugar next year we will have necessitated the employment of eleven extra ships for one year. These ships—if used in transporting troops—would take 150,000 to 200,000 men to France."

Reason for World Shortage.

As Mr. Hoover pointed out, the United States, Canada and England were sugar importing countries before the war, while France and Italy were very nearly self supporting. The main sources of the world's sugar supply was Germany and neighboring powers, the West Indies and the East Indies.

German sugar is no longer available, as it is used entirely in Germany, which also absorbs sugar of surrounding countries.

England can no longer buy 1,400,000 long tons of sugar each year from Germany. The French sugar production has dropped from 750,000 to 210,000 tons. The Italian production has fallen from 210,000 tons to 75,000 tons. Thus three countries were thrown upon East and West Indian sources for 1,925,000 tons annually to maintain their normal consumption.

Because of the world's shipping shortage the allied nations started drawing on the West Indies for sugar; East Indian sugar took three times the number of ships, since the distance was three times as great. Suddenly the west was called on to furnish and did furnish 1,420,000 tons of sugar to Europe when 300,000 tons a year was the pre-war demand. The allies had drawn from Java 400,000 tons before the shipping situation became acute.

"In spite of these shipments," Mr. Hoover stated the other day, "the English government in August reduced the household sugar ration to a basis of 24 pounds per annum per capita. And in September the French government reduced their household ration to 13 2-10 pounds a year, or a bit over 1 pound of sugar a month. Even this meagre ration could not be filled by the French government it was found early in the fall. America was then asked for 100,000 tons of sugar and succeeded in sending 85,000 tons by December 1. The French request was granted because the American household consumption was then at least 55 pounds per person, and it was considered the duty of maintaining the French morale made our course clear."

Today the sugar situation may be summarized by stating that if America will reduce its sugar consumption 10 to 15 per cent. this nation will be able to send 200,000 more soldiers to France.

Sugar today sells at seaboard refineries at $7.25 a hundred pounds. The wholesale grocer has agreed to limit his profit to 25 cents a hundred plus freight, and the retail grocer is supposed to take no more than 50 cents a hundred pounds profit. This regulation was made by the food administration, which now asks the housewife to reduce sugar consumption as much as possible, using other sweeteners, and also reminds her that she should pay no more than 9 cents a pound for sugar.

Control of Cane Refiners' Profits.

"Immediately upon the establishment of the food administration," Mr. Hoover said, "an examination was made of the costs and profits of refining and it was finally determined that the spread between the cost of raw and the sale of refined cane sugar should be limited to $1.30 per hundred pounds. The pre-war differential had averaged about 85 cents and increased costs were found to have been imposed by the war in increased cost of refining, losses, cost of bags, labor, insurance, interest and other things, rather more than cover the difference. After prolonged negotiations the refiners were placed under agreement establishing these limits on October 1, and anything over this amount to be agreed extortionate under the law.

"In the course of these investigations it was found by canvass of the Cuban producers that their sugar had, during the first nine months of the past year, sold for an average of about $4.24 per hundred f. o. b. Cuba, to which duty and freight added to the refiners' cost amount to about $5.66 per hundred. The average sale price of granulated by various refineries, according to our investigation, was about $7.50 per hundred, or a differential of $1.84.

"In reducing the differential to $1.30 there was a saving to the public of 54 cents per hundred. Had such a differential been in use from the 1st of January, 1917, the public would have saved in the first nine months of the year about $24,800,000."

Next Year.

With a view to more efficient organization of the trade in imported sugars next year two committees have been formed by the food administration:

1. A committee comprising representatives of all of the elements of American cane refining groups. The principal duty of this committee is to divide the sugar imports pro rata to their various capacities and see that absolute justice is done to every refiner.

2. A committee comprising three representatives of the English, French and Italian governments; two representatives of the American refiners, with a member of the food administration. Only two of the committee have arrived from Europe, but they represent the allied governments. The duties of this committee are to determine the most economical sources from a transport point of view of all the allies to arrange transport at uniform rates, to distribute the foreign sugar between the United States and allies, subject to the approval of the American, English, French and Italian governments.

This committee, while holding strong views as to the price to be paid for Cuban sugar, has not had the final voice. This voice has rested in the governments concerned, together with the Cuban government, and I wish to state emphatically that all of the gentlemen concerned as good commercial men have endeavored with the utmost patience and skill to secure a lower price, and their persistence has reduced Cuban demands by 15 cents per hundred. The price agreed upon is about $4.60 per hundred pounds, f. o. b. Cuba, or equal to about $6 duty paid New York.

"This price should eventuate," Mr. Hoover said, "to about $7.30 per hundred for refined sugar from the refiners at seaboard points or should place sugar in the hands of the consumer at from 8½ to 9 cents per pound, depending upon locality and conditions of trade, or at from 1 to 2 cents below the prices of August last and from one-half to a cent per pound cheaper than today.

"There is now an elimination of speculation, extortionate profits, and in the refining alone the American people will save over $25,000,000 of the refining charges last year. A part of these savings goes to the Cuban, Hawaiian, Porto Rican and Louisianian producer and part to the consumer.

"Appeals to prejudice against the food administration have been made because the Cuban price is 34 cents above that of 1917. It is said in effect that the Cubans are at our mercy; that we could get sugar a cent lower. We made exhaustive study of the cost of producing sugar in Cuba last year through our own agents in Cuba, and we find it averages $3.39, while many producers are at a higher level. We found that an average profit of at least a cent per pound was necessary in order to maintain and stimulate production or that a minimum price of $4.37 was necessary, and even this would stifle some producers.

"The price ultimately agreed was 23 cents above these figures, or about one-fifth of a cent per pound to the American consumer, and more than this amount has been saved by our reduction in refiners' profits. If we wish to stifle production in Cuba we could take that course just at the time of all times in our history when we want production for ourselves and the allies. Further than that, the state department will assure you that such a course would produce disturbances in Cuba and destroy even our present supplies, but beyond all these material reasons is one of human justice. This great country has no right by the might of its position to strangle Cuba.

"Therefore there is no imposition upon the American public. Charges have been made before this committee that Mr. Rolph endeavored to benefit the California refinery of which he was manager by this 34 cent increase in Cuban price. Mr. Rolph did not fix the price. It does raise the price to the Hawaiian farmer about that amount. It does not raise the profit of the California refinery, because their charge for refining is, like all other refiners, limited to $1.30 per hundred pounds, plus the freight differential on the established custom of the trade.

"Mr. Rolph has not one penny of interest in that refinery."

Are You Eating To Win the War?

This Newspaper recommends Today's Housewife to every patriotic woman who wishes to help win the great war

Today's Housewife is especially needed by every homemaker in the present war-crisis, because the seven Courses in Domestic Science now running in the magazine help housewives to better select, prepare and conserve food supplies, to cut down waste, and at the same time to add to the health and welfare of the entire family.

Today's Housewife is the only magazine that maintains a model home where cookery recipes, new household devices, cleaning methods, etc., are put to practical tests before their appearance in the pages of the magazine.

The monthly lesson on "Cookery, Foods and Nutrition" under the direction of Caroline Hunt of the Department of Agriculture, is alone worth the price of a ten-year subscription not only to the woman who follows each lesson but to the government of the United States in helping to win the terrific war with the Central Empires of Europe.

Favorite Magazine of Home-loving Women

REMEMBER, better home-making is the ideal back of TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE, its reason for existence, its earnestly planned-for goal. Better homemaking in its largest sense, with the spiritual and mental no less than the material needs of the family in view; home-making as the biggest of woman's opportunities rather than housekeeping as the most dreary of woman's drudgeries.

Today's Housewife
The Magazine of the hour in mobilizing women for victory

While Today's Housewife stands in a class by itself in its practical value to homemakers, it is also noteworthy for its wonderfully inspiring editorials and special articles, for its clean, delightful stories, and its beautiful illustrations and covers by leading artists. Over one million women agree that TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is worth several times the price of 10 cents per copy.

Holt Boy Wounded

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Nelson received a telegram last Friday that their son, Bently, had received a slight wound on the Wednesday before, but no other particulars were given. As the young man was in the machine gun corps and not in the trenches, it isn't likely that his wounds will prove serious and all hope for the best. This brings the war pretty close home to the people of this vicinity and all sympathize with the family in their anxiety while waiting for more news from France,

Story Everyone Should Read.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale is best known to the present generation as a writer of fiction that has taken a high and deserved place in American literature. His immortal short story, "The Man Without a Country," was published anonymously in the Atlantic Monthly in 1863 and collected with other stories in a volume issued five years afterward.

Great as were Doctor Hale's contributions to the literature of his country, there is nothing in all his works which will live longer than his portrayal of Philip Nolan's unfortunate career. Since its first publication, now many years more than half a century ago, it has been considered a masterpiece of literature as well as an unequaled inspiration to patriotism. Especially to the young and impetuous does the story make a thrilling appeal and at the same time teaches a stern lesson. No American can read it without a keener sense of the duty which he owes to his country

4,000 KILLED IN FIGHT IN RUSSIA

Dead And Wounded Fill Streets As Bolsheviki Take Kier, In Ukrania.

ODESSA IS THREATENED

Menaced By Roumanians Who Now Control Part of Bessarabia—Poles Defeat Bolsheviki at Bobruisk —Teutons Renew War.

Stockholm, Feb. 19.—The Germans have resumed war measures against Russia, the Social Democraten, states. Their first objective is the seizure of Esthonia and Livonia, it declares.

Petrograd, Feb. 19.—Kiev, one of the principal cities of Ukrania, has been captured by the bolsheviki after sanguinary fighting. The streets were filled with dead or wounded. While the fighting was at the height the city was bombarded by bolsheviki aviators.

Poles Defeat Bolsheviki.

Polish troops have defeated the bolsheviki at Bobruisk, 85 miles southeast of Minsk. Other Poles are advancing toward Smolensk. Roumanians control the Akkerman district of Bessarabia and are threatening Odessa.

4,000 Dead, 7,000 Wounded.

The casualties at Kiev are estimated at 4,000 killed and 7,000 wounded.

In a battle at Odessa between the bolsheviki and the moderates hundreds were killed. The city was bombarded by warships.

New Battle Begun.

A battle was begun between the bolsheviki and a wing of the Cossack army of General Alexiev, former Russian commander-in-chief, which is advancing toward Kharkov in Ukrania, 420 miles southwest of Moscow. The bolsheviki are sending troops to crush this newest revolution, but reports received here indicate that the forces of Boris Savinkov who was a member of the Kerensky cabinet, are ready to join General Alexiev.

Friction Among Forces.

Diplomatic reports indicate that the Alexiev movement is obtaining less support than it originators expected. Much friction exists among the forces in the Don.

The newspaper report that a group of Polish troops is advancing against the bolsheviki on the northwestern front and that another force is making an advance in the vicinity of Minsk. Ensign Klylenko, the bolsheviki commander-in-chief, is insisting on the removal of headquarters from Mohilev to Petrograd.

Bolsheviki Staff at Odessa.

The bolsheviki have established a staff at Odessa, from which point they are conducting the Ukranian and Roumanian campaigns.

Ensign Krylenko, the bolsheviki commander-in-chief, has decided to come to Petrograd to raise an army of 100,000 bolsheviki which he will command personally in operations against the Cossack army of General Alexiev.

NEW JAPANESE AMBASSADOR

Ishii Succeeds Sato—Headed Recent Imperial Mission.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Viscount Kikujiso Ishii has been appointed ambassador for Japan to the United States and will soon reach Washington. He succeeds Ambassador Sato, who takes a place on the unassigned roll of diplomatic representatives in Tokio.

Viscount Ishii was head of the imperial Japanese mission which came to Washington last August to extend to President Wilson and the American government the thanks of the Japanese emperor for the entry of America into the war on the side of the Entente Allies.

AIR RAIDERS SLAUGHTER 27

Results of Recent Attack on London Announced.

London, Feb. 19.—Eleven persons were killed and four injured in the aerial attack on London last Saturday, it is announced officially.

The casualties in Sunday night's air raid were 16 killed and 37 injured, it was announced later.

Six or seven airplanes took part in the raid Sunday night. The first flew over London, dropping bombs in various districts. All the others were turned back.

Three Shot in I. W. W. Hall Raid

Hillsboro, Ill. Feb. 19.—Three men have been shot in a raid on I. W. W. headquarters here. One of the wounded men is expected to die.

Directs U. S. Propaganda Campaign

New York, Feb. 19.—Arthur Woods, police commissioner under Mayor Mitchel, has been appointed to direct a worldwide American propaganda. It will have for its purpose the spreading among neutrals of the truth about America's role in the war, informing the people of Germany what we are fighting for and most important bolstering up the morale of our Allies by a knowledge of what this nation is doing. He has undertaken nothing more or less than to combat German propaganda.

RUSS-GERMAN ARMISTICE OFF

Statement From Berlin Says Kaiser Reserves Free Hand In Every Direction.

GERMANS FIGHT SELVES

Petrograd Dispatch Indicates Boches Have Refused To Obey Commanders To Move To French Front.

London, Feb. 19.—According to an official communication issued in Berlin the armistice between the Germans and Bolsheviki government has been declared off. This communication contains the grave statement that Germany reserves a free hand in every direction. Whether the Germans anticipate an immediate attack on the Russians has not developed, but undoubtedly there is tense feeling between the German military officials and the Bolsheviki by reason of the fact that Leon Trotzky, the Bolsheviki foreign minister, has not met the desires of Germany to frame a separate peace treaty with that country.

Germans Fight Selves.

Dispatches from Petrograd indicate that German soldiers have declined to obey their commanders to move to the French front and even have given battle to brothers in arms who endeavored to force them to do so. In Petrograd, at last accounts, marked disorders were still prevailing, there being indiscriminate shooting and looting.

An Amsterdam dispatch says that Roumania intends under conditions to enter into peace negotiations with the Teuton powers.

Gives Two Days' Notice.

Amsterdam, Feb. 18.—An official statement issued by the German imperial government states that the Petrograd government by its conduct has renounced the armistice which had been in existence on the Russian front. This renouncement is regarded as having occurred February 10.

In conformity therewith, the statement says, the German government must, after a lapse of seven days, give notice of the termination as provided for under the treaty and reserve a free hand in every direction.

Trotzky Makes Protest.

London, Feb. 18.—A Russian government wireless dispatch received here gives a message from Leon Trotzky to the German government, dated February 17. It asks whether the statement received, to the effect that General Hoffman on February 16 declared that a state of war would be resumed at noon the 18th between Germany and Russia was correct, "because it seems a provocative act to give only two days' notice instead of seven, as stipulated in the armistice agreement."

LABOR ENDORSES WAR AIMS

Says Common People Must Join Fight to Finish.

Washington, Feb. 19.—American labor's indorsement of war aims as stated by President Wilson, and recognition that the war against Prussianism is a workingman's war, is recorded in a declaration issued by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor at the close of a seven-day session at headquarters here.

The declaration says the peace parleys between Russia and Germany have shown the futility of diplomatic negotiations until the German militarists are convinced they cannot superimpose their will on the rest of the world, and that spontaneous uprisings in Germany have demonstrated that the militarist government still is stronger than the movement there for emancipation.

A gigantic struggle lies ahead and now is a time when all workers must soberly face the grave importance of their daily work, says the declaration, and it adds:

"Either the principles of free democracy or of Prussian militaristic autocracy will prevail. There can be no compromise. So there can be no neutrality among nations or individuals—we must stand up and be counted with one cause or the other. For labor there is but one choice."

Two More Army Sanatoriums

Washington, Feb. 18.—Sanatoriums for the treatment of soldiers suffering from tuberculosis are to be established at New Haven, Conn., and at Whipple Barracks, Prescott, Ariz., in addition to those to be built at Asheville, N. Washington, Feb. 16. — Coastwise and Great Lakes steamship lines operated by railroads have been placed by Director General McAdoo under the supervision of W. H. Pleasants of New York, president of the Ocean Steamship company, designated manager of the marine section of the railroad administration. Special attention will be given to organization of water transportation facilities to insure greater movement of coal to New England next winter and better use of lake shipping in coal hauling

SAMMIES MEET FOE GAS SHELLS

Successfully Withstand Three Hour Bombardment of Enemy With Poison Fumes.

FOE AIR FLEET HALTED

American Aviators, Machine Guns and Batteries Drive Off Teuton Planes When Attack Is Made on Sector.

With the American Army in France, Feb. 18. — An unsuccessful bombardment with gas shells has been made by the Germans opposite the Americans. American machines and anti-aircraft batteries have also driven off German airplanes in large numbers.

Gas shells in considerable number from the German guns fell within the American sector, making necessary the wearing of masks in all parts of the trenches for more than three hours.

One American was injured by an exploding shell, but so excellent has been the anti-gas training of the men, not a single case of gas poisoning was reported. The duration of the shelling was two hours, but traces of the poison fumes remained for another hour after the bombardment had ceased.

Much Aerial Activity.

Visibility was good in the clear, cold atmosphere and as a result there was much aerial activity on both sides. German airplanes in large numbers repeatedly attempted to cross the American lines, but were driven off either by anti-aircraft batteries or by the air squadrons.

American artillerymen rapidly are attaining a high degree of efficiency. They continually fired shells that exploded so close to the enemy airplanes that the aviators were compelled to dodge and duck and scurried back to a safer area, pursued across the sky by a trail of shrapnel puffs.

The artillery on both sides resumed activity once more. The American gunners shelled the German rear lines and communications effectively.

No German Drive Yet.

Friday, the date set by influential German newspapers for the starting of the much advertiseed German offensive, has passed and no aggression on the part of the enemy materialized. On the contrary both the British and French armies delivered at widely separated points on the Western front, smashees at the German line. These attacks, although they were mainly in the nature of raids, were successfully carried out and resulted in the capture of prisoners and the infliction of casualties on the enemy.

TUSCANIA DEATHS MAY BE 174

Eighty-two Names Are Officially Listed With Department.

Washington, Feb. 18. — Eighty two names of known dead among American soldiers who were on the Tuscania have been received by cable at the War department.

An Associated Press dispatch several days ago announced that 164 soldier victims had been buried on the Scottish coast and gave the names of 131 identified, but this last message was the first official partial list to reach the department.

James J. Buckley of Minneapolis is named in the official list as among the dead. Names of other Minnesota and Northwest men are:

Frederick Allen, Ada, Minn.
Homer Llewlyn Anderson, Cumberland, Wis.
Russell F. Bennett, Plainfield, Wis.
Jack J. Byrne, Butte, Mont.
Walter Crellin, Virginia, Minn.
Frank Drahota, Jackson, Minn.
William J. Trageser, Cottonwood Minn.
James P. Hawley, Neenah, Wis.
John C. Johnson, Big Falls, Minn.

TWO MORE AVIATORS KILLED

One Dies by Fall and Other Succumbs to Injury

Washington, Feb 18.—General Pershing has reported that Cadet Conrad P. Hazen, signal corps, New York, died February 11 as a result of an airplane accident.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 16. A cablegram received at Yale stated that First Lieut. Frank Browne Turner, '17, of Wicomico, Md., was killed by an airplane fall in France Feb. 9

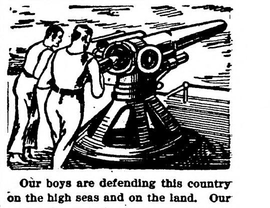
Washington, Feb 18.—Archibald B. Roosevelt has been named a captain of infantry in the National army, jumping from a second lieutenant.

To Train Pigeons for Army.

Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa, Feb. 18.—A consignment of 50 pigeons is expected here soon as part of the equipment for the division signal corps. The adoption of these birds as a means of communication is held of the highest importance by signal officers, according to Major C. L. Eastman. Division signal officer tests on the battle fronts have proved the transmission of messages by pigeons to be 97 per cent efficient. The birds are not susceptible to poison gas.



Our boys are defending this country on the high seas and on the land. Our own defense against a common enemy is to keep the system clean by ridding the body of the toxins, or poisons, which are bred in the intestines. When you feel tired, sleepy, headachy, when your breath is offensive, or pimples appear on the face and neck, it is time to recognize the danger and protect your bodily health by taking something for the liver such as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

The machinery of the body needs to be oiled, kept in good condition, just as the guns or machinery of a ship. Why should a human person neglect his own machinery more than that of his automobile or his guns? Yet most people do neglect themselves. Their tongue has a dark brown color, skin sallow, breath bad, yet they fail to see that their machinery needs attention.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have been known for nearly half a century. They are made of May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, made into a tiny pellet and coated with sugar. They are standard and efficacious. You can obtain them at any drug store in vials for twenty-five cents. Ask for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—and get no other!

MADE USE OF STEAM POWER

Centuries Ago, Men Were Familiar With Its Possibilities, but Did Not Develop Them.

A real curiosity in the United States patent office is a working model of the first steam engine, built by a clever inventor named Hero a century and a half before Christ was born.

A modern engineer would call it a steam reaction turbine. It consists of a sperical vessel pivoted on an axis and supplied with steam through one of the pivots. The steam escapes through bent pipes in opposite directions, thus causing the globe to revolve.

Hero was the first steam engineer. Having hit upon the idea that the expansive energy of steam could be used for power, he developed a number of devices for its mechanical employment.

One of them was a hollow altar, beneath which a fire was built. Under the altar was a vessel containing water. The latter, converted into steam, opened the temple doors by pressure upon a pair of vertical posts on which the doors swung. When the fire cooled, the doors closed automatically.

The ancients 2,000 years and more ago used steam power for turning spits and various other unimportant purposes. But it does not seem to have occurred to them that this source of energy might be made available for mechanical utilization on a large scale.

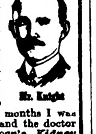
HEALTH RESTORED

Serious Kidney Trouble Was Removed by Doan's and Results Have Been Permanent.

"Kidney trouble put me in a bad way," says Thomas A. Knight, 624 N. Ninth St., East St. Louis, Ill. "It came on with pain across my back and the attacks kept getting worse until I had a spell that laid me up. Morphine was the only relief and I couldn't move without help. The kidney secretions were scanty, painful and filled with sediment.



Mr. Knight

"I was unable to leave the house, couldn't rest and became utterly exhausted. The only way I could take ease was by bolstering myself up with pillows. For three months I was in that awful condition and the doctor said I had gravel. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me back to good health and I have gained wonderfully in strength and weight."

Little Falls.—Charles Anderson of Swanville, who recently injured his right eye and was brought to St. Gabriel's hospital, has had to lose the use of that member and the eye was removed.

Moorhead.—Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Benner, joint proprietors of the Lally hotel, pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate E. U. Wade to running an unlicensed drinking place. Both were fined $100 and costs.

Hastings.—George W. Morse, a pioneer and retired business man, is dead. He served as a volunteer with the Mounted Rangers during the Sioux Indian expedition in 1863. He is survived by his wife.

Moorhead.—The Clay county board has passed a resolution instructing city, town and village clerks of Clay county to register all aliens on February 25, 26 and 27, as required by the state safety commission in a recent order.

Hallock. — The state fire marshal has condemned the Pacific hotel building here and ordered it removed from the premises within 60 days. The hotel is a 60-room house, steam heated, equipped with baths and has water and sewer connections.

Williams. — William Griffin, who has spent the last month in town, was out to his homestead, 17 miles south of here, and discovered that in his absence some marauder had ransacked his cabin and carried off all his supplies, including 200 pounds of flour.

Faribault. — August Ruther, on trial for the murder of his brother-in-law, August Fiske, was found guilty by a jury in district court here. Ruther is alleged to have poisoned Fiske by placing paris green in a bottle of liquor on September 9, 1917, and was indicted for the crime in November.

New Ulm. — Charles Schreiner of New Ulm, charged with failing to register; Max Bisoke and August Rost, farm laborers living near here, charged with refusing to have their finger prints taken at the police station as required from aliens, are in the county jail awaiting the action of the authorities.

Alexandria. — Celebrating the formal opening of the new Alexandria hotel, 200 citizens assembled as the guests of the Alexandria Commercial club. Although the hotel has been in operation for a short time, a banquet was made the occasion for the formal opening and the entire building was given over to the visitors, who were received by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ginther, the proprietors and guests of honor.

East Grand Forks.—Mrs. Peter Eichhammer, mother of John Eichhammer, one of the Tuscania victims, is doing her share in the war. Peter Eichhammer, another son, is a member of the machine gun company, 164th infantry, U. S. E. F., and a third son, Michael Eichhammer, expects to depart with the Polk county quota for Camp Dodge.

Fergus Falls.—Deputy Sheriff Slatten has returned from Billings, Mont., bringing J. J. Rode, who will answer to a charge of larceny in the town of Compton a year or more ago. A building burned and it was presumed that there was considerable clover burned, but later events indicated that the clover had been stolen. Rode was indicted but left the country.

St. Paul. — Discontinuance of the Saturday closing order at the state capitol, adopted three weeks ago as a feul saving measure, is announced by Gustav Lindquist, secretary to the governor. State departments began complaining that work is in arrears because of the extra holiday, he said, and the number of business visitors at the building last Saturday exceeded the usual average, despite the closing order. The building will be open until noon Saturdays in the future.

Moose Lake.—Joseph Dvorak, who was injured when struck by a falling tree in the woods near here, escaped from the hospital just before it became known that he is listed in St. Paul as a deserter. Dvorak, when he became conscious, asked the attending physician if he had seen his questionnaire. The physician questioned a draft board in St. Paul, which replied that Dvorak had been sent his questionnaire in August, but had failed to return it. The physician said Dvorak was in a serious condition when he left the hospital.

St. Cloud.—Acting upon instructions from the first assistant postmaster general, Postoffice Inspector M. I. Ryan went to Rockville and removed the postmaster, Jacob Weisman, and put the office in charge of Joseph J. Mertes, who will act as postmaster at that place until an appointment is made in the regular way. Mr. Weisman's removal from the office is due to the fact that he has allowed seditious utterances to be made in his store, which was used as the post-office. He also is alleged to have said, "Germany will lick them all."

St. Cloud.—Fred Schilplin has been appointed acting postmaster for the city of St. Cloud as a result of the death of J. D. Kowalkowski. Mr. Schilplin has assumed his duties. The appointment of the permanent successor to the late postmaster will be made under the civil service rule.

Winona.—Lieutenant Paul Perigord, soldier-priest, in one day in Winona delivered a half dozen addresses and was a guest at two banquets. Lieutenant Perigord also took part in the dedication of the service flag at St Stanislaus Polish Catholic church bearing 168 stars.

NOT QUITE WHAT THEY MEANT

Frenchman and German Alike Too Literal in Their Use of an Unfamiliar Language.

The literal translation of words and grammatical construction of sentences in the different languages is productive of some very amusing situations.

A gentleman whose wife was noted for her domesticity was seated next to a Frenchman at a dinner party. Desiring to compliment his neighbor and enter into conversation, he remarked: "Your wife, she is very homely."

But it remained for a German hotelkeeper to cap the climax. Having taken a trip on a train he was much impressed by the brakeman calling "Next station ——. Don't forget your packages." Desiring to save himself the annoyance of forwarding articles left by departing guests, but mixing his English words with his German grammar, he put up a sign where it could not be missed by them:

"Wait! Look! Have you anything left!"

AND NOW THEY ARE COOKING TOBACCO TO MAKE IT BETTER

For a good many years The American Tobacco Company have been conducting a series of experiments having as their object the improvement of smoking tobaccos.

And it is interesting to know that one of the greatest of their discoveries was one of the simplest, and that was, that cooking or toasting tobacco improved it in every way, just as cooking most foods improves them.

They took a real Burley tobacco, grown in this country; toasted it as you would toast bread; moistened it to replace the natural moisture driven off by toasting, made it into cigarettes, called them "LUCKY STRIKE, the toasted cigarette," and offered them to the public.

The result has been the greatest demand ever created for any tobacco product in a similar length of time.

The change produced by toasting is not only most wholesome, but the flavor is greatly improved, just as cooking improves meat, for example.—Adv.

Not a Hero.

"A fellow came into my office this morning and persuaded me to give him a dollar. He said he had seen service on a British tank."

"That's interesting. Did he tell you about his experiences at the front?"

"No, and for a good reason. I discovered later that he had merely helped to paint the thing before it left the factory."

PERUNA—The Greatest Human Vitalizer

Mr. Wm. A. Hartman, 217½ South Second St., Muskogee, Okla., writes: "During the winters of 1897 and 1898, I was so badly afflicted with catarrh of the head and thought I must surely die from it. After trying many doctors and all other recommended remedies made known to me, I was induced to use Peruna. I was cured entirely by using twelve bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Manalin.

Since that time, I have never been without Peruna. I use it for colds and as a general tonic during Spring and Fall months and find it the greatest human vitalizer."

Those who object to liquid medicines can secure Peruna tablets.

Win the War by Preparing the Land

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

The Man Without a Country

By

Edward Everett Hale

This Story Is Furnished This Newspaper Through the Publicity Department of the Commission of Public Safety.

[No document in actual American history conveys a more powerful lesson of what citizenship in this republic means, none delivers a more searching appeal to loyalty, than this fanciful recital of the Man Without a Country. The unhappy creature whose living death it has graved upon the memory of mankind was but a figure born of a writer's imagination. Yet, the account of his passionate outburst and of his dreadful expiation stirs the dullest soul, and will awaken emotion in the minds of readers of generations yet unborn. There can be no more arresting lesson for the disloyal or the heedless, no more inspiring appeal to the spirit of true Americanism, than this memorable work of literary art and high-souled patriotism.]

I suppose that very few casual readers of the New York Herald of August 13th observed, in an obscure corner, among the "Deaths," the announcement:

"NOLAN. Died, on board U. S. Corvette Levant, Lat. 2° 11" S., Long. 131° W., on the 11th of May, Philip Nolan."

I happened to observe it, because I was stranded at the old Mission-house in Mackinac, waiting for a Lake Superior steamer which did not choose to come, and I was devouring, to the very stubble, all the current literature I could get hold of, even down to the deaths and marriages in the "Herald." My memory for names and people is good, and the reader will see, as he goes on, that I had reason enough to remember Philip Nolan. There are hundreds of readers who would have paused at that announcement, if the officer of the Levant who reported it had chosen to make it thus: "Died, May 11th, 'The Man without a Country.'" For it was as "The Man without a Country" that poor Philip Nolan had generally been known by the officers who had him in charge during some fifty years, as, indeed, by all the men who had sailed under them. I dare say there is many a man who has taken wine with him once a fortnight, in a three years' cruise, who never knew that his name was "Nolan," or whether the poor wretch had any name at all.

There can now be no possible harm in telling this poor creature's story. Reason enough there has been till now, ever since Madison's administration went out in 1817, for very strict secrecy, the secrecy of honor itself, among the gentlemen of the navy who have had Nolan in successive charge. And certainly it speaks well for the esprit de corps of the profession and the personal honor of its members, that to the press this man's story has been wholly unknown, and, I think, to the country at large, also.

I have reason to think, from some investigations I made in the naval archives, when I was attached to the bureau of construction, that every official report relating to him was burned when Ross burned the public buildings at Washington. One of the Tuckers, or possibly one of the Watsons, had Nolan in charge at the end of the war; and when, on returning from his cruise, he reported at Washington to one of the Crowninshields—who was in the navy department when he came home—he found that the department ignored the whole business. Whether they really knew nothing about it, or whether it was a non mi ricordo, determined on as a piece of policy, I do not know. But this I do know, that since 1817, and possibly before, no naval officer has mentioned Nolan in his report of a cruise.

As I say, there is no need for secrecy any longer. And now the poor creature is dead, it seems to me worth while to tell a little of his story, by way of showing young Americans of today what it is to be

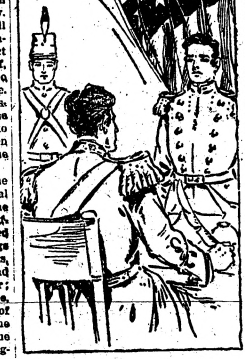
A MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY.

Philip Nolan was as fine a young officer as there was in the "Legion of the West," as the western division of our army was then called. When Aaron Burr made his first dashing expedition down to New Orleans in 1805, at Fort Massac, or somewhere above on the river, he met, as the devil would have it, this gay, dashing, bright young fellow, at some dinner party, I think. Burr marked him, talked to him, walked with him, took him a day or two's voyage in his flatboat, and, in short, fascinated him. For the next year barrack life was very tame to poor Nolan. He occasionally availed of the permission the great man had given him to write to him. Long, high-worded, stilted letters the poor boy wrote and re-wrote and copied. But never a line did he have in reply from the gay deceiver. The other boys in the garrison sneered at him, because he sacrificed in this unrequited affection for a politician the time which they devoted to Monongahela, sledge, and high-low-jack. Bourbon, euchre, and poker were still unknown. But one day Nolan had his revenge. This time Burr came down the river, not as an attorney seeking a place for his office, but as a disguised conqueror. He had defeated I know not how many district attorneys; he had dined at I know not how many public dinners; he had been heralded in I know not how many Weekly Arguses; and it was rumored that he had an army behind him and an empire before him. It was a great day—his arrival—to poor Nolan. Burr had not been at the fort an hour before he sent for him. That evening he asked Nolan to take him out in his skiff, to show him a cane-brake or a cottonwood tree, as he said, really to seduce him; and by the time the sail was over, Nolan was enlisted body and soul. From that time, though he did not yet know it, he lived as "A Man without a Country."

What Burr meant to do I know no more than you, dear reader. It is none of our business just now. Only, when the grand catastrophe came, and Jefferson and the House of Virginia of that day undertook to break on the wheel all the possible Clarences of the then House of York, by the great treason trial at Richmond, some of the lesser fry in that distant Mississippi valley, which was farther from us than Puget Sound is today, introduced the like novelty on their provincial stage, and, to while away the monotony of the summer at Fort Adams, got up, for spectacles, a string of court-martials on the officers there. One and another of the colonels and majors were tried, and, to fill out the list, little Nolan, against whom, heaven knows, there was evidence enough, that he was sick of the service, had been willing to be false to it, and would have obeyed any order to march anywhither with anyone who would follow him, had the order only been signed, "By command of His Exc. A. Burr." The courts dragged on. The big flies escaped, rightly for all I know. Nolan was proved guilty enough, as I say; yet you and I would never have heard of him, reader, but that, when the president of the court asked him at the close, whether he wished to say anything to show that he had always been faithful to the United States, he cried out, in a fit of frenzy:

"D—n the United States! I wish I may never hear of the United States again!"

I suppose he did not know how the words shocked old Colonel Morgan, who was holding the court. Half the officers who sat in it had served through the Revolution, and their lives, not to say their necks, had been risked for the very idea which he so cavalierly cursed in his madness. He, on his part, had grown up in the West of those days, in the midst of "Spanish plot," "Orleans plot," and all the rest. His education, such as it was, had been perfected in commercial expeditions to Vera Cruz, and I think he told me his father once hired an Englishman to be a private tutor for a winter on the plantation. He had spent half his youth with an older brother, hunting horses in Texas; and, in a word, to him "United States" was scarcely a reality. Yet he had been fed by "United States" for all the years since he had been in the army. He had sworn on his faith as a Christian to be true to "United States." It was "United States" which gave him the uniform he wore, and the sword by his side. Nay, my poor Nolan, it was only because "United States" had picked you out first as one of her own confidential men of honor, that "A. Burr" cared for you a straw more than for the flatboat men who sailed his ark for him. I do not excuse Nolan; I only explain to the reader why he damned his country, and wished he might never hear her name again.



"I Wish I May Never Hear of the United States Again!"

He never did hear her name but once again. From that moment, September 23, 1807, till the day he died, May 11, 1863, he never heard her name again. For that half century and

Are You Eating To Win the War?

This Newspaper recommends Today's Housewife to every patriotic woman who wishes to help win the great war

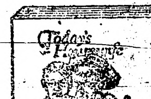
Today's Housewife is especially needed by every homemaker in the present war-crisis, because the seven Courses in Domestic Science now running in the magazine help housewives to better select, prepare and conserve food supplies, to cut down waste, and at the same time to add to the health and welfare of the entire family.

Today's Housewife is the only magazine that maintains a model home where cookery recipes, new household devices, cleaning methods, etc., are put to practical tests before their appearance in the pages of the magazine.

The monthly lesson on "Cookery, Foods and Nutrition" under the direction of Caroline Hunt of the Department of Agriculture, is alone worth the price of a ten-year subscription not only to the woman who follows each lesson but to the government of the United States in helping to win the terrific war with the Central Empires of Europe.

Favorite Magazine of Home-loving Women

REMEMBER, better home-making is the ideal back of TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE, its reason for existence, its earnestly planned-for goal. Better homemaking in its largest sense, with the spiritual and mental no less than the material needs of the family in view; homemaking as the biggest of woman's opportunities rather than housekeeping as the most dreary of woman's drudgeries.



Today's Housewife
The Magazine of the home in mobilizing woman for victory

While Today's Housewife stands in a class by itself in its practical value to homemakers, it is also noteworthy for its wonderfully inspiring editorials and special articles, for its clean, delightful stories, and its beautiful illustrations and covers by leading artists. Over one million women agree that TODAY'S HOUSEWIFE is worth several times the price of 10 cents per copy.

Death of Rev. Tunheim.

Rev. Samuel Tunheim died very suddenly last Saturday afternoon of heart failure. He was returning home from Newfolden with a load of wood and as it pulled hard, Mr. Tunheim walked behind and his son drove. On reaching home the boy missed his father and going back to look for him, found him lying face downward in the snow and life was extinct.

His wife, daughter, son and two ladies arrived here Monday in response to the message telling Mrs. Tunheim of her husbands sudden death.

Rev. Samuel Tunheim was the pioneer preacher and missionary of this part of the country and was well known and much respected and loved by all the people.

Funeral services will be held at the home 12 o'clock Friday and from there, they will go to the Newfolden church.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved family and friends.

About 300 people, mostly farmers, their wives and sons, attended the Non-Partisian meeting Tuesday conducted by Mr. Coats and Wood.

Important News Events of the World Summarized

European War News

Five entente allied airmen, flying over the Julian Alps, found that the town of Innsbruck, Austrian Tyrol, was not protected by anti-aircraft guns, says a dispatch from Buchs, Switzerland. The airmen thereupon swooped down to within 300 yards of the ground, picked out targets and copiously bombed them, including the railroad station, barracks and two munitions factories. Soldiers and civilians were killed. The German consulate was hit and trains loaded with soldiers were attacked by machine guns.

A regiment of Esthonian troops has gone over to the Germans, the Berlin war office announces. German troops, advancing in Esthonia, have captured Hapsal on the coast near the entrance to the Gulf of Finland and have gone beyond Rouneburg, Wolmar and Spandan. They marched into Rieshitsa.

* * *

"Defense to the death" against Germany is ordered in the proclamation of the Russian commissioners, Reuter's Petrograd correspondent telegraphs to London. The commissioners appeal to the soldiers to destroy railways and provisions and compel the bourgeoisie to dig trenches under penalty of death.

The Mar Caspio, a Spanish steamship, 2,723 tons, was sunk by submarine shell fire, it was announced at Madrid.

* * *

The British have captured Jericho, in Palestine, the London war office reports. The city was entered by Australian troops. Little opposition was encountered.

Bolsheviki leaders declare that if the German advance continues they will defend Petrograd with the Red guard and harass the German advance by guerrilla warfare. No plans have been made for evacuation of the city. The bolsheviki says this is a new war, not the old war, and that they will present a united front against the Germans.

* * *

A further advance of 3½ miles on a front of 7¾ miles has been made by the British [illegible] in Palestine, the London war office announces. The British are now within four miles of Jericho.

* * *

Great Britain spent $40,000,000 a day for the four weeks ended February 16. This statement was given in the house of commons in London by Andrew Bonar Law, chancellor of the exchequer.

* * *

Lieut. Roland G. Garros, the famous French aviator, and Lieut. Antoine Marchal have reached Holland. According to Les Neuvelles of Maastricht they escaped from a German prison.

One hundred and ten persons perished when the steamer La Dives was torpedoed in the Mediterranean on February 1, according to an official announcement made at Paris. The attacking submarine was not sighted.

* * *

French detachments made a heavy attack on the Germans in Lorraine, entering the German lines over a large front and capturing more than 400 prisoners, according to the Paris war office announcement.

* * *

Ten German airplanes were brought down and six more disabled by British airmen Sunday, according to an official statement on aerial activities issued in London. Hundreds of bombs have been dropped on various targets and British aviators raided Treves and Thionville.

Domestic

In a stirring address before a patriotic mass meeting of labor at the Lexington theater in New York, Secretary of the Navy Daniels indicated that the Russian people may hope for help from America if they resist the invasion of Germany. More than 2,000 laborites at the meeting, held under the auspices of the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, cheered his remarks.

* * *

"Death to traitors!" These words brought an audience to its feet time after time at the opening session of the congress of national service, under the auspices of the National Security league. "Anti-American and whispering traitors" was the term used by former President Taft in describing the insidious sedition which now constitutes the chief internal enemy of the American people.

Eight clothing manufacturers, two employees and a clerk in the quartermaster's department of the army were indicted by the federal grand jury at New York, charged with being concerned in extensive army uniform cloth frauds. Cloth and other army supplies worth approximately $5,000,000 were stolen.

A hundred or more families living in the vicinity of the Pocantico hills estate of John D. Rockefeller were furnished with a plentiful supply of coal during the recent cold weather.

James W. Gerard underwent a grave operation for a chronic abscess of the bone of the nasal sinuses, it was learned in New York. Dr. Lee M. Hurd, who operated on the former ambassador to Germany, said the crisis was passed.

Nine persons, all members of the family of Morris Miller, lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the Miller home near Peabody, Mass.

Although there have been 51 fatalities at army aviation training camps in this country, the death record was described by Secretary of War Baker as remarkably low. Since last June, he pointed out, student aviators had flown more than 100,000 miles.

U. S.—Teutonic War News

In a patrol fight Americans from units under instruction in the famous Chemin des Dames sector in France killed one German and captured another. One American was slightly wounded. This is the first time it has been permitted to reveal the fact that new American units have entered the line.

A trench mortar projectile fell on one of our trenches in France, killing three and wounding four. The artillery bombardment on the American sector northwest of Toul continues. Night and day enemy projectiles are falling in towns and have been directed at a number of strategical points. The heavy artillery of both sides is thundering over wide stretches of the French front, along the Aisne, in Champagne and up in Alsace.

The first American-built battleplanes are en route to France, nearly five months ahead of the original schedule. In making this announcement Secretary Baker said the first shipment, although in itself not large, "marks the final overcoming of many difficulties met in building up this new and intricate industry."

* * *

The Germans again attempted a raid against the American lines in France, but the raiders were discovered and the artillery, responding to rocket signals, laid down a heavy barrage almost instantly. The Germans' path back to their line was marked by red lines.

* * *

Cadet Charles E. Jones of Pittsfield, Mass., attached to the aviation section of the signal corps, has been killed in an airplane accident in France, the war department was advised by General Pershing.

Washington

The administration railroad bill passed the senate by a viva voce vote. Before passing the measure the senate adopted a resolution of Senator Cummins of Iowa directing the government to take over all short line roads representing an investment of $1,000,000 or more. This was practically the only change of importance effected.

* * *

The next two months will be the most critical period with regard to food that the United States has faced since she entered the war. This was the statement of Herbert Hoover, United States food administrator. Earnest co-operation is called for. Hoover said congestion of the railways is responsible for the present situation.

* * *

Director General McAdoo issued orders to all employees of the railroads of the country to pull together. The government's interest, he said, must be uppermost, wages to be left for determination.

By a vote of 61 to 10 the senate defeated a proposed amendment to the administration railroad bill requiring affirmative action by congress before the railroads can be returned to private ownership. The amendment was proposed by Senator Johnson of South Dakota.

* * *

The war trade board published a general license through the customs service authorizing the entry into the United States without individual import license of all commodities which were in transit on February 16 and for which an import license was necessary before the president's proclamation of that date.

* * *

The shipping board directed that after February 20 no American steamer of less than 2,500 dead-weight tons be permitted to clear for a transatlantic voyage or to engage in other long-voyage trades.

Foreign

Premier Lloyd-George told the house of commons in London that the American delegates to the Versailles supreme war council were responsible for the plan of a centralization of the allies' strategy in the prosecution of the war. He also stated that the American representatives at the Versailles war council had submitted a document that by its "irresistible power and logic" forced a revision of the allied plan for the prosecution of the war.

* * *

Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, the German foreign secretary, at the opening session of the German reichstag in Berlin, delivered an address to the members in which he dwelt at length on the peace treaty signed by the central powers with the Ukraine and the collapse of the peace negotiations with Russia. Von Kuehlmann asserted that the pacific intentions of Russia could no longer be credited, but he said that even today Germany was prepared to conclude a peace "which corresponds with our interests."

101 LOST ON RED CROSS STEAMER

Perish When Florizel, From Halifax to New York, Hits Rock in Storm.

FOE AGENTS BLAMED

Believed to Have Tampered With Compass Causing Pilot to Lose Bearings— Rescuers Brave Seas Despite Several Early Failures.

St. Johns, N. F., Feb. 26.—Forty-three persons on the Red Cross liner Florizel escaped death when the ship piled on the rocks at Broad Cove, near Cape Race and were saved by the coasting steamer Prospero. This information came in a wireless message from the Prospero to John Crosbie, minister of shipping. The rescue ship reported she embarked the survivors safely.

101 Believed Dead.

Three rescue ships brought the first batch of survivors to port and others are on the way. Among the survivors are five saloon and seven steerage passengers.

One hundred and one persons have perished, from among the passengers and crew of the ship, according to word reaching here. This places the death list higher than statements made by the owning company—the Red Cross line—which stated that 136 were aboard the Florizel.

Wrecked Through Treachery.

It is believed the steamer was wrecked through German treachery.

Scenes of indescribable heroism in the face of odds which seemed insurmountable took place as hardy New Foundland seamen stoically donned life belts, piled into puny dories and battled with the mountainous waves of the angry Atlantic.

Boat after boat was launched in the gray light of dawn by men who had left rescue ships to add another tale of heroism to the romantic stories of bravery which go hand in hand with records of shipping in this vicinity.

Many Found Helpless.

Several fruitless efforts to get through the waves did not deter the efforts. Undaunted, they returned to their work and finally succeeded in getting a foothold on a portion of the ship above the water. Ropes which had been carried along were fastened to the ship and then run out to vessels standing by.

Life belts were hauled aboard the wreck and placed on the survivors, most of whom were unable at this time to stand alone. Some were practically unconscious. They were transferred to the small boats which had conquered the waves and taken to safety. The work of rescue occupied five hours.

LA FOLLETTEISM MADE ISSUE

Speech Defending Senator Starts Trouble in Badger Senate.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 26.—Senator Robert M. La Follette is the big issue before the Senate of the Wisconsin legislature. This house is under a call to bring back all absent members to vote on an anti-La Follette resolution.

The trouble started when a two-hour prepared speech was delivered by Senator Huber of Dane county in defense of Senator La Follette's war record.

Senator I. P. Witter, Grand Rapids, withdrew the Republican harmony resolution and announced that La Folletteism on the war had been made an issue.

AMERICANS TAKE GERMANS

Capture Twenty-two and Machine Gun in Raid.

With the American Army in France, Feb. 26.—An American patrol in the Chemin des Dames sector in conjunction with a French patrol has penetrated a few hundred yards into the German lines and captured two German officers, 20 men and one machine gun.

There was some sharp fighting and a number of the enemy were killed and wounded. There were no American casualties. The news quickly spread along the American front, and developed a keen, competitive spirit among the men.

QUAKE KILLS 10,000

Amoy, China, Feb. 26.—Nearly 10,000 persons lost their lives as a result of the recent earthquake in the Amoy Hinterland, according to the latest reports from Swatow.

Propaganda Drive Is Failure.

With the British Army in the Feld, Feb. 26.—German war party propagandists have bungled the job and overcooked the pudding. Careful study of the west front reveals the fact that the most stupendous propaganda drive the Prussians have ever attempted, is a total failure. Despite utilization of every method to create a state of terror among troops and civilians, to increase tension and prolong the nerve-strain before the offensive, their methods have resulted in a fiasco.

PRICE OF PEACE HEAVY ON SLAVS

Demands of Germany Are Met By Bolsheviki In Surrender To Teuton Might.

PROPAGANDA TO STOP

Vast Regions of Valuable Territory Are Relinquished And Russ Army Must Be Immediately Disbanded.

London, Feb. 26.—General Brujevitch has been appointed successor to Ensign Krylenka as commander in chief of the Russian armies, according to a Berlin dispatch forwarded from Amsterdam by the Central News Agency. General Brujevitch, according to the message, has been proclaimed dictator and has ordered the Russian troops to fight to the last. Brujevitch was formerly chief of staff to Ensign Krylenko.

Face of Europe Changed.

London, Feb. 26.—Russia's acceptance of Germany's peace terms changes the face of Europe.

It cuts from Russia 381,000 square miles of territory, 50,000,000 population, and shoves her back from the Baltic, leaving her helpless and impotent in Germany's power, economically and physically.

The press had not yet time to comprehend the full meaning of the situation. The headlines contained such words as "tragic, dismembered, humiliating, impotent."

"Disarmed and Helpless."

The Post says there is "no other hypothesis but treachery." "She is disarmed and helpless," says the Chronicle.

A message from Petrograd says the executive committee of the pan-soviets agreed to accept the German peace terms by a vote of 126 to 85, with 26 not voting.

"Their knees are on our chest and our position is hopeless," said Nikolai Lenine, Bolsheviki premier.

Foe Terms Made Public.

London, Feb. 26.—Following receipt of an official wireless from Petrograd the German peace terms to which Russia has declared its "willingness to accede," have been made public. They were:

The state of war will be declared at an end by Russia and Germany.

The regions west of the line indicated by the Russian delegation at Brest-Litovsk are no longer under the territorial protection of Russia. From the region of Dvinsk, this line is advanced to the eastern frontier of Courland.

Livonia and Esthonia will be immediately cleared of Russians and German police will occupy them until the security of the inhabitants is guaranteed by constitutions. Political prisoners will be immediately released. Russia renounces every claim to intervene in the affairs of these regions. Germany and Austria will define their fate in agreement with the populations. Germany, after the Russian demobilization is complete, will evacuate these regions to the eastern line.

Conclude Peace With Ukrainia.

Russia will conclude a peace with Ukrainia. The Russians will evacuate Finland and Ukrainia immediately.

Russia will do all that is possible to secure for Turkey a return of her eastern Anatolian frontiers, recognizing annulment of the Turkish capitulation.

The Russian army shall be completely demobilized, including newly formed divisions.

Russian warships in the Black, Baltic and Arctic seas shall immediately be sent into Russian harbors until a general peace is concluded, or shall be disarmed. This includes the Allied warships in Russian waters. Resumption of merchant navigation in the Black and Baltic seas shall be withdrawn and the Arctic shall be blockaded by mines until the general peace is signed.

Treaty to Be Re-established.

The Russo-German commercial treaty of 1904 shall be re-established with certain exceptions and immediate negotiations shall be opened for a new treaty.

Indemnification shall be made for the expense of maintaining prisoners of war.

Russia shall promise to halt governmental and private propaganda designed to stir up agitation against the Central empires.

These terms must be accepted within 48 hours. Russian delegates must go to Brest-Litovsk immediately and sign the articles within three days. These must be ratified within a fortnight.

Women's High Boots Tabooed.

London, Feb. 26.—High boots must be abandoned to help win the war. This is the new order for women. Lord Claud Hamilton drew attention in the House of Commons to the continued fashion, which, in the present scarcity of leather, diminishes the amount available for footwear for the poor. Mr. H. W. Forster replied that the war department, acting in consultation with the board of trade, has decided to issue an order prohibiting the manufacture of boots for women with uppers over a certain height.

160 ACRE FARMS IN WESTERN CANADA FREE

Scenes of Prosperity Are Common in Western Canada

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a

and other land at very low prices.

During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley, and Flax. Mixed Farming is as profitable an industry as grain raising. Good schools, churches; markets convenient, climate excellent. MORE SPRING WHEAT ASKED OF FARMERS

Large Supply of Food and Feedstuffs Needed in 1918.

Agricultural Department Asks Increased Pork Production and Larger Acreage of Grain Crops.

Washington, D. C.—The planting of an increased acreage to spring wheat and the production of an increased supply of other food products and of live stock, especially hogs, is recommended in a supplementary food production program issued by the United States department of agriculture.

This program re-emphasizes and amplifies the food-production program for 1918 issued by the department in August, 1917, and other suggestions made in the fall and the first of this year regarding increased pork production and increased production of foodstuffs in the South. Taken in connection with the recommendations previously made, it suggests in full the proposals which the department thinks it desirable to offer with a view to secure enough meat and dairy products, cereals, sugar and other staple and perishable foods, wool and cotton for the nation, its armies, and the allies. It gives suggestions for the approaching spring operations, based upon the latest available information as to the condition of the fall-planted crops of winter wheat and rye and as to the number of meat and dairy animals reported for 1917. They represent the best thought of the specialists of the department who have had the benefit of advice from agricultural leaders throughout the country.

Our Best Efforts Required.

"Notwithstanding an increased production of staple crops in the United States in 1917, there is need for more food," the program states. "Taking into account our own needs, the needs of the nations associated with us in this war, and the needs of friendly neutral nations, our best efforts will be required to provide enough food in 1918. Whether the war continues or not, the demands on this country, because of the increasing population and the needs of Europe will be great. An especially strong demand will be made on this country for meats and live stock. In 1917, notwithstanding the many difficulties encountered, the farmers planted the largest acreages in the history of the nation, harvested record crops of most things except wheat, and succeeded in greatly increasing the number of live stock."

"The situation is such that chief emphasis should be given to the production of the great staple food products, with special stress on wheat and hogs, the leading war foods."

The South is urged to provide food for its own people and feed for its live stock and then to plant as much cotton as can well be cultivated and harvested. To raisers of hogs and beef animals the world need for meats and fats is made clear. Farmers are urged to join with the men on the ranges in providing sheep whose wool is needed to equip soldiers.

The program discusses the farm labor problem, points out the lines of effort for relief, and outlines the activities of the federal and state agencies to furnish assistance.

Spring Wheat.

In dealing with the question of spring wheat, the program states:

The acreage of spring wheat should be increased in order to make certain that we shall have an adequate supply of wheat for our own uses and to meet the needs of the allies.

"While the area of winter wheat sown in 1917 was the largest on record, the condition of the crop, as reported on December 1, was the lowest ever recorded, indicating a probable production of only 540,000,000 bushels. Whether the actual production will be greater or less than the estimate will depend upon conditions prevailing between now and the time of harvest. If there were planted to spring wheat in the United States this year an acreage equal to the sum of the record planting in each spring wheat state within the last ten years, there would be sown approximately 23,300,000 acres. If there should be planted an acreage equal to the sum of the record planting for each state within the last five years there would be sown approximately 21,000,000 acres. The record planting for any year was 20,381,000, in 1911. The acreage for 1917 was 18,511,000.

"The department of agriculture has carefully studied all these records and other data in connection with the present war conditions and needs, and believes that it will be possible this year to secure an acreage in excess of the record acreage which was planted in 1911. It is believed that increased acreages can be secured in states and sections where spring-wheat production is known to be reasonably promising, and that such increases can be made without upsetting farm plans.

It is hoped that many farmers, especially in the northern part of the corn belt, will find it possible to plant five to ten acres additional in wheat. In some cases they will plant more. In a number of states in the eastern and central portions of the country where spring wheat has not been grown in recent years, the crop is now being re-established and it is recommended that this movement be encouraged.

To a small extent the acreage in oats, if necessary, could be reduced in the interest of wheat. Likewise, a very small portion of the acreage which normally would be planted to corn in the northern part of the corn belt might be sown to spring wheat.

If the acreage of spring wheat indicated for some of the states cannot be planted, the barley acreage, which is known to grow better in some localities, might be increased. The use of barley for food is increasing in this country and it is a welcome food in Europe.

Summary of Other Recommendations.

Following is a summary of other important recommendations regarding cereals, meat, poultry, and perishables.

Hogs. The number of hogs should be increased by at least 15 per cent during the year 1918.

Sugar. Effort should be made to maintain the acreage of sugar cane and sugar beets, and to increase these areas in so far as these crops are well established or are necessary to sound agricultural practice.

Production of satisfactory substitutes for sugar, including sorghum, corn and cane sirup, maple products and honey can and should be increased.

Sorghum sirup, it is pointed out, may be produced in nearly every state in the Union, and increased production of sorghum sweets would enable the public to conserve still further the sugar supply in the form most available for transportation to our soldiers.

Dairy Products. The supply of dairy products should be maintained to meet the needs of this country and to help supply the increasing demands of the allies.

Poultry. Poultry production should be increased greatly, especially in back yards and on farms where waste material is available and the purchase of expensive grains and other material is not required.

Corn. An acreage of corn approximately equal to that of 1917 should be planted, with possible slight reductions in certain sections to free areas for spring wheat.

Oats, Barley, Rice, Buckwheat and Flaxseed. The area in oats should be maintained, especially in regions and on soils which are not so well adapted to other grains, but with a small reduction to provide for increasing the wheat acreage. Barley production should be increased in regions where it grows best, especially in the northern edge of the corn belt and in sections north and west of the belt; and rice, buckwheat and flaxseed production should be maintained and, if possible, increased.

Grain Sorghums. The production of grain sorghums (kafir, milo, feterita, etc.) should be increased greatly throughout the drier portion of the Plains region. Kafirs are the most certain grain crops in this section and they can be made to supplement wheat as human food and to replace corn as animal food.

Potatoes. The normal acreage of Irish and sweet potatoes should be maintained in 1918, notwithstanding the large crops in 1917.

Hay, Forage and Pastures. Wherever feasible, the area devoted to hay, forage and silage crops should be increased and these products should be used to a greater extent in place of grains and other concentrates.

Beef Animals. The number of beef animals should be maintained and, in areas where it is clearly the best range and farm practice, should be increased.

Beans, Peas and Peanuts. The production of beans and peas should be increased in regions to which they are adapted, because of their high food value, keeping qualities, and availability for domestic or export trade. Soy beans and peanuts should be increased in order to supplement beans and peas as human food, as a source of much needed oil, and as animal feeds.

Perishables. (a) Market gardens near large consuming centers should be increased so as to meet, as nearly as possible, the needs of the community, and in order to obviate the necessity of transporting such products from distant points.

It is important to do all that is possible to relieve the strain upon transportation facilities.

(b) The planting of home gardens, especially for family needs and for preserving food for future use, again should be emphasized.

(c) The commercial production of perishables generally should be increased above normal wherever it is reasonably clear that transportation and marketing facilities will be available.

Period of Rest Coming.

See the studious young man. How solemn he is. His brow overhangs like the back of a snapping turtle, and he is as ominous as the first mutterings of an earthquake. He burns the midnight oil in great quantities, poring over ponderous tomes until he is worn almost to skin and bones. But never mind, he will presently have ample opportunity to rest. In a short while he will be admitted to the bar, and after that he will not have anything to do.—Kansas City Star.

Left-Handedness.

At least one human being in fifty is left-handed. This is the minimum estimate. Some authorities say four in fifty. W. Franklin Jones declares that 4 per cent of the race are born left-handed, but about three-fourths of these are converted by training into more or less imperfect right-handers. On the other hand, about 1 per cent of the race, though born right-handed, is trained to use the left hand because of accidents to the right.—Scientific American.

American Women No Slackers

We can well be proud of our American girls and women. In France and England women are taking up the work of men resolutely, and have shown their ability to do almost all kinds of work. When it becomes necessary women will show their worth in countless shops, stores, factories and offices. No one hears them complain of their hard work. These are the days when American men have cause to respect, love and honor their mothers, wives and sisters. If a woman is borne down by the weakness and sufferings of womankind, she should be helped by a herbal tonic made with glycerin which has had such uniform success during the past half century. She should be well, instead of sick and suffering; healthy and vigorous, instead of worn-out and weak; bright eyes, clear skin, rosy cheeks—you wouldn't think it was the same woman, and it's all due to the use of a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. All druggists. Tablets or liquid. Tablets, 60c.

What this medicine has done for thousands of delicate women, it will do for you. If you're over-worked and debilitated, it will build you up—if you're borne down with the chronic aches, pains and weaknesses peculiar to your sex, it relieves and cures. It regulates and promotes the proper functions of womanhood. This old and tried Prescription of Dr. Pierce's invigorates the system, purifies the blood, improves digestion, and restores health, flesh and strength. GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER has been a household remedy all over the civilized world for more than half a century for constipation, intestinal troubles, torpid liver and the generally depressed feeling that accompanies such disorders. It is a most valuable remedy for indigestion or nervous dyspepsia and liver trouble bringing on headache, coming up of food, palpitation of heart and many other symptoms. A few doses of August Flower will immediately relieve you. It is a gentle laxative. Ask your druggist. Sold in all civilized countries.—Adv.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

Dear Sirs:—

I have received a marked copy of your paper of the 15th instant, and note the article under the heading, "A Crying Need." Among other things, you call attention to the higher prices of barley and other substitutes for wheat, and you say that Congress has the same power of setting the selling price of barley and barley flour, as of wheat and wheat flour, and that Congress should get busy at once on this, and suggest writing to Senators and Congressmen for immediate action.

In this behalf I desire to call attention to the Food Control Act, approved August 10th, 1917, a copy of which I am sending herewith. From this you will observe that Congress has already conferred upon the President the control of prices that you speak of. Further than this, Congress conferred upon the President the power to regulate the prices of all "foods, feeds, fuel including fuel oil and natural gas, and fertilizer and fertilizer ingredients, tools, utensils, implements, machinery and equipment required for the actual production of foods, feeds, and fuel."

I made a few remarks upon the failure of the Executive Branch of the Government to exercise this authority while the Agricultural Appropriation Bill was under consideration in the House, which appeared in the Congressional Record of February 21st, last and I am sending you a copy thereof.

In view of the facts above referred to, therefore, I have the honor to suggest that, instead of writing to Senators and Representatives, you should communicate with the President of the United States, and urge him to exercise the power conferred upon him by Congress more than six months ago, which will remedy the difficulty complained of.

Yours respectfully,
H. STEENERSON.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

A resolution adopted at a Non-partisan caucus held Feb. 22nd, 1918 in Town of Holt, Marshall county, Minn., as an answer to Rudolph Lee in his booklet entitled, "Should the Farmers of Minnesota join the Non-partisan League?"

Mr. Lee, we Non-partisan League members, wish to thank you for the booklet you are sending out to the farmers of Minnesota entitled, "Should the Farmers of Minnesota Join the Non-partisan League?" As we never have had a League speaker at Holt, the debate held at Long Prairie, Minn., March 24, 1917, between you and Mr. N. S. Randall is very instructive. Mr. Randall surely laid down some cold facts and proved his statements by figures. He stood on a solid foundation from beginning to the end.

We think the stand you took in this debate ought to make any editor blush with shame that must depend on the farmers' subscription for their bread and butter. We are glad to note that you are going to start cutting brush. We wish you success. Hope you will keep your ax sharp at all times and not loaf on the job, as we have lived in the autocratic brush too long already. We started cutting brush ourselves today at 2 p. m., and we will finish the last patch of brush Nov. 5th, 1918. The other dope you sent along we read in the Big Kept Press dailies a long time before we ever heard of you and your great paper so friendly to the farmers of Todd Co. You are telling us about the "League selling out the farmers. If you please, tell us all about Mr. Carpenter and his friends buying out Mr. Quigly. If you don't know all about it write the N. P. Leader, St. Paul, Minn. You invited Mr. Randall to come down from the cloud. If you know anything you know who was in the cloud. You will agree with us Mr. Lee when we say that in a cloud would be a much safer place for any reformer then on the main streets in some of our Minnesota towns where howling mobs rule and [illegible] guaranteed protection. See Minnesota Leader, first issue Here is one thing we farmers cannot understand, that a University graduate, an editor of an up-to-date newspaper like the Long Prairie Leader, would start a debate on a one-sided question like you did March 24, is more than a common farmer can understand. We will admit that it's a hard job to defend autocracy but you should have known better than to have started this debate without assistance from Big Bis [illegible] But don't get discouraged, Mr. Lee. Remember Dr. Cook discovered the North Pole with the help of gum drops. Again we thank you for the booklet and co-operation. Please print this in your valuable sheet and send us a copy. Now Mr. Lee, don't worry any longer over our $16.00. We have bought Liberty Bonds, donated to the Red Cross and we are satisfied with our investments.

Registered Pharmacist and Veterinary Surgeon

The United States Department of Agriculture calls upon the country to double poultry production this year. Each farm should have 100 hens, and each backyard of every family should have two hens for each person in that particular family.

Will you invest 25c in helping your country, by buying a Thrift Stamp?

Possibly some cannot afford to buy Bonds, but almost any man, woman or child can buy Thrift Stamps and help the cause of Liberty.

B. DOCKEN,
Treasurer.

Another verse has been added to our splendid national hymn, "America" and is now being sung at all patriotic gatherings. It is as follows:

God save our splendid men,
Send them safe home again,
God save our men.
Keep them victorious, patient and chivalrous,
They are so dear to us,
God save our men.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions, and in order to cure it you must take an internal remedy. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Hall's Catarrh Cure was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years. It is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with some of the best blood purifiers. The perfect combination of the ingredients in Hall's Catarrh Cure is what produces such wonderful results in catarrhal conditions. Send for testimonials, free.

War Savings Stamps

It isn't so much the amount of money you save as it is getting into the habit of saving a definite amount regularly. The best way to learn to save is not only to promise yourself that you will do it regularly but promise some one else, your wife, your parent, your husband, or your teacher, that you will not let a first of the month or first of the week go by without saving.

The Habit of Thrift Will Help Win The War

The United States Government needs money to equip our armies and to fight for democracy. Your Government—the richest in the world—is willing to pay interest for your money now. Uncle Sam offers you $5.00 War Savings Stamps for $4.13 in February, and one cent additional each month thereafter.

A Thrift Card is furnished to all purchasers of 25 cents Thrift Stamps. When all the spaces have been filled, the Thrift Card may be exchanged for $5.00 War Savings Stamps at any post office or bank. You should start saving a certain amount regularly. Outline your program. Start at once by going to your post office and getting your first War Savings Stamp or Thrift Card. And stick to it. As you treasure your right to live in this nation of freedom, do not miss a single day on which you have determined to save.

To drive a tank, handle the guns, and sweep over the enemy trenches, takes strong nerves, good rich blood, a good stomach, liver and kidneys. When the time comes, the man with red blood in his veins "is up and at it." He has iron nerves for hardships—an interest in his work grips him. That's the way you feel when you have taken a blood and nerve tonic, made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Stone root, Cherry bark, and rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold in sixty-cent vials by almost all druggists for past fifty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic, in liquid or tablet form, is just what you need this spring to give you vim, vigor and vitality. At the fag end of a hard winter, no wonder you feel "run-down," blue, out of sorts. Try this "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's. Don't wait! To-day is the day to begin! A little "pep," and you laugh and live.

The best means to oil the machinery of the body, put tone into the liver, kidneys and circulatory system, is to first practice a good house-cleaning. I know of nothing better as a laxative than a vegetable pill made up of May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap. This is commonly sold by all druggists as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and should be taken at least once a week to clear the twenty-five feet of intestines. You will thus clean the system—expel the poisons and keep well. Now is the time to clean house. Give yourself a spring house cleaning.—Adv.

Triplex Glass to Be Made Here.

It is announced from London that a group of New York financiers has acquired the patent rights for the manufacture of a triplex glass for war purposes. At present this glass is used in aviation goggles, automobile windshields, port lights of ships, observation windows, chart covers and so on. The manufacture of this glass in America will begin shortly, the plant for the purpose now nearing completion.—Scientific American.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

"Blue" and Worried?

"Blue," worried, half-sick people should find out the cause of their troubles. Often it is merely faulty kidney action, which allows the blood to get loaded up with poisons that irritate the nerves. Backache, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder troubles are added proofs that the kidneys need help. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands thank them for relief from just such troubles.

FARMERS URGED TO RAISE MORE WHEAT

A. C. Townley Tells Farmers to Increase Production as Matter of Patriotism.

Farmers of the Northwest are urged to plant more wheat this spring as a patriotic war duty, in an appeal issued by A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan League, who points out that at present prices rye, corn and barley are more profitable crops than wheat and that this may result in larger acreage being sown in these grains, and thus cause a shortage in wheat unless the nation's urgent necessity for wheat is emphasized. Mr. Townley requests all news agencies and all patriotic publishers to show the seriousness of the situation.

"The spring seeding season is close at hand," said Mr. Townley, "and at present prices corn, rye and barley all will pay the farmer much better than wheat. Rye is bringing $2.16 a bushel and an acre of rye yields as much or more than an acre of wheat, and it is a much cheaper crop to produce. Barley and corn produce from two to three times as many bushels to the acre as wheat and they are selling respectively at $1.80 and $1.75 a bushel.

"But the government and our Allies need wheat above all else. Its increased production is of paramount importance. We must have more wheat to win the war. Many farmers, burdened by pressing financial obligations and possibly unaware of the vital necessity for more wheat, may decide to plant corn, barley or rye instead of wheat. This is a very natural thing for the individual farmer to do, but if it is done generally it will be a national calamity.

Urge Farmers to Plant Wheat.

"Therefore, I urge in the strongest possible manner that all farmers prepare to plant more wheat, to the exclusion of other less needed crops, purely as a matter of patriotism. And I know that the farmers will respond to this plea. The farmers are patriotic and are behind their country. There is no sacrifice they will not make. I feel sure that they will plant wheat even when they know there is more money in other less needed crops.

"But at the same time, I do not think the farmer, and the farmer alone, should be penalized for his patriotism. I think that the government either should advance the price of wheat or scale down the prices of commodities which the farmer is compelled to purchase. I believe this will be done. President Wilson has pointed out the injustice of reducing the price of what the farmer sells, but not reducing what he buys.

Regulate All Prices.

"I also think that the scale of all grains and other farm products should be regulated—when that which the farmer buys likewise is regulated. All the farmer wants is justice. He is perfectly willing to have the price of his products reduced if what he buys is correspondingly lowered, but he cannot help feeling resentful when the price of his principal farm product is sharply cut down while unchecked profiteering continues on all sides.

"I am confident that President Wilson and Mr. Hoover will take steps to adjust this condition. I think the farmers can depend upon this being done. But in the meantime, seeding time is approaching, the situation is very, very serious, and I appeal to all farmers to prepare to plant wheat even if this seems to threaten a pecuniary loss. I feel sure that this loss will not actually occur and that the administration can be depended upon to adjust conditions satisfactorily from the farmers' standpoint."

PRICE FIXING AN OLD STORY

Gov. Frazier of North Dakota Says Gambling Boards Have Done It For Years.

At the Co-operators' Congress in Great Falls, Gov. Frazier of North Dakota advocated price fixing by the government as an improvement over price fixing by the boards of trade as had been the method in the past. Gov. Frazier spoke in part as follows:

"It has been stated, especially in some of the eastern papers, that the farmers were responsible for the high cost of living; that they were getting war prices. Well, of course, the farmers know better than that. The people of these agricultural states know better than that, but those reports have run through the eastern papers. It is hardly fair. We, of course, have gotten better prices for our farm products, but the prices after the products have left our hands have increased in a great many instances, double and more than double in some cases, and it is the speculator who has gotten the war prices. The manufacturer of munitions has gotten the war prices. The farmers have fought for an open market for their grain, to do away with the grain gamblers, for years. We have been told that it was the only way we could sell grain; that the only way a market could be obtained for our grain was through the chamber of commerce pit; but our government has proven to us that it wasn't necessary to sell our grain through the chamber of commerce pit by gamblers; that the government, in order to assure a square deal to the farmers, to the producers and consumers both alike, set the price upon the wheat.

Used to Price-Fixing.

"I happened to be in Washington early in May when they were discussing the fixing of the price of wheat, and I was invited before the agricultural committee of the senate and one of the senators asked me if I thought the farmers of the Northwest would be willing for congress to set the price upon wheat. I told the committee in the senate that farmers of the Northwest had had the prices fixed upon their wheat, and every other product they raise on the farm ever since they had been farming; that they had had those prices fixed by the grain gamblers, by the beef trust; and I believe they would be willing to chance the government, once at least, to see how it worked."

Cutting Expenses.

The railroads have been ordered by the government to lop off all of their attorneys and lobbyists from their payrolls. Perhaps with that waste gone they will not need to raise freight rates.

Want to Use It.

The farmers have the earth now. All they ask is a chance to use it so that it will return them a living while they in turn feed the world.

FARMER WORKERS IGNORED

Secretary Houston Says They Are Slighted in War Work.

One of the causes for the threatened crop shortage is declared by Secretary of Agriculture Houston to be the "justified belief of the farmer that he is not regarded as a partner in the great enterprise of winning the war."

The secretary was moved to his comments by the appeal of sixteen agricultural associations representing 3,000,000 organized farmers for a change in conditions that would make increased production possible.

In enumerating his reasons for the farming conditions at the present time the secretary declared that one of the potent ones was the fact that the farmer had been so thoroughly ignored in all of the bodies that had been organized to help make the war effective, yet he was being appealed to through patriotic motives to bend every energy to increase production.

Price Below Production.

The secretary said that the farmers were doing all that they could, but that there were several obstacles that appeared to be insurmountable standing in the way. Among these he enumerated a shortage of labor, a shortage of feed, seed, fertilizers, farm implements, and a lack of reasonable credit.

The secretary also declared that prices received were often below the cost of production.

Urged Co-operation.

The secretary recommended that arrangements be made for reasonable credit for the farmers on easy terms, and for a sympathetic working out of farm labor problems even to relieving necessary men from army service. His strongest plea was for greater co-operation between the farmers and the war agencies. For this purpose he called for the immediate appointment of a commission of nine farmers, actually engaged in the business, to be selected by the president from men, representative of, and satisfactory to the great farm organizations of America. This commission would be constantly in session in Washington to consider from the farmers' standpoint all problems as they arose and to make recommendations for their solution.

This recommendation of the secretary of agriculture is in strong contrast with the policy of the politicians of the Northwest who, instead of trying to co-operate with the farmers have endeavored in every way to hamper and discredit their organizations and who have rejected all offers of the farmers to co-operate with city bodies in war activities.

The secretary says for this plan that it would be in harmony with the procedure already adopted by the government in other essential industries.

Not Sauce for Gander.

J. Ogden Armour, head of the beef trust, the most highly organized institution in America, refuses to allow his poorly paid men to organize lest out of his surplus millions he should be forced to pay a living wage.

Schurman Would Curb Profiteers.

President Jacob G. Schurman of Cornell University, in a recent speech, appealed to the president and congress to curb the food profiteers and to inaugurate a system by which more of the price paid by consumers should go to the farmers to help stimulate production. It is not low prices we need he declares, but prices that will cover the cost of production and allow farmers a fair profit.

FOE PLANS TO SEIZE FINLAND

Germany Announces Intention To Stockholm Official Dispatches Say.

ALAND ISLANDS BASE

To Be Used for Supplying Armies—Sweden Protests—Feeling Tense—Slavs Burn Bridges—Regard Treaty as "Scrap of Paper."

Berlin, March 5.—Military operations in Russia have stopped, says the official statement issued by the German general office.

Washington, March 5.—Germany's occupation of the Aland islands is only a preliminary to the total occupation of Finland. Official dispatches to the Swedish legation say Germany has announced the Stockholm foreign office her intention to occupy Finland and that Sweden has protested. Germany advised Sweden the dispatches say, that it was necessary to temporarily occupy Finland to restore order but gave assurances that she has no intention to take permanent possession of the territory. Sweden protested also against the Aland islands being placed in the war zone.

Base For Foe Supplies.

The occupation of the Aland islands, the dispatches say, is to make them a base for supplying the German occupation of Finland. There are 500 Swedish troops on the islands for police purposes. Their commander was notified by the German commander of his intentions and while so far there has been no clash reported, the Swedish troops have not been withdrawn and the feeling is described here as being very tense.

Slavs Destroy Bridges.

The Russians have begun destroying bridges on the trans-Siberian railroad between Lake Baikal and the Chinese frontier. John F. Stevens, chairman of the American railway mission, reported this to the state department. This may prevent Ambassador D. R. Francis from reaching Vladivostok.

While without details, officials here believe the Russians are destroying the bridges to prevent an expected advance of Japanese troops. A large number of other structures have been mined, Mr. Stevens also reported, so they could be readily destroyed.

Supplementary Treaties.

London, March 5.—Supplementary treaties between the Central Powers and the bolshevik government have been signed at Brest Litovsk in addition to the main peace treaty, according to a telegram from Brest Litovsk by way of Vienna and Amsterdam, which gives no details of the treaties.

Only "Scrap of Paper."

Petrograd, March 5.—The peace treaty with Germany, is now regarded as only a "scrap of paper."

The highest enthusiasm for fighting is prevalent through Petrograd.

The Petrograd panexecutive committee has called an extraordinary session of soldiers, peasants and Cossacks for Moscow, March 12, to decide whether to accept or reject peace.

As a result of the German advance, this conference may decide to tear up the treaty and declare a "holy war."

The movement to reunite all democratic parties for the purpose of fighting defensively to the last is growing.

MOVES AMERICAN EMBASSY

Francis to Continue Duties at Vladivostok Says Dispatch.

Tokio, March 5.—David R. Francis, American Ambassador to Russia, will move the American embassy to Vladivostok, according to a dispatch from that city to the Jiji Shimpo, received here. The dispatch quotes a radio received from Viscount Uchida, Japanese ambassador to Russia, stating that the Japanese embassy will be moved to Irkutsk or Harbin.

Laughless Days for Manitoba.

Winnipeg, March 5.—A move to establish a lot of laughless days has been made here. Members of the Canadian Film Exchange Managers' association discontinued importation of comic movies into Manitoba. The step is a protest against what managers claim is "ruthless" censoring. Films that "get by" in other provinces are barred here, they claim. Censors answered by threatening to extend the censorship to other kinds of movies, which are now being shown at theatres in the province.

Godmother's Unqualified Assertion Must Have Given Officiating Minister Somewhat of a Shock.

The archbishop of York, formerly Doctor Lang, who voiced the views of labor so technically in the house of lords in the debate on industrial unrest, is both a man of wit and a brilliant reconteur. Though he now lives in a palace and has a salary of $50,000 a year, he knows the working classes as few men do.

I liked particularly a story he once told me (by way of illustrating the difficulty the poor have in understanding the archaic language of the prayer book) of a woman who was standing godmother to a child and who, when she was asked if, in the infant's name, she renounced the devil and all his works, and pomps and vanities of this wicked world, etc., replied eagerly, "Yes, yes, I recommend them all!"—Exchange.

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

TUESDAYS ONLY MEATLESS DAYS

Ban on Beef and Pork Is Raised, Except One Day Each Week, To Save On Wheat.

NEED MORE OF LATTER

Allies Make Increased Demand for Foodstuffs and Change Is Expected to Curtail Consumption of Cereal.

Washington, March 5.—The food administration announces a temporary suspension of the meatless meal and of the special restrictions against the use of pork on Saturdays, as a readjustment of its food conservation program. Increased meat production and the necessity for still greater saving in wheat, it is declared, make the change advisable.

Since all restrictions on consumption of mutton and lamb had been lifted previously the administration now asks the public for the time being to deny itself only beef and pork on one day a week—Tuesday.

Increased meat consumption, officials believe will itself curtail the use of wheat and for the present there is no intention to add to the restrictions already in force against the use of flour.

More Wheat Needed.

In a statement Food Administrator Hoover said:

"The Allies have made further and increased demands for foodstuffs, these enlarged demands being caused to some degree by shortage in arrivals from the Argentine. It is, therefore, necessary to urge a still further reduction in the consumption of bread and breadstuffs generally, if we are to meet our export necessities.

"Experience shows that the consumption of breadstuffs is intimately associated with the consumption of meat. For various reasons our supplies of meat for the next two or three months are considerably enlarged and we can supply the Allies with all of the meat products which transportation facilities render possible and at the same time somewhat increase our own consumption. In these circumstances, the administration considers it wise to relax the voluntary restrictions on meat consumption to some extent with a view to further decreasing bread consumption.

Tuesday Still Meatless.

"So long as the present conditions continue the only special restrictions we ask are the beefless and porkless Tuesday.

"The meatless meal and the porkless Saturday are no longer asked."

FOURTH CAMPS FOR OFFICERS

To Be Opened In May, But Locations Not Yet Decided.

Washington, March 5.—The fourth group of officers' training camps will open early in May, it has been learned. Only men from the ranks of the army will be accepted.

The number to be trained has not yet been decided, nor the location of camps. It is probable, however, that 20,000 men will receive instructions in 20 divisional camps.

The problem of supplying enough officers for all the branches of the service is pressing. The demands of such branches as aviation, ordnance, signal corps and others have been such that scores of officers have been transferred almost daily to fill up those services.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

22 Million Families in the United States

If EACH FAMILY saved one cup of wheat flour it would amount to 5,500,000 pounds, or more than 28,000 barrels. If this saving was made three times a week, it would amount to 858,000,000 pounds, or 4,377,000 barrels in a year.

You can do your share in effecting this saving and really help to win the war by omitting white bread from one meal today and baking in its place muffins or corn bread made according to this recipe:

Corn Meal Muffins

¾ cup corn meal
1¼ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
2 tablespoons sugar
No eggs
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening

Sift dry ingredients together into bowl, add milk and melted shortening and beat well. Bake in greased muffin tins in hot oven about 20 minutes. Same batter may be baked as corn bread in greased shallow pan.

[illegible] he was a man without a country.

Old Morgan, as I said, was terribly shocked. If Nolan had compared George Washington to Benedict Arnold, or had cried, "God save King George," Morgan would not have felt worse. He called the court into his private room, and returned in fifteen minutes, with a face like a sheet, to say:

"Prisoner, hear the sentence of the court. The court decides, subject to the approval of the president, that you never hear the name of the United States again."

Nolan laughed. But nobody else laughed. Old Morgan was too solemn, and the whole room was hushed dead as night for a minute. Even Nolan lost his swagger in a moment. Then Morgan added: "Mr. Marshal, take the prisoner to Orleans in an armed boat, and deliver him to the naval commander there."

The marshal gave his orders, and the prisoner was taken out of court.

"Mr. Marshal," continued old Morgan, "see that no one mentions the United States to the prisoner. Mr. Marshal, make my respects to Lieutenant Mitchell at Orleans, and request him to order that no one shall mention the United States to the prisoner while he is on board ship. You will receive your written orders from the officer on duty here this evening. The court is adjourned without day."

I have always supposed that Colonel Morgan himself took the proceedings of the court to Washington City, and explained them to Mr. Jefferson. Certain it is that the president approved them, certain, that is, if I may believe the men who say they have seen his signature.

The plan then adopted was substantially the same which was necessarily followed ever after. Perhaps it was suggested by the necessity of sending him by water from Fort Adams and Orleans. The secretary of the navy was requested to put Nolan on board a government vessel bound on a long cruise, and to direct that he should be only so far confined there as to make it certain that he never saw or heard of the country. We had few long cruises then, and the navy was very much out of favor; and as almost all of this story is traditional, as I have explained, I do not know certainly what his first cruise was. But the commander to whom he was intrusted—perhaps it was Tingey or Shaw, though I think it was one of the younger men—we are all old enough now—regulated the etiquette and the precautions of the affair, and according to his scheme they were carried out, I suppose, till Nolan died.

When I was second officer of the Intrepid some thirty years after, I saw the original paper of instructions. I have been sorry ever since that I did not copy the whole of it. It ran, however, much in this way:

"Washington," (with the date, which must have been late in 1807).

"Sir—You will receive from Lieutenant Neale the person of Philip Nolan, late a lieutenant in the United States army.

"This person on his trial by court-martial expressed with an oath the wish that he might never hear of the United States again.

"The court sentenced him to have his wish fulfilled.

"For the present, the execution of the order is intrusted by the president of this department.

"You will take the prisoner on board your ship, and keep him there with such precautions as shall prevent his escape.

"You will provide him with such quarters, rations, and clothing as would be proper for an officer of his late rank, if he were a passenger on your vessel on the business of his government.

"The gentlemen on board will make any arrangements agreeable to themselves regarding his society. He is to be exposed to no indignity of any kind nor is he ever unnecessarily to be reminded that he is a prisoner.

"But under no circumstances is he ever to hear of his country or to see any information regarding it; and you will especially caution all the officers under your command to take care that, in the various indulgences which may be granted, this rule, in which his punishment is involved, shall not be broken.

"It is the intention of the government that he shall never again see the country which he has disowned. Before the end of your cruise you will receive orders which will give effect to this intention.

"Respectfully yours,
"W. SOUTHARD,
"for the Secretary of the Navy."

If I had only preserved the whole of this paper, there would be no break in the beginning of my sketch of this story. For Captain Shaw, if it was he, handed it to his successor in the charge, and he to his.

The rule adopted on board the ships on which I have met "The Man without a Country" was, I think, transmitted from the beginning. No mess liked to have him permanently, because his presence cut off all talk of home or of the prospect of return, of politics or letters, of peace or of war—cut off more than half the talk men like to have at sea. But it was always thought too hard that he should never meet the rest of us, except to touch hats, and we finally sank into one system. He was not permitted to talk with the men unless an officer was by. With officers he had unrestrained intercourse, as far as they and he chose. But he grew shy, though he had favorites: I was one. Then the captain always asked him to dinner on Monday. Every mess in succession took up the invitation in its turn. According to the size of the ship, you had him

Corn! It isn't one food. It's a dozen. It's a cereal. It's a vegetable. It's a bread. It's a dessert. It's nutritious; more food value in it, dollar for dollar, than meat or eggs or most other vegetables. It's good to eat; how good you don't know until you've had corn-bread properly cooked. Best of all, it's plentiful and it's patriotic.

Years ago, when telephones were still a novelty, a farmer came to town one day and called on a lawyer friend of his whom he supplied with butter and who had had a telephone recently put in his office.

"Need any butter this morning?" asked the farmer.

"Well, I don't know," answered the lawyer. "Wait a minute, I'll ask my wife about it."

After speaking through the 'phone he went on:

"No; my wife says no."

The farmer's face was a study for a moment. Then he broke out with: "Look-a-here, Mr. Lawyer, I may be a 'Rube' and have my whiskers full of hay and hayseed but I'm not such a big fool as to believe that your wife is in that box."

War Savings Stamps

IT isn't so much the amount of money you save as it is getting into the habit of saving a definite amount regularly. The best way to learn to save is not only to promise yourself that you will do it regularly but promise some one else, your wife, your parent, your husband, or your teacher, that you will not let a first of the month or first of the week go by without saving.

The Habit of Thrift Will Help Win The War

The United States Government needs money to equip our armies and to fight for democracy. Your Government—the richest in the world—is willing to pay interest for your money now. Uncle Sam offers you $5.00 War Savings Stamps for $4.13 in February, and one cent additional each month thereafter.

A Thrift Card is furnished to all purchasers of 25 cents Thrift Stamps. When all the spaces have been filled, the Thrift Card may be exchanged for $5.00 War Savings Stamps at any post office or bank. You should start saving a certain amount regularly. Outline your program. Start at once by going to your post office and getting your first War Savings Stamp or Thrift Card. And stick to it. As you treasure your right to live in this nation of freedom, do not miss a single day on which you have determined to save.

Buy War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps (25 cents) at any bank or post office.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well.

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years experience is at your service.

The Explanation.

"Pop, what does it mean when they say bills are laid on the table?"

"It means, son, that they are dished."

THE RED CROSS NURSES OF EUROPE ARE GIVING TOASTED CIGARETTES TO THE BOYS

To anyone who doesn't know of the wonderful advances that have been made in the preparation of smoking tobaccos in the last few years it may sound strange to speak of toasted cigarettes.

Strictly speaking, we should say cigarettes made of toasted tobacco; the smokers of this country will recognize it more readily by its trade name, "LUCKY STRIKE"—the toasted cigarette.

The American Tobacco Company are producing millions of these toasted cigarettes and these are being bought in enormous quantities through the various tobacco funds conducted by the newspapers of the country and forwarded through the Red Cross Society to the boys in France.

This new process of treating tobacco not only improves the flavor of the tobacco but it seals in this flavor and makes the cigarettes keep better.

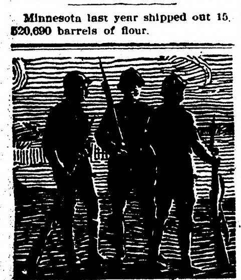
The Red Cross nurse is always glad to have a cigarette for the wounded soldier, as, in most instances, that is the first thing asked for.—Adv.

It is one thing to yell for freedom and another to make the sacrifices necessary to secure it.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off. Adv.

Minnesota last year shipped out 15,520,690 barrels of flour.



ON GUARD

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin, and feel the exhilaration of real good health tingling thru their body. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. Almost all diseases come from impure and impoverished blood. It is to be noticed in the pale or pimply face, the tired, haggard appearance or the listless manner.

Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. It contains no alcohol or narcotics. It is made from Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Oregon grape root, Queen's root, Black Cherry bark, extracted with glycerine and made into tablets and liquid. Tablets sixty cents, at most drug stores.

In order to insure pure blood and to build up the system try this tonic known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Get it now!

NONPARTISANS GIVE TO RED CROSS FUND

Minnesota League Speakers Turn In Thousands to Help Win War.

Charges made by Big Business that the National Nonpartisan league is a disloyal organization received another body blow when announcement was made that several thousand dollars had been collected in Minnesota for the Red Cross, during the past month under the auspices of the league. A large part of this money came as the result of personal appeals by A. C. Townley, president of the league, and was taken in collections at meetings that he addressed.

In some parts of the state of Minnesota the league has been obliged to put up a fight for the fundamental right of free speech. Evidence has been unearthed pointing to a statewide conspiracy on the part of bankers, profiteers and politicians, to disrupt the league by breaking up its meetings and charging it with being a disloyal organization. Mob violence was resorted to in several places to interfere with league speakers and organizers. In a number of instances mobs were led by officers of the law.

Farmers Demand Rights.

So serious did the situation become that the farmers determined something should be done to secure their rights. More than 150 farmers, representing every county in the state, came to St. Paul and laid their grievances before the governor, demanding the removal of three sheriffs and one state's attorney whose flagrant law violations, they declared, had much to do with rousing a sentiment that threatened a serious division in the people of the state at a time when all should be united in a common purpose for the winning of the war.

The spokesman for the farmers cited over twenty instances of violence on the part of local officials, one of the latter going so far as to threaten to kill a league speaker. The farmers were accompanied by a delegation from organized labor. Not receiving assurance from the governor they laid their case before the United States district attorney and promised to carry their grievance to the highest authority in the land if the persecutions were not stopped.

Received Wide Publicity.

The lawless acts on the parts of the officials who stopped league meetings received wide publicity, which carried with it the implication that the league was disloyal. The daily press in and out of the state published unfair and glaring accounts of the occurrences at these meetings, utterly ignoring the hundreds of other meetings being held in the state which were not being interfered with. In some of the latter city and county officials vied with each other in entertaining the league speakers and in seeing that the farmers were given the accommodations which they required in the way of a hall.

Where the League is Known.

There was no trouble in those parts of the state in which the league has been organized for some time. A notable example of this was the meeting at Thief River Falls, which was held in the city auditorium, followed by a dinner given to Mr. Townley and other formers by the Commercial club.

The many harmonious meetings of the league, at which patriotism was the dominant note and at which large collections for the Red Cross were taken up, have taken the ground from under the conspirators and have convinced the people of the state that sinister influences were at work trying to prejudice them against the farmers' organization.

Caused League Boom.

The reaction among the farmers was even greater than among the people of the cities. The evidence that they were rallying to their organization was made apparent by the rapid increase in membership. It is estimated that over 5,000 farmers joined the league in Minnesota voluntarily and without solicitation on February 22, the day of the league precinct caucuses.

Coal Ten Cents a Ton.

Colorado sells coal at ten cents a ton. That is the price the state gets for all of the coal mined on state lands. Miners get from 63 cents to $1.00 a ton for taking the coal out of the earth and loading it on cars. If we add to that the cost of transporting the coal by the railroads, which varies with different lengths of haul, we find the total cost of getting to the consumer to run around $2. The rest represents the bit taken by the profiteers.

Getting at the Source.

President Lee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen said he would go back to about four banks in New York to put his head on the influence that he says is trying to make railway operation by the government unsuccessful.

Demand Equal Sacrifice.

"The farmers are ready to give all they have in the present struggle," said A. C. Townley, "but they want the big interests to share the burden of financing the war."

INCREASE IN WESTERN CANADA ACREAGE

Will Prove a Big Factor in Winning the War.

Reports to hand indicate that Western Canada has a vastly increased acreage ready for crop this year over last year. The splendid open fall of 1917, gave a better opportunity for fall plowing than for some years. Work in the fields was almost continuous until the end of November. In fact, in the neighborhood of Pincher Creek, Alberta, there was sufficient mild weather in January of this year to permit farmers to plow, and many took advantage of it. A great many Americans owning land in Canada moved up last year, and this has also helped to increase the acreage. They came into possession of the land at prices varying from $15.00 to $30.00 an acre, and with the proven yields of wheat running from twenty and as high as fifty bushels per acre, with a set price of $2.21 a bushel, they could join production and patriotism together with a big margin of profit. The Post-Intelligencer of Seattle, Wash., gives a very conservative statement of the agricultural development and opportunities in Western Canada. In its issue of December 14, 1917, it says:—

"Since the beginning of the year American emigration into Canada has been greatly stimulated according to the reports of the Dominion authorities, and has been almost entirely made up of farmers attracted by the fertile and comparatively cheap wheat lands.

"Whatever may be said of wheat culture as a profitable avocation in ordinary years, since the beginning of the war it has offered advantages quite beyond the usual opportunities. War has boomed the price of wheat until the farmer now receives around $2 for his product at his granary. Average crops, according to the adaptation of soil and climate are from 12 to 25 bushels to the acre. Even the minimum crop, at $2 per bushel, brings in these war times a reasonable profit. Before the war wheat culture was fast being abandoned by farmers who worked intelligently for results on the right side of the ledger. It has been the popular crop for new countries, but when the pioneers settled down to business it was generally corn, hogs, cattle and diversified farming that brought the profits. Iowa and the Dakotas in turn, as their prairies became settled, mortgaged the land on wheat culture and afterwards paid off the mortgages with corn and hogs.

"War is thus bringing a temporary encouragement to wheat farming. Many of the ranchers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta laid away $20,000 to $30,000 in the banks last fall. It may be pointed out, however, that the growing of wheat is not the only inducement which is leading settlement to Canadian lands. Low taxation, favorable agricultural climate, and profitable prices not only for grain but for hogs, cattle and all forms of farm produce all contribute their share toward the rapid settlement of the fertile lands of Western Canada."—Advertisement.

HARMONY IN NORTH DAKOTA

Society of Equity Declares for United Action With Nonpartisan League.

Various efforts by politicians and enemies of the Nonpartisan league to divide the farmers of North Dakota have been made from time to time, but have always met with defeat. Members of the discredited gang, when they see a cloud on the horizon no larger than a man's hand, welcome it as a cyclone and begin to shout that the farmers are running to cover.

They placed great hopes on the Society of Equity, through which they expected by means of one or two disgruntled members to at least make a showing that would appear to be a serious division of the farmers. But their plans miscarried and their expectations failed when the report of the resolution committee of the state Equity convention at Valley City was adopted unanimously.

Their resolution as to the Nonpartisan league was a rebuke to those farmers who had given their aid to the enemy and was a notice served on the business interests that their underground methods of fighting the league would fail. The resolution reads:

"Whereas, it has come to our attention that certain individuals, newspapers and corporations, through insinuation, misinformation and otherwise, are trying to create dissension between members of the Society of Equity and the Farmers' Nonpartisan league, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, that we condemn any such action. We believe that there should be no strife or competition among farmers' organizations that are operating in the interests of the producers and consumers, to the end that they may be brought closer together for the exchange of their products. A farmers' Nonpartisan league is absolutely essential to enable the farmers to operate in the political field, while the Society of Equity, together with its affiliated business organizations are carrying into practice the principles of co-operation. Both are essential, only both are deserving of the support of every one. There should be no strife or competition between these two great organizations.

HOW ROADS RAN POLITICS

Charged With Making Governors And Senators Under Private Operation.

Now that the question is at issue as to whether government control of the railroads should be made a permanent policy or whether these arteries of commerce should be returned to the management of owning companies after the war, attention is directed to an official report issued by the New York board of trade and transportation a few years ago which said:

"The railroads control, absolutely, the legislatures of a majority of the states of the Union. They make and unmake United States senators, congressmen and governors and are practically dictators of the government policy of the United States

With this confession in view the question naturally arises as to what extent senators which demand a return of the railroads to their owners immediately after the war are uder obligations to the railroad interests for their election.

There must be a free discussion of this question by people unhampered by railroad interests, as there is now being had in the forum of the Nonpartisan league.

The railroads, by their strategic position, have been among the most conspicuous of the profiteers who have taken excessive toll on the products of the farmers in transporting them to consumers. The people are going to settle the railroad question after they have settled the war, and in so doing they will take into consideration the interests of all of the people rather than the feelings of the railroad magnates.

Feed "D" Wheat Abolished

Feed "D" wheat is like the animal in the story, that did not exist. There is no such thing as Feed "D" wheat, although there used to be. Feed "D" was a classification for wheat that was supposed to be too poor to make flour and was only good for feed. Consequently it only brought feed prices. Dr. Ladd of the Dakota State Agricultural college proved that it would make good flour and that it was worth wheat prices. The millers of the state tried to have him fired for making this fact public, but he was saved to his position by the Nonpartisan league.

The Biggest Gamble.

The biggest gambling game in the world is farming says the Des Moines News. The Nonpartisan league would take much of the gamble out of it so far as prices are concerned.

Patriotism That Counts.

North Dakota will close its schools March 8 to release help for the farmers so that productivity may be raised to the highest point and a maximum crop be produced to aid in the warfare against the kaiser.

Too Much Profit in Potatoes

Potatoes are selling on the average at the same price per peck which the producers are getting per bushel. The profiteer gets most of the difference and is one of the big reasons for the Nonpartisan league.

Win the War by Preparing the Land Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

Certain-teed Roofing

From every standpoint of service and cost—Certain-teed has proved its claim—"The best type of roof for most buildings, and the best quality roofing of its type."

Certain-teed has made good all over the world under all conditions—as proved by its enormous sale. It has become the standard roof for buildings of all types and sizes—for factories, round houses, elevators, garages, warehouses, hotels, farm buildings, stores, out-buildings, etc.

Its economy is three-fold—first cost moderate, laying cost low, up-keep practically nothing. Its efficiency embraces every important roofing quality—weather proof, spark proof, clean and sanitary, and very durable. Certain-teed is not affected by acids, fumes or smoke, and does not melt under the hottest sun.

Guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness.

It pays to get Certain-teed because it costs no more to lay than ordinary roll roofing, and lasts much longer.

NEWS OF STATE TERSELY TOLD

Recent Happenings In Minnesota Given In Brief Items For Busy Readers.

Motley.—Mrs. Hill of Motley, 88 years old and blind, has knit six pairs of socks for the Red Cross chapter.

Minneapolis.—Mrs. Martha A. Dorsett of this city, the first woman admitted to the bar in Minnesota, is dead. She was 66 years old.

East Grand Forks.—More than $360 each month has been pledged by East Grand Forks citizens for the support of the Red Cross organization.

Mankato.—By defeating the Blue Earth basketball team in a game played in this city, the Waseca high school takes the district championship. The score was 59 to 14.

Albert Lea.—Chris. M. Nelson, a farmer living southeast of this city, has already sown 20 acres of spring wheat. The prospects for a large wheat acreage in this vicinity are promising.

St. Cloud.—A service flag displaying a field of seven stars was dedicated to the honor of seven young men of the Swedish Baptist church who are now in the service of the United States army.

Alpha.—Alpha, having a population of only about 200, raised $1,820 at an auction sale for the Red Cross. All kinds of farm produce and dry goods and groceries were donated by the people of the neighborhood.

International Falls.—E. B. Fisher, who was bound over to the grand jury for alleged seditious utterances, has been relieved of his duties as superintendent of the M. D. & W. railroad. C. H. Woodford is filling the position temporarily.

Alexandria.—Carl A. Wold, former state representative, editor of the Park Region Echo, has been convicted of discouraging enlistments. He was sentenced to serve three months in the Douglas county jail and to pay a fine of $200.

Cass Lake.—While hauling ice at the Indian mission north of Cass Lake a large black team owned by the mission was drowned. The accident happened at what is known as the Cass Lake bay. Large cakes of ice had been cut out and the team backed into this large hole.

Winona.—Four young women now are employed as depot operators on the Minnesota division of the Northwestern Line, the headquarters for which are in Winona. They are taking the places of young men released to meet the military needs of the United States government.

Mahnomen.—The contractors on the judicial ditch between Norman and Mahnomen counties have arrived here with their machinery which will be unloaded and transported to the scene of activity before the frost gets out of the ground. Work on the ditch will commence about the first of May.

Long Prairie.—John N. Johnson, 26 years old, a farmer of Iowa, is dying in a hospital here from burns received when a gasoline tank on an automobile exploded. Johnson, who is in class 1 of the draft, was about to go to Long Prairie for examination when he tried to look into the tank with the aid of a lighted match.

St. Paul.—Clifford L. Hilton has been appointed attorney general of Minnesota by Governor J. A. A. Burnquist. His appointment is for the unexpired term of the late Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, on whose staff Mr. Hilton served for eight years. C. L. Weeks will become deputy attorney general, Mr. Hilton announced.

St. Paul.—Joseph Gilbert, manager of the National Nonpartisan league, who was arrested on a charge of conspiracy to discourage enlistments, was discharged from the custody of Sheriff W. S. Carcer of Martin county under habeas corpus proceedings which were upheld by Judge Haupt in district court here.

Winona.—Mystery surrounds the poisoning of four members of the family of Martin Wauk here. The head of the family, his wife and two girls, twins, aged 10, retired in normal health. At 2 a. m. one of the girls awoke and complained of violent pains. The mother attempted to go to her but collapsed. The other girl climbed out of her bed and also was stricken. Mr. Wauk called for a physician, but before the doctor arrived he also was taken ill.

St. Paul.—State officials and employes and friends paid their respects to Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, filing past the casket in which his body lay in state in the main retunda of the state capitol in St. Paul. The funeral service in Plymouth Congregational church, Holly avenue and McKubin street, St. Paul, was conducted by the Rev. Harry P. Dewey, Minneapolis, and was attended by a large number of people. The body of Mr. Smith was taken East for burial at his former home in New Hampshire.

St. Paul.—Removal of John E. Lindberg of North Branch as state creamery inspector announced by James Sorenson, state dairy and food commissioner, was not made on the disloyalty charges filed some time ago, Mr. Sorenson said, but on the ground of incompetency and failure to discharge his official duties properly. The department is under civil service and Lindberg has a right to demand a hearing within 15 days.

International Falls.—The home of Rev. and Mrs. Howard near Birchdale was destroyed by fire together with most of the contents.

Girls! Use Lemons! Make a Bleaching, Beautifying Cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

Explained So Far.

A letter had been received by the sergeant major of artillery from the British war office, with reference to one, Gunner Green, who, reported killed, had arrived at Woolwich. Could a full and satisfactory explanation of same be forwarded?

The N. C. O. gave the matter much thought, and then forwarded this reply:

"Green was an old comrade of mine. I visited him when he was dying of his wounds, and then saw him buried. Hence, I know that he's dead, and am considerably surprised to hear of his return to Woolwich; but please exonerate me from further blame, inasmuch as I am not responsible for his subsequent movements."

Swift & Company Publicity

At a recent hearing of the Federal Trade Commission there was introduced correspondence taken from the private files of Swift & Company, which showed that the Company had been considering for some time an educational advertising campaign.

The need for this publicity has been apparent to us for several years. The gross misrepresentation to which we have recently been subjected has convinced us that we should no longer delay in putting before the public the basic facts of our business, relying on the fair-mindedness of the American people.

The feeling against the American packer is based largely on the belief that the income and well-being of the producer and consumer are adversely affected by the packers' operations, resulting in unreasonably large profits.

Swift & Company's net profit is reasonable, and represents an insignificant factor in the cost of living.

For the fiscal year 1917 the total sales and net profit of Swift & Company were as follows:

This is equivalent to a $3,465. profit on a business of $87,500.

If Swift & Company had made no profit at all, the cattle raiser would have received only one-eighth of a cent per pound more for his cattle, or the consumer would have saved only one-quarter of a cent per pound on dressed beef.

Corn Bread with Rye Flour

- 1 cup corn meal
- 1 cup rye flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 5 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 2 tablespoons shortening

Barley flour or oat flour may be used instead of rye flour with equally good results. Sift dry ingredients into bowl; add milk, beaten egg and melted shortening. Stir well. Put into greased pan, allow to stand in warm place 20 to 25 minutes and bake in moderate oven 40 to 45 minutes.

FOOD WILL WIN THE WAR

at your mess more or less often at dinner. His breakfast he ate in his own stateroom, he always had a stateroom, which was where a sentinel, or somebody on the watch, could see the door. And whatever else he ate or drank he ate or drank alone. Sometimes, when the marines or sailors had any special jollification, they were permitted to invite "Plain-Buttons," as they called him. Then Nolan was sent with some officer, and the men were forbidden to speak of home while he was there. They called him "Plain-Buttons," because, while he always chose to wear a regulation army uniform, he was not permitted to wear the army button, for the reason that it bore either the initials or the insignia of the country he had disowned.

I remember, soon after I joined the navy, I was on shore with some of the older officers from our ship and from the Brandywine, which we had met at Alexandria. We had leave to make a party and go up to Cairo and the Pyramids. As we jogged along some of the gentlemen fell to talking about Nolan, and someone told the system which was adopted from the first about his books and other reading. As he was almost never permitted to go on shore, even though the vessel lay in port for months, his time, at the best, hung heavy; and everybody was permitted to lend him books, if they were not published in America and made no allusion to it. These were common enough in the old days, when people in the other hemisphere talked of the United States as little as we do of Paraguay. He had almost all the foreign papers that came into the ship, sooner or later; only somebody must go over them first, and cut out any advertisement or stray paragraph that alluded to America. Right in the midst of one of Napoleon's battles, or one of Canning's speeches, poor Nolan would find a great hole, because on the back of the page of that paper there had been an advertisement of a packet for New York, or a scrap from the president's message. I say this was the first time I ever heard of this plan, which afterwards I had enough, and more than enough, to do with. I remember it, because poor Phillips, who was of the party, as soon as the allusion to reading was made, told a story of something which happened at the Cape of Good Hope on Nolan's first voyage; and it is the only thing I ever knew of that voyage. They had touched at the Cape, and had done the civil thing with the English admiral and the fleet, and then, leaving for a long cruise up the Indian ocean, Phillips had borrowed a lot of English books from an officer, which, in those days, as indeed in these, was quite a windfall. Among them, as the Devil would order, was the "Lay of the Last Minstrel," which they had all of them heard of, but which most of them had never seen. I think it could not have been published long. Well, nobody thought there could be any risk of anything national in that, though Phillips swore old Shaw had cut out the "Tempest" from Shakespeare before he let Nolan have it, because he said, "The Bermudas ought to be ours and, by Jove, should be one day." So Nolan was permitted to join the circle one afternoon when a lot of them sat on deck smoking and reading aloud. People do not do such things so often now, but when I was young we got rid of a great deal of time so. Well, so it happened that in his turn Nolan took the book and read to the others; and he read very well, as I know. Nobody in the circle knew a line of the poem, only it was all magic and border chivalry, and was ten thousand years ago. Poor Nolan read steadily through the fifth canto, stopped a minute and drank something, and then began, without a thought of what was coming—

Breathes there the man, with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said—

It seems impossible to us that anybody ever heard this for the first time; but all these fellows did then, and poor Nolan himself went on, still unconsciously or mechanically—

This is my own, my native land!

Then they all saw something was to pay; but he expected to get through, I suppose, turned a little pale, but plunged on—

Whose heart hath ne'er within him burned,
As home his footsteps he hath turned
From wandering on a foreign strand?—
If such there breathe, go, mark him well.

By this time the men were all beside themselves, wishing there was any way to make him turn over two pages; but he had not quite presence of mind for that; he gagged a little, colored crimson, and staggered on:

For him no minstrel raptures swell;
High though his titles, proud his name,
Boundless his wealth as wish can claim,
Despite these titles, power and pelf,
The wretch, concentered all in self,— and here the poor fellow choked, could not go on, but started up, swung the book into the sea, vanished into his stateroom, "and by Jove," said Phillips, "we did not see him for two months again. And I had to make up some beggarly story to that English surgeon why I did not return his Walter Scott to him."

That story shows about the time when Nolan's braggadocio must have broken down. At first, they said, he took a very high tone, considered his imprisonment a mere farce, affected to enjoy the voyage, and all that; but Phillips said that after he came out of his stateroom he never was the same man again. He never read aloud again, unless it was the Bible or Shakespeare, or something else he was sure of. But it was not that merely. He never entered in with the other young men exactly as a companion again. He was always shy afterward, when I knew Steenerson a Winner.

Last week President Wilson heard arguments for a change in the wheat grades from a delegation from the northwest with Congressman Halvor Steenerson as spokesman. A few days afterward orders came, through the Secretary of Agriculture, for a modification of the grades that will mean an average increase of from five to ten cents per bushel in the returns for the wheat crop.

The moisture content is raised from 13 to 15 per cent; 4 per cent of other wheat, instead of 2, is permitted; rye content is raised from 1 to 2 per cent; 2 instead of 1 per cent of damaged kernels is permitted; and there may be 1 per cent of heated kernals instead of none, and 1 per cent separable small seeds is permitted.

The change in moisture content is the most important, as the bulk of the northwestern crop averages between 14 and 15 per cent in the moisture test.

The new rules will go into effect after hearings are held in the five principal grain centers of the country, that for the northwest to occur in Minneapolis on March 21.

The modifications are in line with Mr. Steenerson's bill recently introduced in congress, and grants almost all that was asked for.

Free transportation to and from home for men in the military service on furlough is provided in a bill by Representative Steenerson, of this district. Mr. Steenerson states that he wishes to make it possible for all to bid their relatives good-bye before going overseas.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

The gross misrepresentation to which we have recently been subjected has convinced us that we should no longer delay in putting before the public the basic facts of our business, relying on the fair-mindedness of the American people.

The feeling against the American packer is based largely on the belief that the income and well-being of the producer and consumer are adversely affected by the packers' operations, resulting in unreasonably large profits.

Swift & Company's net profit is reasonable, and represents an insignificant factor in the cost of living.

For the fiscal year 1917 the total sales and net profit of Swift & Company were as follows:

Sales
$875,000,000.
Profits
$34,650,000.

This is equivalent to a $3,465. profit on a business of $87,500.

If Swift & Company had made no profit at all, the cattle raiser would have received only one-eighth of a cent per pound more for his cattle, or the consumer would have saved only one-quarter of a cent per pound on dressed beef.

Clarence Docken was married March 4th. to Miss Laura Stengelson a young lady teacher of the vicinity of Viking. This matter was pretty much a secret until last Friday and since then the young banker has been the subject of many a good natured joke.

The groom is one of our fine business men who will be missed when he goes to the front. The bride is a stranger to most of us yet, we are assured Clarence has chosen one who will be a helpmate in every sense of the word. The News joins the many friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Docken, a happy and prosperous wedded life.

The Misses Bakke and Nelson entertained a company of young folks at the Docken home Saturday evening in honor of Clarence Docken. A very enjoyable time was spent and after showering congratulations and much joy to the newly wed, for a happy and prosperous matrimonial voyage thru life, the company departed for their home in the wee hours of the morning.

THE SPRING DRIVE

Our boys are going "Over the top" and into "No man's land" this spring. No one has any doubt of their ability to get there. There will also be a spring drive on this side of the ocean, because March is the year's "blue Monday." It is the most fatal month of the year. March and April is a time when resistance usually is at lowest ebb. It is a trying season for the "run-down" man. But medical science steps in, and says, "it need not be"! We should cultivate a love of health, a sense of responsibility for the care of our bodies. Do not allow the machinery of the body to clog. Put the stomach and liver in proper condition. Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, to be had at most drug stores in tablet or liquid form, tablets sixty-cents a vial, composed of native herbs. This puts the stomach and liver in proper condition. You may be plodding along, no spring, no elasticity, no vim, but as soon as you have put the body into its normal physical condition—oiled the machinery, as it were—you will find new vim, vigor and vitality within you. A little "pep," and we laugh and live. Try it now. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c. for trial package. A little energy will save the day. The prime necessity of life is health. With spirit and energy you have the power to force yourself into action. The Golden Medical Discovery is the spring tonic which you need.

Never Fails.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from your druggist, and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than one ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

MAKE PET OF CAPTURED MULE

Allied Soldiers in France Play With Animal That Once Was in the Service of the Kaiser.

At the battle of Loos, bombers captured a shivering German mule, which they dubbed Kaiser Bill, says Boys' Life, the Boy Scouts' Magazine. But the new Kaiser Bill was very intelligent and friendly toward his captors, so the men thought that to be fair to the mule, they had better drop the Kaiser and call him just plain Billy.

Billy earned his rations by towing about the brigade bomb-cart. When off duty the men used to play with him. He would answer to his name, and come trotting over when his master called. Billy is still with the brigade, and the men say that he tows those bombs up to the dump for use against the Germans with the greatest relish.

It is odd to see a big, rough, hard-ended soldier in a trench as he fondles a little trench kitten, his features softening. "Poor little beggar," he thinks, "so helpless and weak. And it's warm—and living."

Can anything erase from the character of man those traits which make life worth while—pity, love, and mercy? Ease and luxury may; but trouble, hardship, and danger never.

"There's a Reason"

FARMER STATESMEN DID WORK QUICKLY

The New Republic Shows How Action Was Secured In North Dakota.

How the farmers in North Dakota got together in special session, transacted their business in a few days and went home to their winter work is told by the New Republic, the leading weekly newspaper of America. In strong contrast with old party legislatures that usually take two weeks to get down to business the farmer legislature, knowing for what purpose it had assembled, passed its bills and was ready to stop expense to the state in less time than a week.

The seed situation in North Dakota was becoming desperate, and threatening to interfere with full wartime production. The New Republic says on this subject:

"Despairing of adequate relief for the state from Federal sources, Lynn J. Frazier, the "peoples' governor" elected by the farmers thru the agency of the Nonpartisan league, summoned the state legislature to consider the seed and feed situation and other war-time emergencies. Within three days the house of representatives in which the Nonpartisan league farmers have a large majority, had completed its business and asked for adjournment. But the senate, where the forces in opposition to the League are still in control, prolonged the session until the rising tide of public opinion throughout the state led to a sudden change of tactics."

The New Republic finds that farmer legislatures are different from some other legislatures and that the Nonpartisans do their work with a directness and thoroughness too seldom apparent in the work of American legislative bodies.

These North Dakota farmers who make up the minority in the state senate and the majority in the house are in striking contrast to the common type of state legislature. Lawmaking is a serious businehs to them. They go about it with extreme earnestness. Long before the appointed time for the house to be called to order most of them are in their seats, studying gravely and diligently the printed bills which the pages lay on their desks.

Hampered by Senate.

They came to Bismarck on the occasion of this special session to do a definite thing, convinced of the needfulness of doing that thing both by their own knowledge of farm conditions and by the proclamation of their farmer governor, in whom they have implicit faith. When they had done this thing nothing else occurred to them. They looked with marked disfavor on the conduct of the senate which kept them longer away from their barns and stock, the care of which in severe winter weather had been temporarily entrusted to wives, children and hired men.

These farmer legislators and their farmer constituents feel with great unanimity that effective relief of the seed and feed crisis of the present winter would have been unobtainable under the old political regime. Rightly or wrongly, they ascribed the present solution to the beneficient influence of the Nonpartisan league. The history of the special session will confirm their belief in the League's doctrine of "legislation for farmers by farmers."

FARMERS STICK TO LEAGUE

Enthusiasm Great at Points Where Farmers First Began Work of Organizing.

In reporting an enthusiastic meeting at Bowman, North Dakota, in which more than six hundred farmers listened to Walter Thomas Mills, the claim is made by the local correspondent that the Nonpartisan league was born at this place. The splendid meeting is pointed to as evidence that the farmers are standing together in the country from which the farmers' organization came.

A number of places in North Dakota claim to be the birthplace of the league. Mr. Mills said that Bowman offered as evidence of this honor the fact that Mr. A. C. Townley traveled from farm to farm on foot in that country trying to interest farmers before the League had taken form.

The enthusiastic manner in which the farmers indorsed the league, its governor, and its national officials, is conclusive answer to the charge that those who first joined the league are deserting it.

Profiteers Want More.

The Southern Pacific railway will have accumulated profits by the end of the year that will almost equal the company's capital stock. Yet this company is asking permission to increase freight rates 15 per cent.

Can't Support Both.

A stockyards profiteer says that twice a year is often enough for a working person to go to the movies. How about the movie profiteer? He can't live if the stockyards takes all the worker's surplus.

THE BIG WORK IN THE WAR

The War Lord Salutes the Field Marshall.

Such is the striking title to a well-timed cartoon in an agricultural paper, showing the War Lord in salute to the farmer. The meaning of it is that without the assistance that the farmer renders in the matter of providing food for the army the fighting ability of that body would be proportionally decreased. While the army is fighting, the farmer is busy. The promptness with which he sprang into the breach was a patriotism equal to that of the man who enlisted and the farmer's record in this particular was worthy of the high record that has become his. All over the United States the appeal is being met by more production. Fields are enlarged, intensive agriculture has taken the place of slipshod methods, more cattle are being fattened, more hogs grown, veal and lamb have become scarce commodities. This is all in keeping with the food-controller's demands, and with the heartiness that is now prevalent, it would seem as if the requirements of the boys at the front and the allies in Europe would be fully met.

Not only are the tilled acres of the United States being brought into requisition, but the wild pasture lands are doing tribute with their cattle and sheep. Working in conjunction with the United States, Western Canada is also doing its share and a pretty large share it is, too. By an arrangement with the United States Government it will now be possible through its employment bureau to secure for the Western Canada fields such help as can be spared. It is thought in this way Canada will have its help to seed its millions of acres of wheat land fairly well met. The large number of young men of the farms who have enlisted and gone to the front has left many of the Western Canada farms weak in the matter of man power. This means that Canada can take all that the United States can spare. The wages will be good and the housing comfortable.

In addition to this the free homestead lands of Western Canada offer the greatest inducement to the man with limited means who is willing to undergo some of the hardships naturally accompanying this enterprise. There is also the large area of uncultivated lands that are waiting the man with sufficient means to purchase and equip. And this is not expensive. The cheap lands are cheap and the terms very reasonable. Equipped with tractor or horse power the cultivation cost is slight when the return is considered. Yields of wheat varying from 20 to 40 bushels per acre may be relied upon, and with a set price of over $2.00 per bushel, it is an easy matter to arrive at the cost. Production, including interest on land, has been estimated at figures not exceeding ten dollars an acre. With a twenty bushel yield, at a two dollar price—forty dollars. Ten from forty and you have the profits many farmers made in Western Canada the past year.

The Dominion and Provincial Governments are working conjointly in an increased production propaganda. Among the important steps that have been taken to bring this about is the recent order by which it is made possible to take into Canada tractors that cost fourteen hundred dollars and less in the country of production. This will give those residing in the United States, owning lands in Canada, the opportunity to place them under cultivation at much less cost than in the past. Another inducement is the privilege of taking sheep and cattle in free of duty. Automobiles form a necessary part of the outfit of a good many farmers that would like to move to Canada. These are now accorded free duty. Provision is also made that those requiring seed and unable to obtain it in any other way, may get it from the Government. So from this it will be seen that it is not only the fertile lands of Western Canada that invite the settler, but the ease and cheapness with which a farmer may establish himself.—Advertisement.

WILSON THANKS NONPARTISAN

President Writes Congressman Baer That Promise of Support Is "Very Gratifying."

Local politicians in certain sections of Minnesota may pretend that the Nonpartisan league is disloyal, but President Woodrow Wilson has no illusions on this subject.

The President has just written to Congressman J. M. Baer of North Dakota declaring that a letter from the congressman brought him a "very gratifying message." The letter was an offer to the President of the services of the National Nonpartisan league.

At the request of A. C. Townley, league head, Congressman Baer told President Wilson that the farmers composing the league "have an enthusiastic desire to use our influence in any way that you may suggest."

"In the Northwest," Congressman Baer continued, "it seems to us that the powers-that-be are striving to undermine the administration under the guise of 'constructive' argument. We really believe that our experience in meeting such attacks, as they have been directed by partisan politicians in an effort to destroy our organization, makes us particularly able to help you."

President Wilson's reply follows:

My Dear Mr. Baer:

Your letter brings me a very gratifying message. I am glad, you may be sure, to learn of such work as you speak of. Support of the government just now and the correct interpretation of its policies and purposes are of the utmost consequence, not only to the United States but to the world and the work of the sort you outline contributes to the universal cause.

Sincerely yours,
Woodrow Wilson.

LEAGUE FORMS RED CROSS

Township Caucus Organized Itself Into War Aid Society After Electing Delegate.

After the caucus of the Nonpartisan league in Kratka township, Pennington county, Minn., had transacted its business and elected its delegate to the legislative convention, those present organized themselves into a township Red Cross society branch with 30 members.

Collections for the Red Cross at Nonpartisan league meetings are increasing in size. Thousands of dollars are being turned in to this branch of war service through Nonpartisan activities. The league has been able during the past few weeks to enlist thousands of new persons in this department of service.

FORD FAVORS OWNERSHIP

Automobile Man Would Introduce Sense and System Into Railroad Business.

Henry Ford attacks the whole system of private railroads, declaring that it would be quite easy, with good management, to diminish freight and passenger rates one-half, while doubling the wages of the employes and the returns of capital.

He points out that the control of our railroads has passed a good deal to the bankers living in New York and other large cities who know nothing of railroad work or administration.

Standardized manufacture is the key by which Mr. Ford would solve the problem. He would have cars and engines reduced in weight about one-fourth by using steel of greater tensile strength than is now used. At present he declares that too much of the power is needed to haul dead weight around.

PROFITEERS TOLL ON WOOL

One Hundred Percent on Yarns Used For Knitting For Soldiers.

A circular issued by the Wool Growers association states that wool yarn, such as used by our people is selling for $5.00 per pound. They figure that the retailer and wholesaler are exacting over 100 per cent on knitting yarns.

The profiteer overlooks nothing. His patriotism is figured in dollars and cents. He likes to set the women busy knitting, for every sale means 100 per cent profit to him.

Montana Tax System.

Now that their attention has been called to it the people of Montana do not see how they stood their tax system so long, but the system was there all of the time, giving aid and comfort to the railroads and the mine owners, even before the Nonpartisan league pointed it out.

Farmers Good Legislators.

Gov. Frazier of North Dakota says that the farmers elected to the legislature made good. They depended on themselves without looking to broken down politicians and corporation lawyers for leaders. The result was that they were able to carry out their pledges.

Something Is Wrong.

In spite of the fact that the average farmer in North Dakota raises wheat enough in one year to feed his family 30 years the farmers of that state are $30,000,000 in debt.—A. C. Townley.

Highest Patriotism.

The patriotism that does its bit and more without questioning the motive of a neighbor who is doing his in a different way is the pure variety that assays 100 per cent.

To The American People

There is no foundation for the alleged violations of law attributed to our Company by agents of the Federal Trade Commission and I want to say emphatically that Swift & Company is not a party to any conspiracy to defraud the Government. Nor has Swift & Company been guilty of improperly storing foods or of making false entries or reports.

Conferences of packers, where prices have been discussed, have been held at the urgent request and in the presence of representatives of either the Food Administration or the Council of National Defense. And yet the packers have been accused of committing a felony by acting in collusion on Government bids!

We have done our best, with other packers, large and small, to comply with the directions of the United States Food Administration in all particulars, including the furnishing of food supplies for the U. S. Army and Navy and the Allies, now being handled through the Food Administration.

We will continue to do our utmost, under Government direction, to increase our production and assist the Food Administration. We consider that the opportunity to co-operate whole-heartedly and to our fullest powers with this branch of the Government is our plain and most pressing duty.

The Trade Commission Attorney has, by false inference and misplaced emphasis, given to disconnected portions of the correspondence taken from our private files and read into the Record, a false and sinister meaning with the plain purpose of creating antagonistic public opinion.

The services of the packers of the United States are most urgently needed, and I regret exceedingly that we should at this time have to spend our efforts in defending ourselves against unfounded, unproved, and unfair assertions such as are being daily made public.

Five Bottles Peruna Restored Me To Complete Health

I Have Been In The Best Of Spirits Since, And Feel That I Owe My Health To Peruna

Mr. C. N. Petersen, dealer in fine boots, shoes and cigars, 132 S. Main St., Council Bluffs, Ia., writes: "I cannot tell you how much good Peruna has done me. Constant confinement in my store began to tell on my health and I felt that I was gradually breaking down. I tried several remedies prescribed by my physician, but obtained no permanent relief until I took Peruna. I felt better immediately and five bottles restored me to complete health. I have been in the best of spirits since, and feel that I owe my health to it."

Win the War by Preparing the Land Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return

DUTCH RESENT SHIP SEIZURES

Press Assails Move by Allies as "Piracy," "Misuse of Power" And "Act of Violence."

U. S. WAITS FOR REPLY

Delays Actual Taking Over of Vessels Pending Receipt of Cable—Meanwhile Plans for Operation Go Steadily Forward.

Washington, March 19.—Plans for operation of the Dutch shipping which was acquired by the United States and Great Britain, either voluntarily agreement or requisition, were going forward steadily late Monday while the governments awaited reply of Holland to the demand that she accede to the terms of the contract which Germany blocked, or suffer seizure of all her tonnage in American and British waters.

Holland's reply, which has been dispatched to London, is expected by officials to conclude the negotiations there at once. Seizure of the ships in American waters will be delayed, however, until the reply is received here.

Press Assails Seizure.

The Hague, March 19.—It is impossible for Holland to give an affirmative answer to the Entente's proposals concerning Dutch ships, says the Nieuwe Courant.

"It is an act of violence," it adds, "to which we are subjected by the rulers of the ocean and nothing makes us so bitter as the attemrt being made to base it on the socalled rule of international law—the antiquated Angary law—which is in no wise applicable here."

The Tyjd says: "We shall have to acquiesce, but such rough misuse of power will not be forgotten by our people."

Diplomatic Break Hinted.

In an article vehemently denouncing the Allies, the Handelsblad says:

"We cannot think what our government will do. Will it publish a protest refusing to give its approval to piracy and leave the matter as it is, or will it make the best of a bad job and make an exchange for what will be taken away? If it is not exchanged, will it request the ministers of these piratical powers to pack their trunks and depart? We should not lose much thereby.

"We do not know what the government will do and would not wish to advise it. As such a moment, it must be left to the government's discretion to take that decision which is least harmful to the country and the people."

Admits U-Boats Unopposed.

In the same article, however, the Handelsblad admits that it is unfortunately true that Holland is the only northern neutral which has done nothing to combat the German submarine methods. It attributes the country's present position to the spirit which has dictated such an attitude.

The Telegraaf advocates acceptance of the offer of the Entente governments, adding: "Holland's existence as a free and independent nation and the possession of its colonies are at stake. By choosing the right path the government has it in its power to maintain the liberty of the nation or irrevocably deliver it to the mercy of Germany, which in its bid for world domination has long had envious eyes on Holland."

Pursell of St. Paul and G. A. Kyle of Portland, Ore. The Americans are being held near Yehsien, in Northern Honan. They are reported safe and well.

LEMON JUICE IS SKIN WHITENER

CHEAP HOME-MADE BEAUTY LOTION TO REMOVE TAN, FRECKLES, SALLOWNESS.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach a darkened skin and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to whiten rough, red hands.—Adv.

MAKE MOST OF LOCOMOTIVES

Part of Wisdom to Increase Serviceability of Old Ones—New Engines Unobtainable.

"Now that new locomotives cannot be obtained within any reasonable time," says Railway Review, in discussing the country's need for additional transportation, "it is the part of wisdom to make the most of those whose serviceability can be increased 10, 25 or 50 per cent. His Armless Joke.

That all misfortune is only relative is indicated by the philosophy of the armless man who, for many years, has been carrying "copy" from a downtown news agency to the uptown newspapers at night. As the armless "copy" carrier passed he heard the editor say something more forceful than elegant. "You ought to be like me, and then you wouldn't need any towel," said the armless one, laughing contentedly.—New York Times.

I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

, very seldom spoke, unless he s spoken to, except to a very few ends. He lighted up occasionally, remember late in his life hearing a fairly eloquent on something ich had been suggested to him by s of Flechier's sermons, but generally he had the nervous, tired look of heart-wounded man.

When Captain Shaw was coming me—if, as I say, it was Shaw—rath- to the surprise of everybody they ide one of the Windward islands, d lay off and on for nearly a week. e boys said the officers were sick salt junk, and meant to have tur- soup before they came home. But ter several days the Warren came to e same rendezvous; they exchanged gnals; she sent to Phillips and these meward-bound men letters and pa- rs, and told them she was outward ound, perhaps to the Mediterranean, d took poor Nolan and his traps on e boat back to try his second cruise. e looked very blank when he was told get ready to join her. He had own enough of the signs of the sky know that till that moment he was ing "home." But this was a dis- ct evidence of something he had not ought of, perhaps, that there was no ing home for him, even to a prison. nd this was the first of some twenty ch transfers, which brought him oner or later into half our best ves- ls, but which kept him all his life least some hundred miles from the untry he had hoped he might never ar of again.

may have been on that second uise—it was once when he was up e Mediterranean—that Mrs. Graff, e celebrated Southern beauty of ose days, danced with him. They d been lying a long time in the Bay Naples, and the officers were very timate in the English fleet, and there d been great festivities, and our en thought they must give a great ll on board the ship. How they er did it on board the Warren I am re I do not know. Perhaps it was t the Warren, or perhaps ladies did t take up so much room as they now. They wanted to use Nolan's ateroom for something, and they ated to do it without asking him to e ball; so the captain said they ght ask him, if they would be re- onsible that he did not talk with e wrong people, "who would give him telligence." So the dance went on, e finest party that had ever been own, I dare say; for I never heard a man-of-war ball that was not. For dies they had the family of the merican consul, one or two travelers ho had adventured so far, and a nice vy of English girls and matrons, per- ps Lady Hamilton herself.

Well, different officers relieved each ther in standing and talking with No- n in a friendly way, so as to be sure at nobody else spoke to him. The ancing went on with spirit, and after while even the fellows who took this mporary guard of Nolan ceased to fear y contretemps. Only when some nglish lady—Lady Hamilton, as I id, perhaps, called for a set of merican dancers," an odd thing hap- ened. Everybody then danced con- redances. The black band, nothing th, conferred as to what "American ances" were, and started off with Virginia Reel," which they followed ith "Money-Musk," which, in its turn n those days, should have been fol- owed by "The Old Thirteen." But ust as Dick, the leader, tapped for his ddlers to begin, and bent forward, bout to say, in true negro state, "The ld Thirteen,' gentlemen and ladies!" he had said, "'Virginny Reel,' if you ease!" "'Money-Musk,' if you ease!" the captain's boy tapped him n the shoulder, whispered to him, and did not announce the name of the ance; he merely bowed, began on air, and they all fell to, the offi- rs teaching the English girls the ure, but not telling them why it d no name.

ut that is not the story I started tell. As the dancing went on, No- and our fellows all got at ease, as aid, so much so that it seemed quite ural for him to bow to that splendid rs. Graff, and say:

hope you have not forgotten me, s Rutledge. Shall I have the hon- of dancing?"

e did it so quickly that Shubrick, by him, could not hinder laughed and said:

am not Miss Rutledge any longer, Nolan; but I will dance all the just nodded to Shubrick, as if

There is no foundation for the alleged violations of law attributed to our Company by agents of the Federal Trade Commission and I want to say emphatically that Swift & Company is not a party to any conspiracy to defraud the Government. Nor has Swift & Company been guilty of improperly storing foods or of making false entries or reports.

Conferences of packers, where prices have been discussed, have been held at the urgent request and in the presence of representatives of either the Food Administration or the Council of National Defense. And yet the packers have been accused of committing a felony by acting in collusion on Government bids!

We have done our best, with other packers, large and small, to comply with the directions of the United States Food Administration in all particulars, including the furnishing of food supplies for the U. S. Army and Navy and the Allies, now being handled through the Food Administration.

We will continue to do our utmost, under Government direction, to increase our production and assist the Food Administration. We consider that the opportunity to co-operate whole-heartedly and to our fullest powers with this branch of the Government is our plain and most pressing duty.

The Trade Commission Attorney has, by false inference and misplaced emphasis, given to disconnected portions of the correspondence taken from our private files and read into the Record, a false and sinister meaning with the plain purpose of creating antagonistic public opinion.

The services of the packers of the United States are most urgently needed, and I regret exceedingly that we should at this time have to spend our efforts in defending ourselves against unfounded, unproved, and unfair assertions such as are being daily made public.

Strength Gave Out

Mrs. Schmitt Was Miserable From Kidney Trouble Until Doan's Came to Her Assistance. Now Well.

"My kidneys gave out during the change of life," says Mrs. Margaretha Schmitt, 63 Alabama Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y. "My back ached and pained as if it were broken. When I moved in bed, [illegible] darting pains caught me across my back and I couldn't turn. Mrs. Schmitt

"I had the most severe headaches and my kidneys didn't act regularly. The secretions passed too often and caused much distress. I was hardly able to do my housework and just to walk upstairs took all my strength.

"As soon as I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, I improved and six boxes put me in better health than I had enjoyed for years."

Mrs. Schmitt gave the foregoing statement in 1916 and on April 6, 1917, she said: "My cure has been permanent. I keep Doan's on hand, however, and take a few doses occasionally."

Inquisitive Bobby.

Bobby is of the inquisitive boy age. His father, a physician, took him to his office recently and Bobby asked questions about everything in sight. Finally he got into a room where the doctor keeps some curios, including a skeleton.

"What's this, papa?" asked Bobby.

"The bones of a man."

"Whose bones, yours?"

"Hardly," the father replied.

A flat worm preserved in alcohol in a glass jar next attracted Bobby's attention.

"Oh, papa, here's a noodle. Got any more? Let's take them home for soup."

"There's a Reason"

BIG 75-MILE GUN POUNDING AWAY

Bombardment of Paris From St. Gobain Forest, 76 Miles From City, Still Continues.

PEOPLE NOT ALARMED

Go to Church as Usual Though Projectiles Fall During Greater Part of Day—Shells Fall on Schedule.

Paris, March 26.—Long range bombardment of Paris was resumed at 6 o'clock Monday morning, but was interrupted after the second shot.

After a brief interval two more shots were fired. The bombardment was again suspended at 9:10 o'clock.

As was the case Sunday, the people did not take to shelter. Little interest was shown in the bombardment.

Gun Located 76 Miles Away.

Paris, March 26.—In the St. Gobain forest west of Laon, exactly 122 kilometers, approximately 76 miles from the Paris city hall, the German monster "cannon" which has been bombarding Paris, has been located.

The gun again bombarded Paris during the greater part of Sunday. The day was ushered in by loud explosions from the 10-inch shells, and immediately the alarm to take cover was sounded. This occurred at 6:55 o'clock and many persons sought shelter, but greater numbers of them appeared in the streets on their usual way to the churches, which were almost as well filled as usual. The women who sell palm leaves on Palm Sundays did their usual thriving business.

Shells Fall on Schedule.

At first, the shells began arriving at intervals of twenty minutes, and the detonations, considering the Sunday calm, seemed louder than those of Saturday. Their power to disturb the equanimity of the populace, however, seemed less, the people refusing to be distracted from their Sunday habits to any great extent.

In Saturday's bombardment, 24 shots in all were fired from 7.20 a. m. to 3 o'clock p. m., a shell dropping every twenty minutes with monotonous regularity. The bombardment presented all the characteristics of a bombardment by heavy artillery, there being regular intervals between the shots and the shells falling within a restricted area. Enemy aviators who flew over the city during the early hours of the bombardment regulated the firing.

"French Front Intact," Note.

For the benefit of that portion of the populace which had been led to believe the Germans had broken through the line and were bombarding Paris from nearby positions, a semi-official note was issued. This warned the people against believing pessimistic reports.

"The French front is intact," said the note. "Any assertion to the contrary is a lie."

As late as 3 o'clock no explosions had been heard for more than an hour. The 'clear signal' was sounded at 3:30 o'clock.

Schedule Is Speeded Up.

Although during the earlier hours of the bombardment the shells arrived on twenty minute intervals, later in the day they began arriving every fifteen minutes on the average, and some of them even fell 12 minutes apart.

In military circles the belief was expressed that the Germans were using two long distance guns. The Matin says the position of one of the guns was established in the St. Gobain forest, which would place it somewhat further south in the wooded area than had been believed.

The government has decided that in the future the bombardment of Paris by long distance guns shall not interrupt the normal life of the capitol, but that the population shall be warned of a bombardment by distinctive means, differing from the usual warnings sent out in cases of air raids. Drums will be beaten and the police will sound whistles.

Says Women Will Decide War.

Rome, March 26.—"America and particularly the women of America will decide the war against Germany," recently declared Dr. Stuart Galenga, under-secretary to Premier Orlando, addressing a meeting of the Woman's National Italian League. "Without the patriotic work of women in Entente countries we could not hope to win," he continued.

Threaten Strike at Krupp Plant.

London, March 26.—Amsterdam advices state that workmen arriving in Holland from Essen tell of a great strike being threatened at the Krupp war plant.

Tries To Get Loan Ban Removed.

Washington, March 26.—Attorney General Langer of North Dakota is in Washington endeavoring to have the embargo on federal farm loans which applies to North Dakota, taken off. The reason for the application of the embargo rests with the Baer seed bill which provides that the money loaned to farmers on this proposition shall be a prior lien to the security offered. About $3,000,000 has been loaned in North Dakota and there are $6,00,000 of applications which are being held up.

IN THE SPRING

will be the great test of a life and death struggle on the Western front. In the everyday walks of life, it is the spring time that brings ill health. One of the chief reasons why the run-down man finds himself in a bad state of health in March or April, is because he has spent nearly all his hours for the past four or five months penned up within the walls of house, factory or office. It is the reason for our diminished resistance—that is, lack of out-door life, coupled with perhaps over-eating, lack of good exercise, insufficient sleep, and constipation. In other words, we keep feeding the furnace with food but do not take out the "clinkers," and our fire does not burn brightly. Always keep the liver active.

There is nothing better for health than taking an occasional mild laxative, perhaps once a week; such a one as you can get at any drug store, made up of May-apple, jalap, aloes, (sugar-coated, tiny, easily taken), which has stood the test of fifty years of approval—namely, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. But for the "Spring Fever," the general run-down condition, the lack of ambition, the "blues," one should take a course of treatment every spring; such a standard tonic as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, now to be had in tablet form in sixty-cent vials. Watch the people go plodding along the street. There's no spring, no vitality. A vitalizing tonic such as this vegetable extract of Dr. Pierce's gives you the power to force yourself into action. The brain responds to the new blood in circulation, and thus you're ready to make a fight against stagnation which holds you in bondage. Try it now! Don't wait! Today is the day to begin. Gain a little "pep," and laugh and live. Vim and vitality are the natural out-pouring of a healthy body. It does not spring up in a night. Try this spring tonic, and you gain the courage that comes with good health.

Riot of Color.

Mrs. Flatbush—What's become of that necktie you gave your husband for Christmas?

Mrs. Bensonhurst—Oh, he's wearing it yet.

"As I remember, it had all the colors of the rainbow in it."

"Well, since he got careless with his eggs in the morning and lavish with the gravy at noon, he's added some other colors to it."

Wrong Line of Talk.

Among the guests at a reception was a distinguished man of letters. He was grave and somewhat taciturn. One of the ladies present suggested to the hostess that he seemed to be out of place at such a party.

"Yes," replied the hostess, with a bright smile, "you see, he can't talk anything but sense!"—Christian Register.

GIRLS! MAKE A BEAUTY LOTION WITH LEMONS

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is truly marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

A Welshman's Prayer.

A simple-minded man in a Welsh coal valley is a character in his way. He always insists on taking his turn in the devotional services of his chapel. His prayer the other night was something like this: "Almighty God, thou hast heard about that old kaiser. I read in the paper that his throat is bad, and that he has difficulty in breathing. Well, Lord, thou knowest how far to go."—Cardiff Western Mail.

WHEAT RATION CUT ONE-HALF

Americans Are Asked To Do On Pound and Half Per Person Each Week.

TO REDUCE FLOUR SALES

One-Eighth Barrel For City and One-Quarter For Country Customers Are Decreased—New Food Rules.

Washington, March 26.—That the scant supplies available before the next harvest may be stretched to meet the demands of the army, domestic, consumers and the allies the food adminstration has asked a further reduction in the consumption of wheat.

Every American is requested to cut his average ration of wheat by 50 per cent, which would reduce the total normal consumption of 42,000,000 bushels a month to 21,000,000. This gives a ration of not more than 1½ pounds of wheat products weekly for each person. Flour sales will be cut to one-eighth of a barrel for a town customer and one-quarter for any country customer, that retailers' stocks may be illustrated to as great a number as possible.

WILSON AND KING WIRE HAIG

President. Expresses Confidence In Final Victory Over Foe.

Washington, March 26.—President Wilson has cabled Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, congratulating him on the British stand against the German offensive and predicting a final Allied victory.

The presidents message said:

"May I not express to you my warm admiration for the splendid steadfastness and valor with which your troops have withstood the German onset and the perfect confidence all Americans feel that you will win a secure and final victory."

King George's Message.

London, March 26.—King George has sent the following message to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig: "I can assure you that the fortitude, courage and selfsacrifice with which the troops under your command continue so heroically to resist superior numbers are realized by me and my people. The empire stands calm and confident in its soldiers. May God bless them and give them strength in this time of trial."

FORMER GERMAN SHIP SUNK

Chattahoochee, In American Service, Is Victim of Submarine.

London, March 26.—The admiralty announces the American steamer Chattahoochee, 5,088 tons net, has been sunk by a German submarine off the English coast. Her crew of 78 was landed safely.

The master says the submarine fired a number of torpedoes, of which four struck the vessel.

The Chattahoochee formerly was the German ship Sachsen of the Hamburg-American line, and was taken over by the United States when war was declared.

Is Victor in Running Fight—German Commander Suicides.

An Atlantic Port, March 26.—According to W. S. Hamburg, who has landed here on a French liner, a German U-boat was sunk and its nine survivors were captured by an American liner on March 10.

The prisoners were the first members of a submarine crew captured by an American liner during the war. The U-boat commander saved himself from capture or death by drowning by slaying himself with his automatic gun as his vessel sank.

AIRPLANE SEEN OVER CAIRO

Egyptians Warned of Possibility of Attack—Lighting Restricted.

London, March 26—The inhabitants of Cairo, Egypt, have been informed officially according to a Reuter dispatch, that a hostile airship has been observed over the coast. The public was warned of the possibility of air raids and ordered to observe the necessary lighting restrictions.

DUTCH DECLINE GRAIN OFFER

Cabinet Said to Have Rejected Allied Ship Proposal.

London, March 26.—The Dutch cabinet is said to have decided to send the Allied Powers a formal refusal of their offer of grain in return for Dutch ships, a dispatch from The Hague to the Daily Mail says.

Sweden To Be Strictly Neutral.

Stockholm, March 26.—Premier Eden, speaking recently at Henkoeping on the new and grave problems facing Sweden, through the complete transformation of the situation in the Baltic, declared the government would maintain a policy of unshakable neutrality. With reference to Finland and the Aland Islands questions the premier said the Finnish government had repeatedly requested arms and ammunition from Sweden and Swedish military intervention in the Civil war.

Is your home Certain-teed?

You pay for insurance against a fire loss that may happen. Are you equally protected against loss that surely will happen if your home remains unpainted,—or poorly painted? Is your property Certain-teed against deterioration and decay?

Wherever there is need for paint or varnish, that need is supplied by a Certain-teed Paint or Varnish made for the purpose. For interior walls, ceilings, woodwork, floors and furniture; for exterior walls, roofs, porches, outbuildings and porch furniture there is a Certain-teed product made to withstand the use or exposure to which it will be subjected.

Certain-teed

Paints and Varnishes

are more decorative than ordinary paints,—their colors and finish more clear and lustrous. And they are, in the ultimate, more economical; for they spread farther and last longer, and each color is priced according to its cost of production; whereas most paints are sold at a flat price, based upon the production cost of the most expensive color.

For Porch and Lawn Furniture

The man in the illustration is giving his porch and lawn furniture a coat of Certain-teed Porch Furniture Enamel. The sun will not fade its color; rain will not dim its lustre; hot weather will not soften its surface. This enamel, like all other Certain-teed products, is compounded of pure materials, properly proportioned, accurately mixed by machinery under the supervision of paint experts.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes are made for all uses, in all colors and in all sizes of cans. Any store that sells paints can supply you. If the dealer you apply to, cannot immediately supply you what you want, he can obtain it promptly.

It Cost the Average Family Less Than 10c Per Week for Packer's Profit in 1917.

The Meat Bill is one of the large items in the family budget less than 10 cents per week of it goes to the packer in profits.

In converting live stock into meat and getting it into the hands of the retail dealer, the packer performs a complex and essential service with the maximum of efficiency.

The above statement is based on Swift & Company's 1917 figures and Federal Census data:

Swift & Company's total output (Meat and by-products) - 5,570,000,000 Pounds

Swift & Company's total Profit - - - - - $34,650,000.00

Profit per pound - - - - $.0062

U. S. Meat Consumption - - - - - - - - 170 pounds per person per year

170 pounds at $.0062 = $1.05 per person per year

The average family 4½ persons = $4.72 per family per year

As old Daniels is rich, both the nephew and his young wife laughed heartily at the wit of the old man.

Win the War by Preparing the Land

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Moorhead.—There were 511 births and 180 deaths in 1916 in Clay county, compared with 520 births and 177 deaths in 1917.

Barnesville.—Everett Colby of this city, former editor of The Headlight and well known in collegiate circles at Fargo, has arrived in France.

St. Cloud.—Approximately a dozen German aliens in the St. Cloud district have not yet registered, it was announced by Chief of Police Brick.

Rustad.—Hog price records for Clay county were reached here when forty hogs were sold for an average of $70 each at the M. O. Valan auction sale.

Bemidji.—Both the big plants of the Crookston Lumber company here have opened for their summer work. The mills will give employment to 600 men.

Red Lake Falls.—A few days after her husband passed away, Mrs. Frank Wieland, 77, of this city, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles J. Kruse, of old age and bronchitis.

St. Cloud.—Evert Hall, who was sentenced to serve a term in the state's prison of from one to five years, was freed upon the commutation of his sentence by the board of pardons.

Winona.—Rev. J. F. Horton, formerly a pastor at Battle Creek, Mich., has been called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church in Winona, to succeed Rev. Robert Brown.

Madelia.—The Red Cross auction sale held March 16 was a great success. The proceeds from the auction netted $5,078. Lunches served during the day netted $300. One smal pig put up brought $1,093.

Little Falls.—The executive board of the Morrison County Farm Bureau association decided to engage J. J. McCann of Spring Grove as county agent of this county at a salary of $1,800 a year and traveling expenses.

Crookston.—A Red Cross rally was held after the Hammond township election, held recently, which showed the patriotic spirit of the Hammond voters when $101.15 was donated. Hammond township was canvassed several weeks ago and $65.75 was donated.

St. Paul.—Commissioner O. P. B. Jacobson and A. L. Finn, rate and tariff expert, respectively, both of the State Railroad and Warehouse commission, attended rate hearing on lignite coal shipments from North Dakota to Minnesota, held at Fargo last week.

St. Paul.—A. W. Trenholm, vice president and general manager of the Omaha road, has been appointed chairman of the Northwest car service committee by Director General W. G. McAdoo. He succeeds Maj. G. T. Slade, who is about to go overseas for duty.

Sauk Rapids.—Two young men, Enard Nelson and Ervin Jahn, who were arrested here recently on a burglary charge, were sentenced to serve a year in the state reformatory. Judge Roeser ordered the sentence supended with the alternative that the young men join the navy.

Thief River Falls.—Seeding began in Pennington county last week when farmers on the ridge west of this city started sowing wheat. Farmers in the eastern part of the county where the ground is lower expect to start before the close of this week if rain does not interfere.

Red Lake Falls.—S. E. Hunt and W. O. Hunt are the sole owners of the Hunt-Kankel Hardware company, having purchased the interest of C. O. Kankel in the business. The business is the oldest one in Red Lake Falls, having been established forty years ago by Frank E. Hunt.

Washington.—Congressman C. B. Miller has been assured that the members of the Hamline university ambulance unit will be called for service with the next installment called. The members of the organization hoped to be called as a unit, but were told they would have to go as individuals and be assigned to other units.

Red Lake.—A basket social for the benefit of the Red Cross society was held at the high school auditorium and $69 was netted for the society. One local business man bought $17 worth of baskets. The Junior Red Cross in the Red Lake Falls schools has done excellent work. There is a 100 per cent membership in the grades and a majority of the high school belong.

Winona.—Seeding of spring wheat in Southern Minnesota and Western Wisconsin will start within ten days if the present warm weather continues, according to experts here. The fields are practically clear of snow and are drying rapidly. The acreage of wheat is expected to be greater than ever before grown, many farmers deciding to replace corn with wheat as a patriotic measure. One miller said that farmers will not gamble with uncertain barley and corn prices when the nation needs wheat so badly.

Ranier.—A car of whitefish, weighing 29,000 pounds, confiscated by Deputy Game Warden Wood, will be sent from Duluth, where the fish have been in cold storage since seized near Ranier, to Halifax, for use by the Canadian soldiers in France.

Brainerd.—Frederick S. Parker, age 61, one of the best known business men of Brainerd, died yesterday from apoplexy. He managed Brainerd's first and only street railway, also managed its first telephone system and was director and stockholder in the Parker and Topin company foundry.

WHY MR. LOTT DIDN'T ENLIST

Explanation Afforded by Street-Car Conductor at Least Caused Him to "Get a Move On."

Joshua Lott sometimes lives up to his name, but there is a conductor on the Prospect line who should be named Josh Moore. Notwithstanding the conductor's urging to "step up in front," Lott clings to a place on the rear platform when he can in order to be able to squeeze off at McGee street with insult and injury to fewer other passengers. This morning Lott was brightening up the corner where he was with some remarks about the service when the conductor horned right in.

"Say," he said, "I've often looked at you and wondered why you didn't enlist. But I know now."

"How's that?" asked Lott, helpfully.

"Because you're so all-fired scared of getting up to the front," said the conductor.

Just then the 60-passenger stopped at a transfer point to let about eighty more get on, and Lott was the first to start struggling toward the front to make room for them.—Kansas City Star.

22 Million Families in the United States

4 CUPS OF WHEAT FLOUR TO THE POUND

If each family used 4 cups of flour less per week, the saving would be 22 million pounds or 112,244 barrels every week.

The greatest help housekeepers can give to win the war is to make this saving and it can be done by using this recipe in place of white flour bread.

Corn Meal Biscuits

⅔ cup scalded milk
1 cup corn meal
2 tablespoons shortening
⅔ teaspoon salt
1 cup white flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

Save ¼ cup of the measured flour for board. Pour milk over corn meal, add shortening and salt. When cold, add sifted flour and baking powder. Roll out lightly on floured board. Cut with biscuit cutter and bake in greased pan fifteen to twenty minutes.

And when Nolan came, the captain said:

"Mr. Nolan, we are all very grateful to you today; you are one of us today; will be named in the dispatches."

And then the old man took off his own sword of ceremony, and gave it to Nolan, and made him put it on. The man told me this who saw it. Nolan cried like a baby, and well he might. He had not worn a sword since that infernal day at Fort Adams. But always afterward, on occasions of ceremony, that quaint old French sword of the commodore's.

The captain did mention him in the dispatches. It was always said he asked that he might be pardoned. He wrote a special letter to the secretary of war. But nothing ever came of it. As I said, that was about the time when they began to ignore the whole transaction at Washington, and when Nolan's imprisonment began to carry itself on because there was nobody to stop it without any new orders from home.

APRIL 1 LAST DAY FOR FEDERAL RETURNS

Penalties for Income Dodgers Are Severe—Get Your Return in if You Are Liable.

April 1, 1918, is the final day allowed under the federal income tax law for the filing of federal income tax returns. Persons who are required to file returns under the provisions of law and who fail to get their returns in on time are subject to severe penalties, as follows:

For making false or fraudulent return, not exceeding $2,000 or not exceeding one year's imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court, and, in addition, 100 per cent. of the tax evaded.

"For failing to make return on time, not less than $20 nor more than $1,000, and, in addition, 50 per cent. of the amount of tax due.

"If on account of illness or absence from home you are unable to render your return within the time prescribed by law you may obtain an extension of 30 days if a request therefor is filed with the collector of your district before the due date of the return. In this request you must state the reason why the return cannot be filed within the time prescribed by law.

Collectors of internal revenue are not authorized to grant extensions of more than 30 days, but the commissioner of internal revenue has authority to grant a reasonable extension beyond 30 days in meritorious cases. If you desire an extension of more than 30 days your request should be addressed to the commissioner and should contain a detailed statement covering the reasons which make it impossible for you to file your return on or before April 1.

The internal revenue men are now completing their tour of the country, during which they were in touch with the people of every city and town. If you failed to get in touch with the deputy which visited your section it is not too late to get advice. Consult your postmaster as to where the nearest deputy is now. Get your blank form, study the directions and the requirements as shown thereon and make your return without fail if your income was sufficient to come within the bounds named in the law.

It is pointed out by Commissioner Roper that it is important that the people comply with the federal laws as fully as they are complying with the drafts for men and the conservation of foods and fuel. "The war must be paid for," says Commissioner Roper. "Congress has as much right to conscript a just portion of income as it has to conscript our boys. The tax for 1917 is designed to reach moderate as well as large incomes, so that all persons who are in financial position to bear a portion of the heavy government expenses can be assessed in proportion to their ability to pay.

"The man who is barely making a living or barely supporting a family is not affected by the 1917 law. But the man who is able to bear a share of the burden has been reached by the new law, and he should accept his responsibility in the same patriotic spirit that our young men have shown in offering themselves for this great purpose of the country to make the world safe for people of all kinds to live in and to govern themselves."

This tax is one which recognizes women as on an equal basis with men. The unmarried woman or the married woman with a salary must make tax return just the same as any man. Only the woman supporting her mother or other members of her family may take out $2,000 exemption.

Under the law the head of the family is the one whose earning power contributes to the family's support.

Similarly a widow with small children to support can take out $2,000 exemption and $200 additional exemption for each of her children under eighteen. Thus it is intended that the law shall work no hardship to women having to struggle to get along. But each must file return if her income is $1,000.

A man whose wife dies and who is left with small children to support upon a moderate income may also take full exemption under the new tax law and also claim $200 exemption for each of his children under eighteen.

The widower under the law is a single man and must make tax return accordingly. Married men need not file returns unless they are earning $2,000 or more.

"This is as much a national obligation as the reporting for duty of a man drafted for service with the colors," says D. C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue. "As it stands it is much a matter of the man or woman's own conscience. It is for him or for her to determine just how far he is liable to the tax. He must figure his own income and if it reaches the figures named in the law must make faithful report upon it to the proper authority.

"This tax is distinctly a war measure and will be in effect during the war.

"This is a people's tax—it reaches right down into the pockets of the small wage earner; it makes him a partner in the job of winning the war."

1-2 lb. prunes, Stick cinnamon, 1-2 cup sugar, cornstarch 1-4 to 1-2 cups, juice of 1 lemon. Wash the prunes and soak them in one pint of water over night. Boil in this water with the cinnamon strick until very well done. Remove the stones, add the lemon juice, mix the cornstarch thoroughly with the sugar and add to the prunes. If there is much liquid or if it is desired to mold the pudding, use 1-2 cup of cornstarch. If a softer pudding is desired, use 1-4 cup cornstarch, cook a few minutes after adding the sugar and cornstarch. Serve cold with milk or cream.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Sixty Dollars, interest payment which became due December 1st, 1917 which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Adolph Sollom and Ida Sollom, his wife, and Theodore Sollom, a single man, Mortgagors, to Farmers State Bank of Holt (a Minnesota Corporation) Mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of March 1916, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Marshall and State of Minnesota, on the 13th day of March 1916, at 8:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 80 of Mortgages, on page 205.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Farmers State Bank of Holt, Mortgagee, to Holt State Bank, Holt, Minnesota, by written assignment dated the 3rd day of May 1917, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 5th day of May 1917 at 8:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 83 of Mortgages on page 546.

AND WHEREAS, The said Holt State Bank, Holt, Minnesota, the Assignee, and Holder of said Mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand and sixty ($1,060.00) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 1st day of December 1917, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lots numbered nineteen (19) and twenty (20) in Block numbered eight (B. 8) of the Town of Holt, according to the official plat thereof on file and recorded in the office of the register of deeds within and for the County of Marshall, State of Minnesota, in Marshall County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Marshall County, at the west front door of the Court House, in the City of Warren in said County and State, on the 11th day of May 1918, at ten o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of One Thousand and Sixty Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

REGARDING THE THIRD LIBERTY BOND SALE.

The Third Liberty Loan Drive will start Saturday, April 6th throughout the United States.

The plan adopted is that each individual will be alloted a certain amount to purchase; this amount based absolutely upon his net worth. In each Township and Village a Committee composed of representative men have this matter in charge and the allotments that they make will be just and fair.

The important thing to remember is:

1. The Third Liberty Loan must be raised.

2. The amounts alloted each individual must be subscribed by him in order that each Township and Village and our County as a whole raise their respective quotas.

The test of our Loyalty and Patriotism is upon us and I am sure that Marshall County will respond with their full duty.

Let us all pull together and give the respective Committees every possible assistance within our power and help Marshall County to go "Over the Top" with their full allotment subscribed.

Respectfully,
H. L. WOOD,
Chairman Marshall County
Liberty Loan Committee.

Homesteaders who made valid settlements on public lands before Dec. 20th, 1917, may leave their claims to do farm work elsewhere, by notifying the land office of all the facts of their absence, but they must make all the improvements and cultivate the amount of land on their own places which is required by law. Notice of leave must be given the land office within fifteen days after such leave is made. This is a war measure and is given in additon to the regular five months absence privilege to all who comply with the law covering this act.

SIDEWALK ASSESSMENT RESOLUTION.

At a regular adjourned meeting of the Village Council of the Village of Holt, held in the Council Rooms of said Village on the 26th day of March, 1918, at eight o'clock P. M., Trustee P. A. Riesberg offered the following resolution in writing and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, the Village Council of the Village of Holt at a special meeting held on the 18th day of May, 1917, at eight o'clock P. M., duly passed a resolution ordering and requiring the M. W. A. Lodge, the owner of Lot 16, Block 8 in said Village of Holt, to rebuild at its own expense the sidewalk in front of said Lot, and further ordering and requiring Dan Carrol, the owner of Lot 17, Block 8, in said Village, to re-build at his own expense the sidewalk in front of said premises, and further ordering and requiring that Ole Backlund, the owner of Lot 18, in Block 8, in said Village, to rebuild the sidewalk in front of said premises at his own expense, and, Whereas, due notice of said resolution has been served upon all of the said persons, and, whereas, each of said persons have failed to comply with the said resolution and have failed to re-build the said sidewalk, as so required, and whereas, the said Village of Holt upon the failure of the said parties to re-build the said sidewalks have been compelled to re-build the same.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the following assessments are hereby levied against the said described premises, as follows: Lot 16, Block 8, owned by M. W. A. Lodge, is hereby assessed for the construction of a sidewalk built in front of said premises by the Village of Holt, the sum of $41.56. Lot 17, Block 8, owned by Dan Carrol, is hereby assessed for the construction of a sidewalk built in front of said premises by the Village of Holt, the sum of $42.77, and Lot 18, Block 8, owned by Ole Backland, is hereby assessed for the construction of a sidewalk built in front of said premises by the Village of Holt, the sum of $41.56. And be it further resolved, that on the 7th day of May, 1918, at 8 o'clock P. M., the Village Council of the Village of Holt will meet at the Council Rooms in the said Village of Holt, to hear testimony of all persns interested or affected, and all objections to the said assessments, and will at said time ascertain the amount of benefits of said property fronting such sidewalks by reason of the construction thereof.

Trustee H. J. Oien, seconded the motion and the same being put received a majority of the votes of the members of the Village Cuncil, B. Docken, President, C. L. Sandberg, P. A. Riesberg, H. J. Oien, Village Trustees, H. B. Young, Village Clerk, all voted yes, and was duly carried and was by the President, then presiding, so declared.

MARCH TO VICTORY

Courage is a matter of the blood. Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale or pimply, generally weak, tired and listless, one should take a spring tonic. One that will do the spring housecleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody nearly 50 years ago is still safe and sane because it contains no alcohol or narcotic. It is made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark—extracted with glycerine and made into liquid or tablets. This blood tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready-to-use form and since then has been sold by million bottles as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If druggists do not keep this in tablet form, send 60 cents for a vial to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Kidney disease carries away a large percentage of our people. What is to be done? The answer is easy. Eat less meat, eat coarse, plain food, with plenty of vegetables, drink plenty of water between meals, and take an uric acid solvent after meals for a while, such as Anuric (double strength), obtainable at almost any drug store. It was first discovered by Dr. Pierce. Most every one troubled with uric acid finds that Anuric dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar. You can obtain a trial package by sending ten cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y.

LEMONS WHITEN THE COMPLEXION

ANY WOMAN CAN MAKE UP THIS CREAMY BEAUTY LOTION FOR A FEW CENTS.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach a darkened skin and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.—Adv.

THE GREAT WAR HAS MADE CIGARETTES A NECESSITY.

"Our boys must have their smokes. Send them cigarettes!" This is a familiar appeal now to all of us.

Among those most in demand is the now famous "toasted" cigarette—LUCKY STRIKE. Thousands of this favorite brand have been shipped to France. There is something homelike and friendly to the boys in the sight of the familiar green packages with the red circle.

This homelike, appetizing quality of the LUCKY STRIKE cigarette is largely due to the fact that the Burley tobacco used in making it has been toasted. "It's toasted" was the "slogan" that made a great success of LUCKY STRIKE in less than a year. Now the American Tobacco Co. is making 15 million LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes a day.

A good part of this immense production is making its way across the water to cheer our boys.—Adv.

BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP

Why use ordinary cough remedies, when Boschee's German Syrup has been used so successfully for fifty-one years in all parts of the United States for coughs, bronchitis, colds settled in the throat, especially lung troubles. It gives the patient a good night's rest, free from coughing, with easy expectoration in the morning, gives nature a chance to soothe the inflamed parts, throw off the disease, helping the patient to regain his health. Made in America and sold for more than half a century.—Adv.

The American positions on a certain part of the Toul front were bombarded with mustard gas shells at the rate of six a minute at night, but ineffectively. The American artillery replied with a heavy fire and demolished segments of the German front lines and other points.

The German lines were heavily bombarded and machine-gunned for an hour by American troops during the relief changes by the enemy. The French official statement says that east of Badonvillers (where American troops are in the line) the enemy attacked, but was thrown back with heavy losses.

• • •

General Pershing cabled the war department that two regiments of American railroad engineers are attached to the British force on the front attacked by the Germans. Three companies of the engineers were working in the area in which the German official statement mentioned the presence of American troops. This message definitely disposes of reports that American reserves had been sent into the battle.

• • •

Praising the condition and work of General Pershing's expeditionary forces, General Wood recommended to the senate military committee that an American army of 2,000,000 men be maintained abroad as soon as possible and that another 2,000,000 men be trained.

NEARER ALLIED BASE IN FRANCE

Germans Take Moreuil, Warplanes Report—City Changed Hands Several Times.

FRENCH REPULSE FOE

Retain Hangard-En-Santerre After Hand to Hand Fight—German Losses Considerable—Teutons Ten Miles From Amiens.

Paris, April 2.—"Hangard-En-Santerre has been completely recaptured," the French war office reports.

"The Germans incessantly attacked Grivesnes (five miles north and west of Montdidier).

"After hand to hand fighting, it remained in our hands. The German losses are considerable."

Germans Take Moreuil.

With the British Armies in France, April 2.—Warplanes report German occupation of Moreuil on the right bank of the Ancre, after heavy fighting.

The enemy launched a vicious attack between Moreuil and Demuin simultaneously, entering the town at 3:30 p. m.

The Germans are reported moving westward along the Luce valley, having passed Hangard.

Enemy Nearer Objective.

This is practically the only change south of the Somme, but it is important because it brings the enemy that much nearer to the Calais-Paris railway, south of Amiens.

This is the first news of recapture of Moreuil by the Germans. The British war office announced that Canadian cavalry and British infantry, cooperating with French troops, regained possession of Moreuil and the wood to the north on Saturday. The city was first taken by the Germans early in the week. The same announcement said the British also had recaptured Demuin, about three miles and a half north and east of Moreuil.

May Be in Demuin, Too.

The statement that the Germans have "passed Hangard" indicates the enemy has retaken Demuin, too, as Hangard is a mile directly west of that city and less than 10 miles southeast of Amiens.

Germany Expected to Attack Elsewhere If Held in West.

Washington, April 2.—Germany has staked its fortunes on the spring campaign, says the War department's weekly review of the military situation and the Allies and the United States must be prepared for fresh attacks at new points if the Teutons fail to achieve victory in the present fighting.

But despite the successes gained by the Germans, says the review, "the enemy has been unable to force a decision," and so long as the Allies are able to maneuver with consistent unity so long will victory elude the enemy.

Paris, April 2.—Equipment valued at more than $20,000 sent by the American army Y. M. C. A. to the British front for the use of American railway engineers and other American units has fallen into the hands of the Germans. Four times the Y. M. C. A. men moved their positions and abandoned during the retirement one large wooden building, two large tents and a quantity of supplies. Five soldier huts loaned to the British Y. M. C. A. have been lost. Two on the French line were destroyed by shell fire.

CHANGE IN THE FARMER'S LIFE

"Making a Living" Idea Has Developed Into a "Money Making Fact."

A few years ago—and not so many at that—most farmers were satisfied if they saw ahead of them the opportunity to make a fair living, a reasonable competence in their failing years, and an assurance of an existence for their families. They worked hard, and tilled their acres with this end in view. Honest struggle, earnest effort and a true conception of upright manhood, together with the increasing knowledge that upon the fruits of their endeavor rested the structure of the world, whose people had to be fed and maintained. Economy in method, improved conditions of working, have added to the farmer's possibilities, and today instead of being a plodder for an existence, which his early training had bred into him, he has become the bulwark of the nation, and, as such, has become elevated to a position, where his word and his work are recognized as the factors it was always intended they should be. He is now the man of business—of big business. He has forced an appreciation of his work, and the true value has been placed upon it. The big men of the country today are the farmers, who, with business acumen and forensic forethought are able to tell you—from their books—what it costs to produce a bushel of wheat or a pound of wool.

All of which is intended to prove that farming is a business, as much as banking or selling a suit of clothes. It is an industrial business, with more certain profits than accompany any other line of trade. It is a manufacturing enterprise, devoid of any of the dangers that the frills of fashion's follies and desires force upon ordinary pursuits. Food is something that all must have and the farmer produces it. The cheaper it can be produced the less will be the cost to the consumer. And this is one of the chief thoughts of the farmer. Within the memory of the ten-year-old boy there have been improvements in machinery, changes in methods, scientific discoveries of chemicals as adapted to agriculture, all of which has lessened cost of production and made possible the cultivation of increased acres. In some parts these things have brought about more intensified agriculture, growing heavier crops on less acres. Improved machinery and demand for greater production have led another class in search of larger areas, where their ability may cope with the growing of a greater number of bushels. That is one of the reasons why Western Canada lands have recently come into such demand. These, at from twenty to thirty dollars an acre, and producing the prodigious crops that are claimed for them, have attracted thousands of American settlers, while other thousands have gone out into the lands in the Western states. But, as to the Canada lands, there is this to say of them, today they are cheap, and if they will yield sufficient in one year to pay the cost of the entire purchase, why should not there be a demand. The country is well settled, and settlement is increasing. As evidence of the growth of the three Western Provinces into whose territories the Canadian Government invites settlers, recent reports show the following increases from 1913 to 1917 inclusive:

	Value of Field Crops 1913	1917
Manitoba ...	$ 64,557,000	$137,470,550
Saskatchewan	129,376,000	349,488,200
Alberta	46,712,000	176,965,800
Total	$240,645,000	$663,924,550

The total value of field crops for 1917 was $663,924,550, produced on less than 59,000,000 acres of land.

Further evidence of prosperity and progress is found in the Government estimate of the value of farm lands, and increase in value since 1908:

	1908	1916
Manitoba	27.30	32.03
Saskatchewan	20.40	23.07
Alberta	18.20	22.18

It will be observed that the average price of land has not kept pace with their producing value. It is therefore pointed out that the opportunities for the purchase of high-class land is still within the reach of those with limited means.

A good idea of advancement in a country's progress may be obtained by a knowledge of what has been done in the production of cattle, and when these figures are studied in connection with Western Canada, a country whose fame having been heralded as a grain-growing country, giving the idea that that was what it was mostly adapted to, it will be realized that there is there a vast storehouse of wealth awaiting those who choose to take advantage of it. In the three provinces in 1912 there were—horses, milch cows, other cattle, sheep and swine, four million head, while in 1917 the number was seven million.

In 1901 the entire population was 419,512; in 1916 1,698,220.

One marvels at the rapid progress of the United States during the nineteenth century. But America's opportunities for growth at the beginning of that century were nothing compared to the opportunities which are Canada's at the present time.

The fact that Canada has as its next door neighbor a nation of over 100,000,000—the richest nation in the world—is bound to have a stimulating effect on its progress. Already one sees signs of it on every hand.

Canada not only has the largest area of unoccupied, but fertile, land of any country, but this land is already made available by a network of railways. Cost of production of grain is lower than elsewhere, while the prices are on a basis of those of the United States.—Advertisement.

BRITISH UNBROKEN, HUNS SLAUGHTERED

Important Incidents of First Week of Great Battle Are Given to Public.

GERMAN AIMS NOT REALIZED

Mowed Down by Haig's Heroic Men, the Kaiser's Troops Push Toward the Somme by Sheer Force of Numbers.

London.—Details of the first week of the great battle in France show that, while the fighting has been more severe than in any previous offensive, there has been no cause for pessimism.

The German losses have been terrific, probably 250,000 casualties having been suffered by the kaiser's hosts. At such cost they won less than one-third of the ground on which they had counted. The morale of the British troops has been perfect throughout and they have fought magnificently.

Million Germans in Action.

These facts stand out:

It is known that at least 1,000,000 Germans were engaged on the whole front of attack. In the Somme area not less than 52 army divisions were identified. The British line suffered its most severe buffeting in this stretch, but was firm everywhere.

The Germans believed that a loss of 500,000 would be a cheap price for success in the west, but with a loss already of 250,000 there is no prospect of their attaining the victory they seek.

They regained all the ground lost in the Cambrai battle and have taken back sections of the territory taken from them in the Somme offensive of last year.

The fighting was not by any means a continual German advance. The British counter-attacked heavily and fought for every foot of ground.

Details of the Fighting.

In one battle on the extreme left the Germans employed not less than nine divisions in an effort to break through. For three days the three British divisions held them at bay. Finally, under weight of numbers, the British retired behind the line marked by the ruined villages of Bullecourt, East Noguell and Croiselles.

The next morning the Germans renewed the attack, striking northward from Fontainelles and Croiselles and westward from Cherissy. They drove in mass formation, wave after wave, toward the heights between Henin-sur-Cojeul to Henin hill.

Two hours of drum fire, in which gas and high-explosive shells were mingled, preceded the infantry attack. From eight o'clock in the morning until noon continuous waves of gray-clad troops stormed the heights.

British machine guns posted on the ridge swept down line after line of Germans. By three o'clock in the afternoon the Teutons had succeeded in pressing past Henin hill on both sides and threatened to cut off the machine gunners posted on the crests. Not until then did the latter retire and rejoin the main British force.

Similar fighting was going on at the same time on the right wing. Tremendous pressure was brought to bear around St. Leger, Vaux and Vraucourt. It lasted all day.

At times under the German blows the British line sagged heavily, but at no point did it give way.

Desperate Defense of Vaulx.

A bitter battle was fought for possession of Vaulx, but British machine gunners posted in the ruins of the village held the Germans at bay. A ruined factory served as a fortress despite the shelling to which it was subjected.

Not until late in the afternoon was it impossible for the British to hold the town longer. Even then the retreat only went for a thousand yards. The British rear guard fought every step of the way, and, returning to the main body, a counter-attack was launched against the Germans in possession of Vaulx and the village was regained.

The fighting continued all night. Finally Vaulx had to be abandoned before heavy night attacks, but only because German forces had pushed past further up the line and were driving to the attack of Mory.

Another bitter struggle was fought around Croiselles. At Mory Scottish and English troops inflicted tremendous losses on the Germans.

Sunday Battle South of Peronne.

The fighting Sunday was tremendous. All day long heavy forces of Germans endeavored to force a crossing of the Somme south of Peronne, while further along the line they concentrated their efforts against Bapaume.

Repeatedly German engineers attempted to throw pontoon bridges across the river. On the near-by heights British field guns firing practically at point range smashed every effort. On some occasions British infantry, counter-attacking, dashed into the water to fight the Germans.

With the object of capturing Urvillers and Essigny, southwest of St. Quentin, the Germans employed at least six divisions, or 72,000 men, of storming troops, the 50th, 45th (reserves), 11th, 88th, 187th and 238th, in the proportion of one division to every British battalion. The average width of each attack was 2,000 yards.

Ten Tanks Wreak Havoc Amid Foe.

Passing through Urvillers, there was a bloody struggle in a chalk quarry, where many German dead now lie. After the Germans had come some way forward ten British tanks drove into them and shattered some of their battalions with their machine gun fire, dispersing groups of the advancing units.

The British fought many rear guard actions and made numerous counter-attacks in the neighborhood of Roisel, falling back to the line of the Somme only when new masses of Germans passed through those battalions which they had not met and beaten.

Between Gozeaucourt and Epephy occurred a most desperate struggle. The Germans attacked in overwhelming strength. Their previous bombardment had had little effect and the British troops had suffered but slightly.

The weather was misty, and, screened by this mist, the Germans were on top of the British before the latter were aware of it. In dense formation they came on, offering excellent targets. Ground was yielded by the British only under pressure of overwhelming numbers.

Heroic Deeds of the British.

Fighting Saturday between Arras and Bapaume for possession of the heights between the Cojeul and Sensee rivers was especially bitter. Outnumbered eight to one, the British troops clung to their positions to the last.

In Gauche wood, where Scots and South Africans were placed, another terrific struggle ensued. The Germans several times managed to reach the wood but were repeatedly thrown back. Their losses in killed were especially heavy, as they came on in mass formation. Attempt after attempt was frustrated.

From a height below Gauche wood known as Chapel hill to Epephy three German divisions and parts of a fourth were thrown against the British. At one point the enemy was actually among the British advance posts before he was discovered. The fog thoroughly screened him.

Waves of Germans flowed past the farm and around it, but in the farm itself the Leicesters held out, fighting and refusing to surrender until every man was killed or so severely wounded he could fight no more.

The British showed the greatest strength between Bapaume and Peronne and above Bapaume as far as Arras. The Germans, however, concerned with the southern flank, at the Franco-British junction point, concentrated their most terrific blows against the Peronne-Ham-Chauny line, relying on the necessity of an automatic British withdrawal in the north if their line was bent or broken in the south.

Bapaume was an obstacle on the northern side, to capture which they sacrificed thousands of their best troops. Rivers of blood were shed for the town's possession in a combat that lasted almost all night, until the British finally yielded the ruins, after having exacted a fearful price.

Kaiser Orders Jubilation.

The kaiser was with Field Marshal von Hindenburg in Peronne surveying the bloody fields where thousands of his best fighting men were killed or maimed before the British finally withdrew. The emperor ordered a general jubilation throughout the empire, rockets and flags and a holiday for the children being the chief symbols of celebration. He conferred a gold inlaid iron cross on Hindenburg.

Wilhelm also sent dispatches to the empress telling of the progress made by his armies.

MORTALITY RATE IS LOW

Statistician Refutes Statements That War Is Causing Heavy Loss Among Allies.

Pittsburgh.—Edward A. Woods the insurance expert and statistician, after an exhaustive study of mortality in the present war, has compiled statistics to refute the widely circulated statements that the war is causing a frightful loss of life on the side of the allies.

"Timely and scientific medical treatment has reduced the rate of mortality in the present war to a lower percentage than that of all great wars," says Mr. Woods.

"More than 90 per cent of the soldiers put under the care of physicians and surgeons have been able to return to the firing line.

"An American soldier twenty years of age who is now in the trenches has the same chance of being alive at the end of the war if it lasts a year or so longer, as a man of sixty in civil life has of living the same length of time."

YOUR LOYALTY TO COUNTRY'S CAUSE

ARE YOU MAKING SACRIFICES EQUIVALENT TO THOSE OF OUR SOLDIERS?

ALL CAN FIND WAY TO HELP

Make No Ridiculous Reservations; Hold Back Nothing; Share Your Money, Your Food and Your Clothing to Aid the Great War.

(By VIRGINIA TERHUNE VAN DE WATER of the Vigilantes.)

A good woman was discussing the rules of the food administration.

"I am doing a lot for my country," she said, "but there are certain trifles that I do not intend to give up. Such as white bread and bacon."

"No," she said in response to my astonished look, "I mean to have white bread when I want it. Why should I eat corn bread and other substitutes? I like white bread just as much as the soldiers and sailors do. And, anyway, what difference can it make if I use a little white flour and a few slices of bacon every day? I am only one person."

Only one of millions! Suppose they all took that attitude!

"I am no slacker," she added. "I work at the Red Cross four afternoons of each week, and I have made dozens of knitted things for the soldiers. But I draw the line at bacon and white bread and rolls."

Is this patriotism? I remembered the text: "These things ought ye to have done, and not to have left the other undone."

Another good woman was talking of the next Liberty Loan drive.

"Well," she declared, "they need not come to me for help! I am a business woman, and I have lost money on heatless Mondays, and since the government has made me do that I do not propose to help with their Liberty loan. I love my country, and I am a Red Cross worker, and all that—but there is a limit."

Should Be No Limit.

A limit! Is there any limit to what she would do if her nearest and dearest were fighting for his life? Would she stop to argue that she had given the suffered expensive woolen underwear, but that she drew the line at the renunciation of certain comforts so that he might have them? Would she be considered a good wife or mother or daughter if she held this attitude towards husband, child or parent?

Let us stop all these ridiculous reservations, these talks of what we will do and won't do. Let us hold back nothing. Do the women who are sending their sons abroad hold back anything? Do these sons grudge risking their beautiful youth, their lives, for their country? Yet some people hesitate at white bread and bacon, and refuse to buy Liberty bonds!

The last-named hesitation is not only unpatriotic, but it is absurd. Later we will know the meaning of the expression, "What I give I have." The money we invest in Liberty bonds will be ours when other money that we now have is gone.

All such talk as I have quoted is wickedly unpatriotic. Let us give as our sons give—ungrudgingly, proudly, because we are counted worthy to make sacrifices for the greatest crusade against evil that the world has ever known.

Make It An Honorable Service.

What would the Son of Righteousness say to our hesitation about trifling luxuries? He died for his cause. We women are not called upon to do that. (Some of us may wish that we were.) But we are called to sacrifice our selfishness for it.

I am not making light of the wonderful work done by those women who toil at Red Cross stations; I am not forgetting the noble and vast army of wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts who stop at nothing in their desire to help end the war honorably.

But I hope that such sentences as I have quoted go no further than the tip of the tongue. If they do, shame to the speakers. And shame to us who let such speech pass unreproved.

"His very living—such was Christ's giving."

We women "have not yet resisted unto blood." But some of our men have, and—God help us!—many more may have to. Can we then endure the ignominy of remembering that even in our inner hearts we have paused to consider what delicacies we may use? Shall we not—in the language of our dear fighting boys—"cut out" all doubtful articles? And let us make of the trifling duty an honorable service. The cause ennobles all that it touches.

Win the War by Preparing the Land Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than April 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

[illegible] been near eighty when he died. He looked sixty when he was forty. But he never seemed to me to change a hair afterward. As I imagine his life, from what I have seen and heard of it, he must have been in every sea, and yet almost never on land. He must have known in a formal way, more officers in our service than any man living knows. He told me once, with a grave smile, that no man in the world lived so methodical a life as he. "You know the boys say I am the Iron Mask, and you know how busy he was." He said it did not do for anyone to try to read all the time, more than to do anything else all the time; but that he read just five hours a day. "Then," he said, "I keep up my notebooks, writing in them at such and such hours from what I have been reading; and I include in them my scrapbooks." These were very curious indeed. He had six or eight, of different subjects. There was one of history, one of natural science, one which he called "Odds and Ends." But they were not merely books of extracts from newspapers. They had bits of plants and ribbons, shells tied on, and carved scraps of bone and wood, which he had taught the men to cut for him, and they were beautifully illustrated. He drew admirably. He had some of the funniest drawings there, and some of the most pathetic, that I have ever seen in my life. I wonder who will have Nolan's scrapbooks.

There Appeared Nolan in His Shirt Sleeves.

Well, he said, his reading and his notes were his profession, and that they took five hours and two hours respectively of each day. "Then," said he, "every man should have a diversion as well as a profession. My natural history is my diversion." That took two hours a day more. The men used to bring him birds and fish, but on a long cruise he had to satisfy himself with centipedes and cockroaches and such small game. He was the only naturalist I ever met who knew anything about the habits of the house fly and the mosquito. All those people can tell you whether they are Lepidoptera or Steptopotera; but as for telling how you can get rid of them, or how they get away from you when you strike them, why, Linnaeus knew as little of that as John Foy, the idiot, did. These nine hours made Nolan's regular daily "occupation." The rest of the time he talked or walked. Till he grew very old, he went aloft a great deal. He always kept up his exercise and I never heard that he was ill. If any other man was ill, he was the kindest nurse in the world; and he knew more than half the surgeons do. Then if anybody was sick or died, or if the captain wanted him to on any other occasion, he was always ready to read prayers. I have remarked that he read beautifully.

My own acquaintance with Philip Nolan began six or eight years after the war, on my first voyage after I was appointed a midshipman. It was in the first days after our slave trade treaty, while the reigning house, which was still the house of Virginia, had still a sort of sentimentalism about the suppression of the horrors of the middle passage, and something was sometimes done that way. We were in the South Atlantic on that business. From the time I joined, I believe I thought Nolan was a sort of lay chaplain—a chaplain with a blue coat. I never asked about him. Everything in the ship was strange to me. I knew it was green to ask questions, and I suppose I thought there was a "Plain-Buttons" on every ship. We had him to dine in our mess once a week, and the caution was given that on that day nothing was to be said about home. But if they had told us not to say anything about the planet Mars or the book of Deuteronomy, I should not have asked why; there were a great many things which seemed to me to have as little reason. I first came to understand anything about "the man without a country" one day when we overhauled a dirty little schooner which had slaves on board. An officer was sent to take charge of her, and after a few minutes he sent back his boat to ask that someone might be sent him who could speak Portuguese. We were all looking over the rail when the message came, and we all wished we could interpret, when the captain asked who spoke Portuguese. But none of the officers did; and just as the captain was sending forward to ask if any of the people could, Nolan stepped out and said he should be glad to interpret, if the captain wished, as he understood the lan-

FEDERAL INCOME TAX IN BRIEF

The Requirements Boiled Down for Busy Folks.

Returns must be filed on or before April 1, 1918.

Tax due may be paid now or on or before June 15, 1918.

If you were single and your net income for 1917 was $1,000 or more you must file a return.

If you were married and living with wife (or husband) and had a net income of $2,000 or more for 1917 you must file a return.

Husband's and wife's income must be considered jointly, plus income of minor children.

Income of a minor or incompetent, derived from a separate estate, must be reported by his legal representative.

Severe penalties are provided for those who neglect or evade the law.

For false or fraudulent return there is a penalty not exceeding $2,000 fine or year's imprisonment, or both, plus 100 per cent of tax.

For failure to make return on or before April 1, 1918, fine is from $20 to $1,000, plus 50 per cent of tax due.

Returns must be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue of district in which you live.

An agent may file return for a person who is ill, absent from the country or otherwise incapacitated.

Each return must be signed and sworn or affirmed by person executing it.

Single persons are allowed $1,000 exemption in computing normal tax.

A married person living with wife (or husband) is allowed $2,000 exemption, plus $200 for each dependent child under 18.

A head of family, though single, is allowed $2,000 exemption if actually supporting one or more relatives.

Returns must show the entire amount of earnings, gains and profits received during the year.

Officials and employees are not taxable on the salaries or wages received from a state, county, city or town in the United States.

Interest on state and municipal bonds issued within the U. S. is exempt from federal income tax and should be omitted.

Interest on United States government bonds is also exempt, except on individual holdings of Liberty Fours in excess of $5,000 par value.

Dividends are not subject to normal tax, but must be reported and included in net income.

Gifts and legacies are not income and should not be included on the return of the beneficiary.

Life insurance received as a beneficiary or as premiums paid back at maturity or surrender of policy is not income.

Payments received for real or personal property sold is not income, but the profit realized thereon is income for the year of sale.

Amounts received in payment of notes or mortgages is not income, but the interest on such notes or mortgages is taxable income.

From the entire gross income certain allowances are made in arriving at the net income.

Necessary expenses actually paid in the conduct of business, trade or profession may be claimed.

A farmer can claim payments for labor, seed, fertilizer, stock feed, repairs on buildings, except his dwelling; repairs of fences and farm machinery, materials and small tools for immediate use.

The amount of rent paid for a farm may also be claimed as a tenant farmer's expense.

Payments for live stock are allowable if bought for resale. But if bought for breeding purposes cattle are an investment, not an expense, and cannot be allowed.

A storekeeper can claim amounts paid for advertising, clerk hire, telephone, water, light and fuel, also drayage and freight bills and cost of operating and repairing wagons and trucks.

A physician can claim cost of his professional supplies, rent, office help, telephone, expense of team or automobile used in making professional calls and expenses attending medical conventions.

A dentist can claim similar items except team or auto expense, which are not necessary in his profession.

Expenses that are personal or connected in any way with the support or well being of a person or family are not allowable.

The costs of machines, instruments, vehicles or implements that are more or less permanent in character are not allowable as an expense. They are investments.

Interest paid on a mortgage or other personal indebtedness is allowable on a personal return.

All taxes paid within the year can be taken out on a federal return, except federal income taxes, inheritance taxes and assessments for local improvements.

Losses sustained in business or through fire, storm or shipwreck or by theft, except when compensated by insurance or otherwise.

Wear and tear of rented buildings or machinery used in business may be claimed.

You can also claim the amount paid to the Red Cross and to other charitable, religious or educational organizations to the extent of 15 per cent of your net income.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Notice is hereby given, that default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage containing a power of sale by reason of which default said power of sale has become operative, and the mortgagee hereinafter named is authorized to declare the whole sum due, and hereby declares the whole sum due, which mortgage was executed by Sally A. Moore, a widow, mortgagor, to Holt State Bank, a Minnesota corporation, mortgagee, dated September 3rd, 1914, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Marshall County, Minnesota, on the 5th day of September, 1914, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., in book 73 of Mortgages on page 60.

That the amount claimed to be due, and is due on said mortgage at this date, is the sum of thirty eight and 2-100 ($38.02) Dollars.

That no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by the said mortgage or any part thereof.

That the premises described in and conveyed by the said mortgage are described as follows: The south half of the northwest quarter and the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section No. twenty nine (29) in Township No. one hundred fifty six (156) North of range No. forty (40), west of 5th P. M., in the County of Marshall and State of Minnesota.

That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the above described premises at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Marshall County, Minnesota, or his deputy, at the West Front door of the Court House in the City of Warren, in said County and State, on the 11th day of May, 1918, at ten o'clock A. M., to satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, and taxes if any, together with the costs of such sale, and twenty five ($25.00) Dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in the said mortgage in case of foreclosure, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 25th 1918.

Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Sixty Dollars, interest payment which became due December 1st, 1917 which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Adolph Sollom and Ida Sollom, his wife, and Theodore Sollom, a single man, Mortgagors, to Farmers State Bank of Holt (a Minnesota Corporation) Mortgagee, bearing date the 3rd day of March 1916, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Marshall and State of Minnesota, on the 13th day of March 1916, at 8:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 89 of Mortgages, on page 205.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Farmers State Bank of Holt, Mortgagee, to Holt State Bank, Holt, Minnesota, by written assignment dated the 3rd day of May 1917, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 5th day of May 1917 at 8:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 83 of Mortgages on page 546.

AND WHEREAS, The said Holt State Bank, Holt, Minnesota, the Assignee, and Holder of said Mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand and sixty ($1,060.00) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 1st day of December 1917, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lots numbered nineteen (19) and twenty (20) in Block numbered eight (B. 8) of the Town of Holt, according to the official plat thereof on file and recorded in the office of the register of deeds within and for the County of Marshall, State of Minnesota, in Marshall County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Marshall County, at the west front door of the Court House, in the City of Warren in said County and State, on the 11th day of May 1918, at ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of One Thousand and Sixty Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

We understand P. L. Anderson has left Camp Dodge for some training camp in Texas. Also all the boys from here have left but we are unable to find out where they went to.

The pupils of district No. 158 will give an entertainment Saturday evening April 13th. at the school house. Lunch will be served and proceeds go to the Red Cross. Everybody invited.

Prof. Hall went to T. R. Falls Friday to be examined for the draft. He was passed as were also all the others examined last week. We understand Albert Knutson is the only one rejected so far in addition to the two reported last week.

The Liberty Bond committee will commence the work of soliciting next Monday. This committee is drafted for the war and is under government orders just as much as the soldier in the army and will be punished if they willfully fail to do their duty. Try to remember this when they call on you.

Lemons Whiten and Beautify the Skin! Make Cheap Lotion

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful for rough, red hands.

Your druggist will sell three ounces of orchard white at little cost, and any grocer will supply the lemons. Adv.

WHY CHART LACKED DETAIL

Wife Found It Simply Impossible to Put Down All the Remarks Hubby Had Made.

A physician needed a nurse's medical chart, but had none at hand. The man's wife was nursing him, so he drew lines on a sheet of paper to represent a chart. He instructed the wife how to fill it out and left.

Next day the physician called, looked at the chart and was puzzled to find so many remarks registered, far removed from things medical—remarks most irrelevant, in fact. He asked an explanation from the wife—and he got it! Wifey motioned the physician to follow her into the adjoining room, whispering to him that she did not wish husband to hear the apology she must make for him.

"You see, doctor, I couldn't put down all the remarks he made, even if you did want to know them. I'm awfully sorry—but—you—see—he used so many swear words about you, doctor, because you wanted to 'know every word a man said.'"

Animals Admitted to Heaven.

According to the Mohammedan religion, ten animals were worthy of admission to heaven. They were:

The dog Kratim of the Seven Sleepers of Ephesus. These martyrs were walled in a cave and slept 230 years, the dog sleeping with them.

Balaam's ass which reproved the prophet.

Solomon's ant which reproved the sluggard.

Jonah's whale.

The ram of Israel which was offered in sacrifice by Abraham in place of Isaac.

The camel of Saleb.

The cuckoo of Belkis.

The ox of Moses.

Public opinion has made Certain-teed a product of international prominence and use.

That great force has built up the Certain-teed business from nothing, 14 years ago, to the world's largest roll roofing industry now.

Certain-teed

Roofing and Shingles

In every community under the sun, Certain-teed Roofing is giving longer and better roofing service, at a lower cost, than other kinds of roofing.

Certain-teed costs less to buy, less to lay and less to maintain than any other type of roof. It is weatherproof, water proof, spark proof and fire-retarding. It cannot rust or corrode. It cannot melt under the hottest sun. It is not affected by gases, acids, fumes, smoke, etc.

Certain-teed is established everywhere as the most advantageous and economical roof, for factories, round houses, elevators, garages, warehouses, hotels, farm buildings, stores, out-buildings, etc.

In shingles, red or green, it is very popular for residences. Certain-teed Roofing is guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years according to thickness. It is sold by good dealers everywhere.

Win the War by Preparing the Land

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than May 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

NORTH DAKOTA SETS PACE FOR LOYALTY

League State Has Been Leader in Patriotic Endeavor in Past Year.

The seed bonding act passed by the special session of the North Dakota Legislature rounded out a year of patriotic endeavor second to that of no other state in the Union and superior in many respects to the record of the other states. No other state has done so much to aid the needy farmer as a means of increasing the nation's food supply.

The seed bond act gives counties the right to borrow money to supply seed and feed for those not financially able to put in a full crop for 1918.

The local elevator frauds which in the past were a heavy load to grain raisers, have been eliminated. State funds have been made available for mortgage loans, a matter of great importance in view of the fact that North Dakota interest rates have ranged 10 per cent and higher on the average. North Dakota has also taken nearly all the taxes off farm improvements.

Moratorium for Soldiers.

North Dakota was the first state to provide protection against foreclosure and seizure of the property of the soldiers while they are serving their country.

In marked contrast to this step taken by North Dakota, the Public Safety Commission of Minnesota recently announced that every financial obligation of a soldier could be enforced. The property laws of North Dakota are just as rigid as those of Minnesota, but having the will to serve those making the greatest sacrifices, North Dakota found the way to protect her defenders

State of Patriotism United.

North Dakota has had none of the mob violence, interference with lawful meetings, or "treason hunting" which several other states have apparently thought were evidence of superior patriotism. Yet no state is more unitedly patriotic than North Dakota. Rigid, impartial enforcement of the law in the spirit of fundamental American democracy has at least had no adverse effect on the patriotism of the state. North Dakota has sent many volunteers as well as its quota of drafted men to the army. Its farmers have done their utmost to raise food stuffs. They oversubscribed the first Liberty Loan by more than 50 per cent, even though it came before harvest time when the farmers were borrowing heavily to move the crop; and North Dakota oversubscribed its quota of the second loan by 73 per cent. The people have been pushing the Y. M. C. A. funds and subscribed more than $600,000 for the Red Cross.

Great War Sacrifice.

North Dakota is essentially a one crop state. Wheat is everything. On September, 1917, at least 80 cents was taken off the selling price of every bushel of wheat raised that the most important food product might be held within reach of the poor of the nation. Hardly a farmer in North Dakota escaped sharing in this sacrifice. Other prices have been set, of course, but none calling for so much sacrifice as that set on wheat. No other real price fixing or limiting of profits has been accomplished without serious protests and attempts to beat the government regulations. But the organized farmers accepted the wheat price and supported the government in regulating other prices.

The state of North Dakota, which is controlled by the Nonpartisan League, has been 100 per cent patriotic. This completely refutes the charges of disloyalty brought against the League by the anti-farmer interests.

Mr. Heney says the Chicago meat-embalmers have raised a big pot to be distributed among the daily and weekly newspapers of the country, to have them blow and puff the packers and put them in a better light before the public! We don't believe the gay old embalmers would give the weekly papers ten cents apiece to puff or defend them. They do not have to hire them. Big Biz would simply notify the parrots that—"It will be to your future advantage to stand by the packers." That will turn the trick any old time. No cash outlay necessary.—Donham's Doings, St. Peter, Minn.

Three hundred society women of New York have organized to teach the poor how to economize. In self-defense the poor should organize to teach the rich how to spend money.—Cleveland Press.

How Wages are Based.

In the stock yards' wage arbitration hearing before Federal Judge Alschuler, packers insisted that the cost of maintaining a family should not be considered when wages are being set. The only "fair" system, they said, was to ascertain the market rate of labor in the community.

Or, in other words, if wages are below the living line in other industries, the packers claim the right to employ their workers under the same conditions.

KANSAS GOVERNOR SEES GREATER DAYS

Predicts That Emancipation of American Producer is Close At Hand.

Governor Capper of Kansas is a friend of the farmer and worker and in the consolidation of effort of these two classes in the big organization now started on a triumphant march to control of national affairs he sees great things ahead for the principle of the square deal.

In an address to a gathering of farmers in his home state a few days ago, he went on record as stating that the American farmer and worker were the ones that would pull Uncle Sam out of the hole in the holy war for liberty and democracy.

Says Producers Are Ready.

"If we don't pull Uncle Sam out of the hole, I don't know who will pull him out. He seems well convinced of that himself. But so far, while our farmers are facing a shortage of labor and seed, the lowest condition for winter wheat we have ever had at this time of year—and the loss to the ranks of better paid labor in the cities, of as many trained farmers and farm hands as we have sent to the army and navy—Uncle Sam has signally failed to give us the same degree of protection he has given the great profit-producing organization. The packers get their 9 to 15 per cent, the railroads their regular dividends, the immensely wealthy steel trust has a generous margin of profit, the millers are well taken care of and the coal barons are charging higher prices than last year. But, as yet, it is up to the farmer and stock raiser to take care of himself as best he may, foregoing his own profit, but paying profiteer rates to all others while doing his utmost to stand loyally by Uncle Sam in this death-grapple. However, prospects are good for something better since Washington has been fully informed of the situation.

"I don't believe it was intended to put farmers in the hole in this way. I don't think we should hold Uncle Sam too strictly to account in this time of great extremity for his apparent discrimination, but I cannot help thinking if the producers had been called in for consultation as freely as were millers, wholesalers and the representatives of various branches of big business, we should not now be so terribly hampered on all sides, and thousands of head of dairy cattle, unfinished livestock and breeding animals, would not have been shipped to market when every source of human food should be developed to the maximum. The Kansas City and Chicago markets in recent weeks have been swamped at times by the heavy receipts of this class of stock.

Right Sure to Triumph.

"We are now supposed to be straining every nerve at conservation, but a conservation policy which does not conserve, promote, and protect the thrift and progress of the American farming industry — the source of all our strength and vigor as a Nation—is a mighty short-sighted policy.

"These are our difficulties, just now. No people have ever faced a situation with better spirit or with greater courage. That is the Kansas attitude of mind. Let us do the very best we can to maintain our fighting edge, for I am convinced there is a better time coming for the American farmer in which he and his calling will be fittingly recognized, and the greatest American industry of all be given a square deal, and this, my friends, is all it has ever needed."

Did It Ever Occur To You?

There is one little article that everybody uses and yet you have never seen it advertised. And why not?

For the simple reason that it is handled for the use and benefit of all the people, instead of private profit for just a few.

It is sold in every village, and hamlet in the land and yet no drummer has ever carried samples of it and never takes an order for it, and there is only one place in a town that keeps it.

There is always a supply of it—never too much nor too little.

It is never taxed, no matter how many thousand dollars' worth are in stock. There has never been any corner or speculation in it, and its price at wholesale or retail is always the same. And best of all, it has never made a millionaire, or a pauper. The little thing is called a postage stamp, and if all articles were produced and handled in the same way, there would be no poverty, and but little crime or insanity in the United States.

Big Trench Plows.

Whenever and wherever it has been possible to do so, gigantic trench digging machines have been used for entrenchments instead of the spade of the soldier. Many hundreds of "trench plows," as they are called, were used by the Germans in the early days of the war, and that gave rise to the common belief that the Germans were the first to use them. But so long ago as the Boer war British army authorities experimented with plows and found them so successful that they became part of the army equipment.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER

Has been used for all ailments that are caused by a disordered stomach and inactive liver, such as sick headache, constipation, sour stomach, nervous indigestion, fermentation of food, palpitation of the heart caused by gases in the stomach. Sold in all civilized countries. Give it a trial.—Adv.

Full of Emotion.

Little Elsie had been told by her mother that a dog wags his tail to show that he is pleased, while a cat switches his tail when he is angry. A few days later Elsie discovered her favorite pussy purring contentedly before the open fire while her tail swayed luxuriously back and forth over the rug behind her. The little girl, her eyes wide with wonder, ran to her mother.

"Oh, mamma," she cried, "I don't see how Silver Belle can be so glad at one end and mad at the other at the same time!"

Had to Register.

A negro lad, one of the dusky kind that come up from the South, appeared at a local draft board recently and inquired for a questionnaire.

"How old are you?" he was asked, and his answer was: "Eighteen."

"It wasn't necessary for you to register for the draft," he was told.

"Not necessary! Man, you don't know that town where Ah registered. Ah was working on the street when two big cops grabbed me and said, 'Niggah, you beat it over there and registah or we'll beat yoh haid.'"

Contrariness.

"Speaking of the kaiser's contrary or arbitrary attitude in this peace talk," says a well-known legislator, "reminds me of the Kansas farmer who was elected in the state legislature a few years ago. The farmer was called to the chair during a session to act as speaker pro tem. A motion was made to lay a certain resolution on the table. The speaker put the motion like this:

"'All those who want the resolution to lay on the table say aye! All those who want to be contrary say no!'"

His Fear.

"Are you not tempted to retire from politics?"

"No," replied Senator Sorghum; "that's a proposition concerning which I fear compulsion, not temptation."

Had To Quit Work

Gave Up Hope of Recovery, But Doan's Restored His Health. Has Been Well Since.

J. B. Ragless, carpenter, 210 W. 60th St., Chicago, Ill., says: "My back gave out completely and I had to quit work. I could hardly endure the pain in my back and nights I tossed and turned, unable to sleep. Often in the morning my back was as stiff as a board, so that I couldn't stoop to dress myself. When I did manage to bend over, everything before me turned black. My head seemed to be whirling and sometimes I was so dizzy I had to grasp something to keep from falling.

Mr. Ragless

"The kidney secretions were irregular in passage, getting me up at night and the passages burned cruelly. I lost my appetite, was weak and listless and went down twenty-five pounds in weight. When I had almost given up hope, Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. Soon after, I passed an examination for life insurance and I'm glad to say my cure has lasted."

Gets Big Wolf.

J. W. Fountain, a rancher of the McKenzie Valley, living near Walterville, Ore., recently brought to Eugene the pelt of a huge black wolf trapped by him.

He caught it in two traps, set close to each other, and the animal had both broken and would have escaped soon had Mr. Fountain not arrived when he did. There are several of these animals in that vicinity, and the ranchers have been losing cattle and sheep as a result of their depredations.

This wolf was one of the largest ever seen in this county, measuring over eight feet from tip to tip.

What "His Bit" Really Means.

As first used in England, "His Bit" was intended to convey the impression of "his all," but the term "bit" as used in this country rather minimizes the task before us. Men think of one doing "his bit" in a sense of smallness rather than in a sense of consecration of their all. Let's find some new expression—stronger, more emphatic, more all-embracing, and yet not profane, which conveys the thought that we must do our utmost in this great world war.—Manufacturers' Record.

WOMEN MUST HELP RAISE WAR FUNDS

Lovers of Home and Country Called to the Colors.

ALL CAN BUY LIBERTY BONDS

Wives, Sisters, Mothers, Sweethearts Never Before Called Upon to Play Such a Vastly Important Part —Lend Your Money.

(By DOROTHY DIX.)

Buy a Liberty bond, ladies. No matter how many you have bought before, stretch a point and buy another.

You can't shoulder a gun and go off and fight for your country, as the men are doing. You can't put on a nurse's uniform and go and nurse wounded soldiers or drive an ambulance or work in a munition factory, as many other women are doing, but you can do your bit by backing up these other men and women, who are risking their lives to defend you with your money.

Without guns and munitions, without food and clothes, without hospital supplies, the army in France is just so many sheep led to the slaughter; if we let them die for the lack of the things that money buys, their blood is on our heads, and our crime against them will be blacker than the Boches, because they trusted us.

It takes money, money, money and yet more money to carry on war, and this war is to be the war of the longest pocketbook. It is the last ton of bombs, the last load of shrapnel, and the last big gun that will thunder out victory. Therefore, if we want to win this war, we must find more money, and it is particularly up to us women, who can fight with our hands, to fight with our dollars, and pour them like water at Uncle Sam's feet.

Women's Greatest Sacrifices.

In no war in all history have women been called upon to play such a tremendous part as in this war. Never before have women had to give so many of their husbands and sons and brothers to be cannon fodder. Never have women before gone into the trenches and fought side by side with men. Never have they gone into factories to make munitions of war with their own hands. Never have they had to take upon their shoulders the heavy burdens of hard physical labor that men laid down when they went forth to battle. And never before did their country call on women to make such sacrifices as they are called on to make now.

It is because this war touches women more nearly in every way than any other war has ever done, because more women's hearts have been broken by it, more women impoverished and made homeless, more mothers have seen their babes slain before their eyes, more mothers have beheld their young daughters ravished, that women must use their utmost effort to put an end to war.

Women must see to it that there is never another war to lay waste to the world and drench it with women's tears, and this can only be accomplished by our winning this war.

And to do that we must have money. So, let every woman who has some loved one at the front buy a Liberty bond. Let every woman who has a hearthstone that she would keep safe buy a Liberty bond. Let every woman who has a babe that she loves, or a young daughter whose purity she would guard, buy a Liberty bond.

Reasons Are Numerous.

Let every woman who has a particle of sympathy in her soul for the forlorn women and children of Belgium and France buy a Liberty bond. Let every woman who believes in justice, and freedom, and right buy a Liberty bond. Let every woman who hates war and craves for peace buy a Liberty bond.

The trip that you had planned, the new frock you were going to get, how pitifully small is the sacrifice of these for the sake of those who are sacrificing their lives to protect you and yours.

Buy all the Liberty bonds you can, and then go in debt for some more, so shall you prove yourself a worthy daughter of Uncle Sam.

This is a time when money talks and tells the kind of a patriot you are.

The woman who hasn't a bunch of Liberty bonds if she's rich, or who isn't paying on a Liberty bond if she's poor, is a traitor to her country and should hang her head in shame every time she passes a man in khaki or feels the fold of the red, white, and blue floating over her unworthy head.

The Badge of Citizenship.

The Liberty Bond button is no longer a mark of liberality or even of patriotism; it is the badge of citizenship. Are you wearing one?

War and the Weather.

The Almighty makes the weather, not man, and if the weather doesn't suit us, we have to wait. The farmer knows what a day's rain will do in the way of upsetting plans. One can't plow in the mud and a cutting of hay or wheat may be damaged or ruined by one night's downpour.

The war department, too, is up against the weather in France. Three inches rainfall may make the country impassable for half a million men and horses and motortrucks and ruin the chances of victory or bring defeat.

Building-up for the Spring Attack at the Front is a good deal like putting the body in condition for an invasion of the germs of grip, pneumonia or "Spring fever" here at home.

At this time of the year most people suffer from a condition often called Spring Fever. They feel tired, worn out, before the day is half thru. They may have frequent headaches and sometimes "pimply" or pale skin and white lips. The reason for this is that during the wintertime, shut up within doors, eating too much meat and too little green vegetables, one heaps fuel into the system which is not burned up and the clinkers remain to poison the system—a clogging up of the circulation—with inactive liver and kidneys. Time to put your house in order.

For an invigorating tonic which will clarify the blood, put new life in the body, sparkle to the eyes, and a wholesome skin, nothing does so well as a glyceric herb extract made from Golden Seal root, Blood and Stone root, Oregon grape root and Wild Cherry bark. This can be had in convenient, ready-to-use tablet form at all drug stores, sixty cents, and has been sold for the past fifty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By reason of the nerves feeding on the blood, when the blood is pure the nerves feel the effect, and neuralgia or other nerve pains disappear because such pain is the cry of the starved nerves for food. When suffering from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain Dr. Pierce's Anuric from your druggist. In tablets, sixty cents.

How to Live Cheaply.

There is at least one family in England which can snap its fingers at Lord Rhondda and whose members are not to be found in food queues. The head of the family recently wrote to a London newspaper that himself, wife and family of four have lived for 14 weeks wholly on raw vegetable salads made of grated turnips, carrots, parsnips, beets, cabbages, etc., together with fruit salads, toast and porridge, and says they are all much stronger and healthier as a result. They use neither tea nor coffee and grow their own vegetables, and so may be regarded as the most independent family in England.—New York World.

Scenes of Prosperity

Are Common in Western Canada

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a

and other land at very low prices.

During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley, and Flax. Mixed Farming is as profitable an industry as grain raising. Good schools, churches; markets convenient, climate excellent. Are Here Told the Best Remedy for Their Troubles.

Freemont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. GODDEN, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

It shows that Swift & Company sells the meat from a steer for less money then the live steer cost!

Proceeds from the sale of the hide fat, and other by-products covered all expense of dressing, refrigeration, freight, selling expense and the profit of $1.29 per steer as shown by Swift & Company's 1917 figures as follows:

Average price paid for live cattle per steer	$84.45
Average price received for meat	68.97
Average price received for by-products	24.09
Total received	93.06
This leaves for expenses and profit	8.61
Of which the profit per steer was	1.29

guage. The captain thanked him, fitted out another boat with him, and in this boat it was my luck to go.

When we got there, it was such a scene as you seldom see, and never want to. Nastiness beyond account, and chaos run loose in the midst of the nastiness. There were not a great many of the negroes; but by way of making what there were understand that they were free, Vaughan had had their handcuffs and anklecuffs knocked off, and, for convenience' sake, was putting them upon the rascals of the schooner's crew. The negroes were, most of them, out of the hold, and swarming all round the dirty deck, with a central throng surrounding Vaughan and addressing him in every dialect and patois of a dialect, from the Zulu click up to the Parisian of Beledeliersed.

As we came on deck, Vaughan looked down from a hogshead, on which he had mounted in desperation, and said:

"For God's love, is there anybody who can make these wretches understand something? The men gave them rum, and that did not quiet them. I knocked that big fellow down twice, and that did not soothe him. And then I talked Choctaw to all of them together; and I'll be hanged if they understood that as well as they understood the English."

Nolan said he could speak Portuguese, and one or two fine-looking Kroomen were dragged out, who, as it had been found already, had worked for the Portuguese on the coast at Fernando Po.

"Tell them they are free," said Vaughan; "and tell them that these rascals are to be hanged as soon as we can get rope enough."

Nolan explained it in such Portuguese as the Kroomen could understand, and they in turn to such of the negroes as could understand them. Then there was such a yell of delight, clinching of fists, leaping and dancing, kissing of Nolan's feet, and a general rush made to the hogshead by way of spontaneous worship of Vaughan as the deus ex machina of the occasion.

"Tell them," said Vaughan, well pleased, "that I will take them all to Cape Palmas."

This did not answer so well. Cape Palmas was practically as far from the homes of most of them as New Orleans or Rio Janeiro was; that is, they would be eternally separated from home there. And their interpreters, as we could understand, instantly said, "Ah, non Palmas," and began to propose infinite other expedients in most voluble language. Vaughan was rather disappointed at this result of his liberality, and asked Nolan eagerly what they said. The drops stood on poor Nolan's white forehead as he hushed the men down, and said:

"He says, 'Not Palmas.' He says, 'Take us home, take us to our country, take us to our own house, take us to our own pickaninnies and our own women.' He says he has an old father and mother, who will die, if they do not see him. And this one says he left his people all sick, and paddled down to come and help them, and that these devils caught him in the bay just in sight of home, and that he has never seen anybody from home since then. And this one says," choked out Nolan, "that he has not heard a word from his home in six months, while he has been locked up in an infernal barracoon."

Vaughan always said he grew gray himself while Nolan struggled through this interpretation. I, who did not understand anything of the passion involved in it, saw that the very elements were melting with fervent heat, and that something was to pay somewhere. Even the negroes themselves stopped howling as they saw Nolan's agony, and Vaughan's almost equal agony of sympathy. As quick as he could get words, he said:

"Tell them yes, yes; tell them they shall go to the Mountains of the Moon, if they will. If I sail the schooner through the Great White Desert, they shall go home!"

And after some fashion Nolan said so. And then they all fell to kissing him again and wanted to rub his nose with theirs.

But he could not stand it long; and getting Vaughan to say he might go back, he beckoned me down into our boat. As we lay back in the stern sheets and the men gave way, he said to me: "Youngster, let that show you what it is to be without a family, without a home, and without a country. And if you are ever tempted to say a word or to do a thing that shall put a bar between you and your family, your home, and your country, pray God in his mercy to take you that instant home to his own heaven. Stick by your family, boy; forget you have a self, while you do everything for them. Think of your home, boy; write and send, and talk about it. Let it be nearer and nearer to your thought, the farther you have to travel from it; and rush to it, when you are free, as that poor black slave is doing now. And for your country, boy," and the words rattled in his throat, "and for that flag," and he pointed to the ship, "never dream a dream but of serving her as she bids you, though the service carry you through a thousand hells. No matter what happens to you, no matter who flatters you or who abuses you, never look at another flag, never let a night pass but you pray God to bless that flag. Remember, boy, that behind all these men you have to do with, behind officers, and government, and people even, there is the country herself, your country, and that you belong to her as you belong to your own mother. Stand by her, boy, as you would stand by your mother, if those devils there had got hold of her today!"

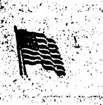
One Hundred and Forty-Two Years of Labor and Struggle



THE American people fought their first battles for liberty and the rights of self-government one hundred and forty-two years ago.

¶ At that time, and for many years thereafter, their realization of their national aspirations and of the goal toward which they were really striving was vague and indistinct. But step by step they struggled onward and upward toward a light which grew clearer as their eyes and minds slowly opened to its significance. Today, as a result of their struggles and their sacrifices, we possess and enjoy our priceless American institutions.

¶ These institutions must be preserved. The structure so laboriously reared in these one hundred and forty-two years will be utterly destroyed if we do not spring to its defense with every atom of our energy and determination. This is not a situation which may be trifled with, or evaded, or put off. It is one which must be met now—today—no matter what sacrifices it may entail, or what the cost may be.

The immediate need is the investment of our money in LIBERTY BONDS!

Bently Nelson Writes From France

Base Hospital, March 25, 1918.

Dear Mother:-

Will write you a few lines. Hav'nt heard from you for a long time, and I wonder if you got my letters. I am at Base Hospital No. 15, have been here 2 weeks. I was wounded by a German bullet, while at the front, on Feb. 11th. Was in two other hospitals before coming to this one. I am just about well now. I got hit between the eyes, I was bending down so the bullet went down through back of my nose, and on the left side, about an inch and a half in. I was operated on the 3rd March, they had to cut through the jaw bone from inside my mouth. I have the bullet for a souvenir. It sure was a lucky shot, a wonder I did'nt get killed, but I am feeling fine now, so don't worry about me. How are you all? I hope you are all well. I hav'nt got any of the boxes that you sent me. I suppose some one else got them so I should'nt worry. I am having a good time. The Y. M. C. A. are here, moving pictures, a band plays and they have shows. There is something doing every night and base ball games on Sundays, but I wish I would get some mail soon. I hav'nt got any since I left for the trenches and that's about two months ago. I don't know what to write about. I suppose you know about as much as I do about the war or more. Its summer here now. It began two weeks ago, so we have fine weather. How is it out home? It was fine to ride on the Red Cross train, as it was the first one I have been on. Its sure fine to ride on a real train that looks like the ones in the U. S. I could write and tell you a lot about this country but I better leave it out so you will get this letter. I wish you would write a long letter and tell me all the news, and I hope that you won't worry about me, I am just as safe here as any other place.

I will have to close now but will soon write again. Tell all hello from me with the best of wishes and love, your son, Bently A. Nelson,

Went Over The Top

Marshall county went over the top with colors flying in the Liberty Bond sale.

This part of the county made a good showing and this village and all the townships in this district will get an honor flag. The townships of Adger and Mud Lake will each get an honor flag with a gold star, as a reward for doubling their quota.

Following are the amounts of bonds sold: Holt village $5500, township $2400; East Valley $1600; Adger $2850; Mud Lake $1200; Excel $3350. No official report has been received from Grand Plain, but it is known they went over the top, with more than their quota.

Mr. and Mrs. Docken, Misses Agnes Bakke, Beatha Nelson, Helen Johnson and Martha Peterson autoed to T. R. Falls Friday evening to attend an entertainment there.

All young men who have become 21 years old since last registration day, June 5th, 1917 will be required to register on June 5th. this year. This will place about 700,000 men in class I. If they wish to avoid the draft and make their own choice of the branch they might wish to serve in, they would have to volunteer soon.

Red-blooded men of courage are on the firing line—and there are many anemic, weak, discouraged men and women left at home.

At this time of the year most people suffer from a condition often called Spring Fever. They feel tired, worn out, before the day is half thru. They may have frequent headaches and sometimes "pimply" or pale skin.

Bloodless people, thin, anemic people, those with pale cheeks and lips, who have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition in the springtime of the year, should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alterative and blood purifier. Such a one is extracted from Blood root, Golden Seal and Stone root, Queen's root and Oregon Grape root, made up with chemically pure glycerine and without the use of alcohol. This can be obtained in ready-to-use tablet form in sixty-cent vials, as druggists have sold it for fifty years as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a standard remedy that can be obtained in tablet or liquid form.

A good purge should be taken once a week even by persons who have a movement daily, in order to eliminate matter which may remain and cause a condition of auto-intoxication, poisoning the whole system. To clean the system at least once a week is to practice health measures. There is nothing so good for this purpose as tiny pills made up of the May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, and sold by almost all druggists in this country as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, sugar-coated, easy to take.

Oratory Today.

In Mississippi they tell of a young lawyer retained to defend a man charged with the theft of a pig. The young man seemed determined to convince the jury that he was born to shine, and accordingly he delivered the following exordium:

"May it please the court and gentlemen of the jury, while Europe is bathed in blood; while classic Greece is struggling for her rights and liberties and trampling the unhallowed altars of the beardless infidels to dust; while the United States, entering the war, shines forth the brightest orb in the political sky—I, with due diffidence, rise to defend the cause of this humble hog thief."—Case and Comment.

Subtle Reasoning.

My little grandson is quite a hand for "reasoning from analogy," and the other day was asking what his family name was. I told him his father's ancestors came from England, Wales and Scotland, while his mother's were English and Irish.

He then asked: "Grandma, what was your name before you were married?"

"I answered "Lyon."

He considered a moment and then said: "So I suppose you came from Africa?"—Chicago Tribune.

"There's a Reason"

LAUDS THE LEAGUE—CAN'T MAKE RACE

T. J. Meighen Declines to Make Race For State Treasurer on League Ticket.

T. J. Meighen of Preston will not be the Nonpartisan League candidate for state treasurer.

In a letter to the League officials, he states that while he appreciates the high honor conferred on him he felt that owing to the fact that he was an accredited and regularly elected delegate to the Democratic conference held at St. Paul last week, he is duty bound not to accept an indorsement from any other source.

Mr. Meighen pays a high tribute to the League however, nad says that it is the only way in which justice can be obtained.

"I wish to add," says Mr. Meighen, "that I feel highly honored by the endorsement of the state convention of the Nonpartisan League, as I am reliably informed that this meeting was largely attended, nearly fifty legislative districts in the state being represented, that the Delegation was representative of the best citizenship in our State, many of the older men present were my co-workers in the old Farmers Alliance Organization of this State, and I am pleased beyond my power of expression to feel that I possess in some degree the confidence of such a sterling body of men. The Farmers Alliance placed the Twine Plant in the State Prison at Stillwater nearly thirty years ago which has saved the farmers of this state many thousand of dollars annually.

"Your platform rings true to the interests of the producers of this State, and you are bound to bring relief also to the consumers, the great mass of workers in our cities, by eliminating the men who have been exacting excessive toll from them as well as the farmer. I am free to pronounce it the greatest declaration of independence ever put forth by any political organization in this state. You start very properly with a strong indorsement of the position of our country in this world war as voiced by President Wilson.

"In State matters, your convention had the courage not evidenced by any other organization in this state to declare for a tonnage tax on the iron ore production. If this were done, our state should have received last year at least ten million dollars in excess of what was collected. This vast sum of which we are despoiled would assist materially in the building of our roads and the support of our schools.

"I have little hope that the people of this state will ever succeed in obtaining what they are fairly entitled to receive from this vast natural deposit of wealth, save through a movement such as yours, which is backed by the reproducers of this state in country and city regardless of party.

"The battle for democracy should be fought wherever and whenever Autocracy raises its head, whether in Minnesota or on foreign soil. Over there it must be fought with bullets, here in Minnesota we are still privileged to fight with the ballot.

"Having a personal acquaintance with many members of your organization and judging its spirit from my knowledge of these men and your platform declaration, I feel free to commend the League as being loyal to the high ideals for which the world democracy is now fighting."

GOVERNMENT SHOULD PUT FARMERS ON THEIR FEET

Politicians Are Driving Hundreds of Farmers to Work in Cities.

The federal and state governments owe it to all the people of the nation to help put farmers on their feet. Farm lands are rapidly concentrating in the hands of rich landowners, and hundreds of good farmers are being driven to work in cities or become shiftless roamers. Why? Because politicians and business men are interested more pillaging the farmer than in helping him to own a farm and establish himself for a lifetime in the country. Our country is headed straight for destruction if this evil is not corrected.—Montana Equity News.

Why Matches Are Higher.

The report of the Diamond Match company—the match trust—shows the profit to be $5,637,925 in 1917, an increase of over a million over the preceding year. The management also set aside $1,103,098 to meet federal war taxes and made a much larger appropriation for depreciation than in 1916. And the great American family paid it all.

Didn't Stipulate As To Truth.

One of the facts brought out in the investigation of the packing industry was that the packers made liberal use of the press to "mould public opinion" in their behalf. It isn't recorded that they took special pains to tell the truth, which, of course, is not exactly a rigid requirement of the capitalist press. Fortunately public opinion is getting its eyes opened and the packers' camoflauging words are over-shadowed by their uncovered deeds.

MARTIN CLEARED OF DISLOYALTY CHARGE

Nonpartisan League Organizer is Acquitted by District Court Jury On First Ballot.

L. W. Martin, Nonpartisan league organizer in Goodhue county, was acquitted last Friday of a charge of making disloyal remarks tending to obstruct the sale of Liberty bonds by a jury in the district court. The jury deliberated less than an hour and Martin was acquitted on the first ballot.

Martin's arrest was the result of political persecution. He was unusually successful in organizing Goodhue county and soon aroused the opposition of a few professional politicians and bankers who feared the influence of the league. A certain Dr. J. A. Gates, defeated candidate for lieutenant-governor, was especially active against Martin and is said to have boasted that he would drive him out of the county.

Politician Assaulted Organizer.

Dr. Gates assaulted Martin on one occasion and several times mob violence was incited against the plucky organizer. Hostile newspapers repeatedly published false rumors in the attempt to prejudice the people against Martin and to hamper his work. Last November Martin addressed a letter to the governor and the Public Safety Commission asking for an investigation of the charges against him. He said that if he were guilty he should be in jail, but that if he were innocent that he was entitled to protection of the law. The governor ignored this letter and the Safety Commission failed either to investigate of to protect Martin.

Then Martin brought a suit against Dr. Gates for assault. His own arrest followed. It plainly was the result of a political conspiracy. All other methods had failed, and the gang fighting Martin evidently intended to put him behind the bars.

Trial Vindicated Martin.

The trial, conducted before Judge Albert Johnson of the district court, was a complete vindication for Martin. It was shown that instead of being disloyal, he had advocated support of President Wilson. It was shown that instead of obstructing the sale of Liberty bonds, the parts of Goodhue county where he had spoken and organized were the sections where the sale of Liberty bonds was largest. The prosecution not only failed to make out a case against Martin, but the evidence showed beyond question that he was an industrious, hard-working young man of splendid character who was supporting his government by deeds as well as words.

Joseph Gilbert, organization manager of the league, and N. S. Randall, league lecturer, also were indicted through the efforts of the anti-farmer gang which had Martin brought to trial. The cases against Gilbert and Randall have been postponed. The anti-farmer gang thought they had the strongest case against Martin and the failure of their plot has made them less ready to push the other cases.

The charges of disloyalty made against the league in Southern Minnesota centered around the alleged remarks of Martin and his triumphant acquittal by a district court jury punctures the plot directed against the league. It was the first time that any league organizer was brought before a district court jury on a charge of disloyalty and the prompt vindication is a body blow to the opposition.

TOWNLEY PLEASED WITH VERDICT

Nonpartisan Head Says False Disloyalty Charges Handicap Prosecution of War.

President A. C. Townley is satisfied that the interests "who place politics above patriotism" have been dealt a hard blow in the acquittal of L. W. Martin, who was so promptly cleared of charges of disloyalty by a Red Wing jury last Friday.

The Setting Is Good.

It is fitting that the great producing Northwest should be the first to start a movement for the emancipation of mankind from tyrannical industrial autocracy. Its people have been the worst sufferers of this rule, and should be the first to cast off the unnecessary load.

Farmers do not want a higher price for wheat. They know that $3 wheat wouldn't net them any more, if as much, as $2 wheat, for the profiteers would boost what the farmer has to buy. What Congress should do is set lower prices on those articles which farmers have to buy. —Montana Equity News.

Profiteers and Patrioteers.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson, in discussing what he calls "patrioteers," said: "A patrioteer is a politician, usually discredited, who seeks in time of war to cover every political scare by wrapping himself in the American flag, and by vocal vociferation of a pretended patriotism, endeavors to have his political past forgotten. I have little less contempt for the patrioteers than I have for the profiteer."

WHERE FARMING IS PROFITABLE

The Future of Great Possibilities.

Some idea of the great wealth that the Western Canada farmer had in view a few years ago is now being realized. The amount received from the sale of wheat, oats, barley, flax and rye in 1917 was $270,000,000, while the sales of live stock at Winnipeg alone netted $40,000,000 additional. Of this sum hogs alone gave over eleven million dollars. The increases at Calgary and Edmonton were over 6¼ million dollars.

This money, so easily earned, is being spent in improvements in farm property, purchasing additional land, buying tractors, automobiles, and improving home conditions, providing electric light, steam heat, new furniture, pianos, buying Victory bonds, paying up old debts, etc.

Over five hundred tractors were sold in Southern Alberta in 1917. One implement agent reports that the increase in his business in 1917, over that of 1916, was equal to the total business in 1915. It is the same story all over the country. And it is not this evidence alone which proves the advancement and growth of the three prairie provinces, but the large increase in the number of settlers; the improvement in the extent of the cultivated areas and agricultural production; the increase in value of which over 1916 was $77,000,000.

This wonderful progress that has been made in agriculture in Western Canada is but the beginning which marks the future of the greatest agricultural country on the continent, showing a future of great possibilities. There are millions of acres yet untilled, and of land as good as any of that which is now giving its owners a return of from twenty to thirty dollars an acre, figures that in many cases represent the cost of the land, with all cultivation costs included. It is true that the cost of production has increased during the past few years, but the price of the product has also increased to a figure which leaves a large balance to the credit of the producer.

The following table shows how this works out.

FARM NEEDS.	1913 Price in bus. wheat	1917 Price in bus. wheat
Machinery—
Self binder	160	100
Mower	70	38

Percentage increases are shown too in another way, leading to the same conclusion, from consultation of the Department of Labor's review of prices. Taking 100 as the index number of normal production in the decade from 1890 to 1900, the increases in prices of farm products have slightly outdistanced the increases in his needs.

"PRUSSIC ACID" FATAL

Liberty Bonds Will Prove Highly Successful Antidote.

Average Dose of Remedy Is From $50 to $5,000—Ample Evidence Why Immediate Provision Should Be Made.

By LEIGH MITCHELL HODGES of the Vigilantes.

Prior to August 1914, prussic acid was known as one of the deadliest poisons, but comparatively few persons were killed by it.

Since that time German autocracy has killed and maimed millions and jeopardized the life and liberty of all free nations by wholesale use of a new kind of prussic acid—a "hydrocyanide" of brute-force which, if not hindered, will be as fatal to freedom as the prussic acid of the laboratory to him who inhales its deadly vapor.

With this deadlier prussic acid, the kaiser and his crew are trying to poison the minds as well as the bodies of those who will not submit to the domination of might. Thus far he and his hell mates have succeeded fairly well, but a new antidote for this poison will check the peril if amply applied.

Americanism is its name, and the method of application is as follows:

As soon as symptoms of the poisoning appear—either in the form of trench, air or submarine raids or German propaganda-planting, take one large dose of Americanism in the form of Third Liberty Loan bonds.

The effect will be instantaneous. At once the purchaser will pass from a state of approaching despair to an unprecedented degree of satisfaction at having backed up the boys who are fighting for freedom and the millions of men and women who are working to help win the war. This will be followed by a sense of security in having strengthened our defenses against devilism, and at the same time the effect on the foe will be that of a powerful emetic, causing them to throw up their hands in horror at the thought of such whole-hearted support of the Allied Cause.

For the average American the dose suggested is from $50 to $5,000—taken daily in small quantities over a long period, or swallowed at one time and followed by a feeling of happiness which cannot be appreciated until experienced.

And while this is suggested as the most admirable antidote for this poison, it also possesses the peculiar quality of providing a "pill" for Kaiser Bill at the same time. Testimonials from millions of Americans who already have used this remedy and like it so well that they are going to lay in another large supply, make clear the use for buying your bonds early!

WORLD WANT

By BARNETTA BROWN of the Vigilantes.

Place your elbows on your knees, put your head in your hands, and think. Many strange things are happening. Unprecedented conditions abound. Those who have carefully studied the world situation tell us that we may have to face widespread world want if we are not forethoughted and forehanded. With millions of men turned from their usual occupation of helping to provide the necessaries of life, depending on others for food and clothing while they fight, the industrial order is thrown completely out of balance. The ship of state is passing through troubled waters. What can we do, what must we do, to insure safe passage?

How to Prevent It.

World want cannot be prevented by hoardings. Neither is anyone's safety dependent on the amount of money he has hidden away. Safety depends on the sane, wise, unselfish use of the resources of the nation. Every man's resources are the resources of the nation. Safety depends on the willingness of the individual to share now with the government every resource he possesses—thought, activities, money. The right, free use of these, our powers, should be towards production, not restriction. Of what avail will money be later, if there should be little or nothing to buy? The government is trying to speed up production. It will try harder by-and-by. Help on towards your own safety and the safety of all by helping the government.

Therefore, buy Thrift stamps, War Saving stamps, Liberty bonds.

So do you put your hand, with all the other hands, on the helm of our ship, and become one of the pilots who will steer it through the storm to a safe harbor.

"Wool" From Cork.

The department of overseas trade has been informed through a reliable channel that a Spanish firm is manufacturing "wool" from cork, which, it is claimed, may with advantage be substituted for natural wool in the manufacture of mattresses, pillows, quilts, etc. This material is stated to be cleaner and lighter than wool.

Coal said to be equal in quality to the best American steaming coal has been discovered in Venezuela.

WOMAN WORKS 15 HOURS A DAY

Marvelous Story of Woman's Change from Weakness to Strength by Taking Druggist's Advice.

Peru, Ind.—"I suffered from a displacement with backache and dragging down pains so badly that at times I could not be on my feet and it did not seem as though I could stand it. I tried different medicines without any benefit and several doctors told me nothing but an operation would do me any good. My druggist told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it with the result that I am now well and strong. I get up in the morning at four o'clock, do my housework, then go to a factory and work all day, come home and get supper and feel good. I don't know how many of my friends I have told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. ANNA METERIANO, 36 West 10th St., Peru, Ind.

Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LEMONS DO MAKE THE SKIN WHITE

HOW TO MAKE A CREAMY LEMON BEAUTY LOTION AT HOME FOR A FEW CENTS.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply you with three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Squeeze the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle, then put in the orchard white and shake well. This makes a quarter pint of the very best lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier known. Massage this fragrant, creamy lotion daily into the face, neck, arms and hands and just see how freckles, tan, sallowness, redness and roughness disappear and how smooth, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless, and the beautiful results will surprise you.—Adv.

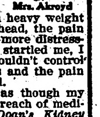
NERVES GAVE OUT

Serious Kidney Trouble Had Made Life Miserable, But Doan's Removed All the Trouble. Hasn't Suffered Since.

"I had such severe pains in my back," says Mrs. Albert Akroyd, 304 W. Indiana Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., "that they almost doubled me up. Many a day I could not do my housework and at every move it seemed as if my back would break in two. My feet and ankles swelled until I had to wear large-sized slippers and sometimes I couldn't stand up.



Mrs. Akroyd

"I had dizzy spells and dreadful headaches and fiery flashes passed before my eyes. Had a heavy weight been resting on my head, the pain could not have been more distressing. The least noise startled me, I was so nervous. I couldn't control the kidney secretions and the pain in passage was awful.

"It began to look as though my case was beyond the reach of medicine until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. The first box benefited me and four boxes cured all the troubles. I have had no further cause for complaint."

NINTH DISTRICT OPENS BIG DRIVE

Third Liberty Loan Campaign Opens With Enthusiasm In Northwestern States.

GOING "OVER THE TOP"

Forty Thousand Solicitors Start Canvassing—Many Localities Report Amount Oversubscribed After Few Hours' Work.

Minneapolis, April 16.—The states in the ninth reserve district in the first seven hours of the Third Liberty Loan campaign, had bought $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 of the $125,000,000 apportionment, it was estimated at headquarters, based on telegrams received. This did not include any Minneapolis money, as the local campaign does not open until Wednesday.

Except for rain, eastward from the Black Hills in South Dakota, which did not prevent 5,000 automobile salesment in that state from taking the field, the weather generally was good. The job of placing the full $125,000,000 in 66 hours got under way auspiciously. Nearly 40,000 solicitors were at work.

Minneapolis, meanwhile, made some changes of program. Douglas Fairbanks, reported ill, will not be here Wednesday. Instead, Marion L. Burton, president of the university, and Private H. R. Peat will speak at the first big noonday meeting at the Arcadia hall.

All Districts Busy.

The loan campaign now is under way for the first time in all the 12 districts of the country, the ninth district's start making the number complete.

The total of the $3,000,000,000 loan that has so far been placed, was reported by Washington at $620,947,550.

On the assumption that the Minneapolis district has so far raised $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 of $125,000,000 requirement, these comparisons appear as to percentage of totals raised in the various districts, as reported from Washington, the Minneapolis district being on its first day, the other districts having been at it since April 6: St. Louis, 36 per cent; Minneapolis, 25 to 30; New York, 26; Dallas, 25; Boston, 21; Chicago, 10; Philadelphia, 15; Cleveland, 14; Kansas City, 14; San Francisco, 11; Richmond, 7; Atlanta, 4.

Reports Show Determination.

Wesley C. McDowell, state chairman for North Dakota, wired that bond salesmen are hard at it and that he expects reports more or less definite and favorable from 25 per cent of the counties in a few hours. H. A. Oldham, state chairman, said South Dakota is going at her $22,000,000 job with grim determination to do what has been asked of her.

PRO-GERMANS FILLS WEST

Report Made By Security League Worker After Tour.

New York, April 16.—The west is filled with surreptitious pro-Germanism and obvious apathy to the war and its significance, according to Dr. Robert M. McElroy, educational director of the National Security league, who has just returned after a three weeks' tour of the territory he indicts.

"The melting pot has not melted. There are vast communities in this nation thinking today not in terms of America," says Dr. McElroy, in summing up his impressions. "Propaganda is required in almost every foot of American soil, and propaganda in its essence means that our system of education has failed."

He advocates the immediate discontinuance of the use of German in schools. In the course of his tour he visited St. Paul, Des Moines, St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Mo., Topeka, Denver, Omaha and Madison, Wis.

ENEMY IS HELD AT EVERY POINT

Germans Fail to Gain Inch of Sammies, British and French Three Allies.

YANKS REPULSE FOE

Stoutness of British Defense Attested By Thousands of Enemy Dead Lying Before Positions, Southwest of Ypres.

London, April 16.—Seven attacks by the Germans in the Merville sector of the northern battlefront have been repulsed by the British who inflicted heavy losses on the enemy, it is announced officially. The British have lost Neuve Eglise. Southwest of Bailleul the Germans temporarily penetrated the British positions but were driven out by a counterattack.

Paris, April 16.—On the front above Montdidier the French made a successful local attack last night, taking prisoners, the war office announces.

London, April 16.—Field Marshal Haig's order that no more ground be ceded is rigidly being complied with. The entire Allied line in Belgium and France is holding firm. Nowhere have the Germans been able, notwithstanding the great numbers of men hurled against it, especially that part in Flanders where the British are holding forth, to gain an inch of ground.

The stoutness of the British defense is attested by the thousands of German dead now lying before the British positions southwest of Ypres, where it is the ambition of the high German command to break through and envelop Haig's forces and gain an open highway toward the English channel.

Yankees Defeat Heavy Assaults.

North of St. Mihiel the American troops have been compelled to withstand a series of persistent assaults, second in intensity only to those delivered by the Germans against the British in Flanders. And the honors at the end rested with the Americans, who met the foe at every style of fighting he offered and decisively defeated him.

Along the front held by the French, Sunday saw nothing of greater importance than reciprocal bombardments on various sectors, the troops of both sides remaining in their trenches.

Likewise in Italy the big guns were doing most of the work, although at several points enemy patrols attempted to carry out diversions, but met with no success.

Neuve Eglise Remains British.

At Neuve Eglise, northwest of Armentieres, where the Germans are endeavoring to drive their wedge in farther in order to outflank Ypres, the heaviest fighting has taken place.

For two days battle of a most obstinate character took place, the Germans throwing thousands of men into the attack, notwithstanding their wastage in killed or wounded. Several times the village changed hands, but at last reports the British were still in possession of it and holding tenaciously under repeated German onslaughts.

Nowhere along the eight mile front where the Germans are trying to drive through between Wulverghem and Meteran have the Germans met with anything but repulse, and the price they have paid for their attempts to breach the British line has been enormous, on no sector have they been able to surmount the stone wall of defense, and, for the moment, at least, there seems to be justification for the hope that the turn in the tide of the battle is at hand.

Berlin Claims Heavy Yankee Losses.

Documents captured from German prisoners show conclusively that the great new offensive of the Germans was launched with the intention of separating the British and French armies and crushing the British.

The latest German official communication dealing with the situation in the region of St. Mihiel, where the Americans are defending the line, says that the Germans inflicted heavy losses on the Americans, in a successful thrust and also took prisoners.

Win the War by Preparing the Land

Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than May 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

ONE INCH IS RIGHT DEPTH FOR ALFALFA

Seed of High Germinating Power Should be Planted—Lime Sour Soil

INNOCULATION MADE EASY

Spring Sowing Shou'd be Done May 1-15, Fall by Aug. 15—Summer Fallowing

With the seed bed in proper condition the farmer is ready to proceed with his seeding. Just a word first as to the seed itself. The injunction, "plant only northern grown seed," will bear repeating right here. Let those words sink in—and heed them. Buy only seed of known high germination. Be sure the seed has been tested. Seed that shows 90 per cent or better is the only kind to sow.

There are different ways of sowing the seed. Some use special alfalfa and clover seeding machinery. The ordinary grain drills with special grass attachments are much used. And then there is the good, old-fashioned method of broadcasting. Here again each man must make his choice—put your seed in by the method that is handiest for you.

Spring Seeding, May 1 to 15.

Now comes that important word, "Caution," again. Look out every minute for the depth at which you plant the seed. One inch is the proper depth—don't go any deeper, under any circumstances, than 1½ inches. Best results are reported from seeding 15 pounds to the acre, where no nurse crop is used. The seed should be covered at once by a light harrowing.

For spring seeding the best time is around May 1 to 15, for the northern latitudes—the Dakotas, Iowa, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska and Wisconsin. Seed planted then without a nurse crop and kept clean will yield a moderate crop of alfalfa hay by September 1, and the plants will get sufficient growth between that date and the freeze-up to be able to withstand the winter. If it is desired to sow a nurse crop, about 15 pounds of alfalfa and three pecks of oats or barley should be sown to the acre. A yield of grain of any considerable value cannot be expected.

Sometimes no crop is sown, but for four months the soil is frequently cultivated in order to keep down the weeds and conserve moisture. This amounts to summer fallowing, and is very successfully done in sections where the land is foul. The land is plowed when the weeds are several inches high and then persistently harrowed until August.

One reason for fall sowing is that it enables the farmer to gather one full crop from the land before planting to alfalfa. Plowing for fall sowing should be done in July as soon as the crop is off the ground. The seed should be put in not later than the middle of August. If as much as five or six weeks will elapse between plowing and seeding time the furrow may be about six inches deep.

How To Inoculate.

As with spring plowing, the nearer the plowing time to the seeding time the shallower the plowing should be. As with spring sowing, the soil should be well conditioned. It should be smooth and firm and mellow and pulverized to a depth of an inch. Methods of sowing are identical with those for spring. With fall rains the plant gets a good start before freezing-up time, and the next summer is ready to produce its two or three crops—the same as the spring planted seed produces the second season. In no case should fall sown plants be cut the first year.

Pull up a healthy alfalfa plant and you will find "grape-like" looking bunches or clusters on the roots. Inside of each of these "grapes" are millions of bacteria. They are necessary to the life of alfalfa. They gather the nitrogen from the air and aid the plant in assimilating that nitrogen into its tissues. Generally the soil does not contain these bacteria, so they, as well as the seed, have to be planted. This process is what is called INOCULATION. It is absolutely necessary for successful alfalfa raising.

To inoculate you can gather soil from a successful alfalfa or sweet clover field and mix it with the soil of the proposed alfalfa field. This is the "soil method." The work must be done on a cloudy day. Between 400 and 500 pounds to the acre are required. A better way is the "pure culture" method. From the government or from a manufacturer secure the culture—each can contains an amount for a given number of acres—pour this on the seed, mix thoroughly and sow the mixture at the rate of 15 pounds to the acre. That is all there is to "inoculation"—a thing which so long has mystified people.

Sour Soil Must be Limed.

A sour, that is, an acid soil kills these bacteria. If a piece of blue litmus paper, which you can buy at the drug store, turns red when buried half an hour in the soil it is a sure sign that that soil is sour. Finely ground limestone to the amount of one to three tons to the acre must be applied after the plowing and thoroughly harrowed in. It may be spread with a shovel or placed on the top of a thin coating of straw or fine manure and scattered with a manure spreader. Never try to grow alfalfa on sour land without liming it. It will not grow.

MR. SIMPKINS PAYS HIS INCOME TAX

By ROBERT McBLAIR.

Mr. Simpkins gazed at the portrait on the wall till his eyes filled with tears. It was a portrait of his father, Colonel Simpkins, who had four times been promoted for valor during the Civil War and had died bravely on the field of action. Mr. Simpkins' throat ached now for two reasons: First, he reverenced and adored the memory of his father; secondly, his age and his eyes and his game leg wouldn't let him go to war himself. And as he observed the martial bearing and uncompromising gaze of Colonel Simpkins he saw, in imagination, the khaki-clad lads of the new generation marching forth and crossing three thousand miles of sea to fight, maybe die, for liberty.

Mr. Simpkins peered around to make sure that neither Bess nor John (who were at the teasing ages of sixteen and seventeen) were where they could see him, then he straightened and threw his right arm up for a salute. But his gouty shoulder twinged, and he groaned. He couldn't even salute.

"Damn!" said Mr. Simpkins, and with his other hand fiercely twirled his white mustachios.

He turned and limped into the library and sat down crankily before the mahogany desk on which were lying the blanks for his income tax statement, blanks which he had rather grumpily got from the Internal Revenue officer only that day after luncheon on his way home from the club.

Mr. Simpkins' income for 1917 had amounted to just about $15,000, and he had been rather snappy on the subject of taxes ever since he had discovered that the more income a man has the greater the percentage of it he pays in taxes. He could think of several men who, like himself, were married and had two children, and yet, although their incomes were nearly half of his, they would pay only a small fraction of the amount he paid. He gloomily drew the blank nearer and began filling in the information that it asked for.

As Mr. Simpkins' income was $15,000 he had to figure out the amounts payable on each of the successive smaller classes of incomes in order to arrive at the total due from himself. He passed over the first class who must pay taxes, that is, single men making over 1,000. His calculation for married men then showed up as follows:

First, they pay 2 per cent. (under the 1916 law) on all income over $4,000, deducting $200 for each of their children under eighteen years. In Mr. Simpkins' case this was $212, which he put down in the "payable" column.

He saw next that, under the 1917 law, married men pay an additional 2 per cent. on all over $2,000—with the same allowance for children. This added $252 to his "payable" column.

He then observed that for every $2,500 jump in his income over $5,000 he had to pay a Surtax, the percentage growing larger with each jump. This was $250 more added to his burden. And on top of all this came an "Excess Profits" tax of 8 per cent. on all "occupation" income over $6,000, making $720 more.

The total, then, he must pay was fourteen hundred and thirty-four dollars.

"Whew!" exclaimed Mr. Simpkins angrily. "There's young Henry Wilkins, who married Jake Johnson's girl, he makes $2,000 and he doesn't pay a cent of taxes. I guess this is his war as well as mine!"

Thinking of young Henry Wilkins, he remembered that Mrs. Wilkins went every afternoon to make bandages for the Red Cross and that Henry, who was a lawyer, was aiding the Local Draft Board with its questionnaires.

"Well," he admitted to himself, "that makes a difference."

He thought next of Judge Willoughby, whose income was about $3,000.

"He only pays $20," commented Mr. Simpkins, not quite so angrily this time; and then a thought struck him and he sat up rigidly in his chair.

Judge Willoughby's son had been drowned on the Tuscania when it was submarined with the loss of two hundred soldiers.

"Judge Willoughby gave his son to America," muttered Mr. Simpkins.

He leaned forward suddenly and put his face in his hands.

For a long time Mr. Simpkins sat very still in that position. There was no sound in the library except the ticking of the tall clock and an occasional trill of laughter from the children skylarking upstairs. The square of light on the carpet gradually withdrew itself through the window, and first twilight and then darkness settled in about the quiet, white haired, sometimes irascible old man.

Mr. Simpkins was thinking things which he would never afterward speak of, he was thinking things that were too sacred ever to be put into words. But some inkling of his thoughts may be found in his rejoinder to Mrs. Simpkins when that placid lady came in and turned on the lights, and asked him whether he was ready for dinner.

"Judge Willoughby's only son was worth as much as fourteen hundred and thirty-four dollars, wasn't he?" Mr. Simpkins demanded of her.

As his wife, who was not unused to his superficial irritations, watched him in mild astonishment, Mr. Simpkins limped out to the hall and took his old felt hat and silver-headed cane from the hat rack. Letting himself out into the foggy evening, he tapped his way down to the corner, and mailed his income tax statement and check with his own hands.

"Now, God be thanked," said Mr. Simpkins as the lid clanked shut over his missive, "I can do this much for my country, anyhow."

AND WHEREAS, The said Holt State Bank, Holt, Minnesota, the Assignee, and Holder of said Mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand and sixty ($1,060.00) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 1st day of December 1917, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lots numbered nineteen (19) and twenty (20) in Block numbered eight (B. 8) of the Town of Holt, according to the official plat thereof on file and recorded in the office of the register of deeds within and for the County of Marshall, State of Minnesota, in Marshall County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Marshall County, at the west front door of the Court House, in the City of Warren in said County and State, on the 11th day of May 1918, at ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of One Thousand and Sixty Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 23rd A. D. 1918.

Notice of Mortgage Foreclosure Sale

Notice is hereby given, that default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage containing a power of sale by reason of which default said power of sale has become operative, and the mortgagee hereinafter named is authorised to declare the whole sum due, and hereby declares the whole sum due, which mortgage was executed by Sally A. Moore, a widow, mortgagor, to Holt State Bank, a Minnesota corporation, mortgagee, dated September 3rd, 1914, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Marshall County, Minnesota, on the 5th day of September, 1914, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., in book 78 of Mortgages on page 60.

That the amount claimed to be due, and is due on said mortgage at this date, is the sum of thirty eight and 2-100 ($38.02) Dollars.

That no action or proceeding has been instituted at law, or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by the said mortgage or any part thereof.

That the premises described in and conveyed by the said mortgage are described as follows: The south half of the northwest quarter and the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section No. twenty nine (29) in Township No. one hundred fifty six (156) North of range No. forty (40), west of 5th P. M., in the County of Marshall and State of Minnesota.

That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the above described premises at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash by the Sheriff of Marshall County, Minnesota, or his deputy, at the West Front door of the Court House in the City of Warren, in said County and State, on the 11th day of May, 1918, at ten o'clock A. M., to satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, and taxes if any, together with the costs of such sale, and twenty five ($25.00) Dollars, attorney's fees as stipulated in the said mortgage in case of foreclosure; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated March 25th 1918.

Go Thou And Do Likewise

Holt Minn. April 16th. 1918

I hereby agree to donate to the Red Cross Society of Marshall County the total gross proceeds from one acre of wheat for the season of 1918.

E. S. Moe

Accepted this 16th day of April 1918
Red Cross Society of Holt by
B. Docken Treasurer.

The above is a copy of an agreement that Mr. Moe has made, to give all that an acre of wheat brings, to the Red Cross. Who will be the next farmer to give an acre of wheat rye, barley, or oats to the Red Cross? Farmer boys could all give potatos, cabbage or other vegetable plots to the Red Cross and all would feel lots better for doing it. Who's next?

Buy Liberty Bonds right now.

All people who live in villages are urged to try to keep a few hens to save the supply of both meat and eggs.

One Hundred and Forty-Two Years of Labor and Struggle

THE American people fought their first battles for liberty and the rights of self-government one hundred and forty-two years ago.

At that time, and for many years thereafter, their realization of their national aspirations and of the goal toward which they were really striving was vague and indistinct. But step by step they struggled onward and upward toward a light which grew clearer as their eyes and minds slowly opened to its significance. Today, as a result of their struggles and their sacrifices, we possess and enjoy our priceless American institutions.

These institutions must be preserved. The structure so laboriously reared in these one hundred and forty-two years will be utterly destroyed if we do not spring to its defense with every atom of our energy and determination. This is not a situation which may be trifled with, or evaded, or put off. It is one which must be met now—today—no matter what sacrifices it may entail, or what the cost may be.

The immediate need is the investment of our money in LIBERTY BONDS!

Holt Wins Game.

Our Basket Ball Team played their maiden game with the Haug team, some members of whom were from Greenbush, last Saturday night, the score being 33 to 10.

It was a fast and furious game from start to finish with Holt in the lead. Our boys are to be congratulated in the way they manoeuvred to block the way for the opposing team to make the basket. The star shot of the evening was made by Prof. Hall after being thrown to the floor by his opponent, and while still lying on his side, threw the ball and made a score.

Our visiting team put up a good game and are a gentlemanly bunch of fellows. Our boys go to Haug to-morrow night to play with them again.

Rudolph Dahl and Miss Elna Freeburg were married last week Wednesday.

Farmers need to organize to fight the sow thistle, just as much as to go into politics. Think about this.

Poultry prices will be good next fall. Everybody knows the price of eggs. Moral: raise more chickens.

Mrs. Suncrist and children of Grand Forks came Wednesday to visit her mother, Mrs. John Hagglund and family.

If you hav'nt any mission on earth or any ambition to better your own condition and that of someone else, whats the use of living?

Think some of the starving women and children in Serbia and Belgium and you'll be less inclined to kick about having to buy wheat substitues.

Miss Tillie Svenson of Grand Forks and her brother Richard of Melby N. D. came Saturday to visit their parents. Mr. Svenson is drafted and expects to enter the U. S. service soon.

Wonder if Marshall county offices are not worth having? So far no one seems to have announced their candidacy and it begins to look as though the offices would go begging. Well, we should worry.

War Saving Stamps were placed upon the market for the benefit of women and children and others who wish to help in winning the war, but are unable to buy Liberty Bonds. These stamps are sometimes called baby bonds and are for sale at banks and postoffices.

Every field and garden patch must be made to yield the largest crop possible, if we win this terrible war, not anything can be wasted. Raise more poultry to save meat and eat more potatos to save wheat for the soldiers, who are fighting to save you and your family from the fate of Belgium and Serbia.

The local draft board has announced that the following young men from this vicinity will probably be called into the military service of the United States by July 1st: Oscar Knutson, Eddie Davidson, Geo. Svenkenson, and Jesse Sorum, also Earl Patten of Golden Valley. There were 703 men in the county in class 1. of whom 523 were physically qualified, 42 were given limited qualifications and 3 cases could be remedied. 109 failed to pass the examinations. There are still 418 men in class 1 who have qualified for service but have not been called.

As spring is just commencing and it wont cost much to keep stock until fall and there is no much prospect of lower prices, it seems to us it it isn't best to sell now.

Our advertising space is for sale for cash, and not for trade to candidates for their appreciation and good will. Appreciation is alright in its place, but it takes cold cash to pay our bills and buy Liberty Bonds.

Well founded stories reach this country, of Germans soldiers cutting the throats of American soldiers they had taken prisoners, also of other outrages worse then savages ever thot of doing. Still some people here in America put up a great holler because they can't have all the wheat flour and sugar they would like for their own use. Some of these are ignorant of the real causes for these restrictions and may not be all together to blame but there are others who should be in the trenches awhile, and if they ever got back here they would quit kicking on the grub.

The Commission of Public Safety has extended the provisions of the Absent Voters Law so that soldiers and sailors can vote at the primary election on June 17. Those wishing to vote should write the county auditor for blank applications at once, as these have to be filled out and returned to him, before he can send the ballots.

A. D. Wilson, the federal food administrator, is sending out notices to report the amount of wheat flour on hand in every home, on or before May 1st, 1918, provided your supply will last more than 30 days at the rate of 6 lbs per person. If any one has more than 30 days supply on hand, or is using more than six pounds a month for each person, and fails to report to the food administrator or return the excess wheat flour to the dealer, they will be considered as hoarders and liable to a fine of $5000.00 and a two year term in prison. If you are hoarding flour report it at once to the county food administrator, David Johnson, Warren, Minn.

Grip Still Hanging On?

Back aches? Stomach sensitive? A little cough? No strength? Tire easily? All after effects of this dread malady. Yes, they are catarrhal. Grip is a catarrhal disease. You can never be well as long as catarrh remains in your system, weakening your whole body with stagnant blood and unhealthy secretions.

You Need PERUNA

It's the one tonic for the after effects of grip, because it is a catarrhal treatment of proved excellence. Take it to clear away all the effects of grip, to tone the digestion, clear up the inflammed membranes, regulate the bowels, and set you on the highway to complete recovery.

Perhaps one or more of your friends have found it valuable. Thousands of people in every state have, and have told us of it. Many thousands more have been helped at critical times by this reliable family medicine.

Prepared also in tablet form for your convenience.

TABLE TALK AT ITS BEST

Excellent Recommendations From Those Who Were Recognized as Highly Proficient in the Art.

"Table talk," says Leigh Hunt, "to be perfect should be sincere without bigotry, differing with discord, sometimes grave, always agreeable, touching on deep points, dwelling most on seasonable ones, and letting everybody speak and be heard." There is a story of a Frenchman at one of Rogers' breakfasts who listened to Macaulay's endless eloquence, and, seeing another talker waiting his chance, fastened his eyes on Macaulay and muttered. "S'il tousse, il est perdu." In regard to the part of anecdotes in table talk, I quote two opinions. "He who has stored his memory with slight anecdotes, private incidents and personal peculiarities," according to Doctor Johnson, "seldom fails to find his audience favorable." "Of all the bores," exclaimed De Quincey, "whom man in his folly hesitates to hang, and heaven in its mysterious wisdom suffers to propagate his species, the most insufferable is the teller of good stories."—Exchange.

NOT FAVORABLE TO NEW SPY BILL

President Declares Himself as Against Measure to Try Cases By Courtmartial.

TAKES DECIDED STAND

Holds That Proposed Law Is Unconstitutional and Would Put Us on Level With Enemy We Are Fighting.

Washington, April 23.—President Wilson has come out in opposition to the Chamberlain bill which would try violations of the sedition law by court-martials, and in a letter to Senator Overman of North Carolina declared his belief that the measure is unconstitution.

If enacted, the President declared, the bill would place the United States on a level with its enemies.

Enactment of the Chamberlain bill has been urged before the Senate military committee as necessary to stamp out German propoganda. Vigorous opposition to its passage has been developing and Senator Borah has sought support of Senate leaders in his efforts to defeat it. The bill has not had the support of the Department of Justice and Charles Warren, assistant attorney general, resigned after, it was said, his advocacy of the measure failed to receive the support of the attorney general.

The President indicated that he would not compromise with opponents advocating amendment of the Overman bill which proposes a broad general grant of power to reorganize government departments.

President's Letter.

The President's letter follows:

"My Dear Senator:—Thank you for your letter of yesterday. I am heartily obliged to you for consulting me about the court martial bill, as perhaps I may call it for short. I am wholly and unalterably opposed to such legislation and very much value the opportunity you give me to say so. I think it is not only unconstitutional but that in character it would put us nearly upon the level of the very people we are fighting and affecting to despise. It would be altogether inconsistent with the spirit and practice of America and in view of the recent legislation, the espionage bill, the sabotage bill and the woman spy bill, I think it it unnecessary and uncalled for.

"I take the liberty, my dear senator, of expressing myself in this emphatic way because my feeling is very deep about the matter as I gather your own is.

Thanks Senator For Work.

"It is admirable the way you have been handling these important bills and I thank you with all my heart for standing by the bill which bears your name without any compromise of any kind.

"It gives me the greatest satisfaction to tell how much I have appreciated what you have been doing.

"Cordially and sincerely yours.

"WOODROW WILSON."

Senator Borah renewed his opposition to the Chamberlain bill in the Senate today, charging that "political Pharisees" supporting it before the Senate military committee had given the impression that America's farming population is disloyal. Farmers, he said, are as loyal as others and are buying unusually large amounts of Liberty bonds.

Paris, April 23—Karl Bleistreu German military writer, declares in the Neueuropa that the German losses on the west front, between August, 1914, and August, 1917, totaled 2,604,961 in killed and prisoners.

On the East front, he said, the total killed and prisoners were 1,484,550.

LOYAL AMERICANS MUST CONTRIBUTE

CRUSHING OF GERMANY CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED ONLY BY OUR FINANCIAL AID.

RESPOND TO LIBERTY LOAN

Appeal to All True Citizens to Help Eliminate the Diseased Tree Lying Across the Path of True Democracy.

(By WINSTON CHURCHILL, Who Recently Returned From the War Zone.)

Germany may be likened to a great tree that has fallen across the path of democracy. The trunk is being chopped through by two axes, the military ax and the propagandist ax. If the trunk is to be severed and the obstruction removed, neither ax must be spared. Americans must contribute willingly to help their allies, to support their army and navy, which will be the deciding military factor in the struggle.

Our American president was the first world statesman to make clear that while a military victory is essential, it is not in itself adequate. The great significance of this war lies not on the battle lines, but behind them. It is a war for human liberty, and that which restricts human liberty, not only in the German empire, but also in America and England and France and Italy and Russia must be abolished. We are beginning to perceive that the future progress of democracy depends on national unselfishness and international co-operation scientifically conceived.

Issued World Proclamation.

In a series of masterly state papers Mr. Wilson has announced to the world that America enters the war unselfishly, and has defined the true issue for all the peoples of the earth—even for those deluded portions of the German population which, because of a false system of education, have hitherto upheld the hands of the worst enemies of liberty, the junkers. Until quite recently, one of the most disquieting symptoms from the point of view of the allies was a discontent with, if not an actual opposition to, the war of large elements among the working classes of the allied peoples. In Russia, where democracy was most cruelly suppressed, where conditions for the peasant and the workingman were hardest, a revolution actually took place—a revolution that has sounded the keynote of our times. The world service which our president is doing is that of enlisting the allegiance of those masses for the war. He is convincing them that it is their war. And these are they upon whom the evils of an outword economic system have pressed hardest, and who hitherto have seen little hope that victory over the Germans meant their own deliverance. Mr. Wilson has issued a world proclamation of emancipation from economic slavery.

Make Their Own Treaties

He not only declares that powerful nations shall cease to exploit little nations, but that powerful individuals shall cease to exploit their fellow men. He declares that henceforth no wars shall be fought for domination, and that to this end secret treaties shall be abolished. The peoples through their representatives shall make their own treaties. And just as national democracy insures to the individual the greatest amount of self determination, of self-realization, world democracy shall insure self-determination to the individual nations of the earth, in order that each may be free to make its own contribution to world democracy.

Fighting for Oppressed

This is the spirit in which America has entered the war. We are fighting for the oppressed everywhere. And we are equally determined that the injustice and inequalities that exist in our own government, the false standards of worth, the materialism, the luxury and waste shall be purged from our midst. We shall seize this opportunity to finish up the cleaning of our own household. To sustain our army and navy in the struggle for such a cause, to uphold our president to aid our allies who have fought so long and so bravely, these are worthy of our sacrifices. I am confident that the response of the American people to the third Liberty loan will be generous.

Bonds Feed the Boys

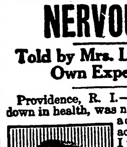
Every farmer knows how his boys like to eat. Mother's fried chicken and apple dumplings and pumpkin pies haven't a chance in the world when the boys sit down at table. Lots of farmers' boys are in France and the farmer doesn't want them to go hungry over there. Liberty Bonds buy food for them.

Don't Bury Your Bonds

When you and your neighbors [illegible] bought your Liberty Bonds, don't take them home and hide them in the cupboard. Take them to your country banker and have him give you certificates of deposit for the bonds. Your banker can take these bonds to a Federal Reserve bank and borrow money for your use in case you suddenly find yourself in need of funds. Hiding a bond is as bad as hoarding money. Keep the bonds and the money in circulation and the country will pull through this crisis all right.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.



Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. ADELINE B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

OUR DEFENSE

In the spring we may be attacked at any moment. Toxic poisons pile up within us after a hard winter, and we feel "run-down," tired out, blue and discouraged. This is the time to put our house in order—cleanse the system and put fresh blood into our arteries. You can obtain an alterative extract from Blood root, Golden Seal, Stone and Queen's root, Cherry bark, rolled into a sugar coated tablet and sold by most druggists, in sixty cent vials, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This blood tonic, in tablet or liquid form, is just what you need for "Spring Fever," for that lack of ambition. It will fill you full of vim, vigor and vitality.

Chilliness, when other people feel warm enough, is a sign of biliousness, or of malarial poisons—so is a furred or coated tongue, loss of appetite, headaches or giddiness and a dull, drowsy, debilitated feeling. It's your liver that's at fault. You want to stimulate it and invigorate it with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. With every trouble of the kind, these tiny little things act like a miracle. You can break up sudden attacks of Colds, Fevers, and Inflammations, with them. They'll give you permanent benefit for Indigestion, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, and Dizziness. They are small and pleasant to take, and the most thoroughly natural remedy. Twenty-five cents at most drug stores.

Since the day of the caveman, who liked his meat raw, civilization has learned a lot about the scientific treatment of the things we eat.

MANITOBA FARMERS GET RURAL CREDITS

Canadian Province Provides Short Time Loans at Cost.

Just across the Minnesota border, the Province of Manitoba is showing the United States what the Nonpartisan League means by "Rural Credit banks operated at cost." This province has provided a wonderful credit system which brings the advantages which the city business man has in getting short time loans to the door of the farmer on the prairie. There is nothing like it in the United States; yet the great dailies which are trying to "save" the farmer from the Nonpartisan League, have never told the farmers anything about this new system in Manitoba which would solve one of their great problems.

The farmers of Manitoba got it because they have an important voice in the government of the province; the farmers of Minnesota haven't even heard of it except through their own press and friendly country newspapers because certain special interests like the way credit is supplied to the farmers at present. The Act was passed in Manitoba on March 9, 1917.

Methods of Operation.

When as many as 15 farmers in a locality decide that they want a bank, the Province appoints a secretary and treasurer to push the local association. After 50 farmers have joined each subscribing $100, and after 10 per cent of their subscriptions have been paid in, the Provincial Government subscribes half as much and the local government another half, making in all $10,000.

With this $10,000 as a basis, the society establishes a credit with some bank and borrows money at 6 per cent. The money is then loaned to farmers for short periods, a year at most, although renewals are provided for, at 7 per cent interest. One such society now in operation has established a credit of $30,000 by this system and there is no reason why, as the system becomes better understood, the $10,000 basis should not give as much as $100,000 of credit.

The farmer who borrows from this association, must, of course, supply security, but he does not have to have so much security as our rural banks commonly demand. If he wishes to buy seed, the farmer gives his note for the amount and a mortgage on the crop; if he wishes to buy cattle, he likewise gives his note for the amount and a mortgage on the cattle and their increase.

Modern Methods Needed.

The Manitoba system does not do away with the need for banks but does for the farmer what banks in reality have made only a pretense of doing; it gives adequate credit. A similar system applied to Minnesota would give the farmers short time loans at 6 per cent, or 7 per cent, at the most instead of the much higher rates they commonly pay. Equally important many farmers who cannot borrow now what they need, would be supplied. That our banking system does not meet current needs is proved by the fact that within a month after the county seed and feed bonding act had been passed in North Dakota, $3,000,000 were borrowed by the counties in that state for this purpose.

The Federal Farm Land Banks will in time, if they ever get beyond the claws of the Money Trust, lower the rates on farm mortgages in Minnesota by 2 to 4 per cent. Since these mortgages amount to not less than $100,000,000 in this state, the saving to the borrowing farmers will be not less than $2,000,000 yearly. The Nonpartisan League advocates additional provision such as that in Manitoba for the short time loans on which a saving as great as that to be made on mortgages (if not greater) can be made. As a peace time measure it would make farming more profitable but more than this, if such a system were in force now in the state, our all important crop acreage could be much greater. At the very time when the farmers should have unusual credit advancements the rural banks are short of money and are tightening up on farm loans.

Wool Trust Prosperous

The net profits of the wool [illegible] for 1917, after huge allowances for depreciation, expected taxes, etc., are $15,664,985. The net profits for average peace years, 1911 to 1913 were $1,754,792. The excess war profits over and above ordinary peace time profits were therefor $13,910,187 in 1917.

This trust makes most of the cloth for the government.

MORE WHEAT ACRES IN LEAGUE COUNTY

Surprising Increase Shown In Spring Planting by Ottertail Farmers.

Ottertail county, Minnesota, has increased its wheat acreage 53 per cent over that of last year, according to a report just made by State Food Administrator A. D. Wilson. This is the highest average increase among the Minnesota counties from which reports have been received, although the average increase throughout the state so far is unusually large.

The facts have a significant bearing in relation to the activities of the National Nonpartisan League. The League is strong in Minnesota and Ottertail county is the best organized Nonpartisan League county in Minnesota.

The League has been conducting for some time an active propaganda in favor of bigger crops to help win the war. Thousands of letters have been sent to its members, President Townley has issued widely quoted appeals, and its speakers have cooperated actively in this movement. That the biggest acreage increase results where there are the most League members is a crushing refutation of those anti-farmer traducers who have been saying that the League is disloyal and has been agitating against an increase of crops in order to hamper the government.

Most of the farmers of Ottertail county are League members. Most of them have been urged directly by the League to plant bigger crops this year. In spite of the fact that the old price of wheat has been retained and much higher returns can be obtained from other crops, they have planted 153 acres of wheat for every 100 acres they sowed last year. The patriotism of the League as a whole and of the farmers of Ottertail county has been strikingly vindicated.

LEAGUE ACCEPTED IN LIBERTY DRIVE

The unreserved tender of service in the Third Liberty Loan drive made by the National Nonpartisan League February 27, in a telegram to Secretary McAdoo, was accepted by wire April 8, and the League has now become an officially recognized body fighting to help win the war.

On February 27 Arthur Lesueur wired the Secretary of the Treasury under instructions from President A. C. Townley of the League not only tendering the unreserved service of the entire organization and the field organizers, but offering to establish a department in St. Paul to handle the work of selling Liberty Bonds.

On April 8 Secretary McAdoo replied as follows:

"Through an error your recent letter tendering unreservedly the service of your organization, the National Nonpartisan League, to aid in the sale of Liberty Bonds, has only just been handed me. I deeply appreciate the assurance of your co-operation in making the Third Liberty Loan a success and I welcome the support and assistance of the farmers of the great Northwest in this patriotic service to the country.

"In this time of grave national peril let no man imagine it is not necessary for him to do his part however small or large that part may be. It is only by the united and fervent effort of every American patriot that the rights and liberties of our own country and of the free peoples of the world can be saved.

"I know that the American farmer will respond to his country's call and will to the fullest extent of his available means lend his money to his government to support our fighting forces in the field to protect their dependent wives and children and mothers who are left behind and to vindicate the ideals for which America has always stood.

"W. G. McADOO."

Corn Profits are Excessive

The food administration is [illegible] to strike soon at the profiteers in corn meal and corn flour. The high prices prevail despite the huge corn supplies available for consumption. Receipts for one week last month were 12,849,000 bushels against 5,234,000 for the corresponding period last year.

Juice of Lemons! How to Make Skin White and Beautiful

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as sallowness, freckles and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is wonderful to smoothen rough, red hands. Adv.

CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY
TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than May 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

not know what. And I, as master of the feast, had to say:

"Texas is out of the map, Mr. Nolan. Have you seen Captain Back's curious account of Sir Thomas Roe's Welcome?"

After that cruise I never saw Nolan again. I wrote to him at least twice a year, for in that voyage we became even confidentially intimate; but he never wrote to me. The other men tell me that in those fifteen years he aged very fast, as well he might indeed, but that he was still the same gentle, uncomplaining, silent sufferer that he ever was, bearing as best he could his self-appointed punishment, rather less social, perhaps, with new men whom he did not know, but more anxious, apparently, than ever to serve and befriend and teach the boys, some of whom fairly seemed to worship him. And now it seems the dear old fellow is dead. He has found a home at last, and a country.

Since writing this, and while considering whether or no I would print it, as a warning to the young of today of what it is to throw away a country, I have received from Danforth, who is on board the Levant, a letter which gives an account of Nolan's last hours. It removes all my doubts about telling this story.

To understand the first words of the letter, the nonprofessional reader should remember that after 1817 the position of every officer who had Nolan in charge was one of the greatest delicacy. The government had failed to renew the order of 1807 regarding him. What was a man to do? Should he let him go? What, then, if he were called to account by the department for violating the order of 1807? Should he keep him? What, then, if Nolan should be liberated some day, and should bring an action for false imprisonment or kidnaping against every man who had had him in charge? I urged and pressed this upon Southard, and I have reason to think that other officers did the same thing. But the secretary always said, as they so often do at Washington, that there were no special orders to give, and that we must act on our own judgment. That means, "If you succeed, you will be sustained; if you fail, you will be disavowed." Well, as Danforth says, all that is over now, though I do not know but I expose myself to a criminal prosecution on the evidence of the very revelation I am making.

Here is the letter:

"Levant, 2° 2" S. @ 131° W.

"Dear Fred—I try to find heart and life to tell you that it is all over with dear old Nolan. I have been with him on this voyage more than I ever was, and I can understand wholly now the way in which you used to speak of the dear old fellow. I could see that he was not strong, but I had no idea that the end was so near. The doctor had been watching him very carefully, and yesterday morning came to me and told me that Nolan was not so well, and had not left his stateroom—a thing I never remember before. He had let the doctor come and see him as he lay there, the first time the doctor had been in the stateroom, and he said he should like to see me. Oh, dear! do you remember the mysteries we boys used to invent about his room, in the old Intrepid days? Well, I went in, and there, to be sure, the poor fellow lay in his berth, smiling pleasantly as he gave me his hand, but looking very frail. I could not help a glance round, which showed me what a little shrine he had made of the box he was lying in. The stars and stripes were triced up above and around a picture of Washington, and he had painted a majestic eagle, with lightnings blazing from his beak and his foot just clasping the whole globe, which his wings overshadowed. The dear old boy saw my glance, and said, with a sad smile, 'Here, you see, I have a country!' And, then, he pointed to the foot of his bed, where I had not seen before a great map of the United States, as he had drawn it from memory, and which he had there to look upon as he lay. Quaint, queer old names were on it, in large letters: 'Indiana Territory,' 'Mississippi Territory,' and 'Louisiana,' as I supposed our fathers learned such things; but the old fellow had patched in Texas, too; he had carried his western boundary all the way to the Pacific, but on that shore he had defined nothing.

"'Oh, Danforth,' he said, 'I know I am dying. I cannot get home. Surely you will tell me something now? Stop! stop! Do not speak till I say what I am sure you know, that there is not in this ship, that there is not in America—God bless her!—a more loyal man than I. There cannot be a man who loves the old flag as I do, or prays for it as I do, or hopes for it as I do. There are thirty-four stars in it now, Danforth. I thank God for that, though I do not know what their names are. There has never been one taken away; I thank God for that. I know by that, that there has never been any successful Burr. Oh, Danforth, Danforth,' he sighed out, 'how like a wretched night's dream a boy's idea of personal fame or of separate sovereignty seems, when one looks back on it after such a life as mine! But tell me—tell me something—tell me everything, Danforth, before I die!'

"Ingham, I swear to you that I felt like a monster that I had not told him everything before. Danger or no danger, delicacy or no delicacy, who was I that I should have been acting the tyrant all this time over this dear, sainted old man, who had years ago expiated, in his whole manhood's life, the madness of a boy's treason? 'Mr. Nolan,' said I 'I will tell you everything you ask about. Only, where shall I begin?'

"Oh, the blessed smile that crept over his white face! and he pressed my hand and said, 'God bless you! Tell

FARMER ALLY OF DEMOCRACY IN GREAT WA..

Tiller of Soil as Essential to Success as the Soldier or the Gun Maker.

IMPORTANCE REALIZED

Agricultural Interests Receive Early Consideration From Public Safety Commission—Help and Inspiration Given—State to Double Production.

Democracy's principal ally in this great war for the dethronement of Prussianism is the farmer. Though guns may thunder and cities crumble before the onslaughts of the millions now engaged in the great cause, peace, everlasting peace can come only through the lowly tiller of the soil.

To the thoughtless this may not appeal, but how inseparably the great cause and the farmer are linked is indicated in the unusual deference being shown him by those directing the allied interests. No battle is complete without the farmer. God speed him, is the constant supplication.

Among the first of the state war units to recognize the importance of the farmer in his relation to the great conflict was the Minnesota State Safety commission. Early was the consideration given the agricultural interests of the state by this body and in its twelve months of existence little has been overlooked in the way of help and patriotic inspiration. Returns in consequence have been manyfold and further help is contemplated.

This year should see Minnesota's food production doubled and as the main source of that production is the farmers of the state the task the Minnesota safety commission has before it can be appreciated. And that the Commission will succeed there is little doubt as it has the confidence of the farmers and they will respond to a man.

One of the most active of the Minnesota Safety body in an agricultural way is C. H. March, vice president of the commission and a farmer himself. As the head of the agricultural division of the state organization both his time, and his money have been freely given in its furtherance. Recently Mr. March returned from Washington where he went at the instance of Gov. Burnquist and the members of the Commission and his visit was not only of value to the agricultural interests of Minnesota, but to the entire Northwest. If only the promise of an increased fixed price for the 1918 wheat crop, which was one of the objects of the visit, is realized, this intervention alone will be worth many millions of dollars to the farmers of the state.

At the command of Gov. Burnquist and the Minnesota Safety commission Mr. March placed before President Wilson and those interested in food production a number of things necessary to the success of the farmers and the additional production which is so urgently desired and was successful to the extent that many reforms will undoubtedly follow. Not the least of the promises obtained was aid in behalf of a substantial increase in the government fixed price for wheat and a partial return to state grain grades which have been superseded by federal standards. Acting on behalf of the commission Mr. March pointed out to President Wilson and his war aides the great work Minnesota farmers are doing and urged as generous a government compensation as other lines of endeavor are now receiving. Such was only justice.

One of the early agricultural activities of the commission was the supplying of farm help made necessary by the draft. With the usual sources of supply cut off by the national call to arms the Commission at once took over the free employment machinery of the state and much financial loss was averted as a result. This year even greater plans are in preparation for the harvest call.

Another of the early problems was transportation and how it was handled by the Commission is best told in the thousands of freight cars that have been forwarded to every section of the state at the urgent call of farmers and communities generally. Any dearth in this respect has been kept down to the minimum.

One of the chief features of the success of the Commission in an agricultural way has been the confidence its activities has inspired. Education and patriotic appeal, instead of official commands have been the main feature of its propaganda and as a result general cooperation is greater than ever in the history of the state. Today the commission has more intimate relations and is in closer touch with the farmers of Minnesota than any other known agency.

With the opening of the new crop year efforts of the Minnesota Safety commission will be redoubled in making it a record breaker and there is [illegible] reason to believe that the fond[illegible] of those in charge will be [illegible]. Anticipating such plans [illegible] will carry the commission well [illegible] the harvest season are in the making and these cover every phase of farm work and state help.

ALFALFA GREATEST AND CHEAPEST FEED

Contains More Protein Than Any Other Plant—Yields Most to Acre

FEED VALUES COMPARED

Furnishes Principal Ingredient of Milk, Beef, Pork—How It Should be Fed

(Prepared Especially for this Newspaper by the Editors of the NATIONAL ALFALFA JOURNAL.)

READ THE FIGURES!
Why Alfalfa Excels as a Feed, Yet Is Cheap.

An acre will yield 1½ tons of timothy hay. Of this 46 per cent is digestible nutrient. That is 1,380 pounds. An acre will yield 2 tons of clover hay. Of this, 46 per cent is digestible nutrient. That is 1,840 pounds. An acre will produce 60 bushels of shelled corn. Of this 80 per cent is digestible nutrient. That is 2,688 pounds. An acre will produce 12 tons of corn ensilage. Of this 16 per cent is digestible nutrient. That is 3,840 pounds.

But Alfalfa—Well, Read On:

While an acre will, on three cuttings, easily produce 4 tons of alfalfa. Of this 53 per cent is digestible nutrient. That is 4,240 pounds—or 10 per cent more than the best of the others.

But alfalfa has over three times as much protein—muscle building, beef building, pork building, milk making material—as ensilage and over 2½ times as much as corn. An acre of it has as much protein as a $40 ton of bran. And on top of it all is this fact; alfalfa can be produced as cheaply as an acre of corn.

What are the outstanding things about alfalfa, the characteristics that make it so much sought after by farmers?

1. There is its feed value, which may be summed up in the five word expression: "it is rich in proteins."

2. There is its great productivity. Alfalfa is the only plant grown outside of the tropical or semi-tropical that produces three big crops a year.

When a farmer can have a protein feed and great abundance in one combination he has pretty nearly truck a feed "bonanza." And yet that is just what he has in alfalfa. Last winter when dairymen and beef producers were paying $40 a ton for bran and as high as $60 a ton for oilmeal—both protein feeds—many of them chopped off short on this drain on their pocketbooks and fed more alfalfa hay. They found results, in gallons of milk and in pounds of beef produced, came just as rapidly.

Protein is the principal ingredient of muscle, tissues, blood, nerves, parts of bones and of the internal organs. It is the "lean" of meat, and hence its importance in the makeup of meat animals—beef and pork—is readily understood. Protein is the thing that makes milk and butter and cream so nourishing. Without protein milk would lack the greater part of that which makes it almost a "perfect food" in itself.

How It Gets the Protein.

The protein itself, when subjected to a little examination, proves to be largely made up of nitrogen. Nitrogen is part of the air, and millions of cubic feet of it exist in the free state on every farm. But human beings and dairy cows and steers and pigs would die for the want of the protein—the nitrogen—that they all must have, if they tried to assimilate that nitrogen from the air.

Here is where what are known as the leguminous plants—sometimes called the clovers—come in. These bacteria we read about in a previous article inhabit the roots of all the leguminous plants. And they have the knack of grabbing off this nitrogen from the air and of passing it on up through the roots and stems of the plants. There, with the aid of sunshine and water, the plant builds the nitrogen into leaves and more stems, and puts it together in such a way as to appeal to the taste and to agree with the digestive organs of the dairy cow, the beef steer and the thrifty pig. It is no longer nitrogen, it is now protein, and as such is appropriated for the particular protein wants of the respective animal which eats it. Of all the plants which have this quality of producing protein from the free nitrogen of the air, alfalfa is at once the heaviest producer in bulk, it possesses the largest percentage of protein content. That is the reason alfalfa is known as the Queen of all plants.

Alfalfa Pasture For Pigs.

The pig is given his alfalfa feed in the simplest way, the primitive way of the pasture. Sometimes even in the spring, quite frequently during the summer and very generally in the fall one will see herds of pigs, in sections where alfalfa is raised, grazing on the alfalfa. Pigs gain rapidly on alfalfa pasture. The reason they are not turned on it earlier generally is that the farmer cuts one or two crops before allowing the pigs to run on it. The pigs do not hurt the plants, provided they are taken off in time for the alfalfa to acquire a little growth for winter protection.

Cattle and horses must be let loose on alfalfa pasture only with the utmost caution. Alfalfa is liable to bloat these animals, especially when it is wet. It is sometimes all right to turn stock onto an alfalfa field for brief periods. But the best way to feed it is as hay.

Communication.

Our contributions do not speak well for the patriotism of Marshall County because patriotism must be measured by deeds rather than by words. Montana and N. Dak. having a larger percentage of their young men in far off France fighting for the cause of "Democratic Liberty", is not sufficient reason for our own County being in the slacker class for Red Cross production, for the time is soon coming when Marshall County will be equally represented on the battle fields of Europe. Therefore it behooves us to awaken to the fact that our own sons and brothers will soon be sending appeals from over the sea for those articles of necessity and comfort which the American Red Cross is now urging us to produce.

I therefore appeal to you, especially to the well-to-do citizens of Marshall County who have both time and money that could be given freely with out the least hardship on your part, to gather in organized effort and freely contribute your money and your time to aid in this noble and necessary work. Everyone who has a dime to spare should give and everyone who has an extra hour that can possibly be taken from their ordinary duties should give that hour freely in producing some article that our sons and brothers will need over there.

Many Townships have no Red Cross organization and many are there in the town and villages who are not yet doing their part. I appeal to you as patriotic citizens to organize and help in this noble Red Cross work.

The Red Cross appeals to you to enlist and do your honest share to alleviate the suffering in war-stricken Europe and to stand behind our boys who have gone or are going over there in defense of Liberty and Justice.

Marshall County should never take second place in this humane and patriotic work. We need you all.

Let there be no slackers in Marshall County.

The beautiful bible story of Ruth was certainly brot out very charmingly and effectively by each part rendered. The last chorus at the conclusion of the Cantata was stirring and inspiring which made a fitting climax to the evenings entertainment. The people of Middle River are always welcome at Holt.

"Men of action—younger men"—are needed for America to win the war. This was the belief expressed by Secretary of War Baker to members of the house military committee. He added that his experiences and observations while abroad convinced him that the success of the war depends on young rather than old men. A most promising picture of the vast preparations the United States is making in France for the fighting men sums up the secretary's talk before the committee.

Indictments were returned at Kansas City, Mo., by the grand jury against Carl Gleoser and Jacob Frohwerk, former owner and editor respectively of the Missouri Staats Zeitung, a German-language newspaper. The indictments cover sections of the espionage act.

CARRY POTATOES

"Carry on" is the cry that is rallying our British allies.

Let's make it our war cry. We must carry on at home. And one of the first obligations is to save our big potato surplus from waste.

Get your market basket and carry home some potatoes today. Eat them every meal. Wheat must have the support of potatoes to hold its line until the next harvest. Not only that, but millions of bushels of potatoes should be eaten within the next few weeks or they will be wasted.

Carry home some potatoes.

Carry on!

Three fires, breaking out simultaneously in the Lake Erie & Western shops at Lima, O., practically wiped out the $500,000 plant. Three firemen, trapped in the flames, are missing. Federal agents report one line of hose playing on the shops was cut by an unidentified person.

WHOLE FLANDERS LINE ATTACKED

Liys, La Basse, Arras, Lens and Amiens Sectors are Hammered By Foe.

ASSAULT IS GENERAL

Hills About Mount Kemmel Bombarded in Attempt to Make Gains Toward Ypres, Apparent German Objective.

With the British Army in France, April 30.—(By the Associated Press)—The fourth German army heavily attacked the Allied front in Flanders. Prisoners captured have admitted that the German intention is to attempt to capture Ypres. Severe fighing is reported in both the French and British areas. The attack extends over a front of about 15 miles.

British troops around Ypres several times sent up "S. O. S." signals for artillery support. The tremendous German bombardments point to the certainty of a German attempt to advance.

The Belgians on the Ypres front also are reported to have been attacked.

General Assault Spurred.

The Germans have begun what sems to be a general assault on the British hill positions on the Kemmel front southwest of Ypres, opening a new phase of the great drive in Flanders. Apparently the crucial test of the Allied holding power in this area is at hand.

The preliminary bombardment, took in a 10 mile front from Meteren, west of Bailleul, to Vormezeele, two miles south of Ypres. Infantry attacks in this area developed shortly afterwards and the battle appears to have been on in earnest when Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig's report was issued in London.

Voormezeele is Pressed.

The enemy has been striking with great fury at Vormezeele the last two or three days, evidently hoping to drive in behind Ypres and break British from the further positions of the Ypres salient which they have been evacuating.

General von Arnim has been successfully held off from this southern bulwark of the salient, but meanwhile he has been preparing to take advantage of the success he won last week in the capture of Mount Kemmel, which he was unable to develop immediately because of the stiff Allied resistance.

French Hold Locre.

Further attacks in the Voormezeele sector may accompany the delivery of this last blow, but the greatest force of this thrust seems likely to manifest itself in the vicinity of Locre, where Scharpenberg Mont Rouge, Mont Noir and other eminences are the enemy objectives.

The French, who are holding the line at Locre, fortified themselves by clinging to this village although more than once driven out by savage thrusts.

Amiens Front Shelled.

The enemy drove several times at the French positions in Hangard wood, east of Amiens, and heavily bombarded this sector north to Villers-Bretonneux. The infantry attacks were broken up by the French fire and the Allied artillery vigorously answered the German guns in this region and between Lassigney and Noyon, on the lower side of the Montdidier salient.

KAISER THREATENS RUSS

Demands Exchange of Well Prisoners for Sick Slavs.

Washington, April 30.—Germany has demanded of Russia an exchange of prisoners and has threatened to take Petrograd unless the Russian government agrees to the terms advanced, the state department here has learned.

The German government, the state department's dispatches said, is sending to Russia a commission of 115 members to present the Germans' demands.

The German demand as outlined calls for the immediate release of all German prisoners who are in good health; that those who are ill shall remain in Russia, under the care of neutral physicians and that the Germans on their side will release only those Russian prisoners who are ill or are incapacitated.

Bloodhounds Trail Slayer.

Rochester, Minn., April 30.—Bloodhounds, shipped here from Waterloo, Iowa, have taken up the trail of Thomas Armstrong, former city assessor, who escaped Thursday night after murdering his wife and shooting his 14 year old stepson, on a farm six miles south. Armstrong's father, who arrived a week ago from Philadelphia with hopes of settling the family troubles, says his son had not removed his clothes for more than a week. He believes the slayer is insane.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Winona.—The quadrennial state convention of the Equitable Fraternal union was held here today with nearly 100 delegates attending.

Henderson.—Five fishermen were arrested here for illegal fishing in the Minnesota river. One was sentenced to 30 days; the rest paid $25 fines.

Melrose.—Governor J. A. A. Burnquist and Bishop Joseph Busch will be the speakers at a loyalty meeting to be held here Sunday, May 5.

Minneapolis.—A conference of macaroni manufacturers of the United States will take place in Minneapolis July 8, 9 and 10, according to J. T. Williams, president of the National Macaroni Manufacturers' association.

Cloquet.—With State Superintendent C. G. Schulz delivering the dedicatory address, the new high school erected here at a cost of about $100,000, was dedicated. Frank Nelson, president of the Minnesota college, also spoke.

Sauk Rapids.—The county has voted bonds for $25,000 for road work this year. Three bridges will be built, one at the outlet of Little Rock in place of the old Gordon bridge, and the others at Maywood and Granite Ledge.

Hibbing.—Captain David Owen Williams, commander of Battery B, 125th Field Artillery, Camp Cody, N. M., died in the army and navy hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., of Bright's disease. Every flag in Hibbing is at halfmast.

Waseca.—Lieutenant Bernald J. Gallagher, reported as missing in action March 29 in the war department's casualty list of April 20, is "safe and well," according to a cablegram just received from him by his father, B. M. Gallagher of this city.

Moorhead.—Moorhead may become affiliated with the proposed Red Cross baseball league organized in this section. At a meeting of Moorhead fans the question was quite thoroughly discussed, and the local field is being canvassed to determine the financial support available.

Stillwater.—Failing in his attempt to enlist in the army or navy on account of his youth and afraid to return home after running away, Hollister Demo, 16 years old, Newport, Minn., who disappeared on April 11, was found in a shoe factory at Red Wing and brought home.

Moorhead.—The Moorhead elementary department of the Minnesota Normal school, located here, has established an employment bureau. One of the leading reasons for the bureau is to furnish work for school children, after school hours. The bureau was successfully inaugurated.

Minneapolis.—Homer C. Clark, vice chairman of the ninth district Liberty Loan committee estimates 800,000 as the minimum number of subscribers in the district to the third loan, compared with 621,770 in the second campaign. All figures are subject to later revision, Mr. Clark said.

St. Peter.—Oscar Nelson told the draft board that he should be exempted because of the care which his wife and baby needed. Mrs. Nelson said they needed care all right, but that Oscar had not supported them for 16 months. She recommended that they put her husband in the "shock troops."

St. Cloud.—All time freights which have been running over the Willmar division from and to St. Paul and Minneapolis have been routed over the Fergus Falls division for an indefinite period beginning Tuesday. This will throw a great deal more traffic through St. Cloud. The change is temporary and is necessitated by construction work on the Willmar line.

Minneapolis.—Gross margins for retail coal dealers of Minnesota outside the three large cities have been fixed by an order of Judge J. F. McGee, federal fuel administrator for Minnesota, made immediately effective. The margins allowed are 25 to 40 cents a ton higher than those permitted to city dealers. The explanation is that small town dealers have a smaller volume of business and hence a greater percentage of "overhead" costs.

St. Paul.—The State Public Safety commission has refused to sanction the leases of state timber purchases for the storage of timber cut, but not removed before June 1, as the law requires. The statute specifically provides that all timber remaining on state lands on expiration of the cutting contracts shall revert to the ownership of the state, and pleas that railroad ties and other products affected are necessary to the prosecution of the war were deemed insufficient to warrant treatment of the plan as a military necessity.

Stillwater.—John Burns a Northern Pacific switchman, arrested on the charge of stealing five sweaters shipped by the Washington county Red Cross society to the Red Cross supply bureau at Minneapolis, from an express package in the care of the Northern Express company, was bound over to the grand jury when he appeared in municipal court here.

Minneapolis.—John Finley Wilcox, Minneapolis resident since 1867, died here after a long illness. Mr. Wilcox was a sash and door manufacturer and was well known in club circles. He was 71 years old.

Winona.—Mrs. Agnes Rex, policewoman, has resigned to take similar work at Grand Forks, N. D.

Rochester.—Bishop James H. McCoy of the Methodist Episcopal church South had an operation performed here.

East Grand Forks.—Three squads of the local home guard went to Tabor to act as military escort for the remains of John Palya, who served on the Mexican border.

Hastings.—Mrs. M. Gossing, a pioneer of Dakota county, died at her home here at the age of 78 years. She is survived by her husband and several sons and daughters.

New Richland.—A community service flag bearing 50 stars, sold for $3,180 at a Red Cross auction sale here. The total proceeds of the sale were nearly $6,000. Henry Deutsch of Minneapolis made a stirring speech.

Fairmont.—Livestock men of this county have started a movement for better stock by organizing the Martin County Livestock association. County Treasurer John Haeckel was elected president.

Red Wing.—Dr. E. J. Colberg, of the Swedish Lutheran church, was chosen at a meeting of the senior class of the high school to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of 1918, in June. He addressed the class of 1917.

Hastings.—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stuart of Hastings celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary here. They were married in 1860 and came to Minnesota seven years later and have resided here since. Mr. Stuart was for many years an architect and contractor.

Minneapolis. — The Minnesota Transfer Railway company handled during March a total of 1,361 cars loaded with immigrant movables of which Minnesota received 588; North Dakota, 229; Canada, 210, and Montana, 116. Minnesota made a substantial gain during the month.

St. Paul.—The proposal to unify telephone service and eliminate dual service in Minnesota is being generally indorsed by commercial clubs and other civic organizations and by independent telephone companies throughout the state, Chairman Ira B. Mills of the state railroad and warehouse commission, said.

Crookston.—Authorities are investigating the conditions under which a bomb filled with high explosives was placed in the Ada Milling company's building. The bomb was hidden in a suitcase found by workmen. It is believed a defective fuse saved the building from destruction. Manager Bodding said he thought the bomb had been set by some pro-German sympathizer.

Winona.—Investigation of a series of boxcar robberies in the Burlington railroad yards here recently resulted in the arrest of Joseph Cizewski, Peter Weaver and Joe Mlynozak of this city, charged with stealing and selling large quantities of food supplies consigned to the war department by a local packing house for use in the United States army in France, according to Chief of Police Huck.

St. Cloud.—Dr. E. F. Green of the state reformatory at St. Cloud, died at Walker of pulmonary tuberculosis. He was a recognized authority in this state on the Binet-Simon system. He applied it to every English-speaking inmate of reformatory and the plan worked out successfully because the man was not only judged by the crime he committed, but by conditions which prompted his act.

St. Cloud.—Walter Smith, former state treasurer, who was transferred some months ago from the prison at Stillwater to the state sanatorium for consumptives at Walker because he had developed tuberculosis, is recovering and walks eighteen miles a day, according to members of the state board of visitors, who returned from a visit to the sanitorium. Smith is very anxious for a parole that he may have another chance to make good, members said.

Jackson.—County Attorney Herbert Nicholas will submit to the State Safety commission the question of Iowa bootleggers obtaining liquor at Comfrey and hauling it acrss the line. Six men have been arrested, two in Jackson and four near the state line. It is said they had two automobiles loaded with liquor. Four of the prisoners, all of whom were from Spencer, Iowa, were turned over to federal authorities at Mankato. They are charged with attempting to take liquor into a dry state.

Minneapolis.—Consumers in Minnesota are buying more potatoes as a result of the federal food administration's "potatriot" campaign, officials said, but the marketing of potatoes has fallen off, due, it is supposed, to the fact that farmers are busy with their spring planting. "Potatoes must go onto the market now," said J. A. Vye, of the food administration, "and must get to the tables of Minnesota homes if they are not to be wasted, and if we are to save the wheat for which the potatoes will be substituted."

Hastings.—The common council has raised the saloon license from $500 to $1,000. Hastings went dry two years ago. Recently it was voted wet. Under the old ordinance, when there were fifteen saloons, the $500 license was effective. The new restrictions allow only eight drinking places.

Milaca.—The dates for the chautauqua season in Milaca for 1918 have been definitely fixed for June 15 to June 19 inclusive. Frank B. Willis, former governor of Ohio, will be one of the headliners on this summer's chautauqua program.

THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, One of Thousands of Such Cases.

Black River Falls, Wis.—"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework. I had the best doctors in Eau Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—Mrs. A. W. BINZER, Black River Falls, Wis.

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Binzer that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulceration, displacements, backache, nervousness, irregularities or "the blues" should not rest until she has given it a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. New Kind of Stamps.

Never had there been such a commotion in the little flat. And the most excited person present was the sister of a young mother who had just presented her husband with twins.

Auntie was wildly delighted at being auntie in a double sense, and off she rushed to the post office for stamps to spread the great tidings.

"Stamps!" she jerked as she reached the counter and flung down the money.

"How many, miss?" politely inquired the clerk.

"Two!" she cried joyously.

"What kind?"

"A boy and a girl," she returned rapturously as she bade him hurry.

Identified.

"Joe" Jefferson once presented a check at a Detroit bank, only to be told by the cashier that he'd have to be identified.

With a twinkle in his eye the great actor quoted from the play with which his name will always be associated:

"If my leedle dog Schneider was only here, he'd know me."

"Enough!" exclaimed the cashier as he immediately cashed the check.

EQUITY SOCIETY FOR POLITICAL ACTION

Iowa Branch Passes Resolution In Line With Policy of Nonpartisan League.

American farmers were urged to enter politics in the interest of constructive legislation in a resolution adopted by the Iowa branch of the American Society of Equity at its recent annual convention at Waterloo, Iowa.

The part of the resolution that is [illegible] farmers follows:

"Whereas, grave political and economic problems confront our government at the present time, and,

"Whereas, such problems require the attention of all citizens; therefore,

"Be It Resolved: That all farmers are urged to take a most active interest in politics, and do their best to promote and support all constructive and just legislation."

Upholds League's Stand.

The above resolution is significant in view of the fact that it is in conformity with the stand of the National Nonpartisan League, which has raised the banner of political action for the farmers and whose recent invasion of Iowa has become the issue of the hour in that state and has aroused the bitter opposition of the big interests.

It is believed that such a declaration coming from such a well established and substantial farmers' organization will be of incalculable benefit to the League in Iowa.

In striking contrast to the attitude of the armers on the question of politics is that of Big Business in Iowa.

Paper Gives Advice.

The Waterloo Times-Tribune hastens to advise that the Society of Equity, "can do wonders if it works with political parties we have and ignores class. The mistake of the Nonpartisan League, run by socialists is that it is organized to promote the good of a class, working against all people not belonging to that class. Incidentally, if the purposes of the organization are what we think they are now the leaders have not class in mind. If they are loyal to government as they seem to be, if they are for business instead of politics—they will do wonders toward keeping the disloyal Nonpartisan League out of Iowa."

This cunning attempt to stir up division and strife between different branches of the farmers' movement, will undoubtedly have little effect, as the farmers are rapidly learning that the Nonpartisan League is nothing more than an organization to look after the farmers' interests in legislation and that it is necessary because Big Business insists in monopolizing legislation for its own benefit. The League stands as much for the consumer as it does for the producer and it is opposed only to unnecessary middlemen, business profiteering and nonproductive occupations.

Successful State Industry.

The Oklahoma farmers are the beneficiaries of a very successful state owned industry. It was recently reported that the state twine factory at the McAlester penitentiary will have 2,000,000 pounds of binder twine ready for the farmers by the time the harvest season opens. It will be sold at 22 cents a pound to the farmers, which is 1 to 1¼ cents a pound less than the price fixed by the government. The state, at that, will make from $75,000 to $100,000 off the twine.

MONTANA INTERESTS SHOWS DISLOYALTY

Bar Congresswoman Who Has Stood By Labor From Speaking For Liberty Loan.

Deer Lodge, Mont., April 18.—Miss Jeanette Rankin of Missoula, Montana's representative in Congress, was refused permission to speak in Deer Lodge tonight, where she had been scheduled to give a Liberty Loan speech.

A meeting of citizens, led by State Senator Williams and R. D. Larabie, voted not to permit Miss Rankin to give her speech because of her alleged association in Butte with W. F. Dunn and Tom Campbell, who were leaders in the strikes conducted there last summer by the Electricians and the Metal Mine Workers' unions.

Miss Rankin, it is said, protested when informed of the action and insisted that she be given a chance to make her side of the case known. Her request was refused, however, and she was told not to come.

Act Shows Disloyalty.

The above dispatch discloses the Big Interests with the mask off. When an issue of disloyalty could not be manufactured they came out in the open.

They prevented a Liberty Loan meeting and denied a member of the United States Congress the right of free speech because this member had befriended labor when it struck against these interests. When they were unable to openly charge the offender with disloyalty, they could not refrain from exposing their own venom and spite even though it disclosed their own disloyalty.

Shows Up League Attack.

The entire insincerity of the disloyalty charges against the Nonpartisan League by these selfsame interests is becoming more apparent every day. Whenever the curtain is lifted, as it was in Deer Lodge, we are treated to the sight of an element essentially disloyal itself, covering itself with a camouflage of sham and subterfuge in order to maintain its power over the people.

Enormous profiteering has at last brought down the heavy hand of the government upon the profiteers and as a result the government may make a radical reduction in many common necessities.

This is the gist of two late reports from Washington.

Flour, shoes and clothing are among the standard staples scheduled for reductions.

The federal trade commission is aiming to meet the contention of the farmers that the price of flour should be reduced to correspond to the reduced price fixed on wheat.

UNITED STATES WILL RUSH MEN

"Last Reserves" to Crush Prussian Military Machine Are to Be Quickly Transported.

TONNAGE IS AVAILABLE

Considerations of Comemrce and Trade Will Be Laid Aside for Transporting Troops and Munitions to the Battle Front.

Washington, April 30.—The United States is to furnish the "last reserves" that will give the final decision against the Prussian military machine. This important announcement regarding the war was made here.

"Men, men, more men!" on the western front in the present great crisis of the war is the cry from all quarters that has been ringing in the ears of the American people.

"Ships, ships, more ships!" for the transportation and maintenance of American troops abroad is the echo of that appeal that has stirred the United States Shipping board from day to day.

Two Million Men to France.

The decision has now been reached. The supreme effort is to be made to get troops abroad. Considerations of commerce and trade have been indefinitely put aside. The business of winning the war is the only buisness that will be recognized from this time on.

Two million men and more are going to France as soon as they can be loaded on transports and shipped away.

It is not a matter for a shipbuilding program or of negotiations for tonnage. The necessary tonnage is now under the control of the United States, and to the last ton it will be devoted to the transportation of troops and war supplies unil the "last reserves" of American troops have been placed in fighting position on French soil.

Congress will be asked to authorize an army of 3,000,000 men, available for service abroad and a reserve army at home, both for home protection and to make up the wastage at the front.

Ready to Vote to Five Million.

Congress is ready to vote an army of five million men. It is waiting the estimates of the war department. The war department has been waiting upon the shipping board. The board promised at an important conference early in the week, to supply all the shipping that would be required to take every available man to the front in France.

Quartermaster General George W. Goethals, in supreme command of the transport of troops and supplies, later furnished the Shipping Board with an estimate based upon the number of men the United States was prepared to send to the front. It caused the officials of the board to pause, but now the members have made their answer. They will meet the shipping requirements of the estimate of the number of troops supplied by Gen. Goethals. It is the last words. It is reported that the estimate is in excess of 2,000,000 men; in fact, that it is close to 2,500,000 men.

New Plan is Advanced.

In its announcement the Shipping Board puts forward an entirely new plan. It is estimated that two and one-half deadweight tons of shipping will supply a soldier's needs in France for a year. Departmental estimates have been as high as six or eight tons of shipping for each soldier.

The Shipping Board has tonnage enough afloat under its absolute direction and control to transport the necessary number of troops to France to make up a force of 2,000,000 American fighters without waiting upon new shipping, and to sustain them after they are landed in France.

OUR BOYS "OVER THERE" ENJOY TOASTED CIGARETTES.

Through the patriotism of the citizens of this country thousands of smoke kits are being distributed to American soldiers in France. Authorities agree that men in the trenches need cigarettes almost as much as food and munitions.

Doctors, nurses, and commanding officers all join in the demand which has awakened in this country a great movement to keep our boys supplied with smokes.

Millions of the famous LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes are "going over" all the time. There's something about the idea of the toasted cigarette that appeals to the men who spend their time in cold, wet trenches and billets.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number Six

Billie and Jimmie Will Take Military Training.

"I am mighty sorry, Uncle Dan, that this is your last night with us. Can't you stay longer? We boys are having a peach of a time," said Billie.

"Well, if you get more out of it in the way of pleasure than I," said Uncle Dan, "you are going some."

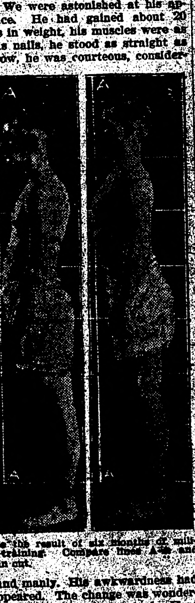
"Billie, I have been talking seriously with your father and mother about sending you to a military academy and they asked me to talk with you about it."

"Whoopee!" Billie screamed, like a wild Indian.

"Now, hold your horses," said Uncle Dan, "and listen to me. You know I sent my boy, Howard, to one of these schools for a year when he was about your age. He was narrow chested, stoop shouldered, rather loose jointed; he had the big head and needed discipline and physical development. He was growing fast and I wanted him to be strong physically."

"Say, Uncle Dan," said Billie, "I believe your description of Howard fits me pretty well, eh?"

"Well," said Uncle Dan, "to be frank I think it does; you need the same thing. Howard did not like it at first; I am told for a few weeks he had 'rough sledding,' but after he found that the only way was to obey orders, he caught the spirit of the institution and liked it. We did not see him for about six months, then he came home for a few days. We were astonished at his appearance. He had gained about 20 pounds in weight, his muscles were as hard as nails, he stood as straight as an arrow, he was courteous, considerate and manly. His awkwardness had disappeared. The change was wonderful and it was all to the good. Here is a photograph showing 'before and after taking,' and I am sure no patent medicine advertisement could beat it.



Note the result of six months of military training. Compare lines A-A and B-B in cut.

"Well, mother and I were delighted. That was ten years ago, and Howard says the year he spent at the military academy was the best year of his life.

"Now," said Uncle Dan, with great earnestness, "when such training does so much good, makes better citizens and at the same time fits a man to defend his country, why should not Uncle Sam furnish this training at the government's expense? The government has the right to call anyone to serve in case of war, and without training, a man is worth nothing as a soldier. Uncle Sam has splendid new training camps that will soon be available for the purpose, therefore, here is double reason why the Chamberlain bill for compulsory military training should be passed at once, so that every boy physically fit may have this training and not leave it for his parents to pay for. On account of the expense, not one boy in 50 can take the training now. I am glad that you can do so. These big crops and big prices, I find, make the farmers rather 'cocky,' and that the best is demanded by them."

Billie was up with the lark the next morning, more excited and enthusiastic than ever. He had a plan. He knew Jimmie owned a colt worth $100; that he would make almost another $100 on his potatoes if they turned out well, and that he had from his previous savings, bought a $100 Liberty bond. Billie's plan was to have Jimmie cash in and go with him. He was disappointed to find that Jimmie would still lack about $300 of having enough to see him through. His lip quivering, he said: "I'm mighty sorry to leave Jimmie."

Uncle Dan was silent a moment or two, then he asked Billie to go down to the orchard and get him some apples to eat on the train. While he was gone, it was arranged that Uncle Dan and Mr. and Mrs. Graham would advance the money necessary so that Jimmie could go. When Billie returned he was told about it. He ran to the 'phone and called Jimmie, saying: "Come on over, run just as fast as you can, I've got the greatest news you ever heard of."

War Savings Stamps

THE difference between a five dollar bill and a War Savings Stamp is that while they are both promises to pay, backed by all of the resources of the richest government in the world, a five dollar bill never gets any bigger than $5.00 and War Savings Stamps are worth a penny more each month for 5 years. War Savings Stamps are United States $5.00 bills which the Government is offering in February for $4.13 and in March for $4.14 and so on adding a penny each month until January 1st, 1923, when they will reach $5.00.

Thrift Stamps

Thrift Stamps cost 25 cents each. The Government furnishes Thrift Cards with spaces on them for 16 Thrift Stamps. Thrift Stamps bear no interest but are as good as cash. When the 16 spaces are filled, making $4.00 worth of Thrift Stamps, the owner takes the card to any bank or post office, pays the additional 13 cents or whatever it may be that month, and receives a War Savings Certificate and one War Savings Stamp.

LARGE STORES OF WAR SPUDS SPOIL

Lack of Public Control and Efficiency Hurts Farmer and War Work.

That encouraging the farmers to raise big crops to win the war and then abandoning them to the mercy of the profiteers and public inefficiency works a great injustice and reacts in the end on the success of the war, is convincingly illustrated in the present potato situation.

Under the influence of a strong campaign for a bumper potato crop following the potato famine of 1916-1917, the farmers for patriotic motives and at a great sacrifice planted a big crop last year. They paid as high as $4.50 a bushel for seed and planted as high as 12 bushels to the acre.

Recent reports brought in by farmers from various parts of Minnesota state that because of the early frost last fall buyers would not take the potatoes. They were stored by the farmers with the hope that a market could be found for them this Spring. Thousands of bushels thus stored are now spoiling on the hands of the farmers for want of a market while on the other hand stiff prices are being paid for potatoes on the cities.

A farmer from Wisconsin stated recently that in Burnett county, just over the Minnesota line, the only market for potatoes is at a starch factory. Many farmers have from hundreds to thousands of bushels of potatoes on their hands spoiling. As a result many of them start for the starch factory as early as 11 o'clock in the evening in order to reach the factory ahead of others, only to find as many as forty to fifty teams waiting in line when they arrive. The farmers are practically giving their potatoes to this factory.

The Nonpartisan League program of the public control of the markets should be put into effect at once as a war measure so that when the farmers are encouraged to raise large crops they will be insured a ready and ample market and will be protected against profiteers and marketing inefficiency.

VARDAMAN FLAYS PROFITEERS

Says Lying, Plutocratic Patriots Wrap Themselves in Flag and Rob Nation.

Declaring that the profiteers are the traitors Senator Vardaman of Mississippi, in a recent speech before the Senate, said:

"There seems to have grown up on the part of some a passion for plunder and an insatiable greed for graft.

"We find that men of prominence in high finance—men who were loudest in their demands for 'preparedness' a few years ago, who paid for the bunting that decorated the houses, paid for the flags that were flaunted in the air by the hired claquers, paid for the bands that led the 'preparedness' parades; these men who were loudest in their denunciation of the members of congress who dared to insist that a fair share of the war profits be devoted to paying the expenses of the war—the same hypocritical, lying, plutocratic patriots for perquisites, wrap themselves in the American flag and wih the words of patriotism upon their lying lips would rob the government in contracts and other ways, and hereby impose burdens upon posterity that will bring squalor to the home of the laborer and shadow the future of the children of the toilers yet unborn with blighting poverty, frustrated ambitions, and commit them to lives of dull, debasing drudgery.

"Down all the stretches of hell to its last gulf there is nothing more shocking to the moral sensibilities of a patriotic citizen."

Taxation Becoming Serious.

Taxation is going to be a serious question with the farmers when we begin to pay 4 to 4½ per cent interest on the war debt. This will probably double our present government taxes. The farmer is now paying twice as heavy a tax as Big Business in proportion to his property. It is up to the farmer to elect his own representatives to office and have taxes equalized.

Increasing Profits.

The Booth Fisheries Company is another concern whose profits for 1917 were greater than for 1916. They more than doubled.

In 1916, the next profits were $792,081.

In 1917, after deducting the war profits tax, the net profits were $1,641,521.

Is any comment needed?

Excuse and Failure Synonymous.

An excuse is an admission of failure. It is a plea for leniency, for suspension of sentence. It is a step toward loss of self-confidence. It is the beginning of life failure. And that man or woman who expects success to crown his or her old age should go to any legitimate extreme to prevent the possibility of having to offer excuses for failure in execution. Excuses are the aliases of bankrupt lives. Achievement is difficult, but profitable in its large and gainful returns.—Milwaukee Journal.

AUSTRALIAN STATE MARKET SUCCESS

Practically Entire Nonpartisan League Program Is Being Put Into Effect.

That the ownership planks of the Nonpartisan League platform are not "impractical" and "visionary" is very strikingly shown in a recent letter to American newspapers from the pen of an Australian newspaper correspondent, W. Francis Ahern.

A workers' and farmers' administration went into power at Queensland, Australia, in 1915. It immediately adopted, according to Mr. Ahern a policy of state ownership covering practically the same field covered by the Nonpartisan League platform—that is state ownership of the facilities for finishing raw farm products for the market and of facilities concerned with wholesale marketing.

Mr. Ahern does not pretend to name all the things operated by the state but the list he mentions looks like a paragraph out of the Nonpartisan League platform. It includes terminal elevators, stock yards, slaughter houses, packing plants, and even butcher shops. State banks and state insurance also are in operation.

Concerning the success of state marketing in Australia Mr. Ahern writes: "The Queensland state industries show a profit of $250,000 on all undertakings, although the state had no intention of making profit at all, but of running the industries in the interest of the public."

In establishing these industries the government moved with great caution, building them up slowly, step by step, according to Mr. Ahern. He says, "Exhaustive inquiry has preceded each enterprise, and wherever practicably each initial operation has been based on a small scale in order to enable the adjustment of administration to be shaped according to the government's own experiences."

BRITAIN HAS ITS PROFITEERS

Twenty-Six English Firms Make Five Times As Much As In Normal Times.

The English committee on national expenditure reports that enormous profits have been made by the British munition makers during the war.

The committee found that twenty-six firms have made profits five times greater than in normal times. Some concerns have made as much as twenty-seven per cent on their turn-over or 341 per cent of their capital stock.

It is announced that the technical investigations will show a saving in a year of $15,000,000 on cordite contracts, more than $175,000,000 on gun ammunition, $10,000,000 on gun equipment and $5,000,000 on air craft.

The British Labor Party, while intensely loyal to the government, is like the Nonpartisan League, of this country, advocating a program of complete government ownership and operation of the industries engaged in the manufacturing of war supplies, and it would appear that this program is needed there as it is here.

Paper Trust Prospers.

The Nonpartisan League advocates state pulp and paper factories in its Minnesota state platform in order to save the independent country papers from being sniffed out by Paper Trust prices. That it is justified is indicated by the following:

New York.—The International Paper Co., which was severely handled by the federal authorities for extortionate price fixing, shows the highest profits in its history in its report for 1917.

After meeting all charges, including an estimate of $2,500,000 for anticipated war taxes, there is left for holders of comomn stock the sum of $6,719,687. The balance for stockholders in 1916 was $4,620,727. This is an increase for 1917 over 1916 of $2,098,960.

Public Control Gaining.

Another industry likely to come under federal control soon as an outcome of war conditions is the manufacture of artificial ice. Ammonia is used in the manufacture of ice as well as explosives. Conservation will probably compel this step.

More Price Fixing.

A bill has been introduced in Congress to fix the price of cotton at 20 cents a pound. The principle of public price fixing instead of trust price fixing is steadily gaining.

Every farmer in the United States, according to government statistics, feeds two other families besides his own, but he feeds the other families much better than his own.

Origin of Dover's Powder

Dover's powder," an old-fashioned remedy still to be found at most druggists, is named after Captain Dover, a worthy of the seventeenth century. Captain Dover's other claim to fame is that he rescued Alexander Selkirk, the castaway of the island of Juan Fernandez, and thus was instrumental in giving "Robinson Crusoe" to the world. Captain Dober practiced medicine in an independent way—chiefly on his own men—and in this way came to concoct the powder which bears his name.

A Business Should be as Big as Its Job

If bigness is of benefit to the public it should be commended.

The size of a business depends upon the needs which that business is called upon to serve. A business should be as big as its job. You do not drive tacks with a pile-driver—or piles with a tack-hammer.

Swift & Company's growth has been the natural and inevitable result of national and international needs.

Large-scale production and distribution are necessary to convert the live stock of the West into meat and by-products, and to distribute them over long distances to the consuming centers of the East and abroad.

Only an organization like that of Swift & Company, with its many packing plants, hundreds of distributing houses, and thousands of refrigerator cars, would have been able to handle the varying seasonal supplies of live stock and meet the present war emergency by supplying, without interruption:

First—The U. S. soldiers and the Allies in Europe by shipping as much as 800 carloads of meat products in a single week!

Second—The cantonments in the United States.

Third—The retailers upon whom the American public depends for its daily supply of meat.

But many people ask—Do producers and consumers pay too much for the complex service rendered?

Everyone, we believe, concedes the efficiency of the Swift & Company organization—in performing a big job in a big way at a minimum of expense.

Swift & Company's total profit in 1917 was less than 4 cents on each dollar of sales of meat and by-products. Elimination of this profit would have had practically no effect on live stock and meat prices.

Do you believe that this service can be rendered for less by any other conceivable method of organization or operation?

These questions and others are answered fully and frankly in the Swift & Company 1918 Year Book sent free on request.

Drop of magic! Doesn't hurt one bit! Apply a little Freezone on that touchy corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it off with the fingers. No pain at all! Try it!

Why wait? Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of Freezone for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and callouses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the much talked of ether discovery of the Cincinnati genius.—Adv.

When the time comes, the man with red blood in his veins "is up and at it." He has iron nerves for hardships—an interest in his work grips him. That's the way you feel when you have taken a blood and nerve tonic, made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Stone root, Cherry bark, and rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold in sixty-cent vials by almost all druggists for past fifty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic, in liquid or tablet form, is just what you need this spring to give you vim, vigor and vitality. At the fag end of a hard winter, no wonder you feel "run-down," blue, out of sorts. Try this "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's. Don't wait! To-day is the day to begin! A little "pep," and you laugh and live.

The best means to oil the machinery of the body, put tone into the liver, kidneys and circulatory system, is to first practice a good house-cleaning. Flagler's Florida Railroad.

There is no railroad from Key West to Cuba, and could not well be, as nearly 200 miles of ocean intervene. What Mr. Flagler did was to build a railroad along the eastern coast of Florida to its southern extremity, and thence on piles and artificial viaducts to Key West, and to provide for the transportation of loaded trains both ways between Key West and Cuba by huge ocean ferry boats constructed and equipped specially for the service. There are no figures at hand as to the cost of the work done by Mr. Flagler. It has been of great commercial value.

"Yesterday when I reached home I went in in my customary manner, met my wife in the kitchen and said: 'Hello, hun.'

"I had no more than spoken," said the sergeant, "when my wife landed on me and said that she would give me to understand that she was not a Hun, so from now on I will be careful to use some other name or else call her honey, and I will be very careful to use the entire word and not try to abbreviate it."—Indianapolis News.

BRITISH BLOCK ENEMY DRIVES

Haig Pushes His Line Ahead 1,200 Yards on "Considerable Front" in Somme Sector.

GERMAN LOSSES HEAVY

Intense Bombardment By Foe Southeast of Amiens Results In Their Being Completely Repulsed—British Positions Improved.

Washington, May 7.—With French and the British reserves now available the Allied situation in France has "considerably improved, although certain to be anxious for some time yet," the British war mission here announces.

Advance 1,200 Yards.

With the British Armies in France, May 7.—British troops have advanced 1,200 yards on a front of more than a mile, between the Ancre and the Somme. North of the Somme the Australians advanced 700 yards on a 1,500 yard front, and there they added another 500 yards, on a 2,000 yard front.

Operations Successful.

London, May 7.—The British line has been advanced on a considerable front between the Somme and Ancre rivers west-southwest of Morlancourt, says the official statement from Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig's headquarters. The statement reads:

"A successful minor operation was carried out by us between the Somme and the Ancre rivers west-southwest of Morlancourt. Our line in this locality has been advanced on a considerable front in spite of strong opposition of the enemy, whose losses were heavy. More than 150 prisoners, two machine guns, a trench mortar, were captured by our troops. Our own casualties were slight.

"Local fighting took place to our advantage in the neighborhood of Locon and the Lawe river. Our positions in this locality were improved.

"On the remainder of the front the situation is unchanged."

British gunfire in Flanders during the last three days has completely prevented any enemy movement on the British lines, while the French prevented an attack which was undoubtedly being prepared on their front by attacking first.

Reserves Move Quickly.

Experts emphasize the difficulty of the enemy finding the target which is to take the Allies by surprise. Certain points of importance are carefully watched, and if other points are attacked the Allied reserves reach the battlefield as quickly as the German reserves.

The experts are confident that Mount Kemmel can be recovered if the enemy fails to advance his line in this region.

"Why, Bessie," exclaimed the mother, taking the little one in her arms, "what in the world is the matter?"

"Somefin dwelful has happened," sobbed the youngster, nestling closer to her mother, "I—'—I"

"That's all right, darling," coaxingly responded the mother. "Tell me all about it."

"It was my dolly," was the tearful explanation of Bessie. "She dot away from me and breaked a dish in the pantry."

The average attendance at these meetings has increased greatly since their introduction in demonstrating the right and wrong way to get things done on a farm. More than 5,000 farmers have seen the "wood grading" film since November 1, while the average attendance per film from November 1 last varies from 50 to 5,000, according to the subject.

COMMISSION SEES FARM RESOURCES AS PEACE AGENCY

March Says America, With Forces Unified, Can Drive Prussianism From the Earth.

SURPLUS IN MINNESOTA

Gopher State One of Few in Union With Oversupply of Food—Governor Early Urged Co-operation and Aid for Farmer.

One of the greatest agencies for world peace in the opinion of Col. C. H. March of the Minnesota State Safety Commission is the great agricultural resources of the state and the Northwest, mobilized and unified, to wage a determined and vicious war on Prussian autocracy and efficiently working with all other forces for the one great patriotic purpose.

With our forces thus unified, he says, Prussianism can be driven from the face of the earth and a Hun menaced world made safe for Democracy. Similar convictions are held by Governor Burnquist.

Recently Col. March with members of the State Railroad and Warehouse commission and others interested in Northwest agricultural development work returned from Washington where they conferred with President Wilson and members of his cabinet relative to aid and legislation of Minnesota and Northwest farmers generally and he spoke interestingly of his visit. Col. March is chief in command of the agricultural division of the State Safety Commission and his visit to Washington, which was at the instance of Gov. Burnquist, will develop into something of tremendous benefit in the future.

Washington and the President, Col. March says, are keenly interested in farm development and much in the way of federal aid for the farmers of Minnesota and the Northwest is under consideration. Cooperation in a farm aid way with Gov. Burnquist and the State Safety commission was practically pledged.

"Unfortunately in the minds of many," said Col. March, speaking broadly on the subject of the Minnesota State Safety commission and its relation to the farmers of the state, "there is a fixed impression that our Commission has solely to do with the acts of disloyalty and sedition. With others it is the dissemination of loyalty propaganda. The scope of our work, however, is much greater than the beliefs quoted. Every phase of war aid in which Minnesota may be of help to the nation is included and not the least of our activities is agricultural development.

"One of the first to answer the President's call for increased production in foodstuffs," continued Col. March, "was Gov. Burnquist, and realizing that such increased production was a matter of farm development principally, he early impressed upon our commission the necessity of giving the farmers of Minnesota every aid possible. Help the farmer, he argued, as on his prosperity depends much; food is the one weapon now that will bring victory.

"No one can know Gov. Burnquist and not be impressed by his sincerity and honesty of purpose and realizing the importance of his warning regarding food increase our commission at once began work. At the Governor's direction every known agricultural development unit in the state was consulted and their co-operation urged. Many departments in aid of the various phases of agricultural work were created and experienced men placed in charge. 'Find out the farmer's needs and speed up,' was the command. Even before the State Safety commission was organized, Gov. Burnquict, I might say, was on the job as one of our first official acts was the promulgation of the Governor's food proclamation which was drafted by the Governor almost on entry of the United States into the war. That proclamation which was directed at the food producers of the state put Minnesota in the front rank of commonwealths anxious to aid the nation in its hour of distress."

With the declaration of war against Germany one of the first defensive steps was the taking of an inventory of food stocks and as pointed out by Col. March it found Minnesota one of the few states with a surplus. To conserve and increase this surplus was a duty that impressed the Governor and without delay he appointed a Committee on Food Production and Conservation. The creation of this committee by Gov. Burnquist was in advance of the organization of the State Safety commission and showing the wisdom of the step, Minnesota's agricultural development and the general conservation of food in this state was advanced in a way that brought almost immediate complimentary attention from the federal war heads. Washington was unstinting in its praise.

"To the farmer, labor and plenty of it is as essential as good seed," explained Col. March, "and one of our first acts was the drafting of plans for an adequate supply of harvest help. This in part we secured by the taking over of one of the state's largest free employment bureaus—by the way another of the many valuable suggestions made by Gov. Burnquist. Through this bureau communication was had with every farmer in the state regarding help needed and later with the help of the federal government the required labor was equitably distributed. Our plans for harvest labor this year are even more extensive.

While to Minnesota has been assigned the task of adding materially this year to the world's supply of grain and other food products of which the broad and fertile acres of the North Star State are capable, accomplishment, however, is not alone in mere production. This Gov. Burnquist and the State Safety commission appreciate and every energy and resource at the command of both is being directed at overcoming the obstacles that will of necessity intrude.

As pointed out by Col. March these obstacles run to many things. For instance, lack of a plentiful supply of pure seed which the commission has already taken steps to provide, terminal and car congestion, and above all, a fair return for the producer. They are all problems in a way and unless mastered disaster will be the return. Fortunately a government fixed minimum which the commission hopes to see increased has partially relieved the problem of a fair return, but this is not all that the Governor and the commission propose to realize for the farmers of the state. An open market in transportation in season will be insisted on. For the farmer's comfort and prosperity many things have been set in motion.

One of the aggravating and perplexing things of the 1917 crop was that of transportation. Constant watch only kept Minnesota's bumper grain crop moving and it can be said with truth that Minnesota was one of the few states with an adequate supply of cars. Working through the state railroad and warehouse commission cars were placed on sidings almost on demand and terminal congestion minimized. Elevator abuses were likewise reduced.

One of the pleasant experiences of Col. March was his conference with President Wilson regarding the needs of Minnesota farmers and the almost uncanny knowledge of Northwest agricultural conditions as displayed by the chief executive. Col. March's visit to the National Capital was at the suggestion of Gov. Burnquist who had in mind a number of federal helps for the farmers of the state.

"The conference," said Col. March, "was participated in by a number of men interested in Northwest farm development and what surprised and pleased me was the president's intimate knowledge of food conditions in Minnesota and other Northwest states. He was particularly interested in the 1918 crop and asked many questions. Minnesota farmers, he said, had answered the call nobly and he asked me to assure Gov. Burnquist and the State Safety commission that every federal help possible would be given. At this conference a number of matters vitally concerning the farmers of Minnesota were discussed not the least of them being a reorganization of the present federal grain standards so as to conform to the former Minnesota grades. I firmly believe that all our requests and suggestions will be favorably answered."

Minnesota last year raised over 30,000,000 bushels of potatoes, the largest crop in the history of the state and showing what the State Safety commission has done and is doing for the Minnesota farmers. Col. March and his committee of agricultural experts hope to have every bushel marketed before another planting begins. As an aid to the movement of about 13,000,000 bushels still remaining Gov. Burnquist recently sent a vigorously worded telegram to President Wilson asking for a war market and the required cars for the movement of the surplus.

Through orders of the commission last year forest fires were greatly minimized and growing crops aided materially. Precautions to be put in effect by the commission this year will be even more striagent.

At the request of the commission the State Board of Control has promised to push its production of state made binding twine to the limit. A price under the trust controlled product has also been secured.

As explained by Col. March his brief explanation of what the commission has already done in aid of the farmers of the state is only a small part of what really has been done. Plans for this year are much more extensive.

More Money Saved to Farmers.

Through its wide powers given it by the legislature, the State Safety Commission was able to promulgate Order No. 29 providing for the eradication of the tall barberry. This was promptly done and Barberry Eradication Day was set for May 4th.

The barberry is a breeder of rust in wheat and altho many laws have been passed providing for its extermination it remained for the Safety Commission, through the exercise of its powers, to solve the question.

The Commission is ever awake to every welfare of the agricultural interests of the state and its action in the barberry matter is a concrete example of the many measures put over during the past year to insure crops and protect the farmer.

The Kaiser Phones To Satan

The Kaiser called the Devil up
On the telephone one day,
The girl at central listened to
All they had to say.
Hello, she heard the Kaiser's voice,
Is old man Satan home?
Just tell him it is Kaiser Bill
That wants him on the 'phone.

The Devil said, Hello to Bill,
And Bill said, how are you?
I'm running here a hell on earth,
So tell me what to do
What can I do? the devil said,
My dear old Kaiser Bill,
If there's anything that I can do
To help you, I sure will.

The Kaiser said, now listen
And I will try to tell
The way that I am running
On earth a modern hell.
I've saved for this for many years.
And I've started out to kill.
That it will be a modern job,
You leave to Kaiser Bill.

My army went through Belgium,
Shooting women and children down
We tore up all the country,
And blowed up all the towns.
My Zepps dropped bombs on cities,
Killing both old and young,
And them the Zepplins didn't get
Were taken out and hung.

I started out for Paris,
with the aid of poisonous gas.
The Belgians, darn them, stopped us
And would not let us pass.
My submarines are devils,
Why, you should see them fight
They go sneaking through the sea
And we sink a ship on sight.

I was running things to suit me
'Till a year or so ago,
When a man called Woodrow
Wilson.
Wrote to me to go more slow.
He says to me, dear William,
We don't want to make you sore,
So be sure and tell your U boats
Not to sink our ships no more.

We have told you for the last time,
So dear Bill, it's up to you.
And if you do not stop it,
You have got to fight us too.
I did not listen to him
And he's coming after me,
With a million Yankee soldiers,
From their home across the sea.

Now that's why I called you,
Satan,
For I want advice from you,
I know that you would tell me,
Just what I ought to do.
My dear old Kaiser William,
There's not much for me to tell,
For the yanks will make it hotter
Than I can for you in hell.

I've been a mean old devil,
But not half as mean as you,
And the minute that you get here,
I will give my job to you.
I'll be ready for your coming,
And I'll keep the fires all bright
And I'll have your room all ready
When the Yanks begin to fight

For the boys in blue will GET you.
I have nothing more to tell,
Hang up the phone and get you hat,
And meet me here in hell.

Coming To Holt

Next Week

The big Red Cross drive to raise $22000.00 in Marshall county and $100,000,000.00 in the nation, commences next Monday and the village of Holt is called on to raise $320.00 inside of one, or two days at most. A committee of five men have been drafted for the work in this village and they will call on the people next Monday. Please give cheerfully as all the money goes to the Red Cross War Fund and none of this will be used for the office or general expenses of the order.

A part of this money will be used at home for making garments for the Red Cross. Our boys are giving their lives if necessary, let us give freely of our means.

STATE PLANT WILL YIELD FERTILIZERS

Big Government Owned Nitrate Factories Will Supply Farmers After War.

Inevitably the war crisis is pushing the United States along the road taken by the great European nations at war in the direction of public control of the markets and the great necessities. The newest government industry and one that may before long constitute the foundation of a new agricultural life is the big $70,000,000 nitrate plant being rushed to completion at Mussel Shoals on the Tennessee river in northwestern Alabama.

Primarily a war plant to supply nitrogen products as a basis of explosives and an emergency industry, this huge industry is to be turned over to the use of the farmers after the war when Uncle Sam will manufacture nitrate fertilizers and sell them to the farmers practically at the cost of production. In other words, the entire power of the Tennessee river is being harnessed by the government and Uncle Sam will become the driver to supply the nation with a fertile soil as the foundation of a new agricultural life in which the farmers will begin to co-operate with tremendous new forces of the state and the powers of nature to feed the world.

Two dams, one of them said to be the biggest in the world, will supply a total of 660,000 hydro-electric horsepower. This immense power will be employed to extract nitrogen from the air in the form of amonium nitrate. This amonium nitrate will be used to win the war for democracy. After that is won it will become a great factor in the foundation of the industrial democracy that will follow the war. For in being turned into a huge fertilizer plant for enriching the soil, it will constitute one of the first concrete acknowledgments by Uncle Sam of his duty to co-operate with the industrial life of the nation and democratize it and build it up for the enrichment and happiness of all.

That the establishment of such a government owned fertilizer plant selling fertilizers to the farmers at cost will compel the gradual establishment of enough of these government plants to supply all the farmers, there cannot be the sightest doubt.

TAKES OVER RUBBER INDUSTRY.

On May 1 the government fixed a standard price on crude rubber and assumed complete control of the sale and manipulation of all rubber stocks.

"The order effects not only hundreds of rubber importers, jobbers, manufacturers and dealers, but also every man, woman and child in the United States because of the widespread use of manufactured rubber goods," says the Washington dispatch.

The prices fixed are 10 per cent below those prevailing April 30 and the same as those prevalent before the recent period of speculation began.

PUBLIC CONTROL IS GAINING.

The drift of the times is powerfully indicated by the big public control moves over industry instituted as war measures during the last ten days. One of the most important of these measures of this kind, the proposed law to establish government control of all mines producing war raw material passed the lower house at Washington April 30. This bill authorizes the government to control the production of all ores essential to war. The government will also take over undeveloped mines and smelters.

NEW ACT HELP FOR STATE RAILROADS

Private Interests Receive Bad Jolt In New System That Unifies Operation.

A big stride in the battle for government owned railroads was made May 1 when the United States government inaugurated its system of transcontinental shipping on one waybill.

This means that America will at last have something resembling unified railroal operation, that there will be a considerable saving of time and expense and that a great deal of red tape will be cut out.

A car of goods can be shipped from New York to San Francisco or from Cleveland to New Orleans, transferred from railroad to railroad and from terminal to terminal, all on one waybill.

For years rairoad men have dreamed of this, just as they dreamed of standardized freight cars and engines, and just as it took government control to bring about the latter, so again it has taken government control to put through this waybill innovation.

In the past when a car was shipped from New York to San Francisco it might be handled by four different railroads.

That meant four different waybills. Each waybill held good until the car reached the terminal point of that particular road. Then the car was shunted around the terminal yards until the clerks made out a new waybill and delivered it to the yardmaster. The latter then set his forces to work picking out this car and delivering it to the next road that was to handle it. So on along the route.

This is significant in view of the fact that some of the old railroad managements that were left in charge of their respective lines have been accused of doing their best to discredit government railroad control by throwing obstacles in the way of the successful operation of these lines. Mr. Garretson, president of the Railway Conductors' union, and Mr. Lee, president of the Engineers' union and a score of railroad employes testified to this fact at a hearing several months ago.

The second round in the fight against possible government ownership of railroads was won by the private owners when their special representatives in the Senate and House succeeded in passing the bill authorizing the return of the roads to their private owners after the war.

But the public came back with a severe jolt to the private interests when recently 3,000,000 railroad employes sent a demand to Congress that some plan be evolved for keeping the railroads in the government's hanls.

If the farmers will back up the workers and send a big delegation of Senators and Representatives to Washington in the coming November elections the splendid goal of the American railroads for the American people will be another step nearer.

MAXIMUM PRICES FOR WHEAT.

At last the government has taken a step toward the fixing of meat prices, which under unrestrained private control were rapidly becoming prohibitive. Prices have been fixed for May on beef for the American and Allied fighting forces. This does not apply to prices the citizens remaining in the United States will have to pay, but these army purchases are so large that it is believed they will practically determine prices to the American public.

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Carlton.—The receipts from a Red Cross sale, held in Morse's hall, amounted to $162.97.

East Grand Forks—Sacred Heart church has a fifty-five star service flag and hung it from the rectory.

Verndale.—Verndale is to have a new Catholic church of brick, 40 by 60 feet, to cost in the neighborhood of $5,000.

Morris.—The last of the old wooden buildings which formerly comprised the state Indian school here has gone. The building has been wrecked, leaving only modern buildings.

Marshall.—Clay county women were heavy buyers of Liberty bonds in the recent campaign, a tabulation announced disclosing that 601 women bought $48,000 worth of the bonds.

Bemidji.—With addresses by State Superintendent of Schools C. G. Dyer, the new Lincoln school here was dedicated before a large number of spectators. Loyalty was the theme of all addresses.

St. Paul.—Visitors from all parts of Minnesota and other states in the Mississippi valley were in St. Paul to attend the three days' convention of the Mississippi Valley Historical association convention.

Minneapolis.—At the request of the board of athletic control, which had the fund available, an investment of $15,000 in Third Liberty Loan bonds was authorized by the board of regents of the University of Minnesota.

Staples.—The state board of control has appointed Mrs. Mary E. Wilson of this City, E. V. Moore of Eagle Bend, Mrs. C. A. Wood of Long Prairie, E. A. Williams and Charles J. Spicker, also of Long Prairie, as members of the Todd county child welfare board.

Bemidji.—Thurber Lewis, the 15-year-old Minneapolis youth, who has been preaching Marx socialism in the vicinity of Bemidji, and who was arrested at Wilton on a federal warrant, has been held to the September term of the grand jury under bonds of $1,000, furnished by two Bemidji business men.

Litchfield.—Oscar Peterson, employed on a farm near here, was killed by a bull. Peterson was attempting to separate the animal from others of the herd. He struck the bull with a blacksnake, and the animal turned on him, knocking him to the ground. The bull fell on him with his knees, crushing him to death.

St. Paul.—Sergeant Clarence K. Foucault of Bemidji, who had charge of the army recruiting in that district, has been recommended for the next officers' training camp by Major John D. Yost, head of the Minnesota recruiting service. Sergeant Foucault's work has been so satisfactory to his superior that he was highly recommended.

Minneapolis.—Lieut. Arthur R. Gaylord of this city was killed in action in France April 28, according to a telegram received here from the war department by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edson S. Gaylord. Lieut. Gaylord is the first Minnesota officer who graduated from the first reserve officers' training camp at Fort Snelling to be killed in battle.

St. Cloud.—Members of the local fire department have presented the city council with their resignations, to become effective May 15 unless their demands for a raise of $10 is granted. The annual budget has been made up and the council declares it is impossible to meet the demands of the men. No action has been taken by the commission on the resignations.

Washington.—The loss of the American steamer Tyler, sunk by a submarine, was reported to the Navy department by Vice Admiral Sims. The dispatch said eleven men were lost and that the survivors were landed at a French port as previously stated in news dispatches. Five of those lost were members of the armed guard, one of whom was Leo Martin Carey, Albert Lea, Minn.

Fairmont.—Meyer Brandvig, Nonpartisan league candidate for the state Senate from this district, was arrested in Waverly township where he was again making a speech. He was brought to the Martin county jail here. County officials, it is claimed, had received orders not to allow any Nonpartisan league meetings, while A. C. Townley and James Gilbert, league leaders, are under indictment.

St. Paul.—Not knowing of the death on March 5 of Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, Georgetown university, Washington, D. C., today telegraphed Daniel W. Lawler of St. Paul, authorizing him to tender Smith an honorary degree of doctor of laws. Mr. Lawler last January proposed that the honor be conferred upon Mr. Smith as a former student of Georgetown law school who had distinguished himself by service of exceptional merit to the state of Minnesota.

Aitkin.—Thomas H. Bird, 12-year-old son of James L. Bird of Morris township, was accidentally shot in the head Monday afternoon and died before a doctor arrived. The shooting occurred at the farm of Dassel Cartier, a neighbor, where the lad, another brother and some companions were handling a rifle which went off.

St. Paul.—Governor Burnquist has offered a state reward of $500 for the arrest of Thomas F. Armstrong, charged with the murder of his wife, April 25, at Rochester. Armstrong is also said to have shot his stepson, John Landy, aged 14 years.

Winona.—Fifty Polish girls are leaving Winona for France for work as nurses with a Polish regiment.

St. Cloud.—The funeral of Private William C. Schneider, who died on May 3 at Camp Dodge of pneumonia, was held at Albany.

Warren.—A Home Guard company was organized here with sixty-nine members, and it is expected that the whole city band will join the company as the battalion band unit.

Barnesville.—Charles R. Oliver, president of the First National bank here, and president of the Glyndon State bank, died at Mayo hospital, Rochester. His body was brought here for burial. His wife survives.

Brainerd.—Minnesota police have been asked to watch for a Ford car, license No. 155643. The car is a 1914 model. It belongs to A. Hallquist of Brainerd and was taken from his garage during the night.

Stillwater.—Mrs. Lucretia Burns, who died a few weeks ago here at the home of George Burns, in her will left $200 to Stillwater lodge No. 179, B. P. O. Elks of this city, and a similar amount to the Sacramento lodge of Elks, who cared for her husband who was ill and died at that place a few years since.

St. Paul.—Registration of friendly aliens in Minnesota, under orders of the Minnesota Public safety commission, disclosed 180,000 alien men and women of allied or neutral nations, according to figures submitted to the commission by State Auditor J. A. O. Preus. In addition, about 10,000 alien Germans were registered by federal authorities.

Little Falls.—A car carrying four Brainerd people turned turtle on the Belle Prairie road. They were coming to this city and were in the act of passing another car at a high speed when the car hit a bank in the road and turned completely over. The two left wheels of the car were broken off but none of the passengers was badly hurt.

Fairfax.—The people of this community are largely Germans, but they showed their loyalty in a substantial way when nearly $4,000 was realized from a Red Cross auction here. The sale consisted principally of livestock and farm produce contributed by farmers. One hen brought $340, and an egg she laid in her coop on the ground sold for $2.

Minneapolis.—After having been severely beaten and given a coat of yellow paint, Ole Nelson, a worker in a local roundhouse, was rescued by a special agent of the department of justice from a crowd of fellow employes who threatened him with lynching. He is alleged to have made seditious statements, criticising America's part in the war.

Crookston.—As a result of a raid made on several blind pigs at East Grand Forks, suits have been filed in the district court for the removal of Mayor Kelleher and Chief of Police Hearst of East Grand Forks. The complaints upon which the suits will be prosecuted are made by County Attorney G. A. Youngquist and are based on nonenforcement of the liquor laws by the officials.

St. Cloud.—Falling from a scaffolding thirty-five feet above the cement floor of the Ervin mill, George Hoffman, Mike Henz and Joseph Stueve had a narrow escape from serious injury. The plank on which the men were working in wrecking the building gave way, and the men crashed to the ground, the falling lumber on top of them. They were picked up unconscious and taken to the hospital, where they were revived.

St. Paul.—The people of Minnesota have escaped by the narrowest margin being placed on a food card system, under which they would have had to sign up with the local grocer for each parcel of flour or sugar purchased. A wave of enthusiasm had nearly carried the question to a vote before the county food administrators, representing the eighty-six counties of the state, in session at the Merchants hotel, when A. D. Wilson argued the significance of the measure and caused its defeat.

Red Wing.—Joseph Gilbert, state manager for the Nonpartisan league, was convicted here of the charge of having made disloyal utterances during a speech at Kenyon, Minn., last August. Conviction was voted on the first ballot it is understood. Shortly after the verdict he was sentenced by Judge Albert Johnson to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $500. He was granted a stay of 60 days with the provision that he forego Nonpartison league activities in Goodhue county during that time.

St. Boniface. — A Nonpartisan league meeting scheduled to be held on a farm near here was stopped by Hennepin county deputy sheriffs who were rushed from Minneapolis to the scene in automobiles at the request of residents of the neighborhood. The leaders were told by the deputies that Nonpartisan league meetings were not permitted in Hennepin county. About 75 persons, including three league organizers, then moved to another section of the farm, which is in Carver county, and held the meeting unmolested.

Mankato.—Discontinuance of the teaching of the German language in the five normal schools of this state forthwith was ordered by the state normal school board, in session here. Faculty members for the various normals were selected.

Minneapolis.—Seventy-five per cent of the war crosses awarded the brigade by the French government have been won by the One Hundred and Fifty-first battalion, United States field artillery, formerly the First Minnesota, according to a letter received here from Lieut.-Col. William H. Donahue.

AMERICANS JOIN IN CANNON DUEL

Earth Shaken By Pounding of Big Guns Where Yankees Face Enemy In Picardy.

FOE RESUMES ACTIVITY

Doors Of Hell Seem Opened as Great Screeching Demons of Death Fill Air—Americans Continue to Repulse German Raids.

Rome, May 14.—Austro-Hungarian troops made an attack on Mont Cormo, which recently was captured by the Italians. The war office announces that the enemy was repulsed with heavy losses.

Paris, May 14.—Active artillery fighting in Picardy both sides of the Avre river is reported in the official statement.

London, May 14.—"Hostile artillery was active during the night in the Somme valley and Albert sectors, also between Locon and the forest of Nieppe (Flanders front)" says today's war office statement.

With the Americans in Picardy, May 14.—The doors of hell seemed literally opened in Picardy. Screeching demons of death filled the air. Pounding guns jarred the earth as if all the evil forces below were endeavoring to break through. The flare of the guns and the flash and roar of bursting shells appeared like great fires sweeping the rolling fields.

With the setting of the sun there was no rest. Then wagons, loaded with ammunition and supplies, started for the front. Patrols crept across No Man's land. The artillery turned night into a time of terror and punishment.

Like Many Blast Furnaces.

Imagine huge blast furnace doors thrown open at frequent intervals. That is how the flickering glare of the cannonade illuminated the sky tonight, as the larger guns let go.

Amid gigantic explosions houses rocked as though shaken by a great hand, doors flew open, windows rattled violently, furniture quivered. As the American heavies fired, the departing shells could be heard on their way to the German lines. Each shell sounded like an express train leaving the railway station. Such death dealing trains halt at German stations only.

American Guns Hammer Foe.

Two additional buildings were demolished by American fire at Contigny. American batteries kept the enemy under heavy bombardment.

Such artillery activity as this starts every night at dusk and continues until after midnight. Then there is a respite until 2 or 3 a. m., when the cannonade is resumed and lasts until dawn.

German shells arch through the air with a swish and a whine, but the American fire is far heavier. The Americans are continuing to repulse attempted German raids.

THREE AMERICANS ROUTE FOE

Attack Thirteen Germans in Snipers' Nest Killing Four.

With the American Army in France, May 14.—Three American scouts attacked a German strong point in the Luneville sector, in which enemy snipers had a nest and had been operating with such success that several Americans had been killed by their bullets.

The scouts found the point held by an officer and 12 men. The party attacked the Germans killing the officer and four men. The officer's papers which were captured included a German code and other documents from which important information was secured. The scouts retired when German reinforcements appeared.

Upon the return of the scouts 25 Americans crossed to the German position and resumed the fighting. The repor on this encounter had not been received up to late today.

German Minister of Marines Says Campaign Is Success.

Amsterdam, May 14.—Admiral von Capelle, German minister of Marine, the German naval offensive is stronger than at any time since the beginning of unrestricted submarine warfare. The April reports from the submarines were favorable, he said. Herr Pfliger, a centrist, said that despite the differences of opinion in the reichstag, it was agreed that the submarine warfare should be kept up.

You Are U. S. Detective.

Washington, May 14.—Every citizen may act as a volunteer detective to assist government officers in ferreting out persons suspected of disloyal actions or utterances, says a statement by Attorney General Gregory. United States attorneys have been told to co-operate with newspapers, so that public notice can be given of the nearest offices of attorneys, or the bureau of investigation, to which citizens may refer information that they think will be valuable in running down suspicious persons.

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALBERT SULTZE, 603 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultze's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

REALLY SEEMED ONLY WAY

Smith's Idea Was Bright Enough If the Horse Would Only Do His Part in the Game.

John Smith bought a horse. The first Sunday after the purchase he and his bosom pal harnessed the horse to a trap and went into the country on a fishing trip. At the shore of the lake they unharnessed the horse, and let it loose while they fished.

Presently the sun began to go down, and Smith and pal decided to get ready for the return journey. They caught the horse, and Smith began to harness it. But here they met a difficulty. The horse wouldn't open its mouth for the bit.

They tried every means they could think of, but still the stubborn animal stood with closed mouth, placidly watching them.

At last Smith sat on the ground and began to tell jokes—horrible, moth-eaten jokes, that Adam would have thought chestnuts.

"What on earth are you doing?" asked Smith's pal.

"Trying to get the beast to yawn," said Smith.

"I shall want some money today, dear," said George Pipwhistle to his wife before the latter set out for business one morning in 1927. And Mrs. Pipwhistle, grumbling the while, handed out the chips and waved her hand from the garden gate, as she made a dash for the eight-nineteen.

Three hours after Mrs. P. had returned from the city, George Pipwhistle came in. He had a mountain of parcels in his arms and the light of triumph in his eyes.

No Pleasure in Idleness.

Idleness is never a source of pleasure. The nation puts folks on enforced idleness as a punishment. A well-earned rest is a boon to any busy man, but that's far from idleness. The idler is just a spender, a parasite, a candidate for social ostracism and the poorhouse. He soon loses the power for real enjoyment. He's just a burden to himself and the folks around him. He's always hunting happiness, but is too sluggish to use the means that bring it. His is the passive existence of indolence, stagnation and deadness. The very faculties capable of giving pleasure are obsolescent. It's no use to dream about happiness unless you are willing to do a little to help bring it. Like love it wears best when used.

MEMORIAL DAY IS PROCLAIMED

President Sets May 30 For Public Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer.

WANTS SPEEDY PEACE

Protestant Churches Will Prepare Common Service Program and Catholic Churches Will Issue Message to Parishioners.

Washington, May 14.—President Wilson designates Thursday, May 30, as Memorial day in a proclamation issued as a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting.

The people of the nation are asked to gather in that day in their places of worship and pray for the victory of the American arms which will bring a peace founded upon mercy, justice and good will.

The proclamation, issued in response to a resolution by Congress, follows:

"By the President of the United States.

A Proclamation.

"Whereas, the Congress of the United States on the second day of April last, passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring) that it being a duty peculiarly incumbent in a time of war humbly and devoutly to acknowledge our dependence on Almighty God and to implore His aid and protection, the President of the United States be and he is hereby respectfully requested to recommend a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting, to be observed by the people of the United States with religious solemnity and the offer of fervent supplications to Almighty God for the safety and welfare of our cause, His blessings on our arms and a speedy restoration of an honorable and lasting peace to the nations of the earth:

"And whereas, it has always been the reverent habit of the people of the United States to turn in humble appeal to Almighty God for his guidance in the affairs of their common life,

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the thirtieth day of May, a day already freighted with sacred and stimulating memories, a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting, and do exhort my fellow citizens of all faiths and creeds to assemble on that day in their places of worship and there, as well as in their homes, to pray Almighty God tha He may forgive our sins and shortcomings as a people, and purify our hearts to see and love the truth, to accept and defend all things just and right, and to purpose only those righteous acts and judgments which are in conformity with His will, beseeching Him tha He will give victory to our armies as they fight for freedom, wisdom to those who take counsel on our behalf in these days of dark struggle and perplexity and steadfastness to our people to make sacrifice to the utmost support of what is just and true, bringing us at last the peace in which men's hearts can be at rest because it is founded upon mercy, justice and good will.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done in the District of Columbia this eleventh day of May in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and eighteen and of the independence of the United States, the one hundred and forty-second.

"WOODROW WISON

"By the President:

"ROBERT LANSING,

"Secretary of State."

The Federal council of the Churches of Christ in America, the general secretary, the Rev. Charles S. MacFarland, announced would contribute to carrying out the President's proclamation by preparing a common program for all Protestant churches for use on Memorial day. The Roman, Catholic churches will issue a message to their parishioners.

TEUTS. HOLD RUSS DOWAGER

Reported To Be In Hands of Germans in Crimea.

Amsterdam, May 14.—The Ukranian Press Bureau has received information from Odessa according to which the former Dowager Empress Maria Feodorovona and Grand Dukes Nicholas Nicholievitch and Alexander Nicholievitch (Michealovitch), who had been living at Antodor in the Crimea, are in the hands of the Germans.

Says Sinn Fein to Blame.

Dublin, May 14.—Speaking at [illegible]ille in support of the Nationalist candidate for Parliament for Cavan, John Dillon said that what brought conscription to Ireland was the marching and drilling in Clare last January and February when Prof. Edward De Valera, the Sinn Fein member for East Clare boasted that he could call on a half million well drilled Irishmen. The London newspapers then began to agitate that these men ought to be in the trenches, said Mr. Dillon.

THREE KINDS OF GENTLEMEN

Somewhat Peculiar Distinctions That Are Made by Inhabitants of the Emerald Island.

Ireland is the only country in which it has ever been customary to classify gentlemen as of three distinct kinds of species.

Probably the distinctions are still recognized to some extent in the Emerald isle, but two centuries ago, and even much later, they were defined respectively as (one) the "half-mounted," (two) the "gentleman every inch of him," and (three) the "gentleman to the backbone."

The first class consisted of descendants of Cromwell's soldiers, who, if they could ride well, were called "Buckskin Breeches," or "Squireens."

The second class was composed of descendants of old families whose estates had been forfeited to the crown (for rebellion or other reasons), and who had been compelled to lower themselves by working for a living, in trade or the professions.

The third class—the "gentlemen to the backbone"—comprised the old stock, or folks who lived on the ancient family estates and the labor of the peasantry pertaining to their domains.

Personal Reports of Real Cases

A NORTH DAKOTA CASE.

T. A. Matchke, River St., Hillsboro, N. D., says: "My back got so lame I had to be helped out of my bed and the trouble got worse until I couldn't do anything. I had headaches and dizzy spells and was terribly run down. I lost weight steadily and although I used different remedies nothing seemed to help me. Finally, a friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and I used them. I was cured and gained 41 pounds. My kidneys got well and strong, too, and all the aches and pains left me."

A MONTANA CASE.

Mrs. Effie Coon, Railroad Ave., Dillon, Mont., says: "I had kidney complaint for several years. It came on by spells and as time passed the attacks were more and more frequent. Pains over my kidneys were something awful and when I caught cold it always settled on my kidneys and put me in misery. When I happened to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills I used them and before long I was completely cured."

Ten years later Mrs. Coon said: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills gave me has proven permanent. I am always glad to recommend Doan's."

Recruiters Please Notice.

In our city they were recruiting a battalion of short men known as the "Bantams."

One day our little four-year-old soldier came in complaining of tiredness. When asked what he had been doing he said, "I've been recruiting all day."

"Which battalion are you recruiting for?" he was asked.

"The Bantams," he replied.

"How many did you get?" was the next query.

"Oh," he said with a little sigh of weariness. "I recruited 500 bantams and one rooster!"—Canadian.

A Square Meal.

Some American soldiers in the trenches were discussing the food situation when one said: "Just think of it, potatoes, steak, butter, honey, fruit, pie, and two eggs."

Another soldier reminded him that such a feed was not to be had at any price.

"Why," said the first, "it's not to eat it's to think about."

ON GUARD

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired, listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin, and feel the exhilaration of real good health tingling thru their body. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. Almost all diseases come from impure and impoverished blood. It is to be noticed in the pale or pimply face, the tired, haggard appearance or the listless manner.

Drink hot water a half hour before meals, and for a vegetable tonic there's nothing better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the old-fashioned herbal remedy, which has had such a fine reputation for fifty years. GET THE RED CROSS HABIT

By
EDWARD HUNGERFORD
Of the Vigilantes.

The United States has now been at war for more than a year. But up to the present time the Red Cross has made but one national appeal for help—its $100,000,000 drive in the summer of 1917. Now it is about to make another appeal—its second. And upon the heels of the Third Liberty Loan. For, great as are the responsibilities and the opportunities of the institution whose blazing symbol is recognized by civilized nations the world over as a symbol of peace and of comfort, its expenditures are but a small fraction of those required for our governmental expense for the conduct of the war.

Organization of Service.

The Red Cross has never permitted itself to encroach upon the functions or the necessities of the government, although there are many times when it might justify itself in so doing. In the single important instance of transportation it has refused to burden the army or navy with the carriage of its vast supplies of stores, even though these were destined for the relief and the lives of the soldiers and the sailors themselves. On the contrary, after it had builded and fully equipped a great dispatching depot on the West Side of New York for the preparement of its stores for shipment overseas, and the war department found itself so pressed for warehouse facilities that it was compelled to take the Red Cross plant for army needs Davison and his fellows of the Red Cross gladly moved out and quickly assembled and builded another dispatching depot for their own needs. The spirit of the organization is that of service. And I have seen enough of its workings to convince me that it is something a little more than mere service—perhaps service plus efficiency would best describe it.

It seems to me that the time has come when there should be an even larger national appreciation of the Red Cross. Today it has only begun to touch the surface of the American people. Continued fighting and extended casualty lists will force it far beneath the skin. It cannot be embarrassed for lack of funds. You and I cannot afford to have it embarrassed, to be compelled to turn any of its energies from the saving of human life to mere grubbing for cold cash.

It is time that America formed a new habit. We have some big and fairly expensive national tastes already, movies and motoring, for instance, to say nothing of smoking and drinking. A little reduction on all of these and the proceeds turned to an entirely new habit would be a mighty good thing at this time. And for that fifth habit I am going to propose the Red Cross—the Red Cross habit, if you please. It will be a habit the gathered money of which will go to the credit, not of yourself, but of the greatest charity that America ever has known, which makes this new habit more than a habit—a real virtue—the virtue of self sacrifice.

Our Country the Richest.

Try being ready for the Red Cross collector—not merely the next time he comes, but on each subsequent call. Do not face him with the reproachful suggestion that he has seen you before. Our country is a big land, in many ways the biggest and richest in the world, but it is not big enough nor rich enough that folks with money can escape with but a single invitation to contribute.

That is why I suggest the Red Cross habit—the continuous setting aside of definite sums of money by patriotic Americans against the Red Cross drives. It is a habit which I cannot commend too heartily to you.

The Story That Private Leach Told

"I say, there," called Private Leach, sitting up weakly, "where you goin' with me blinkin' 'at?"

The dog cast a look back across his shoulder, wagged his tail pleasantly and continued to trot away, carrying Private Leach's cap in his jaws.

"'E's got a bloomin' cheek, not 'alf," observed Private Leach and lay down again. What difference did it make? He had clicked a bullet in his [illegible] thigh, and, what with the loss of blood and pain and hunger and all, a chap might as well "go west" without a cap as with one. Now that he'd managed to get a dressing on the wound and a bandage to hold the dressing in place, the bleeding was less, but the end of the smashed bone was grinding in the torn flesh. It wasn't a bit cushy, out there in No Man's Land, six hours in a shell hole with a busted leg.

The dog had popped up from nowhere at all, with his alert eyes and sensitive, searching nose. Girt tightly about his body was the broad white band bearing the flaming sign of the Red Cross. He stood quite still while Private Leach painfully unfastened the first aid package from his back and, still more painfully, applied the disinfectant gauze pads and clean cotton [illegible]. Looking up, he whined a friendly, sympathetic whine, and the soldier patted him gratefully.

"Good old chap," said Private Leach. "You've been knocked about a bit yourself, eh?" He touched the dog's ear, where a recent hurt had left a scarcely healed scar.

And then the rascal had seized Private Leach's cap and made off with it toward the lines, paying no serious attention to the wounded man's remonstrances.

"Rum little bloke!" remarked Private Leach and fainted.

Private Leach sat on a sunny bench in the small courtyard of the convalescent hospital and explained matters to a compatriot, likewise recovering from the effects of boche courtesy.

"And the bloomn' surgeon, 'e says them dawgs is trained like that. The one that found me, 'e don't mind bullets no more than buns, 'e don't, a-w'izzin' past 'is 'ead. And when 'e finds a wounded chap 'e tykes 'is cap or anything that's loose 'e can get 'is teeth in, and away 'e goes to report to 'is K. O., like a good soldier. So then the stretcher bearers, they goes out and brings in the chap, same as they did me, d'ye see? Red Cross trains dawgs by 'undreds. Great, eh, wot?"

"Righto," agreed Private Leach's companion. "'Spect you'd like to meet that fellow again. Dawgs'll look a bit different to me when I gets back to Blighty. Bli-me, I awlways 'ated dawgs, but not now I don't."

"Look!" said Private Leach. "'Ere comes one of the little beggars."

A wiry, short haired dog with a deal of bull in his makeup came limping along on three legs, the fourth held stiffly in front of him by an ingenious arrangement of sling and bandage.

"Clicked a bit o' Fritz's lead 'is bloomin' little self, 'e did, eh, wot? 'Ere, Bill. Nice old blokey."

The dog went and laid his head, friendly fashion, on Private Leach's knee and looked up into the soldier's face, whining sympathetically.

"'E knows 'ow it feels," observed Private Leach. Then, "I say, there, old timer, look at that ear!"

"Scar," said his companion. "Been fightin', like as not."

"Bli-me!" cried Leach. "'E's the syme chap. 'Ere, now, where you goin' with me blinkin' 'at?"

The dog, holding Private Leach's cap at a provoking distance, viewed the two convalescents with a mischievous eye.

"'E's a cute un. Wish 'e was goin back to Blighty wif me, not 'alf. Eh, wot?"

"Sure," agreed the other. "I always 'ated 'em, but not now I don't. Red Cross dawgs is bloomin' humans. Strafe me if they ain't!"

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale, which mortgage was duly executed and delivered by John H. Weinzierl and Bess Weinzierl, his wife, Mortgagors, to A. D. Stephens, Mortgagee, bearingdate the 30th day of April, 1915 and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Marshall and State of Minnesota on the 5th day of May 1915, at 8:30 o'clock A. Soldier's Banquet.

A banquet will be given at 8 o'clock this (Friday) evening at the school house in Holt, in honor of the soldier boys who are soon to leave for the training camps.

A program, including singing by Miss Dora Holmes of Thief River Falls, will be given. After the program Prof. Hay will deliver the address of the evening. Mr. Hay is one of the best platform orators in this part of the state and no one can afford to miss hearing him.

This banquet will be given under the auspices of the Red Cross and everyone is invited to help in every way to make it a great success.

Do not fail to be there to-night at 8 o'clock, sharp.

Bazaar A Success.

The Red Cross Bazaar held in the Woodman Hall last Thursday May 16th, was a success in every way. The receipts from the lunches were $60.78 from the fish pond and quilt $17.20 and from the auction sale $98.21. Total $176.19. The success of this undertaking is due to the faithfulness of a few Red Cross workers. The afternoon was spent in a social way, interspersed with music and the selling of articles. About half past three, the school children marched from the school house to the hall and entertained the crowd with a patriotic program which was a credit to our corps of teachers. In the evening the auction sale was pulled off, which thru the generosity of the bidders, the Red Cross realized a goodly sum. The Holt orchestra entertained the crowd before and after the sale which was enjoyed and appreciated by all.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION

May be Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — This Letter Proves It.

West Philadelphia, Pa.—"During the thirty years I have been married, I have been in bad health and had several attacks of nervous prostration until it seemed as if the organs in my whole body were worn out. I was finally persuaded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made a well woman of me. I can now do all my housework and advise all ailing women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I will guarantee they will derive great benefit from it."—Mrs. FRANK FITZGERALD, 25 N. 41st Street, West Philadelphia, Pa.

There are thousands of women everywhere in Mrs. Fitzgerald's condition, suffering from nervousness, backache, headaches, and other symptoms of a functional derangement. It was a grateful spirit for health restored which led her to write this letter so that other women may benefit from her experience and find health as she has done.

BOY PROBABLY TOLD TRUTH

Chances Are There Was Good, Hard Bottom to Slough if Traveler Had Reached It.

Occasionally there are times when a lie is the truth. The following story illustrates that paradox:

In Oregon there are many sloughs of mud or quicksand which are difficult and dangerous to cross. A certain Methodist missionary in that state, in the course of his travels, came to a slough which looked so formidable that he called a boy, who was chopping wood on the other side, and said:

"Boy, is that a safe slough to cross?"

"Oh, yes."

"Has it a good hard bottom?"

"Oh, yes," said the boy.

The man started to cross; his horse mired, and he had to dismount and wade out. Naturally he was angry.

"Why did you lie to me?" he demanded. "Didn't you say the slough had a good hard bottom?"

"Oh, yes," said the boy, "the bottom is good and hard, but you didn't get down to it!"—Methodistt Centenaial Bulletin.

Speeding Him Up.

"Don't worry," said the doctor, "I'll soon have your husband well and back to work again."

"I'm so glad," replied the wife.

"So am I," replied the M. D. "Because the sooner he gets back to work the sooner he'll pay my bill."

A Discrimination.

"Everybody admires a good loser."

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "But nobody envies him."

U-BOATS LOCKED IN BRUGES BASIN

British Admiralty Announces That Most of Foe's Submarines Are Imprisoned.

RECENT RAID SUCCESS

Heavy Artillery Fire Reported North of Somme Front—Coming German Drive Believed to be Aimed at Arras Sector.

Paris, May 21.—French and Italian troops have made an advance of 12½ miles on the western end of the Macedonian front, the war office announces.

London, May 21.—The greater portion of the German submarine and torpedo craft, formerly operating from bases in Flanders, has been immobilized in Bruges, the British admiralty announces.

"Recent reconnaissances show no change in the positions at Bruges and Zeebrugge since April 23," the statement said.

The announcement is accepted as meaning that the blocking of Ostend and Zeebrugge harbors by the sinking of concrete filled ships has locked the German craft in the basin at Bruges—the interior base connected with Ostend and Zeebrugge by canals.

Artillery Fight Continues.

London, May 21.—Significance may attach to the reports the official statements are now carrying of heavy artillery fire in the sector between Arras and Albert, which comprises the northerly continuation of the Somme battlefront.

London thus announces a considerable increase in the German artillery activity between Albert and Bucquoy, a 10 mile front covering about half the distance between Albert and Arras.

Similarly the German official statement reported the British guns busy along the entire Albert-Arras front where the German batteries were subjected to a violent fire.

Salient Stops Enemy.

It is along this line that many of the military observers are qualifiedly predicting that the expected German blow will be struck.

The reduction of the Arras salient by a mighty blow would carry the Germans far toward Doulens, 18 miles north of Amiens and about 13 miles west of the present fighting line. Capture of this valuable junction point would badly disrupt the Allied communication lines, and such an operation would most inevitably carry Amiens also into enemy possession.

Against such a stroke Allies are reported to have forces heavily massed and to be confidently awaiting the result of a possible attack.

12 KILLED, 25 HURT IN STORM

Bloomfield, Neb., Swept by Tornado With Fatal Results.

Bloomfield, Neb., May 21.—Twelve persons were killed, mostly children, and 25 injured, some dangerously, by a tornado that swept this portion of Nebraska.

The dead are Mrs. Herman Hagges and one chid; Mr. and Mrs. August Fredrickson and two children; five children of one family at the Spinner place; one child at the Pieper farm.

Ladysmith, Wis., May 21.—A tornado starting in the township of Grant, four miles south of here, and extending northeast eight miles to a point north of Glenflora, killed a farm woman, injured two other persons and demolished every building in its way, including 11 large barns, including one at the county poor farm at Glenflora.

200 ARE UNACCOUNTED FOR

Probable Death Roll as Result of TNT. Blast.

Pittsburgh, May 21.—Two hundred employees of the Oakdale Chemical company were still unaccounted for at 10 o'clock. This included workers of the night shift, many of whom lived in cabins near the plant, which were destroyed by Saturday's first big blast of TNT. Officials today admitted that additions to the death roll may be expected.

U-BOAT IS SUNK BY TRAWLER

German Submarine Commander Captured and Prisoners Freed.

Paris, May 21.—The trawler Ailly sank a German submarine, captured the commander and liberated the captain and crew of a Spanish sailing vessel who had been taken prisoner, a dispatch from Toulon says.

Appeal for Nurses.

Washington, Nov. 21.—"We should have now in this country 10,000 public health nurses," said Miss Annie Goodrich, federal inspector of military hospitals and president of the American Nurses' association, in an appeal to the college women of the country to enter the nursing profession. Miss Goodrich asserted that the number of nurses required for work at the front in hospitals in this country and for general public and private nursing will increase steadily as the war goes on.

WILSON OPENS R. C. CAMPAIGN

Great Demonstration Is Given to President in New York Meeting.

$100,000,000 ASKED

Chief Executive Marched in Great Parade at Head of Red Cross Workers in New York City.

New York, May 20.—The American Red Cross drive for a second $100,000,000 war fund was opened here Saturday night by President Wilson in an address at the Metropolitan opera house. He was given a great demonstration upon his entrance to the hall at 8:30 p. m., following a day's activities in which he had marched at the head of a great procession of 75,000 "soldiers of mercy," many of them gray haired women of the Red Cross. The parade here was described as only one of 1,500 parades with five million Red Cross workers, marching on the same afternoon in behalf of the nation's great drive.

The president prefaced his address by saying he did not come to tell of the work of the Red Cross but to tell "what I think it all means."

"There are two duties with which we are face to face," he said. "The first duty is to win the war. The second is to win it greatly and worthily."

"I have heard men say," he said, "that we must put 5,000,000 men into France. Why limit to that number? Every ship," he added, "shall go on every voyage with every man and all the supplies it can carry."

The president said he had tested the Teutonic nations and found them insincere. "For the first time in history the world has seen an unselfish war. I cannot fight for a selfish purpose, but I am proud to fight for mankind," he said.

"Nothing in one hundred years has knitted the nation together as has the war. It also," said he, "is knitting the world together."

"Liberal giving to the Red Cross," the president said, "is every man's duty. This is the war that will save the world. The war is being fought that the world may be a better place to live in," he added.

Red Cross Aid Is Giving to Self.

"In giving to the Red Cross," said the president, "a man is giving to himself. One of the damning things against the Germans," he said, "is that they have not respected the Red Cross."

The president concluded by declaring he summoned the American people to say how unanimously they are ready to sustain the hearts of the world by contributions to the Red Cross. "The organization," he said, "is aiding in bringing the American people together into one great family.

"Only where peoples are free do they realize their interdependence upon one another."

EXPLOSION KILLS 200 MEN

"TNT" Lets Go in Pennsylvania Munition Works.

Pittsburgh, May 20.—Probably 200 men were killed when an explosion of TNT demolished the plant of the Aetna Chemical company at Oakdale, 16 miles from here.

Five hundred workmen in the explosives plant startled at noon by a report, not much louder than the crack of a pistol, rushed for the nearest exit, but before they could gain the open, the very air seemed to burst into flame, the earth heaved and rocked. The long factory buildings were hurled high into the air, carrying with them ponderous equipment and scores of men.

The complete toll of dead may not be known for days, if indeed it ever is known. State and county authorities agreed it would reach probably 200.

NO DETAILS ON PEACE PACT

Jap-China Agreement Not Yet Clearly Understood.

Washington, May 20.—Details still were lacking at the state department with regard to the agreement between Japan and China for the protection from German aggression of their interests in the far east.

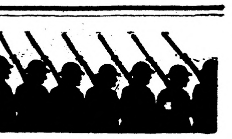
Summarizing available information regarding the pact, state department officials made it clear that the agreement was only for the period of the war and solely for defensive purposes.

Information was lacking as to whether the agreement would involve movement into Siberia of a force of Chinese and Japanese troops.

Store Manager Under Arrest.

Fargo, N. D., May 20.—J. W. Brinton, general manager of the Consumers' United States company, was arrested Saturday on a federal warrant charging that he made remarks in an address at Garrison "with the intent to interfere with the operation and success of the military and naval forces of the United States."

Preliminary hearing was held before United States Commissioner John G. Pfeffer, where Mr. Brinton waived examination and was held to the federal grand jury.



MARCH TO VICTORY

Courage is a matter of the blood. Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale or pimply, generally weak, tired and listless, one should take a spring tonic. One that will do the spring housecleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody nearly 50 years ago is still safe and sane because it contains no alcohol or narcotic. It is made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark—extracted with glycerine and made into liquid or tablets. This blood tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready-to-use form and since then has been sold by million bottles as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If druggists do not keep this in tablet form, send 60 cents for a vial to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Kidney disease carries away a large percentage of our people. What is to be done? The answer is easy. Eat less meat, eat coarse, plain food, with plenty of vegetables, drink plenty of water between meals, and take an uric acid solvent after meals for a while, such as Anuric (double strength), obtainable at almost any drug store. It was first discovered by Dr. Pierce. Most every one troubled with uric acid finds that Anuric dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar. You can obtain a trial package by sending ten cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y.

Self-Deception.

"Lemme see one o' dem cuckoo clocks," said Mr. Erastus.

"Here you are."

"Could you kind o' change de tune a little?"

"What's the idea?"

"I wants an alarm clock. I don' take to dese hasty an' excited alarm clocks. If you could train one o' dese to cackle like a chicken, I could wake up spry an' hopeful every time."

Test Soldier's Brains.

The psychological and brain tests to which our enlisted men are being subjected are something new in military tactics. In other wars men were not put into the ranks if they showed noticeable signs of mental infirmity. Now they do not stop with asking if he is crazy, but they go further and determine by established tests whether he is apt to go crazy if exposed to the strain and shock of battle. Doctor Gorgas instituted this new examination, and under it many men have been turned back from the path to "over there" and detailed to some phase of government service "over there." They are not generally told why the change is made, but are expected to give soldierly obedience to the order. To tell them would be to set up a state of self-suspicion that would be very harmful.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

A Literal Translation.

My brother while home from Camp Grant told this incident that happened recently in the camp. Two of the boys in his company were placed in the guardhouse one morning and were surprised to see each other.

One said, "Well, Mac, what you in there for?"

"Why, I'm in here on account of my furlong."

"You don't mean furlong; you mean furlough."

"No, I don't; I went too 'fur' and I stayed too long."—Exchange.

ALL WOMAN HAD IN WORLD

Pathetic Plea Made to Governor Goodrich Asking Him to Allow Liberty to Her Dog.

"All I have in this world is my poor dog," a southern Indiana woman said in a heartfelt, pathetic letter to Governor Goodrich, begging him not to make a law "that no one is allowed to let their dogs out this summer." Possibly an owner of sheep spread a report that an offensive campaign is to be conducted against dogs this year.

The letter:

"Governor Goodrich: Beg pardon. Could I ask you a question they say you are going to make a law that no one is allowed to let their dogs out this summer. Would you be so kind to not pass that law? I have a dog is all I have in this world. I would not like to see him locked up all summer while the weather is nice they like to be out.

"I pay taxes for him.

Don't Be Afraid of Your Meals

Take "Eatonic" and Laugh At Stomach Troubles

H. L. Kramer, the man who originated Cascarets, has discovered a sure, safe, quick-acting relief for bad stomachs. He named it EATONIC for your stomach's sake.

You can eat anything you like now and digest it in comfort, for stomach ease is positively assured if you eat an EATONIC tablet regularly after each meal.

EATONIC acts directly with the food the moment it enters the stomach. It immediately checks any tendency toward too much acid and enables the food to pass from the stomach into the bowel in a sweetened condition, and thus prevents the formation of sour distressing gases that upset digestion and cause a bloated, dull, lumpy feeling that makes your FOOD REPEAT.

EATONIC enables you to eat your fill and laugh at indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, "sour stomach" and all the other bugaboos of "the-man-afraid-of-his-stomach."

Kramer says: "EATONIC should be in every home ready for use after every meal. An EATONIC tablet will aid you naturally to easily digest and assimilate—your food can be thoroughly enjoyed without the slightest danger of misery from acid stomach. I strongly advise every one to take EATONIC after meals. To correct bad stomachs and keep them in perfect condition, it is a most wonderful discovery."

If EATONIC fails to give you prompt stomach relief, your money will be refunded; 50c buys a large box at any drug store. Or write to Eatonic Remedy Co., 1018 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, U. S. A.

Crookston.—The Central avenue bridge over the Northern Pacific is open to traffic after being closed for the past several weeks for repairs. The grade has been lowered and a sharp dropoff has been fixed, the bridge now being in first-class condition.

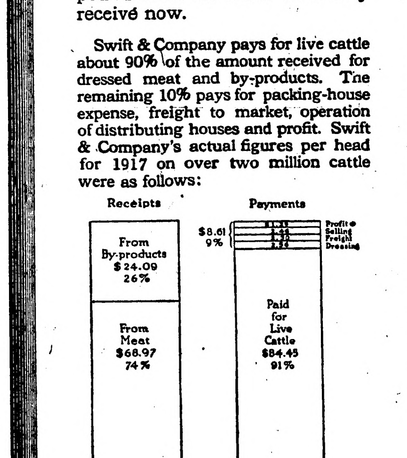
SWIFT & COMPANY U.S.A.

If Swift & Company Made No Profit

The cattle raiser would receive only ⅛ cent a pound more for his cattle

So small is Swift & Company's profit on any single transaction that if it were turned over to the cattle raisers of the country, they would receive only ⅛ cent a pound more for cattle than they receive now.

Swift & Company pays for live cattle about 90% of the amount received for dressed meat and by-products. The remaining 10% pays for packing-house expense, freight to market, operation of distributing houses and profit. Swift & Company's actual figures per head for 1917 on over two million cattle were as follows:



* This net profit of $1.29 per head averages ⅛ cent a pound live weight.

And out of this small net profit dividends must be paid to shareholders.

Conscientious Cuss.

"Enos Dubblehook is the most conscientious gent in town," related the landlord of the Petunia tavern. "The other evening the fellers here in the office were telling funny stories, and Enos got off one about a drunken man meeting a ghost. He strung the yarn out quite a distance, and then, after he had got through and we had all laughed politely, he recollected that a drunken man always says 'Hic!' And so, as he wanted to be perfectly accurate, he told the whole story over again, putting in the missing hiccoughs at the proper intervals. I sometimes think that with a little different education Enos would have made a first-class German spy."—Kansas City Star.

Easy to figure the Profits

Where in Western Canada you can buy at from $15 to $30 per acre good farm land that will raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre of $2 wheat — its easy to figure the profits. Many Western Canadian farmers (scores of them from the U. S.) have paid for their land from a single crop. Such an opportunity for 100% profit on labor and investment is worth investigation.

ONE HUNDRED MERCIFUL MILLIONS

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

ONE Hundred Millions for the Red Cross and not one penny of it for red tape.

The mightiest charity, the noblest and broadest volunteer movement of history.

The Red Cross shares no enmities, serves no flag but its own. It is God's agent. His healing, merciful will—the answer of twenty ever-gentler centuries to red barbarism.

Twelve million orphan children are wandering about Europe—twelve million frightened little boys and terrorized little girls, sent adrift to sob alone and perish in the wastes—to live like swine and die like curs, unless magnificent America ransoms them from death—and worse.

How many of your pitying dollars will search the desolations and save them for Tomorrow's works?

The Red Cross needs another Hundred Million, to glean the battle areas for this precious seed before it rots in mind and body—before grief and horror and disease and unrestraint irrevocably blight them.

One Hundred Millions to prevent famine and stifle pestilence, to stamp out hideous fevers, to check an earth-wide wave of tuberculosis, to destroy shuddering filths where verminous plagues feed and breed and threaten all the universe.

One Hundred Millions to found hospitals and build rest stations, to send nurses to the Front and refugees back, to equip surgical units and furnish artificial limbs, to buy medicines and operating instruments, to re-educate the mutilated and show the blind where Hope still shines.

One Hundred Millions to maintain communication with detention camps, to provide war prisoners with food and raiment, to take messages out and bring letters in, to procure comforts and privileges for the captured, to buy blankets for them and clothes and books and tobacco.

One Hundred Millions for No Man's Land—for stretchers and ambulances, for anesthetic and bandages and antiseptics, to train nurses and orderlies, to outfit and transport skilled specialists, to make sure that a dear one shall have a clean, sweet cot and a sweet, clean girl from home beside it.

One Hundred Millions to keep the world sound and wholesome, while the armies of Justice hold it safe.

I Am the Red Cross

HENRY PAYSON DOWST

(With acknowledgments to Robert H. Davis, author of "I Am the Printing Press.")

I am the Symbol of the pity of God.

I burgeon upon the flaunting banner of victory and the drooping guidon of defeat.

I am the token of peace in the midst of battle, of gentleness shining through the sombre mists of hate.

I am a chevron on the sleeve of mercy, an honor mark set high upon the brow of compassion.

I am the color of blood spilled for democracy, the form of Christ's tree of agony, and my followers, at need, crucify themselves to make men live.

I carry the hope of life into the red pits of death, and a dying soldier salutes me and smiles as he goes to touch the hand of God Almighty.

I stand for the organized love of mankind, the co-ordinated impulses of young and old to do good, the sacred efficiency of human service.

I mark the flag under which are mobilized the forces of industry and finance, of church and school, of capital, of labor, of genius and of sinew.

I am Civilization's Godspeed to those who defend her; I am the message from home.

I am the Symbol of the pity of God.

I AM THE RED CROSS.

750 Children Herded In Dirty Dilapidated Building Typical Red Cross Case

[illegible] official of a French city that was [illegible] filled with gas bombs by the [illegible] found himself confronted with the problem of looking after 750 children. He telegraphed the American Red Cross in Paris for help. Fifteen trained workers were rushed to [illegible] of these children.

[illegible] what the Red Cross workers [illegible]: Twenty-one tiny babies under [illegible] and 729 children under [illegible] years. They were herded in an [illegible] unfurnished building, without [illegible] of sanitary convenience. It was the best and safest the [illegible] official could find at such a [illegible] but you would not think it fit [illegible].

[illegible] is what the American Red Cross workers did in two days: They thoroughly cleaned and transferred to new buildings outside the city the entire 750 children. Red Cross doctors attended the sick; nurses were secured for the babies. Suitable food was provided for all, and they were so classified as to provide against the separation of families; also an organization for the permanent care of these children, including their education, was started and has since been put into operation.

So much for the 750. But how about the thousands upon thousands of others. Right now the little children of France are at your doors crying for food, shelter, protection against German brutality and dying as they cry-

J. M. Swan shipped another car of cattle to the markets Tuesday.

A good rain Saturday, another on Tuesday, furnishes lots of moisture.

A. S. Boernstein moved from Carpenter, Iowa, onto his farm near Golden Valley, the latter part of last week.

Miss Nellie Saastad returned home Monday from Thief River Falls having graduated from the high school with honors.

John Johnson and family drove to T. R. Falls Wednesday evening to see a physician about their baby who was sick.

Some of the young people got up a surprise party for Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Hall Monday night and all had a most enjoyable time.

It's not too late yet for that war garden and you owe it to yourself and your country to plant it. Do it now, before it is Too Late.

Mrs. Chas. Skoglund who attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Gus Gundvall at Milaca, Minn. returned home last week Thursday.

Mrs. Will Werner spent a couple of days in T. R. Falls last week, returning Saturday to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Peterson.

A large circle of friends gave a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Larson on Wednesday evening in honor of their son Ludvik who leaves Monday for Camp Lewis.

Mrs. Andrew Thoreson of T. R. Falls and her mother from the southern part of the state visited Mrs. R. Reierson between trains Wednesday.

All the proceeds of the Ladies Aid lunch at the church next Thursday will be donated to the Red Cross. Everyone is cordially invited to help this cause both by furnishing for the lunch and also helping to eat it.

Postmaster Engebretson autoed to T. R. Falls Friday with his helper Ida Kjelgren. The doctor reported the latter enough better so that she expects to remain in the post office for awhile longer.

The Holt township board met in town Monday to make arrangements for the Red Cross drive. Their apportionment is $150.00, and they need the help of everyone, so be sure to do your part, and that too right cheerfully.

Mrs. Joe Mongoven of Erskine came last week to visit at the home of her brother, John Melquist and family. Mrs. Melquist and Mrs. Mougoven went to Skime Monday to visit at the home of the latters sister for a few days.

Mesdames Docken and Bakke pleasantly entertained a number of young folks at a reception last Saturday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Docken. A delicious luncheon was served, after which the evening was spent in giving advice of great import to the newly weds and playing of games.

August Nass and daughter Sophie, H. Ekerdahlen and daughter Agnes and Mrs. Halfden Hanson autoed to T. R. Falls Friday, the latter to see her daughter Helen who is in the hospital just recovering from an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Ekerdahlen went to see his physician Dr. Paulson, who said he was much better which fact we are pleased to state.

Last week we copied from The Warren Sheaf the list of names given by the draft board that they thot would probably be drawn from this vicinity in the next draft, but it seems they were mistaken in regard to most of the names. Last weeks Warren Register stated that just as they were about ready to go to press they received from the board the list of the registrants who will leave next Monday May 27th for Camp Lewis, Tacoma, Wash. Those from this vicinity on the list are:

Ole C. Johnson, Clarence Docken Ludvik Larson and Geo. Svenkeson.

We understand the above named young men have also received official notice to report in Warren Monday for military service.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale, which mortgage was duly executed and delivered by John H. Weinzierl and Bess Weinzierl, his wife, Mortgagors, to A. D. Stephens, Mortgagee, bearing date the 30th day of April, 1915 and duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Marshall and State of Minnesota on the 5th day of May 1915, at 8:30 o'clock A. M. in book 71 of Mortgages, on page 396.

Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by the said A. D. Stephens, Mortgagee, to The Merchants National Bank of Crookston, Minn., by written assignment, dated on the 1st day of June, 1915, and recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on the 14th day of August, 1916, at 8 o'clock A. M., in book 75 of Mortgages on page 308.

Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by the said The Merchants National Bank of Crookston, Minn., assignee, to Edward P. Sanborn by written assignment dated the 27th day of December, 1916, and recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on the 9th day of May, 1918, at 2:00 o'clock P. M. in book 90 of Mortgages on page [illegible].

Which mortgage together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned by the said Edward P. Sanborn, assignee, to Holt State Bank, Holt, Minnesota, by written assignment dated the 29th day of April, 1918, and recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds on the [illegible] day of May, 1918 at 2:10 o'clock P. M. in book 86 of Mortgages on page 172,

And whereas the said Holt State Bank, Holt, Minnesota, the assignee and holder of said mortgage has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and power of sale therein contained and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand, One Hundred and Sixteen and 89-100 ($1116.89) Dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The South half of the Northwest quarter (S 1-2 NW 1-4) and Lots Three (3) and Four (4) of Section One (1) in Township One Hundred Fifty eight (158) North of Range Forty (40) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian in Minnesota containing One Hundred Sixty and 90-100 (160.90) acres more or less according to the United States Government survey thereof, in Marshall County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Marshall County at the West front door of the Court House in the City of Warren in said County and State, on the 29th day of June, 1918 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that date, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of One Thousand, One Hundred Sixteen and 89-100 ($1116.89) Dollars and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and Fifty ($50.00) Dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated May 14th 1918. Holt State Bank, Holt, Minn. (a corporation) Assignee of Mortgage.

A. N. Eckstrom, Attorney for Assignee of Mortgage, Warren, Minnesota.

A special offering for the Red Cross will be received at the Free Mission Sunday School at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. Parents are urged to see that their children do not forget their offering, also they can send one too if they wish. All money received at this time will be turned over to B. Docken, treasurer, of the local Red Cross auxilliary.

S. S. Kolden for County Auditor.

Our former townsman, S. S. Kolden has filed for the office of county auditor and we take pleasure in making this announcement to our readers. For several years he was one of the foremost business men of this place and made a record for honesty and fair dealing that any man could be justly proud of.

Having been in business almost all his life and part of the time as an assistant in a county office, Mr. Kolden is well qualified for the office he seeks. He has done his share in the development of this country, has helped all good causes and always bore his share of taxes and all other expenses that come to a community.

Mr. Kolden has not made any promises in advance, does not belong to any ring or clique and is not under obligations to any man or set of men, and is therefore entitled to the vote of every fair minded citizen who wants both economy and justice done in the auditors office.

WILSON ASKS CONGRESS FOR JUST TAX BILL

President In Address to Congress Demands War Tax Revenue Legislation.

QUIT POLITICS IS PLEA

Consideration Dominating Every Other Now Is Winning of War Says Executive—Profiteering Must Be Crushed By Taxation.

Washington, May 28.—President Wilson personally took charge of the war tax legislation tangle and appearing unexpectedly before a joint session of congress, declared it was necessary to proceed immediately with new war tax laws. He spoke as follows:

The President's Message.

Gentlemen of the congress:

It is with unaffected reluctance that I come to ask you to prolong your session long enough to provide more adequate resources for the treasury for the conduct of the war. I have reason to appreciate as fully as you do how arduous the session has been. Your labors have been severe and protracted. You have passed a long series of measures which required the debate of many doubtful questions of judgment and many exceedingly difficult questions of principle as well as of practice. The summer is upon us in which labor and counsel are twice arduous and are constantly apt to be impaired by lassitude and fatigue. The elections are at hand and we ought as soon as possible to go and render an intimate account of our trusteeship to the people who delegated us to act for them in the weighty and anxious matters that crowd upon us in these days of critical choice and action. But we dare not go to the elections until we have done our duty to the full. These are days when duty stands stark and naked and even with closed eyes we know it is there. Excuses are unavailing. We have either done our duty or we have not. The fact will be as gross and plain as duty itself. In such a case lassitude and fatigue seem negligible enough. The facts are tonic, and suffice to freshen the labor.

Additional Taxes Needed.

And the facts are these. Additional revenues must manifestly be provided for. It would be most unsound policy to raise too large a proportion of them by loan and it is evident that the four billions now provided for by taxation will not of themselves sustain the greatly enlarged budget to which we must immediately look forward. We cannot in fairness wait until the end of the fiscal year is at hand to apprise our people of the taxes they must pay on their earnings of the present calendar year, whose accountings and expenditures will then be closed. We cannot get increased taxes unless the country knows what they are to be and practises the necessary economy to make them available. Definiteness, early definiteness, as to what its tasks are to be is absolutely necessary for the successful administration of the treasury. It cannot frame fair and workable regulations in haste. And it must frame its regulations in haste if it is not to know its exact task until the very eve of its performance.

The present tax laws are marred, morever, by inequities which ought to be remedied. Indisputable facts, every one; and we cannot alter or blink them. To state them is argument enough.

Would Prevent Inflation.

And yet perhaps you will permit me to dwell for a moment upon the situation they disclose. Enormous loans freely spent in the stimulation of industry of almost every sort produce inflations and extravagances which presently make the whole economic structure questionable and insecure and the very basis of credit is cut away. Only fair, equitably distributed taxation of the widest incidence and drawing chiefly from the sources which would be likely to demoralize credit by their very abundance, can prevent inflation and keep our industrial system free from speculation and waste. We shall naturally turn, therefore, I suppose to war profits and incomes and luxuries for the additional taxes. But the war profits and incomes upon which the increased taxes will be levied will be the profits and incomes of the calendar year 1918. It would be manifestly unfair to wait until the early months of 1919 to say what they are to be.

It might be difficult, I should imagine, to run the mill with water that had already gone over the wheel.

Politics Is Adjourned.

That is the situation, and it is the situation which creates the duty, no choice or preference of ours. There is only one way to meet that duty. We must meet it without selfishness or fear of consequences. Politics is adjourned. The elections will go to those who think least of it, to those who go to the constituencies without explanation or excuses, with a plain record of duty faithfully and disinterestedly performed. I for one, am always confident that the people of this country will give a just verdict upon the service of the men who act for them when the facts are such that no man can disguise or conceal them. There is no danger of deceit now. An intense and pitiless light beats upon every man and every action in this tragic plot of war that is now upon the stage. If lobbyists hurry to Washington to attempt to turn what you do in the matter of taxation to their protection or advantage the light will beat also upon them.

There is abundant fuel for the light in the records of the treasury with regard to profits of every sort. The profiteering that cannot be got at by the restraints of consequences and love of country can be got at by taxation. There is such profiteering now and the information in regard to it is available and indisputable.

Asks Share In Responsibility.

I am advising you to act upon this matter of taxation now, gentlemen, not because I do not know that you can see and interpret the facts and the duty they impose just as well and with as clear a perception of the obligations involved as I can, but because there is a certain solemn satisfaction in sharing with you the responsibilities of such a time. The world never stood in such case before. Men never before had so clear or so moving a vision of duty. I know that you will begrude the work to be done here by us no more than the men begrudge us their's who lie in the trenches and sally forth to their death. There is a stimulating comradeship knitting us together.

And this task to which I invite your immediate consideration will be performed under favorable influences if we will look to what the country is thinking and expecting and care nothing at all for what is being said and believed in the lobbies of Washington hotels, where the atmosphere seems to make it possible to believe what is believed nowhere else.

Have you not felt the spirit of the nation rise and its thought become a single and common thought since these eventful days came in which we have been sending our boys to the other side? I think you must read that thought, as I do, to mean this, that the people of this country are not only united in the resolute purpose to win this war, but are ready and willing to bear any burden and undergo any sacrifice that it may be necessary for them to bear in order to win it. We need not be afraid to tax them if we lay taxes justly. They know that the war must be paid for and that it is they who must pay for it and if the burden is justly distributed and the sacrifice made a common sacrifice from which none escapes who can bear it at all, they will carry it cheerfully and with a sort of solemn pride.

I have always been proud to be an American, and was never more proud than now, when all that we have said and all that we have foreseen about our people is coming true. The great days have come when the only thing that they ask for or admire is duty, greatly and adequately done; when the only wish for America is that she may share freedom she enjoys; when a great, compelling sympathy swells up in their hearts for men everywhere who suffer and are oppressed and when they see at last the high uses for which their wealth has been piled up and their mighty power accumulated and, counting neither blood nor treasure now that the final day of opportunity has come rejoice to spend and to be spent through a long night of suffering and terror in order that they and men everywhere may see the dawn of a day of righteousness and justice and peace. Shall we grow weary when they bid us act?

Prince Arthur Entertained.

Washington, May 28.—Prince Arthur of Connaught, first cousin of King George of England, who is on his way to Japan, on a special mission, was entertained at luncheon by President Wilson. Later, with Lord Reading, the British ambassador, the prince and members of his party called on Vice President Marshall at the capital. The prince was introduced to Majority Leaders Martin and Kitchin, and other members of the Senate and House.

Censor of Morals Suspended.

Chicago, May 28.—Acting Chief of Police Alcock suspended Major M. L. C. Funkhouser, second deputy superintendent of police, and two of his aides, declaring that for some time he has been unable to get co-operation of the major and his division. Major Funkhouser has been the center of a fight for the last five years. His war on vice and improper motion pictures has made him a nationally known character and has brought him many enemies.

FIGHT OR WORK, CROWDER'S ORDER

Ball Players, Bartenders, Golfers, Clerks, Gamblers, Must Find Useful Employment.

ACTORS ON EXEMPTED LIST

Sweeping Edict, Effective July 1, to Make Nation Efficient in War, Takes Registrants Out of the Deferred Class.

Bulletin.

Washington, May 23.—General Crowder's new "work-or-fight" regulations may require professional baseball players either to engage in some useful occupation or to join the army. Baseball players, as well as jockeys, professional golfers and other professional sportsmen, General Crowder said today, will be affected by the regulations if strictly enforced. General Crowder said he did not desire to make specific rulings at this time and would make rulings only when cases came to him from local boards after July 1.

Bulletin.

Washington, May 23.—Theatrical performers have been excepted from the new draft regulations at the direction of Secretary Baker, who is said to feel that the people cannot do without all amusement in war time and that other amusements could be dispensed with more readily.

THESE ARE HIT BY ORDER TO FIGHT OR WORK.

- Idlers.
- Gamblers.
- Bucket shop employees.
- Race track attendants.
- Clairvoyants and the like.
- Professional golfers.
- Professional baseball players (probably).
- Elevator operators at clubs and stores.
- Club and hotel doormen.
- Waiters in hotels and clubs.
- Ushers in theaters.
- Attendants at sports.
- Persons in domestic service.
- Clerks in stores.

Specially Exempt.

- Actors.

Washington, May 23.—Provost Marshal General Crowder today announced that every man of draft age must work or fight after July 1. The order is under a drastic amendment to the selective service regulations. All draft registrants, besides idlers, in what are held to be nonuseful occupations, will be given an opportunity before local boards to choose a new job or join the army.

Gamblers, race track and bucket shop attendants and fortune tellers head the list, but those who will be reached by the new regulation also include waiters and bartenders, theater ushers and attendants, passenger elevator operators and other attendants of clubs, hotels, stores, etc., domestics and clerks in stores.

Deferred classification granted on account of dependents will be disregarded entirely in applying the rule. A man may be at the bottom of class 1, or even in class 4, but if he fails within the regulation and refuses to take useful employment he will be given a new number in class 1 that will send him into the military service forthwith. Local boards are authorized to use discretion only where they find that enforced change of employment would result in disproportionate hardship upon his dependents.

May Solve the Labor Problem.

The statement of the provost marshal general's office is as follows:

"Provost Marshal General Crowder today announced an amendment to the selective service regulations which deals with the great question of compelling men not engaged in a useful occupation immediately to apply themselves to some form of labor, contributing to the general good. The idler, too, will find himself confronted with the alternative of finding suitable employment or entering the army.

"This regulation provides that after July 1, any registrant who is found by a local board to be a habitual idler or not engaged in some useful occupation shall be summoned before the board, given a chance to explain and, in the absence of a satisfactory explanation, to be inducted into the military service of the United States.

"Any local board will be authorized to take action, whether it has an original jurisdiction of the registrant or not; in other words, any man loafing around a poolroom in Chicago may be held to answer to a Chicago board even though he may have registered in New York and lived there most of his life.

"The regulations which apply to idle registrants will be deemed to apply also to gamblers of all description and employees and attendants of bucket-shops and race tracks, fortune tellers, clairvoyants, palmists and the like, who for the purpose of the regulations shall be considered as idlers.

"The new regulation will also affect the following classes:

"(a) Persons engaged in the serving of food and drink, or either, in public places, including hotels and social clubs.

"(b) Passenger elevator operators and attendants, doormen, footmen and other attendants of clubs, hotels, stores, apartment houses, office buildings and bathhouses.

"(c) Persons, including ushers and other attendants, engaged and occupied in, and in connection with, games, sports and amusements, excepting actual performers in legitimate concerts, operas or theatrical performance.

"(d) Persons employed in domestic service.

"(e) Sales clerks and other clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments.

"Men who are engaged as above or who are idlers will not be permitted to seek relief because of the fact that they have drawn a later order number or because they have been placed in class II, III or IV on the grounds of dependency. The fact that he is not usefully employed will outweigh both of the above conditions.

"It is expected that the list of nonuseful occupations will be extended from time to time as necessity will require so as to include persons in other employments.

"Temporary absences from regular employment not to exceed one week, unless such temporary absences are habitual and frequent, shall not be considered as idleness. Regular vacations will not be considered as absences in this connection.

"The regulation further provides that where such a change of employment would compel the night employment of women under circumstances which a board might deem unsuitable for such employment of women the board may take such circumstances into consideration in making its decision."

General Crowder Explains Plan.

Explaining the new regulation and the necessity for it, General Crowder said:

"The war has so far disorganized the normal adjustment of industrial man power as to prevent the enormous industrial output and national organization necessary to success.

"There is a popular demand for organization of man power, but no direct draft could be imposed at present.

"Steps to prohibit idleness and noneffective occupation will be welcomed by our people.

"We shall give the idlers and men not effectively employed the choice between military service and effective employment. Every man, in the draft age at least, must work or fight.

"This is not alone a war or military maneuver. It is a deadly contest of industries and mechanics.

Must Copy German Machine.

"Germany must not be thought of as merely possessing an army, we must think of her as being an army—an army in which every factory and loom in the empire is a recognized part in a complete machine running night and day at terrific speed. We must make of ourselves the same sort of effective machine.

"It is not enough to ask what would happen if every man in the nation turned his hand to effective work. We must make ourselves effective. We must organize for the future. We must make vast withdrawals for the army and immediately close up the ranks of industry behind the gap with an accelerating production of every useful thing in necessary measure. How is this to be done?

"The answer is plain. The first step toward the solution of the difficulty is to prohibit engagement by able-bodied men in the field of hurtful employment, idleness or ineffectual employment, and thus induce and persuade the vast wasted excess into useful fields.

"The very situation we are now considering, however, offers great possibilities in improvement of the draft as well as great possibilities for the composition of the labor situation by effective administration of the draft. Considering the selective service law, we see two principal causes of detriment of the call to military service—exemption and the order numbers assigned by lot.

Exemptions In Two Categories.

"The exemptions themselves fall into two conspicuous categories—dependency and industrial employment. One protects domestic relations, the other the economic interests of the nation. Between the two there is an inevitable hiatus, for it is demonstrably true that thousands, if not millions, of dependency exemptions have no effect of industrial protection whatever.

"One of the unanswerable criticisms of the draft has been that it takes men from the farms and from all useful employments and marches them past crowds of idlers and loafers to the army. The remedy is simple—to couple the industrial basis with other grounds for exemption and to require that any man pleading exemption on any ground shall also show that he is contributing effectively to the industrial welfare of the nation."

News of the State

Condensed for Busy Folks

Northfield.—About 200 members of the Minnesota Holstein-Friesian Breeders' association held their annual spring meeting here at Northfield.

Mahnomen.—Ira C. McCoy, manual training teacher at the Mahnomen high school, left last week for Minneapolis to teach at the Dunwoody Institute.

St. Paul.—The Minnesota Episcopal diocese council, at its sixty-first annual convention in Christ church, pledged its undivided support to President Wilson and Congress.

Red Wing.—Goodhue county will expend $75,983.52 in the permanent improvement of highways this summer. The contracts on state and Federal road projects were awarded by the county commissioners.

Fosston.—The Fosston school was one of a few in this state able to qualify for Federal aid in agriculture under the Smith-Hughes act which will mean additional aid of from $500 to $700 per year in agriculture.

Hawley.—H. B. Bjorge, night man at the Northern Pacific station here, received an inquiry from the war department if he would take $150 a month and go abroad as an operator. He quickly answered in the affirmative.

Red Lake Falls.—A request that the Great Northern railway widen its depot platform in this city will be made upon Great Northern officials by the Red Lake Falls Commercial club, resolutions to this effect having been adopted unanimously.

Crookston.—With Rev. S. Arthur Cook, D. D., pastor of the First M. E. church of Sault Ste. Marie, delivering the address, fifty-three boys and girls will be graduated from the Crookston high school at exercises to be held in the Armory, May 31.

International Falls.—Fire destroyed the storehouse and home of P. A. Pearson of Loman, together with contents. In addition to the household furniture the loss included the summer's supplies for the family, a logging outfit, the total loss being $2,000.

Winona.—Winona county voters will have an opportunity at the June primaries to cast their ballots for a candidate who will have gone to war. M. M. Selt, candidate for register of deeds, has been called in the quota to entrain May 25 for Camp Lewis, Wash.

East Grand Forks.—The local Presbyterian church, under the direction of its pastor, Rev. F. C. Oliver, has started a nonsectarian employment agency. Run free of charge, this work is expected to help solve the difficulty of bringing the employers of farm labor and men looking for work together.

Wheaton.—Charles A. Swanson, operating a gas tractor, was nearly killed when his clothing became entangled in a revolving shaft. He was drawn into the revolving fly-wheel and lacerated and strangled. He probably will recover because of the rapid action of Ed Nelson, engineer in charge.

Rochester.—Frank Mohr and his two sons, 15 and 21, were drowned in the Zumbro river here. They were fishing. The younger son started across the river, encountered a deep hole and sank. His father attempted to rescue him. He went down. Then the older son attempted to rescue the two and he, too, drowned.

Minneapolis.—Mrs. Minnie Heyer, 29 years old, wife of Louis Heyer, was found dead in her home, and her two children, Victor, 4 years old, and Laura, 2 years old, were found unconscious from carbon monoxide poisoning. Victor regained consciousness at the Minneapolis City hospital. Mrs. Heyer was heating water on a gas range and the room was poorly ventilated.

St. Paul.—Interest received upon state funds in the hands of Henry Rines, state treasurer, for the year ending May 1, 1918, amounts to $170,721.35, an increase of $60,259.78 over the previous year. Some of this increase is due to an increase in funds, but the greater portion is due to larger deposits having been kept in the inactive banks which pay three per cent interest as against two per cent in the active or checking account banks. It is the policy of Mr. Rines to keep as much of the state's funds in the inactive accounts, which has resulted in a large increase in the state's interest account. Included in the interest collections for the past year is $3,567.94 received as interest from daily deposits of departmental funds. Previous to May 1, 1917, these funds were deposited monthly and the state received no interest for collection made during the month. The law directing daily payments of these collections was passed by the 1917 legislature at the suggestion of State Treasurer Henry Rines.

Moorhead.—George Selin, 10 years old, and Lottie Steen, 13, were killed by a Northern Pacific passenger train near Dale, Clay county. The children, walking from school, became confused as the train approached, and dashed in front of it. The boy, a cripple, fell to the rails, and the girl, safely across the track, returned to help him.

Duluth.—While shipyard employes of Duluth and Superior will demand the full scale as adopted for other yards, they will attempt to obtain adjustment of their dispute with their employers without a strike.

St. Francis.—An 1836 penny sold for $10, a hen's egg for $21, and an angel cake for $7.50 at a Red Cross auction here. The sale netted $200.

Pipestone.—Governor Burnquist has accepted an invitation to deliver the address at the Fourth of July celebration here. A Red Cross rally will be held at the same time.

St. Paul.—Meat is being served but once a day in nearly all state institutions under war time conservation rules and efforts are being made to use substitutes and aid in the food administration movement.

Red Wing.—Frederick C. Meyer has resigned as superintendent of the local high school to accept an administrative position at Racine college, a military institution of Racine, Wis., and will begin his new duties July 1.

Little Falls.—The Polish Catholic picnic netted the church about $1,400. Dinner and supper were served and other counters sold lunch throughout the day. Many sorts of entertainment was furnished for the large audience.

Little Falls.—Herman Crossfield, who left with four other local carpenters to enter the service, makes the fourth son of J. W. Crossfield in the service of the United States. A fifth son is expected to be called into the service in a short time.

Crookston.—The "Red River Aggie," the class annual of the senior class of the Northwest School of Agriculture, has just been issued. The book makes a handsome appearance and credit is being given the staff or the annual for the hard work done.

Winona.—Struck by an automobile near St. John's school, Rochester, while she was crossing the street, Miss Margaret Lavina Costello, 24 years old, daughter of John Costello of Kellogg, banker, was so severely injured that she died in ten minutes.

St. Cloud.—Joseph Brennan, aged 5, had a miraculous escape from being crushed to death when he was run over by the automobile of Leo Schafer. He was picked up and taken to the hospital, but the physician said he had sustained nothing more than bruises.

Bemidji.—Officers of the Beltrami County Fair association will give Thrift Stamps as half the premium list for the county fair this year. Farmers will be urged to donate produce and other small exhibits to the Red Cross. The fair is to be held Sept. 19-21.

Brainerd.—Newton H. Ingersoll, 58, member of the Ingersoll & Wieland, publishers of the Brainerd Dispatch, died of heart disease. He was postmaster of Brainerd 14 years; State Editorial association executive committee member, Shriner, Woodman, Workman and member of other orders.

Bemidji.—With the completion of the new Federal building and its occupancy by the postoffice, there will be a position open for that of fireman at the building, the work to be that of custodian. To fill this position there will be a civil service examination conducted in Bemidji on June 8.

Red Wing.—Fred Siewert, 48, well-known farmer of Featherstone township, met death by drowning at a point about 150 feet below Indian slough on Prairie island while fishing. No one witnessed the accident but it is presumed he got out of his automobile, which was left in the roadway, presumably to search for a suitable place to fish.

St. James.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the elevator of the Farmers' Elevator company here, with an approximate loss of $40,000. The building, valued at $20,000, binder twine worth $12,000 and a large amount of grain were destroyed. Three dwellings and an implement house nearby also were burned.

Minneapolis.—Voluntary enlistments in the army in Minneapolis since the United States entered the war total 14,800 men to date, it was announced at recruiting headquarters here. From May 1 to 21 682 men had been accepted here for the army. A rush of men who are 21 and who wish to choose some particular service rather than be drafted is now being made on the recruiting office.

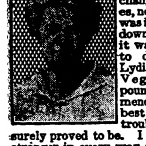
St. Paul.—Minnesota will observe Sunday, June 2nd, as "War Savings Stamp Drive Day," when monster meetings will be held in nearly every county throughout the state as a forerunner of Pledge week, which opens on Thursday, June 6th. Plans for the coming Loyalty meetings are now being made by the Minnesota War Savings Committee, which, with the co-operation of county organizations, is standing sponsor for the occasion.

St. Paul.—Mystery surrounds the disappearance of C. E. Ballard, president of the State bank of Grygla, near Warren, Minn., who came to St. Paul on May 11, and registered at the Ryan hotel. He left the same day and has not been seen since. Mr. Ballard with his family left his home on May 10 for Thief River Falls. He left his family there and proceeded to St. Paul on business. He registered at the hotel, but later complained of being ill. He asked for the key to his room, but, according to officials at the hotel, he did not go to his room and left that same day.

St. Paul.—Deposits in Minnesota state banks show a gain of more than 21 percent, having increased by nearly $50,000,000 to a combined total of $275,436,374 in the past year, according to figures made public by F. E. Pearson, state superintendent of banks. "This showing reflects a period of remarkable prosperity in Minnesota, coming as it does in the face of Liberty Loan and Red Cross drives and other war-time campaigns for funds," Superintendent Pearson said. "The big gain in deposits certainly is noteworthy under the circumstances."

THAT CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. Godden Tells How It May be Passed in Safety and Comfort.



Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. INCREASE IN WESTERN CANADA LAND VALUES

But Forty and Fifty Bushels of Wheat to the Acre.

During the past year there has been a greater demand for farm lands in Western Canada than for a number of years past. The demand is for good farm lands improved or unimproved. And at an increase of from ten to fifteen dollars an acre more than the same lands could be had for a couple of years ago.

The rise in the price of every kind of produce grown on these Western lands, in some cases to double and in others to treble the price prevailing before 1914, have attracted and are attracting in ever-increasing proportions the men who are anxious to invest their money, and apply their energies in the production of wheat for which the allied nations are calling with voices which grow louder and more anxious as the months roll on, and the end of the war still seems distant. Beef, and more especially bacon, are required in ever greater quantities, and the price of all these things has soared, until it is not a question of what shall we produce, but how much can we produce. Even should this world calamity be brought to a close in six months from now, it will be years before normal pre-war prices prevail, and meantime self-interest if not patriotism is turning the minds of thousands back to the land. The inevitable consequence has been the rise in value of land, especially wheat land.

The Calgary Herald, commenting on these conditions says:

"From inquiries made from leading dealers in farming and ranching properties, and from the information gathered in other ways, it is known that the value of all land—wheat land, mixed farming properties and even good grazing land—has risen in the last two years 40 per cent. Wheat lands in some districts have practically doubled in price. One dealer in farm lands recently sold three sections for $70 an acre, one extra good quarter went as high as $90, and another brought $100. These are, of course, large prices, but that they will be equaled or even surpassed in the near future is beyond question. There is a feature about this rush to the land from which the most solid hope can be drawn for the success of the movement. The proper tillage of land, to produce large crops in a climate like ours is now understood and practiced as it never was in the early days of the province. It would seem too that with the increase of land under cultivation, the seasons are changing and the rainfall becoming greater and more regular.

"Crops are being harvested, especially in Southern Alberta, which would have seemed impossible to the old-time farmer, with his old-fashioned ideas of breaking and seeding. And at the price now set by the government for wheat and which possibly may be increased during the coming season, the return to the practical skilled agriculturist must necessarily be very large.

"What matters $10 or even $20 an acre extra on wheat land when a return as high as 50 bushels and even more may be taken from every acre sown? With hogs bringing $20 a hundred pounds; beef on the hoof at $12, and mutton $16, while wool under the new government arranged system of handling and sale brings 65 cents a pound (and these values cannot fall to any great extent for some years) the demand for land will continue and values increase in a corresponding degree.

"There has never been in the history of Canada a time so favorable for the farmer as the present; self-interest, the inspiration of patriotic feeling, the aid freely extended by the government, who are permitting the import of certain agricultural implements free, all these tend to still further raise the price of Alberta land."—Advertisement.

RAIL EMPLOYES GRANTED RAISE

General Pay Increase Affecting Nearly 2,000,000 Persons Is Announced.

TAKES EFFECT JUNE 1

Director General McAdoo Carries Out Substantially the Recent Recommendations of the Railroad Wage Commission.

Washington, May 28.—Director General McAdoo has announced general pay increases for nearly 2,000,000 railroad employes, effective next Saturday and retroactive to Jan. 1 last, carrying out substantially recommendations of the railroad wage commission.

The aggregate of the increases probably will be more than $300,000 a year, half of which will be distributed within a few weeks as back pay in lump sums ranging from about $100 to nearly $200 each.

The director general departed from the wage commission's recommendations in the following particulars:

The principal of the basic eight hour day is recognized, but owing to exigencies of the war situation, hours of employment are not actually reduced and overtime is to be paid pro rata. Future adjustments of pay are to be made on the basis of eight hours.

Day Laborers Affected.

In addition to the ordinary scale of increase, day laborers, employed mainly on track work, are to get at least 2½ cents an hour more than they received last December 31.

A minimum of 55 cents an hour is established for the shop trades, including machinists, boiler makers and blacksmiths.

Women are to receive the same pay as men for the same work, and negroes are to get the same as white men for similar employment.

All increases now ordered will be determined according to a percentage scale based on pay received in December, 1915, and any increases which have been allowed within that time willl be deducted. In many cases raises in pay in the last two and a half years are about equal to the increases now approved, and consequently those employes will get little or no more. To correct just such situations when injustices are apparent will be one of the principle duties of the new wage board, whose creation was suggested by the railroad wage commission. In no cases are wages to be reduced.

Brotherhoods Get Theirs.

Men working on the monthly, daily, hourly, piece work and train mile basis, will benefit by the new allowances, and members of the four leading railroad brotherhoods whose pay was raised through operation of the Adamson act are to receive from 10 to 40 per cent additional, a smaller increase than they had asked of the railroads shortly before the government took control.

The wage order applies to all employes of the 164 roads now under federal management but not to the socalled short lines unless they are retained by the government after July 1.

RAILROAD RATES BOOSTED

Freight Tariff Up 25 Per Cent Passengers Three Cents Per Mile.

Washington, May 27.—To meet wage increases just announced and higher costs of coal and other supplies this year Director General W. G. McAdoo has ordered railroad freight rates in the United States raised 25 per cent effective June 25, and pasenger fares increased to 3 cents a mile from the present basis of about 2½ cents effective June 10. It is estimated that the progarm will bring between $800,000,000 and $300,000,000 more revenues to the railroads within the next year. It represents by far the biggest rate increase in the history of railroads.

DEMAND SWEEPING REFORMS

German Socialists Demand Curtailment of Kaiser's Powers.

Berne, May 28.—Sweeping liberalizing reforms are contained in a revised program submitted to the Socialist party in Germany by its executive council. They are:

The kaiser is to be deprived of the right to declare war or peace.

Universal suffrage.

Parliamentary government.

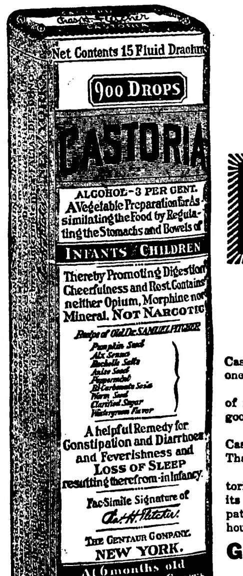
The reichstag is to have the right to make treaties.

Abolition of secret diplomacy.

A tribunal for consideration of international disarmament.

Public Land Entries Validated.

Washington, May 28.—The Senate has passed legislation validating many public land entries on the Red Lake lands which were erroneously cancelled by the commissioner of public lands. The entries were cancelled through a misinterpretation of the law, as to whether persons who had previously exhausted their homestead rights were entitled to the Red Lake lands, and the bill corrects this situation. The Senate has also passed a bill allowing the sale of certain ceded Chippewa lands.



A Word of Precaution.

JUST wherein lies the reason for the use of vegetable preparations for infants and children?

Why are any but vegetable preparations unsafe for infants and children?

Why are Syrups, Cordials and Drops condemned by all Physicians and most laymen?

Why has the Government placed a ban on all preparations containing, among other poisonous drugs, Opium in its variously prepared forms and pleasing tastes, and under its innumerable names?

These are questions that every Mother will do well to inquire about.

Any Physician will recommend the keeping of Fletcher's Castoria in the house for the common ailments of infants and children.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

S. J. Briggs & Co., of Providence, R. I., say: "We have sold Fletcher's Castoria in our three stores for the past twenty years and consider it one of the best preparations on the market."

Mansur Drug Co., of St. Paul, Minn., says: "We are not in the habit of recommending proprietary medicines, but we never hesitate to say a good word for Castoria. It is a medical success."

Hegeman & Co., of New York City, N. Y., say: "We can say for your Castoria that it is one of the best selling preparations in our stores. That is conclusive evidence that it is satisfactory to the users."

W. H. Chapman, of Montreal, Que., says: "I have sold Fletcher's Castoria for many years and have yet to hear of one word other than praise of its virtues. I look upon your preparation as one of the few so called patent medicines having merit and unhesitatingly recommend it as a safe household remedy."

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS BEARS the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Potato Water Substitute for Soap.

Soap is almost unattainable in occupied Belgium, and the housewives are accordingly seeking possible substitutes. To them a chemist through the medium of a Brussels newspaper gives this advice: "Pour the hot water in which peeled potatoes have been boiled over the linen to be washed. Allow it to soak until the following day, then rub it as you would in a lather, but without adding soap or anything else. The linen will come out of the tub perfectly white."
